TUESDAY, April 6.

What speculators in stocks call "the usual Tuesday reaction" was in progress to-day, and it is indeed not a little remarkable that for many weeks back the market on the second day of the week has been characterized by a declining tendency. Speculation is at the moment undoubtedly largely professional and the market is in the main narrow, and sufficient reason obviously existed for a reaction to-day, whatever other forces might have been at work, in the fact that a more or less violent upturn in values occurred on the day before. To-day was an important Jewish holiday, which led to a curtailment of business perhaps more especially on the London Stock Exchange than here, and there was a prevailing tendency to reduce commitments in the market on account of the three days suspension of business over Easter that will take place here beginning with the coming Friday. Profit taking went on therefore almost continuously from the outset of the Stock Exchange session, and the leading stocks generally showed declines at the close that were in some instances as great as yesterday's advances. It was very noticeable, however, that on the reaction the tendency of business was to contract. Stocks came dribbling out in small lots at the low levels and there was nothing resembling pressure of liquidation. Strength too was exhibited in so many specific quarters of the market that in spite of the declines that occurred in the mass of stocks the market displayed an exceedingly firm undertone. In the fore part of the day there were vigorous advancing movements in the Denver and Rio Grande, Peoples Gas, National Lead, American Smelting and Refining, Chesapeake and Ohio, Corn Products and American Telephone and Telegraph shares, and most of these stocks closed at advances. The feature of business in this respect was, however, in every way the decided burst of strength in the Rock Island common and preferred stocks, particularly the latter, after a long period of inactivity. Definite expectations of a resumption of dividend distribution upon Rock Island preferred stock have at no time of late been encouraged by the so-called inside interests in the property. But the movement of the security market indicates very plainly that the floating supply of the Rock Island stocks or at least of the preferred stock has become practically concentrated in a few hands.

Selling of the Interborough-Metropolitan stocks was attributed to-day to the publication by the Public Service Commission of the reports of the earnings of the traction lines on Manhattan Island for the year 1908, showing of course the results of the poor business in that year, but consideration of the operations in that period does not seem to be of particular value at the present. London houses shared here to-day in our own profit taking, but the tone of the London market in general continued first rate, consols rising there and an expanding investment movement making itself felt. Sterling exchange here rose a little, leading to talk of possible gold exports to Paris later on by the "triangular basis," but as sterling in Paris also rose the effects of the advance in sterling on this side were to a certain extent counterbalanced. Little attention was paid to the first votes taken in the House of Representatives on the tariff bill, although these indicated, so far as they indicated anything, that sentiment in the national lawmaking body on the subject under discussion has absolutely broken up party lines there and that it will be difficult to get any bill through Congress heavily or generally reducing the tariff schedules. It is a case where every man who has a vote in the matter wants apparently to have the tariff reduced upon the products of every industry except that in which his constituents or the greater number of them are engaged. A further violent rise in the wheat market seemed to be caused by the large reductions reported in the European visible supply of the commodity as well also as by renewed indications of a scarcity of cash wheat in our own country. The Government's April report on the condition of growing grain is expected tomorrow, and if the reports from the different State agricultural bureaus in recent weeks are to be taken as any guide to the character of the Government's showing the figures of the Government report will attest a falling off in the condition of winter wheat from that of last December. It is well understood, however, that the Government's April report is the least important of the year, chiefly because damage done to the crops by winter killing and the like causes can be and usually is repaired by favorable spring weather later on.
