TWO MILE RUN A FIZZLE

DRISCOLL AND COLLINS FAIL TO MEET IN RACE.

Barring of Spiked Shoes Causes Driscoll to Dodge the Issue and Collins Finishes Fourth in Handicap at Sixty-ninth Games—Some Good Sport.

The athletic games and reception of the Sixty-ninth Regiment were held last night at the armory, and the big attraction of the night was the two mile run handicap. W. Driscoll, the two mile indoor champion and a member of the Mercury A. C., and Tom Collins of the Irish A. A. C., the five mile indoor champion, were on scratch. Both were on hand, but Driscoll refused to run except he was permitted to wear spikes. The armory authorities refused to permit the use of spikes and the Mercury A. C. man went off the floor. There was quite a scene and some hissing, but whether it was intended for the armory directors or the runner nobody could say.

Going at a steady gait Collins picked up his field one by one and at half the journey he collared J. Clark of the Xavier A. A., who had 90 yards. Obermeyer of the National A. C. and C. Muller, unattached, both on the 90 yard mark, kept pegging away in front, but although Collins was moving well he could not come within about thirty yards of either. He was in fourth place and his time was 9 minutes 25 seconds. Obermeyer won a close race from Muller.

Driscoll told a SUN man afterward that he meant to meet Collins in good faith, that he was sorry to disappoint the crowd, that he was not afraid of the Irish runner and that he would beat him again as decisively as he had done in Madison Square Garden in the two mile indoor championship.

Tom Collins, who is attached to Company L, was the scratch man in the mile regimental, but he did not start and the virtual scratch man was John J. Joyce of Company F, with an allowance of 30 yards. Gradually the former crack came through his field and two laps from home was in the lead. Then Al Raines of Company I, who had 70 yards, spurted and went by Joyce like a deer. He was never headed and he won by five yards from J. Bell of Company F, who had 30 yards and who just nipped Joyce for the place in the last few yards.

The mile relay for the Military Athletic League brought together four teams, two from the Twenty-second and first teams from the Thirteenth and Seventy-first. The Seventy-first did well for a while, but the first team of the Twenty-second had worked into the lead, and as Harry Gissing had the job of running the last relay it could be imagined what chance the others had. Gissing trotted around and breasted the tape about six yards ahead of his nearest opponents on the Seventy-first and Thirteenth, who were separated by only a few inches.

Jim Crowley, the Marathon runner, appeared in the 880 yard heavy marching order and he had a handicap of 14 yards on Johnny Joyce, the scratch man. The Marathon man gave one thrust to his fatigue fedora and bounded away with the butt end of the gun in front. He was awarded in the trappings, and the blanket and kit around him were flapping. This bothered him, for when it wasn't slung back on his pole it made a "pookeen" for his eyes. He had not the pace for the half mile and fell away toward the end. McMahon won by a couple of yards from Joyce.

The trial heats of the 65 yard opened the programme, and the first heat was won by T. Harman of the Acorn A. A. off the 16 foot mark with F. E. Holloway of the Y. M. C. A. second, and he had the same start. J. J. Mulloolly of the Sixty-ninth Regiment won the second heat from W. J. Landgraf of the St. Bartholomew A. C., and they both had fourteen feet start. T. Healy of the Dominican Lyceum ran away with the third heat, he having the limit of sixteen feet. F. Halligan of the Sixty-ninth Regiment won the fourth heat, and he, too, was on the limit. G. A. Bernheimer ran a fast heat off the 15 foot mark, doing 7 seconds. J. J. Archer of the Irish A. A. C. had nine feet, and he won his heat easily in 7 seconds. Lesmore C. Goode, unattached, who had the limit of sixteen feet, won a trial in great style.

Holloway, Mulloolly, Helland, Halligan, Archer and O'Connor did well in the semi-finals, and they lined up for the final. Archer got away splendidly and running strong came up on the leaders at every stride, but he could not quite catch Mulloolly, who won by inches, and only inches separated Archer from Holloway, the third man.

Stoddart Covers 100 Yards in 59 4-5 Seconds in Meet With Y. M. C. A.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 5.—The second annual dual meet between the Yale swimming team and New York Y. M. C. A. held in the Yale gymnasium to-night resulted in a victory for the former team by 21 points to 11. The feature of the meet was the work of Stoddart of Yale who competed in four events. In the 100 yard swim he finished in 59 4-5 seconds, defeating Mantell of the Y. M. C. A. Stoddart's time breaks the Yale record for the distance. He also took first in the 220 yard race in 2 minutes 4 seconds.

The relay race was close from start to finish and was only won by a sprint by Stoddart, the last relay. The time was 3 minutes 38 seconds.

Union Boat Club Elects Officers.

The annual election of the Union Boat Club a couple of nights ago resulted in a contest between the opposition ticket and the regular nomination. The opposition was partly successful, for it landed the head of the ticket and some minor offices. The president for next year will be Edward D. Coleman. Edward H. Harris on the regular ticket beat John J. Bannon of the opposition for vice-president. Herman Oberberg, treasurer; John J. Moore, for secretary and George W. Hayden for captain, the opposition nominees, were elected. The board of managers Thomas L. Banks and Benjamin F. Donovan of the opposition were elected, the other members are Thomas A. Bradley, Thomas T. Grimsdale, Jasper S. Connell and Lionel Noah.

Hanson Place and Bethesda Each Score 24 Points at Sunday School Meet.

The Sunday School Athletic League of Brooklyn held its annual indoor games in the Fourteenth Regiment Armory last night and a big crowd of followers of the different churches gathered to see the contests, which numbered twenty-six. A feature of the night was the scramble for point honors, and there was the warmest sort of a tussle between the Hanson Place Methodist Episcopal Church and Bethesda Church. On the tenth lap of the eighth mile Smallwood lapped his man.

YALE LOSES AT BASKETBALL

C. C. N. Y. TAKES THE ELIS INTO CAMP, 32 TO 17.

Game on Local Court Begins Badly for Home Team as Visitors Score Often—Second Half a Walkover for C. C. N. Y., Whose Freshmen Also Win.

The College of the City of New York began its basketball season last night with two victories. Yale and C. C. N. Y. met for the first time in basketball and the local players won handily by the score of 32 to 17. The preliminary game was a much closer contest, the C. C. N. Y. freshmen defeating the High School of Commerce by 28 to 18.

In the leading contest both teams at the beginning seemed at a loss to begin scoring, and several minutes went by before Strawbridge, Yale's right forward, caged a goal. The local players appeared a trifle nervous and shot rather wildly. Strawbridge soon repeated with a second goal, which was all he did for the rest of the game. Hespewitz, the C. C. N. Y. strong man, played a clever guard game sticking to Strawbridge like a leech. One of his efforts at blocking caused the umpire to call a foul, which was neatly caged by Van Vleck. Corrigan, the other forward, then found an opportunity to throw a goal which brought the score to 7 for Yale.

With nothing to their credit, matters looked rather blue for the C. C. N. Y. The players promptly woke up and proceeded to play basketball. While the guards kept the home goal empty the lanky centre, Kaplan, with the assistance of Capt. Streusand's clever passing and heady leadership, shot two goals in succession. The rally was so sudden that both spectators and opponents looked dazed. With the score 7 to 4 in Yale's favor, a fine struggle ensued in which the superior team work of the New York players won out.

Streusand then showed his ability by repeatedly getting the ball from a scrimmage and feeding it toward the Yale goal, where some of his team mates would fizzle an attempt to score. He reversed the system, and after a few failures succeeded in scoring a goal himself. The same play was tried soon after and his effort again brought a goal and a lead of one point. Several fouls were called on both teams, but the shooting was too poor to make points.

Kaplan, who was making himself conspicuous by being mixed up in most of the scrimmages, brought forth a volume of applause by scoring his third basket over half the length of the court. The half ended soon after with the home team in the lead by 10 to 7.

In the second period Goldman took Barbanell's place next to Streusand and C. C. N. Y. played Yale off its feet, scoring ten field goals to the latter's three. Van Vleck however, had a more accurate eye for foul goal shooting than Streusand, tallying four to his opponent's two. In the windup every New York player scored at least once, Streusand winning first honors with a total of six.

Yale fell back on the defensive in an attempt to keep the score down, and succeeded somewhat, as Heskewitz was the only player to tally again. Three minutes before time was up the Yale timekeeper blew the whistle. With much difficulty the floor was cleared of spectators and some kind of quiet restored to finish the game which ended without further scoring. The lineup:

Yale.	Positions.	C. C. N. Y.
Strawbridge	Right forward	Streusand
Caregan	Left forward	Barbanell
Van Vleck	Centre	Kaplan
Cushman	Right guard	Periman

Score—C. C. N. Y., 32; Yale, 17. Goals from the field—Streusand (6), Kaplan (5), Heskewitz (2), Goldman, Periman, Strawbridge (2), Caregan (2), Van Vleck, Cushman. Goals from fouls—Streusand (2), Van Vleck (5). Referee—J. E. Wendelkein, Twenty-third street Y. M. C. A. Umpire—J. H. Poggi, Xavier A. A. Substitutes, Yale—Scudder for Van Vleck; C. C. N. Y., Goldman for Barbanell.

The preliminary game between the freshmen and the High School of Commerce brought forth almost as much excitement as the varsity contest. The players on both teams appeared quite large and bulky for youngsters. The first half was very close and ended with the score of 13 to 11 in favor of the freshmen. In the beginning of the second period Commerce rallied and tied the score at 18. The game seesawed first in favor of one and then the other, when the freshmen obtained the lead of ten points and held it to the end.

Cornell Wins Opening Basketball Game.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The Cornell basketball team opened up the home season to-night by easily defeating the five from Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute by the score of 31 to 17. Except for the last five minutes, when a complete team of substitutes was put in the field by Cornell, Poly had no chance. The Cornell attack was ragged, but very fast, and the forwards dodged away from Poly's guards repeatedly. Blumenauer, a new forward on the Cornell team, a graduate of Andover, played brilliantly, making most of the goals for Cornell, and some of them very difficult. Burd's throwing of goals after fouls was deadly. He missed two in the whole evening. Capt. Crosby played a strong game, but was finally disqualified by the rule which debars a man after five fouls have been committed.

Wesleyan Wins at Basketball.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 5.—Wesleyan defeated Worcester Tech in the opening game of the basketball season to-night, 40 to 13. Wesleyan played a number of substitutes in the second half. The score at the end of the first half was 22 to 7 in Wesleyan's favor. Chamberlin and Hayward played best for the locals.

FISH AND GAME LEAGUE.

Annual Meeting at Syracuse to Discuss Changes in Game Laws.

The annual convention of the New York State Fish, Game and Forest League will be held at Syracuse next Thursday and Friday. This organization includes in its membership nearly all the fish and game and gun clubs.

The meeting will be held for the purpose of conferring about proposed changes in the game laws for the coming year. Delegates will be present from all points in this State, as will also the entire force of game protectors employed by the State. Subjects which are absorbing the attention of sportsmen this year include a demand for the closing of the season for one or two years on partridge and woodcock, as the consensus of opinion bears out the fact that these desirable game birds are becoming more scarce each year in spite of a prohibited sale and limited bag.

There is considerable agitation regarding the extension of the deer season into November. An effort will be made to limit the bag on ducks or have their sale prohibited. To offset the closed season on grouse they will endeavor to have a short season on pheasants throughout the State. Pollution of streams will receive serious attention and public sentiment will be appealed to to have the law regarding such acts rigidly enforced. Prohibiting the sale of black bass is desired by many sportsmen; also an earlier opening of the plover season, as they tend to migrate before the season opens as it is now.

The subject which will interest sportsmen generally will be regarding the use of the revenue derived from the sale of hunting licenses. There has been over 100,000 of these issued at $1.10 each, besides a large number of non-resident licenses at $25 each, which has produced a large fund, which if applied directly to the betterment of the sportsmen's interests who have furnished this fund would be the means of making good hunting again in this State after a few years.

Power Boat for H. B. Gilbert.

A power boat for H. Bramhall Gilbert has been almost completed at the yard of Robert Jacob, City Island. This craft was designed by Charles D. Mower and will be used on the Sound next season, particularly about Great Neck, where Mr. Gilbert has a summer home. The boat is of the day cruiser type, which has become very popular, and has a large roomy cockpit and a small cabin in the forward end of the boat. The lines of the hull are pleasing, and the proportions of freeboard, raised sheer, and cabin house are well balanced. The yacht is 75 feet over all, 50 feet on the water line, 9 feet beam and 3 feet draught. The engine is a four cylinder Twentieth Century, of 30 horse-power. This is placed below the cockpit floor and is reached by a novel arrangement of lifting hatches. This motor will drive the vessel more than twelve miles an hour.

Speaker Leads Southern League Batters.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Official averages of Southern Baseball League announced to-day by President Kavanaugh show Speaker, who finished last season with the Boston Americans after graduating from Little Rock, leading all batters, with an average of 350.

NAVY ATHLETES BUSY.

Basketball the Feature This Month, but Other Teams Are Working.

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 5.—The Navy basketball squad has been at work almost since the school year opened and it is hoped to put a stronger team out than ever before. Leech of Yale is the coach and the season opens on Saturday, December 12, the five of the University of Pennsylvania being the Navy's opponents. After that the dates are filled with strong teams until well on through January.

During the present month basketball will carry the Navy athletics along almost entirely so far as contests with outside teams are concerned, though it will be a busy month for the fencers, gymnasts, boxers and wrestlers, who are preparing for the opening of their own season next month. It is a busy time, however, for the oarsmen, the baseball men, the lacrosse players and the members of the field and track squad, all of whom are working. Already the candidates for these teams have taken advantage of some of the warm days of the fall and have had an unusually good opportunity of getting in some preliminary work.

The gymnastic team, of which Midshipman H. A. Waddington is captain, will have a short but interesting schedule this season. The dates have not all been fixed, but meets with Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania have been assured, and there will probably be one with Lehigh also, it being the first of the season, in the early part of February. The tentative dates of the meets with Columbia and Pennsylvania are February 20 and 27 respectively. The usual tournament in boxing and wrestling will commence shortly and will continue through the winter, and the finals in each class will be held late in the winter on the same occasions as the intercompany and individual competitions in gymnastics.

There will be some fencing matches late in January, but most of the local contests will be during February. The Naval Academy is a member of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association and some of the preliminary matches of that organization will take place at Annapolis. There will be other matches between the academy team and representatives of the leading fencing colleges and organizations of the East.

The big race on the water will probably be with Harvard, the race with which is likely to be an annual feature in the local waters. Cornell, Columbia and Georgetown are the rowing colleges which may also send eights to Annapolis. The baseball season will be a fine one, and from the latter part of March to the first part of June there will be two or three games each week with the best college teams. The last game of the season will be the contest with the team of the United States Military Academy, which will be played this year at West Point. Last year the Army was overwhelmingly beaten at Annapolis.

PRINCETON INDOOR SPORT.

Cut in Basketball Dates, but Many Good Games on the Schedule.

PRINCETON, Dec. 5.—Work in the winter sports has begun in earnest at Princeton and the various activities are receiving the hearty support of the undergraduates. Basketball seems to have gained a new lease of life, for the squad has been large and the practice snappy and well planned. Princeton is fortunate to have secured the sevices of H. J. Shorter of the crack Orange Y. M. C. A. team, who volunteered to coach and do what he could to help Capt. D. O Meese turn out a worthy quintet.

Good sense on the part of the management and athletic authorities here has led to a marked cut in the schedule over former years. The basketball schedule used to be strung out over so many long weeks that by the day of the final Yale game late in February the players were tired out and interest in the sport dead. But now, since the intercollegiate league has gone, Princeton stops a few days before the midyear exams the last of January.

The feature of the Princeton schedule is a trip during the Christmas holidays which will take the team as far south as Charleston, S. C. The first contest with any of the big colleges comes December 19, when Pennsylvania meets the Tigers in the local gymnasium. Evidently the management is on the trail of the Quakers this year, for a series of three games is to be played, one here, one in New York and the last in Philadelphia. Altogether Manhattan will see quite a bit of Princeton this winter by the time the basketball and hockey teams complete their dates there.

There is plenty of good material on hand this year, and careful development should make the Tigers an important figure in this strenuous indoor sport. Here is the schedule, minus the Southern trip:

December 9, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute at Princeton; 11, Pratt Institute at Brooklyn; 12, C. C. N. Y. at New York; 16, New York University at Princeton; 19, Pennsylvania at Princeton; 22, Pennsylvania at New York.

January 6, Columbia at New York; 8, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 13, Yale at New Haven; 16, Harvard at Princeton; 19, Columbia at Princeton; 23, Yale at Princeton.

MARQUETTE'S GOOD SHOWING.

This Season's Play Has Put the University on the Football Map.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 5.—A systematic campaign to put Milwaukee on the football map was carried out successfully this fall by the Marquette University authorities, who developed a football team at the local institution which was able to try conclusions with all the big universities of the West, proving by far the greatest surprise of the entire year in Western football.

Marquette, which was classed at the opening of the season as a secondary college team, in its first game with a team of the Western Conference played the University of Illinois to a 6 to 6 tie. This caused the critics to sit up and take notice, and they finally decided it was a fluke. A little later the critics were startled again when Marquette went to the University of Wisconsin and with the game nearly over had the Badgers losing by a score of 6 to 5. Then a touchback, a kickout and the following free kick gave Wisconsin a chance to score 4 more points from the Marquette 25 yard line, the nearest they could get to Marquette's goal, except in a long run in the early part of the game.

It was finally decided that Marquette was no fluke team, and when Notre Dame was given the tightest game of its year, winning only by a score of 6 to 0, it was acknowledged that Marquette had put Milwaukee on the football map. Next year as a result Milwaukee will have at least three and possibly four big games. The University of Wisconsin may play a return game in Milwaukee, but may seek to avoid coming to the Marquette gridiron, the Badger manager also insisting that Milwaukee was not educated up to a big game of football. Negotiations are in progress with the University of Michigan for a game here, Notre Dame is anxious to get another game in 1909 and the University of Illinois will undoubtedly give Marquette a return game.

Marquette is not in the Western Conference, for it was only this year that Marquette graduated from a college into the university class, the old Marquette College having absorbed Milwaukee Medical College, the Milwaukee Law School and having started a college of engineering. The school which two years ago had only 200 students now has a registration of over 1,000 and has a football squad of over twenty-five men, all of whom will be back for another year at Marquette and anxious to try for the team once more.

Marquette's advance is largely due to two former Missouri and Kansas educators who believe in football. The Rev. James McCabe was made president of Marquette about a year ago, upon the consolidation of the old schools, and with him came the Rev. Simon Nicholas, also formerly of the St. Louis University faculty. Prof. Nicholas and President McCabe formerly were on the St. Mary's, Kan., faculty and when in Kansas boomed football and other college athletics.

TOY DOG SHOW ENDS.

Cupid's Peach Scores a Notable Victory in Boston Terrier Class.

In the windup of the judging yesterday at the sixth annual show of the Toy Spaniel Club at the Waldorf-Astoria the chief interest was in the placing of the Boston terriers. There were 149 dogs entered and the judge, Noah Loder, Jr., of Manhattan, gave a very good account of himself. This had not been expected, for hitherto Loder has only been known as a golfer.

In the winners class for dogs in Boston terriers the first place went to Innis Arden, owned by M. Ryan of Harlem. In the bitch class of the same breed a delightful specimen of the American type was revealed in Champion Cupid Peach, although many thought that D. W. Raymond's Hunni-Bun should have been placed on top.

An odd thing about the victory of Cupid's Peach is that two weeks ago it was beaten at the Boston show, yet to-day it was proclaimed the champion and sold for $1,500. The owner, M. J. Mulcahy, lives in a suburb of Boston named Peabody.

WILLS OUTRIDES WALTHOUR

ENGLISH CYCLIST TAKES TEN MILE MOTOR PACED RACE.

Frank L. Kramer Wins Three Cornered Match From Victor Dupre of France and Major Taylor—MacFarland Best Stayer in Open Professional Event.

About 8,000 spectators turned out last night for the short distance events in Madison Square Garden that were put on as a curtain raiser programme for the six day cycle race that begins at midnight to-night. Albert Edward Wills, the tiny English motor pace follower, who holds the world's hour paced record of 61 miles 976 yards, proved his quality by easily defeating Bobby Walthour in a ten mile motor paced match.

Walthour stopped riding in the first mile after they were sent away from opposite sides of the track, saying his tire was punctured. Charles Turville, pacemaker for Wills, made a vehement kick to the referee, declaring that Walthour's tire was all right.

When the race was resumed Walthour started fifteen yards behind Wills, as the latter had been that far ahead when the race was halted. Walthour's rear tire went flat at the end of the fifth mile and he had to change to a sprint wheel, which had curved front forks and a comparatively low gear. Wills gained steadily after Walthour got going again and was a mile and two laps ahead when he finished the race distance.

The three cornered sprinting match between Frank L. Kramer, the American champion; Victor Dupré, the French sprinter, who will ride in the six day race, and Major Taylor, the Worcester negro, was the best match seen in the Garden for some time. Dupré rode a machine with a 114 inch gear, which is higher than is usually used by sprinters in this country. Kramer managed to keep the lead when he was in front when the real sprinting began, but the big Frenchman outrode him in the second heat.

The first heat of the three cornered match race was at half a mile. Dupre had the pole, Kramer was next and Taylor was on the outside. Kramer took the lead at the start, with Dupre second and Taylor last. Dupre made a bluff at trying to take the lead half way through the race and Taylor promptly went up behind Kramer, so that the Frenchman had to fall back into third place. The order was unchanged at the bell and the trio finished in the same order, Kramer a length and a half ahead of Taylor, with Dupre a length behind the negro.

The trio rode one mile in the second heat. Kramer had the pole, Dupre was in the middle and Taylor was again up the bank. After the start the order for five laps—half the race distance—was Dupre, Kramer and Taylor. Taylor went up into second place at the beginning of the sixth lap, but Kramer took it away from him in the seventh lap.

Kramer made desperate efforts in the seventh, eighth and ninth laps to wrest the lead from Dupre, but the Frenchman had his big gear working and by swinging rather wide on the turns kept Kramer from taking the lead. The American champion finally dropped back into third position. Taylor made a great jump which put him up to Dupre's side as he ended the ninth lap, evidently thinking it was the end of the race. When he saw Dupre keep on sprinting Taylor chased after him again, but the Frenchman won with a length and a half to spare, Kramer being a bad third.

The third and last heat was also at one mile, the men having the same positions from the pole out as they had in the second heat. Taylor led for the first lap, followed by Kramer and Dupre. For the second, third and fourth laps Dupre led, with Taylor second and Kramer third. Kramer made a well timed jump on the first turn of the fifth
