

PIERRE

FOR THE CAPITAL!

MERIT SHOULD WIN.

PIERRE claims your vote for the permanent capital upon nothing but merit.

PIERRE is the geographical center of the state and as it is now proven by the story of Huron's own supporters that the Indian reservation is capable of sustaining as large a population as the section this side of the river, it will soon be the center of population.

PIERRE, in less than five years time will be nearer the center of population than Huron is now.

PIERRE will be more accessible within five years time than Huron ever will be. Remember that the railroads Huron has on its map do not all run into that city.

PIERRE has not offered the Farmers' Alliance or any other organization a few acres of swamp lands near the city, as a bribe to the members of that organization, to vote for it for the capital.

Pierre wants the capital to aid in building up the Indian reservation, to get these lands out of the way as competing products with the improved farm lands, upon the South Dakota real estate market.

Pierre for the capital, means a vast army of consumers for the products of the farms of eastern South Dakota. Hence it means better prices for grain, vegetables and all the different products of the farm.

FARMERS

Are you aware of the fact that hay is worth in the Black Hills $22 per ton?

Are you aware of the fact that wheat is worth twice what you get for it here?

Are you aware of that fact the oats, corn, potatoes, etc., bring from two to four times as much in the Black Hills as they do in your home market today?

Are you aware of the fact that a railroad from Pierre to the Black Hills will put you in reasonable distance of that section?

Are you further aware of the fact that if you place the capital at Pierre and thus encourage traffic in that direction you hasten the day when that railroad will be built?

Are you aware of the fact that you have been mistaken in the idea that that railroad will be built just as quick without the capital at Pierre? If you are not, ask yourself the question, why is it not being built now?

FARMERS,

By all Odds, Cast
your vote for Pierre.

THE NEWS AROUND HOME.

O. Gulickson, of Beloit, Wis., is here visiting his daughter, Mrs. T. Helgerson, of Highland township.

T. Klarson of Clayton county, Ia., and his son, are visiting with the family of H. O. Strand and others in this locality.

James A. Mallory has purchased a half block of land on Capital hill of Geo. Carter. Mr. Mallory has unbounded confidence in Canton's future prosperity.

The Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad will sell round trip tickets to Barnums show at Sioux Falls on the 26th for $1.50, including a ticket to the show.

THE LEADER will be obliged to omit the awarding of premiums of the Lincoln County Agricultural society, for this week, as Secretary Nims is attending the state fair.

The Edworth League will give a social at the residence of Mr. J. A. Goding next Wednesday evening, Sept. 24. A short program has been prepared. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

H. L. Loucks and Fred Zipp, independent candidates for governor and member of congress, speak at Bedford's hall next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Indications are that the attendance will be very large.

F. L. Wilson, of Madison county Ill., who is visiting with the family of Wm. Donoho at Beloit, called at this office Monday, and expressed his admiration of Lincoln county. Mr. Wilson expects to settle in this county in the near future.

Mrs. J. W. Carter, her daughter, Beatrice and son Sidney, left last night for Pierre, where they go to make their future home. They leave behind them a large circle of friends who wish them prosperity at the Capital City of our grand state.

It is rumored that a stock company is being organized, for the purpose of the manufacture of a wind mill which is now on exhibition on the corner of Broadway and Fifth streets. THE LEADER is sure it would prove a beneficial institution to Canton and give employment to a large number of men.

A stranger with more booze than brains had a narrow escape of his life, Wednesday night. He was seen staggering on the depot platform as the train from the east was coming, and when the train got on the depot he fell between the cars and the platform, which was under good headway, but luck seemed to favor him as he came out all right except a few slight scratches about the head.

Frank Nims, J. Hawn and Frank Huetson, left Sunday morning for the state fair which is being held at Aberdeen this week. Mr. Nims took seven of his thoroughbred hogs with him while Huetson and Hawn took fourteen of theirs. Both parties can boast of having as fine a herd of hogs in this county and after they get back from the state fair they can no doubt boast of having the finest herds in the state.

THE LEADER has received a lengthy communication from Lincoln township, giving a detailed account of the meeting held at the Center school house last Saturday evening, but for want of time is obliged to let it go over till next week. The editor's report of the meeting at the same place Wednesday evening, will have to wait a week, being caught in the rain Tuesday, he failed to get back in time to put the matter in type. Sorry, but accidents will happen, and it cannot be helped.

It is just now the farmer's turn to smile. If he wears a smile of liberal dimensions he may, all things considered, be pardoned for it. For years he has been kept under the harrow. He has, practically, been a nonentity in politics—in great part owing to his own stupidity—but he is waking up and, like the giant who slumbered long, is developing his strength. The newspapers, which for those many years have noticed the farmers only to joke them in their puerile wit, now begin to bestow upon them considerable serious attention. The farmers have stopped working long enough to think, have interested themselves in the politics of the country, and that counts. An exchange says: "One of the interesting features of politics in the south is the coming out of the farmer." That is the point. The farmer has burrowed too long like the festive woodchuck which infests his farm. It is high time for him to come out, and come out strong. It is ripe time for him to have his say as against the legal gentlemen and the politicians.—Rochester Times.

The Farmers' Alliance, of Phelps county, Neb., has undertaken to proclaim a boycott against any newspaper, man, firm or company who will print, publish, or allow to be printed or published, in his or their paper any disparaging word or sentence against any of the candidates we may select for office."

ROAD MAKING.

The Resistance to Traction on Level Roads of Different Construction.

It is not in our own country alone that the construction and maintenance of better country roads is attracting general attention. According to an authority on the subject in a paper lately read before a club of British farmers the resistance to traction on level roads of different construction and varying conditions is very great and has been computed to be comparatively as follows: On a smooth paved surface, 2; a well kept, dry macadamized granite surface, 5; a similar surface covered with dust, 8; a similar surface wet and muddy, 10; a gravel or flint road in a wet state, 13; a similar surface very wet and muddy, 32.

Among other points enumerated as important to roads, they should be made wide enough to permit of vehicles passing one another with ease, particularly at night. From nineteen to twenty-one feet is considered a suitable width for the road bed. If too narrow the traffic will run very much in one place, while a width greater than necessary leads to loss, as the wear of a road is caused by the action of the weather as well as by the traffic. The general tendency is either to allow a road to wear hollow or to make it far too round.

Thorough drainage is insisted upon as most important, and there, as in this country, it is more neglected than any other point. The mud scraped off from roads should be removed beyond the reach of wheels, that it may not be worked back again. Where a thick coating of hard material is required, it is better to put it on in successive thin coats than in one thick one. Where new material is spread on for the replacement of wear, the travel should be led to pass over such places and not to avoid them.
