CHANGES IN THE EXCISE LAW

IF ADOPTED, WILL DO AWAY WITH FAKE HOTELS.

In Order to Obtain a License a Hotel Must Have 25 Rooms and a Dining Room of 600 Square Feet—Bill Limits Number of Licenses in First Class Cities.

ALBANY, April 28.—The amendment to the excise law introduced by Senator Brough and known as the bill of the Committee of Fourteen, for the regulation of Raines law hotels, was reported favorably to-day by the Senate Committee on Taxation and Retrenchment. If it becomes a law it will practically do away with Raines law hotels in the city of New York as many of them now exist.

Under the provisions of the bill a hotel in order to obtain a license must contain twenty-five rooms and have a dining room 600 square feet in size, with accommodations for fifty guests at one time. Under the present law a dining room need only be 200 square feet and have accommodations for twenty guests. The requirement for membership in the Hotel Men's Association in New York city is fifty rooms, and any investigations which have been made have failed to find any considerable number of hotels of less than twenty-five rooms which would be hotels if it were not for the provisions of the law with relation to Sunday sales of liquor.

The bill also provides for 150 special excise agents, so that the State Excise Department can enforce the law independent of the police. The report of the Excise Commissioner shows that the receipts by the local bureau for penalties for excise violations were $50,000 in excess of the total disbursements of the department.

The bill also provides for what is known as a "penalty on the place." By that is meant that if the law is violated and a liquor license is revoked a new liquor license cannot be granted under any circumstances for liquors to be sold in the same place for a period of one year. It therefore makes it incumbent upon the landlord of the premises to see that the law is strictly carried out.

The bill extends the penalties of the law to the acts of agents, and will therefore close disorderly places. Heretofore the owners of a disorderly house have pleaded ignorance of the acts of the agent and have asserted that the agent overstepped his authority and, in many cases escaped the penalty. This law is notice to the proprietor of a saloon or Raines law hotel that he is responsible under the law for the acts of his bartenders and servants.

Another new feature in the bill is the limitation of licenses in cities of the first class, at a ratio of one to 1,000. At the present time it is one license for every 460. By making the ratio one to 1,000 it will close up more than half of the saloons.

The bill has the support of the brewers, the wholesale liquor dealers and most of the liquor centers of the State. It makes a license valuable property and one which will always have a value, and by that means the liquor dealers themselves will become a factor in seeing that the excise law is enforced.

"It is expected," said Senator Brough to-day, "that the bill will pass the Senate and Assembly with few if any dissenting votes."

BARNES'S FLING AT GOV. HUGHES

Says He Has Been Guilty of Selfish Motives and Has Proved a False Prophet.

ALBANY, April 28.—Chairman William Barnes, Jr., of the Republican State committee, is of Albany at the Gridiron dinner here last night and which he takes to mean he presiding. Mr. Barnes is to make a fling at Gov. Hughes were the cause of comment about the Capitol to-day. Mr. Barnes dragged the Governor savagely over the coals, and while he did not mention the Governor's name, he left no doubt as to the mark he aimed at. By innuendo Mr. Barnes said that Gov. Hughes had been guilty of private and selfish motives since he entered public life. From his first to his concluding sentence Mr. Barnes took the position that the Governor had been and had proved himself a false prophet and adviser.

In referring to difficulties met with in his organization Mr. Barnes said that whatever difficulties had come had not been local but in the form of crusades sent to interject ideas that were not welcome on the part of an outsider. He said that it took certain number of years to make an apprentice journeyman.

"We have journeymen in politics like who never received their apprenticeship," continued Mr. Barnes, and he added: "The Republican party is greater than any man in it, and the man who tries to preempt the party does not exist permanently. We have had more popular delusions during the past four years than we have been acquainted with for a long time."

Mr. Barnes took a fling at the coterie in the Senate which had gathered together under the Hughes banner. He singled out Senator Wainwright of Westchester, who, he said, had recently refused the office of the position of Surveyor of the Port of New York because he thought his duty to be in the Senate to help aid the Hughes cause.

"When he discovered," said Mr. Barnes, "that the leader of the movement he was so deeply interested in had withdrawn he found out he was in wrong."

In concluding Mr. Barnes said that at the time when Senator Root had given instructions to Senator Davenport and the Governor had been heard from as regards the urging of the selection of Senator Hinman of Binghamton as temporary President of the Senate he had written to Senator Root. "I said in my letter," said Mr. Barnes, "that I didn't know about the refined politics of this hour but that I had never attempted to dictate in a like manner to a district leader or I should not have been writing to him as a leader. I never have said, 'You must do this or that,' boss though I am called, for I do not believe in delivering orders to an American citizen. Neither do I propose to have a President, a Governor or a Senator affect my authority with which I have been clothed by the votes of the people."

Mr. Barnes branded as a lie the declaration that his certificate as leader had not been given by the electorate. He branded as "crooked" the policy of asking a man for help and then "doing" him. "If I can do one thing in public life worth while," he added, "it will be to be honest with my friends, those who have created me politically."

DATE OF ADJOURNMENT.

Assembly Fixes It for May 12 Senate Will Make It May 19.

ALBANY, April 28.—Majority Leader Merritt of the Assembly to-day had a resolution unanimously adopted providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature on Thursday, May 12, at 2 P. M. The resolution went over to the Senate, and before it is adopted there it will be amended to provide for the final adjournment a week later, May 19.

When the adjournment resolution was adopted in the Assembly Assemblyman Merritt had a second resolution adopted continuing in existence to May 6 the Assembly Judiciary Committee for the purpose of considering solely direct nominations legislation. All the other committees of the House go out of business to-morrow.

It has already been made clear that the Assembly cannot agree upon the Hinman-Green bill in its present form, and the unanimity supporting the resolution to permit the Judiciary Committee to give long consideration to the proposition was conceded to be good evidence of the fact that a motion to discharge the committee now or any other time would not be successful.

NO PRIMARY LEGISLATION.

The Measure Favored by Gov. Hughes Seems to Be Doomed to Defeat.

ALBANY, April 28.—The State Senate Judiciary Committee to-night after a four hour executive session put over until Wednesday the consideration of direct nominations legislation, treated the Federal income tax proposition in the same manner, reported favorably the general amendments to the public service commissions bill and killed woman suffrage.

Senator Harvey D. Hinman of Broome appeared before the committee in the interests of the Hinman-Green so-called direct nominations bill favored by Gov. Hughes. Senator Hinman had already been given to understand that the prospects for favorable consideration of the Hughes brand of primary legislation were worse than remote, but he went through the formality of moving his bill. The Judiciary Committee was practically unanimous in voting to postpone consideration of the measure until next Wednesday. By that time the Assembly Judiciary Committee will have made plain its programme as regards the three direct nominations measures that are before the Legislature.

Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said after the executive session of the committee to-night that the committee would in all probability report the three bills out without recommendations and let the Hinman-Green bill advocated by Gov. Hughes and the Meade-Phillips bill, favored by the Republican organization, as well as the Democratic League bill be voted upon by the Senate.

Similar action will be taken by the Assembly Judiciary Committee next week. The plan is to vote down the Hinman-Green bill in each House and thus by decisive action again place the legislative stamp of disapproval upon this measure. The expectation to-night is that there will be no primary legislation this year.

The possibility of favorable action being taken by either branch of the Legislature on the Federal income tax proposition is less encouraging for the advocates of the Taft idea of taxing incomes than it was before Assemblyman Murray brought up his concurrent resolution in the Assembly last week, when it lacked only two votes of being passed. Mr. Murray will call up his resolution again Tuesday. He said to-day that he would defer the proposition no longer than Tuesday, no matter what became of it. Mr. Murray says that since the vote was taken on the resolution influences have been brought to switch some of its original supporters to the opposition.

Senator Bayne (Dem., Staten Island), and Senator Sealoser (Rep., Columbia) were the only Senators to vote for woman suffrage before the Senate Judiciary committee. The women who have been lobbying for the bill quit Albany to-night satisfied that it was all off with woman suffrage for at least this year. The Senate Judiciary Committee's action being even more decisive and more unkind to the proposition to permit women to vote than was the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

NEW ELEVENTH AVENUE BILL.

It Compels Removal of Surface Tracks and Permits Elevated or Subway.

ALBANY, April 28.—The Assembly Railroads Committee to-day reported favorably a substitute for the bill of Assemblyman Hoey providing for the removal of the tracks of the New York Central from the grade on Eleventh avenue in New York city.

The substitute bill provides that the surface tracks shall be removed and in their place either an elevated or subway system be installed, whichever is found feasible and will meet the approval of the Board of Estimate, which is given authority to decide upon the plans. The work is to be completed within five years.

The bill authorizes a discontinuance of steam power, leaves the question of franchise open and gives authority to the Public Service Commission to change the route. The cost of all improvements is to be borne by the railroad, except the cost of the approaches, which must be paid by the city. The substitute repeals the Save law and meets objections made to the Grady bill, which passed the Legislature last year but was vetoed by Mayor McClellan.

This new Eleventh avenue bill is the one agreed upon by the city authorities in New York, and yesterday Assistant Corporation Counsel McGoldrick had the Railroad Committee substitute it for the Hoey bill introduced earlier in the session.

FATE IN DURANGO.

Mexican Town Where They Hand You Money, According to Dr. McCusack.

If by any chance there is any ambitious young man in the United States who is making less than $10,000 a year in the newspaper business, or in fact in any other line, he is simply wasting his time by staying in this country, according to Dr. A. B. McCusack of Durango, Mexico, who is staying at the Wolcott.

Dr. McCusack is a man apparently under 30, with a smooth face and marked conversational powers. He was wearing a luxurious lounge suit turned out by one of Chicago's most fashionable tailors in the course of a short sojourn when the doctor made in that city on his way to New York. He had a low felt hat to match and was smoking a richly flavored cigar. The doctor, smoking, said:

"Three years ago, having given myself a medical education at a college in Chicago, I looked over the field in that town, and decided there was no room in it for a young physician who had no capital. I looked over the map until I came across the name of Durango. To get there I had practically to work my way.

"I started out doing surgical work and was successful. Then I found that the situation was excellent for the treatment of tuberculosis. Durango being 6,700 feet above sea level. I wrote to friends in Chicago telling them of this and they sent me patients. Well, one thing after another that I got into turned out well, and to-day I am what you might call prospering.

"How long would it take an ambitious young man to make $1,000,000 down there?"

"Well," said the doctor modestly, "I don't know whether every young fellow going down there would have the same luck that I have had. But there is a good chance. An American down there can start out in any direction and he is bound to make money. There has never been an English speaking person of ambition who has gone to Durango and not made money.

"Why, the Mexicans simply hand it to you. Last year I invited a young fellow I know to come down there. When he wanted to know what to do I suggested the dyeing and cleaning business, and guaranteed the cost of his outfit. Well, sir, that fellow in the first twelve months cleaned up $30,000 net, and there are scores of others who have done as well."

Durango has a population of about 45,000. There is an American colony of about 500. The influx from this country has improved the place tremendously.

AUTOIST AS A PUBLIC NUISANCE.

That Charge Against a Speeder Falls Because He'd Been Tried Before.

Jacob Gold, 28 years old, a clerk, of 940 Union avenue, The Bronx, who was fined $10 by Magistrate Harris for speeding on Fifth avenue at the rate of fifty miles an hour on February 20 last, was put on trial in Special Sessions yesterday on the charge of being a public nuisance. The same facts were alleged, and Gold, pleading former jeopardy, was discharged.

Lieut. Casey swore that Gold drove at racing speed from Sixtieth to Sixty-sixth street on Fifth avenue, turned into Sixty-sixth street almost without slowing up and went to Third avenue, where he was arrested.

FLOWERS FOR THE POOR.

Money Too Will Help the Work of the Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild.

If you have any flowers that aren't doing as much good as they could you can send them to the New York branch of the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild and have them put where they will brighten up dingy rooms on the fifth floor back of East Side tenement houses. And if you have $5 that isn't working very hard E. R. L. Gould of 70 Fifth avenue will put it to good use. He will take less than that and be glad of it. That was the burden of a talk which Mrs. John Wood Stewart, founder of the guild, gave yesterday afternoon at Miss Annie Leary's house, 1092 Fifth avenue.

Last year the guild gave away 233,500 bunches of summer flowers. Beside that there were some 35,000 bunches of carnations and roses which were left after dinners and receptions and then went over on Essex street and elsewhere. The guild gave away too some thousands of potted plants, 1,500 glasses of jelly, 600 window boxes and 428 bushels of fruit and vegetables. If your country place is within 100 miles of New York the express companies will carry twenty pounds of fruit and flowers free to the office of the guild.

They had some stories to tell yesterday about the work that the guild does on the East Side. They say that a first rate way to start a small riot among the youngsters is to carry an armful of flowers through the streets. One of the workers, having got by the children, reached the tenement room of a seventy-year-old English woman.

"Be ye takin' these 'ere to the 'ospital, Miss," says she.

"No, Mrs. Rutledge, they're for you. Haven't you something to put them in?"

"Good Lord!" says Mrs. Rutledge. "They're ain't nobody give me flowers not since I was a girl, they aren't." A week later, when the visitor called again, the lilies of the valley had faded and were gone, but the old English woman clung to the greens. The ferns were still fresh in their pitcher of water.

Mme. Johanna Gadski, who usually receives wreaths and bunches of roses whenever she sings at the Metropolitan, passes some of them on to the guild. Mme. Eames has kept up the habit since she stopped singing at the opera. Mme. Gadski distributed some of them herself.

The speakers yesterday beside Mrs. Stewart were the Rev. Walter Laidlaw of the Federation of Churches, Miss Ada Laura Fairfield, secretary of the guild, Gustave Straubenmuller, of the Board of Education, and Miss Ellen Eddy Shaw of the Garden Magazine, who told about making gardens in small compass.

The honorary president of the guild is Mrs. James Roosevelt. Mrs. Levi P. Morton is president and Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont, Miss Annie Leary and Mrs. John Wood Stewart are vice-presidents.

"NITRATE KING'S" PARTNER.

Sir Robert Harvey Returning From a South American Trip.

Sir Robert Harvey of England, who is one of the biggest figures in the nitrate world, is at the Hotel Astor, having arrived the day before yesterday on the Atrato from a three months inspection tour of his nitrate properties in South America and of the railroads in which he is interested down there.

Sir Robert is chairman of the board of directors of the Anglo-South American Bank, the Arauco Nitrate Company, the Colorado Nitrate Company, the Lagunas Syndicate, the Liverpool Nitrate Company, the San Jorge Nitrate Company, the Nitrate Railways Company, the Antofogasta and Bolivia Railway Company, the Tarapaca Water Works Company and of the North's Navigation Collieries in Glamorganshire.

In chemistry and engineering Sir Robert has done much. When still a young man he went to Bolivia, where he worked for many years as a mining engineer. Then he became engineer to the nitrate works in Peru and in 1875 he was made engineer-in-chief and inspector-general of nitrate fields in Tarapaca by both the Peruvian and Chilean Governments. He became a partner of the late Col. North, the "Nitrate King," and amassed a great fortune in the nitrate business. He was made a knight in 1901. According to the Bolivian Minister Señor Calderon, Sir Robert is building the railroad from Arica to La Paz, which will shorten by 200 miles the distance by rail from the Bolivian capital to the coast. He has also done something in the way of research, and his book entitled "A Short History of Peru and Its Inscribed Stones" is well known. His wife was the daughter of a wealthy Frenchman who was in business in Lima.

"The only news I have is that nitrate of soda is down, and I don't see much probability of its coming up," said Sir Robert yesterday. "To what is the decline due? Well, to the failure of the producers to keep the production down. There was an agreement lasting for six years among the companies producing nitrate. The companies have now failed to agree. Some were not satisfied with the share of the business they were getting and everybody went out to get all they could for themselves. The result is a fight which will end in the survival of the fittest."

CITY DEBT LIMIT BILL.

Senate Cities Committee Agrees on a Compromise Measure.

ALBANY, April 28.—Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward J. McGoldrick after consultation with Senator Harvey D. Hinman, chairman of the Cities Committee, to-day succeeded in having a compromise debt limit bill agreed upon by the Cities Committee. The bill embodied practically all of the essentials of the bill favored by the New York city authorities.

The approved bill strikes out the provision which the Citizens Union wanted, allowing the Public Service Commission to make application before the Appellate Division for the exclusion of self-sustaining subway and dock bonds and leaves it absolutely in the hands of the Board of Estimate to make such application. The bill provides that the determination as to the exclusion of such bonds in computing the debt borrowing capacity of the city shall be made by the Appellate Division instead of the Board of Estimate.

It has also been agreed upon to provide that the Board of Estimate shall have the power to put in its application such facts as in its judgment may be advisable instead of prescribing such facts by legislation, and it also leaves the Appellate Division in a position to make such findings as it may deem necessary.
