HILLMEN IN FINE FETTLE

THEY SMOTHER DETROITS IN GAME FULL OF INCIDENTS.

Demmitt and Engle Active in the Field —Athletics Take Two From Clevelands—St. Louis Humbles Red Sox—Chicago and Washington Break Even.

The Highlanders were on their good behavior yesterday and made the champion Detroit team look cheap. The Athletics crimmed the sturdy Clevelanders in a double header, making a big gain on the leaders. St. Louis took Boston into camp, while Washington and Chicago split even. The results:

New York, 11; Detroit, 2.

Philadelphia, 2; Cleveland, 1—First game.

Philadelphia, 9; Cleveland, 4—Second game.

St. Louis, 6; Boston, 3.

Washington, 3; Chicago, 2—First game.

NEW YORK (A. L.), 11; DETROIT, 2.

The Highlanders, the best team in the world one day and the poorest the next, plastered runs all over the champions' escutcheon yesterday and lost them completely in the shuffle. If ever one team looked like a champion toying with a second rater it was the New Yorks, for they played brilliant ball all around, and had the usually ferocious Tigers feeding out of their hands.

There was one Tiger, however, who was as rampageous as ever, the same being Ty Cobb. Tyrus and Ray Demmitt and Hack Engle were the stellar participants in the game. Cobb was one of the few Tigers who was not a victim to Doyle's box blandishments. He drove out a home run and a triple, and besides he did some rare throwing. One of his throws nipped Doyle at first on a hit to right. The ball came just right for the play to be made, but still it took a hustler like Ty to put the feat through.

Demmitt took a home run away from Crawford by one of the best catches seen at American League Park. In the first inning he made a fast dash outward for Sam's tremendous lift, turned suddenly and sharply, facing the sun, and rolled over like a hoop, but held the ball in his hand. He also got on base five times and made four runs, and the range of his versatility included a sacrifice and a steal. Engle, fresh from renovation at some springs, plucked nine flies out of the air, jarred the leather for a home run and scored three times. There wasn't a dull moment, among other incidents being an attempt to steal home by the spectacular Cobb. Doyle was watching and copped the tabasco terror.

Engle's home run sent in a batch of two runs in the first inning. Demmitt having walked. The New Yorks fell on Willett again in the third and he was wild to boot. Three more runs sprouted before Doyle took his leave, and Works was heckled and hit and otherwise maltreated for four runs in the fourth. There was a fine play by Moriarty in this inning. Mory beat down a hot one from Austin and nailed that fleet traveller.

Engle's mild a triple to right in the fifth and sent Demmitt to the goal. Cobb's quick fielding and long relay to Killifer smothered Willie at the plate. Works didn't cover first in the sixth on Engle's two cushion carrom to Crawford, and Engle got a hit out of it. Elberfeld stopped a high one with his beaver, scared bean, which put Engle on second, and Hack skipped home when Beckendorf made a wild throw to lasso him at second.

Cobb unlimbered a homer to right in the seventh inning, and in the ninth Crawford finally got one clear and made a three bagger. He pulled up at third, but came on in when Sweeney, his feet tangled in the ball, had trouble in picking it up.

The Detroits did a lot of fly hitting. Chase didn't get a putout until the sixth inning. Hal, however, helped with his baton, swatting in three runs. The score:

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Philadelphia won two games from Cleveland to-day and deserved them. The first was in balance until the end, and but for a great play in which Barry and Baker figured it is likely that it would have gone to extra innings. The second was a walkover. The scores:

Baseball Notes.

The New York Americans have bought two players from the Hartford club, Fischer, a pitcher, and Wanner, an outfielder.

Cobb made a great throw in the eighth inning. Works overthrew first fielding Austin's bunt, and Cobb, picking up the ball on the foul line in deep right, sailed it over to third and nailed Austin there.

Old Elberfeld actually jumped clear of the ground for one of Work's high ones and rammed it to right for a single.

JUMPERS FRACTIOUS AT SHOW

CAUSE TROUBLE FOR WOMEN RIDERS AT LONG BRANCH.

Miss Caroline Bryce Gets a Fall, While Miss Borden and Miss Hilda Holloway Have Narrow Escapes—C. W. Watson Still Winning in Heavy Harness Classes.

Those who were present at the Long Branch show last year and remembered the slaughter of the innocents which occurred in the ladies' hunters' class were not surprised yesterday when nearly the same thing occurred. The horses came into the ring evidently looking for trouble, and they did not look in vain.

Miss Caroline Bryce was the first victim offered for the sacrifice. She was on Mrs. Sophie Gumney's Miss Virginia, ordinarily a good mannered, easygoing mare and a good jumper. She was evidently on the qui vive from the first, however, and immediately proceeded to dodge the jumps and run away. Miss Bryce lost her hat, but not her presence of mind, and finally brought the mare up and sent her for the jumps. She took the water jump like a bird and landed clear of the pool by fully three feet. Her next rail fence proved her undoing, however, and striking the top rail both horse and rider went in a heap.

The mare was on her feet in an instant and Miss Bryce had landed so easily and gracefully that one almost expected her to bow to the grand stand in acknowledgment of the round of applause which her performance called forth. The plucky horsewoman was not even upset—that is mentally—by her fall and assured her friends that although that was not her usual manner of dismounting that she had found it not altogether a bad one, and much more expeditious than the customary way.

Miss Borden on Sir Thomas went out next, and although she managed to retain her seat, her mount persisted in refusing the water jump.

Miss Hilda Holloway made her initial appearance in the show ring on the brown gelding Interpreter. It was very evident that Interpreter strongly disapproved of the water jump and he decided to try walking through it. He managed to get through the hedge and then went down in the pool, which is hidden on the other side. In his struggles to extricate himself he pitched around, threatening at each lurch to unseat his rider. Miss Holloway managed to retain her seat and when the horse finally struggled on to terra firma she was still in the saddle. It was an experience that would have tested the courage of any man, and now Miss Holloway, clever horsewoman that she is, managed to keep in the saddle is a marvel to all who saw her. The judges decided that none of the hunters deserved even an H. C., and a more crestfallen lot of jumpers it would be hard to find than the trio which walked ribbonless out of the ring.

C. W. Watson continued his uninterrupted success in the heavy harness classes, and added five blues to his string yesterday. It was in class 5 that the surprise of the day occurred, when Mrs. C. W. Watson's almost invincible pair Kitty Grey and Norena were beaten by the novice pair Chatterbox and Ringing Bells, also from the Fairmont Farms. George Watson, Jr., sat behind Rifle and Snapshot, and they gave such a splendid performance that they were placed second to the chestnut winners and ahead of Kitty Grey and Norena.

The mares stepped into the ring in the ladies' class with the evident intention of losing no more of their laurels and they did succeed in carrying off the blue. They had not to compete with the pair that had beaten them earlier in the day, but they found that Mrs. Sophie Gummey's pair, Babette and Babinette would make them look to their laurels. Paul Sorg's Tease and Torment with Mrs. Belle Beach Bain at the reins were placed next to Babette and Babinette, who took the second prize.

It was impossible to beat E. C. Rich's Amanda Baron in the roadster class. Leo Oettinger's Nashville had put up such a good performance when shown the first day that it looked as though he might dethrone the little mare, but she evidently realized that it was a critical moment in her career and was on her mettle for she never showed better in her life and Nashville had to be content with another red for his collection.

Udo Fleishmann's Mayo won the saddle class yesterday and defeated the black mare Delight, owned by Miss Grace Fleishmann. Delight was placed ahead of Mayo on Wednesday in the ladies' saddle class, but it is impossible to beat Mayo when she is going right, and it did not take the judges long to pick her to wear the blue. William Bain rode Brown gelding called The Dude in this class and he captured second prize, leaving only the yellow rosette for Miss Fleishmann's mare.

Another of Mr. Fleishmann's entries called Lady Idol won in the class for ponies under saddle. Lady Idol bears a striking resemblance to one of the popular comic opera stars with her big eyes, well developed chest and straight little legs and her fluffy pompadour. Roslyn, from the same stable, was entered in this class and was expected to carry off the blue rosette, but he very gallantly gave way to the attractive little mare and contented himself with a second prize.

Paul Sorg won a blue ribbon in the class for four-in-hands and defeated J. Campbell Thompson with The Irishman, The Scotchman, Watson and Attorney before the Faugh-a-Ballagh coach. Mr. Sorg was driving two green wheelers and they made a splendid team with Jim Selby and Fatty Bates in the lead in front of the Old Sport. Mr. Thompson's off leader refused to behave himself and his bad manners lost his owner a chance to win the blue.
