CLEVELANDS NAB A GAME

NEW YORKS DO POOR WORK ON THE BASES.

No Hitting With Men on Route and Lapses in the Field Athletics Defeat St. Louis in 14 Inning Combat Detroits and Bostons Beat Opponents.

The Clevelands, who have been called about for a greater part of their present season career, occasionally win a game from a better team and yesterday the won easily from the New Yorks. All the other first division teams won. The Bostons came close to the heels of the Highlanders by drubbing the shabby Chicago aggregation. The Detroits rallied long enough to snatch a game on the tape from the Washington, the first evidence of strength the champions have displayed in several days. The Athletics had a rousing tussle with the Browns, the game going fourteen innings, but the leaders can again and it doesn't look as if they are to be headed at all soon, if at all. The results:

Cleveland, 9; New York, 2.

Philadelphia, 2; St. Louis, 1.

Detroit, 7; Washington, 6.

Boston, 5; Chicago, 1.

CLEVELAND, 9, NEW YORK (A. L.), 2.

Off day baseball was played by the Highlanders yesterday. The description fit their case. They were so far off that everything of consequence went wrong. It was just a plain bad game they played, the three departments in which they were inefficient magnifying one another by association. They batted lightly, fielded uncertainly and ran bases shyly. The greatest of these was poor base running. Shortcomings in other ways wouldn't have mattered so much if runs which at least would have made the game closer hadn't been neglected by petering out on the bases, a condition partly superinduced by hitlessness.

All of which was convenient with a large run by the Clevelands. The Naps made their maiden victory in New York a decisive one. Pitcher Fisher started his first game for the New Yorks and didn't make a glorious entry. Nevertheless, while nervous he was getting along fairly well until an error started the Naps on the way to three runs. The runs were made after the side should have been retired. The Naps pummeled Hughes hard enough to win the game. Koestner, the Cleveland kid pitcher, was wild and flighty and Manager McGuire shelved him at the right time. Harkness, a cross fire artist, was the toughest pitching contract the New Yorks have struck in some time. They didn't have a chance against him.

Larry Lajoie bolted his way into possession of the running gear of the automobile. A few more such days and he'll be hiring a chauffeur. He made the dust fly around Laporte's habitat, shooting a double and a single past Monsieur Francois and pulling that gentleman in with a couple of bunts, which, though cleanly handled by Laporte, carried Larry safely to first.

Fisher passed Niles in the first inning, and Niles rambled around on a steal, an out and Lajoie's sacrifice fly. The New Yorks had openings equally as good in the first, but Easterly's marksmanship was too true and two of the nine fellows died stealing. The New Yorks tied the score in the second on a pass to Knight, a hit by Crete and another hit to Roach. Mitchell was passed to get him out of the way, which put three on bases with one out. Here was a chance to cow the Clevelands by putting them behind, but a short fly by Fisher was useless and Daniels also popped a fly.

The offness of the New Yorks was evidenced by an incident in the fourth inning. Stovall sent up an infield fly. Chase went for it and stopped when he saw Mitchell's imitation of a man going for a fly. Mitchell stopped, thinking Chase would take it. There being a lack of organization, the ball came down during the compound stopping. Fortunately it bounded over the foul line. Such beautiful team work in stopping being too good a thing to repeat, it took Stovall's next fly. Laporte made a wide throw of Birmingham's grounder, but the ball carromed back from the stand and Chase threw Birmingham out at second.

After Roach had fumbled, Koestner in the fifth the next two batters went out. Turner drew four balls, went to third on Lajoie's hit to left, Daniels being slow, and Easterly scored both with a hit to right. The Clevelands went up in the air in the second half of the fifth, but the New Yorks went higher. Mitchell was hit, Hemphill took first on a fumble by Stovall, and then Koestner made a wild throw of Daniels's sacrifice. Mitchell scored and left two still on bases. The Naps plated one for a double and when Wolter forced Daniels Hemphill got home. I have come in on his hands to all the Clevelands were bothered about him. Hemphill's reasoning apparatus was dizzy and he held the ball. Mistakes of this was when Chase fouled to Stovall. Hemphill started home on the catch, changed his mind and was captured between the bases. The Highlanders had left their intelligence in cold storage.

Laporte singled and Knight was hit on the bottom of his cap in the sixth. Nobody was out. Up came Easter Harkness and exit the Highlanders. Three outs, first, that's all. Lord and Turner singled in the seventh. Lord advancing third on Turner's hit, which was more bustling on the bases than the Naps showed during their whole sojourn here before. Turner stole second. Mitchell threw to centre field to head him off—a misapprehension of the topography, which allowed two runs to come in. However, the runs would have come in anyway, as Lajoie splintered the foul line with a two bagger to left.

Perring tripled in the eighth and sent home a man. In the ninth Turner singled and made a brilliant dash to third on Lajoie's safe bunt. Easterly scored Turner. Lajoie came in on the squeeze. Stovall nabbing the ball over Hughes's head and sending it to Knight for a force. The New Yorks had no monopoly of warped gray matter, for Stovall barbored the delusion that he had been doubled at first. He stepped off the bag and was tagged out by Chase. Thus ended Chase's effort to score. The last time the Naps were here Stovall pinched him with a hidden ball. It's poor bunk that won't work both ways.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Giants Shut Out by Pittsburgs, While Cardinals Down Brooklyns.

Light hitting was the rule in the National League yesterday, and among the sufferers from that ailment were the Giants. McGraw's tribe was whit washed by the Pirates, but lost no ground relatively, for the Phillies put the Chicagos to the mat. The Brooklyns fell by the wayside in St. Louis, while the Cincinnatis, whose pitchers are doing better work of late, blanked the Boston team. The results:

Pittsburg, 4; New York, 0.

St. Louis, 9; Brooklyn, 3.

PITTSBURG, 4, NEW YORK (N. L.), 0.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 13.—It proved an unlucky day for Drucke when there was a tossup between he and Mathewson as to which was to get the goat of the Pirates to-day. As a result Camnitz plies nine circles up for the Giants and his comrades marked four runs on their tally sheet. The only chance offered the Giants to get in a run was lost in the fourth inning by Doyle. There were none out and Doyle drove a liner to deep right for three bases, which looked promising for at least one run. He was followed by Murray, who drove the ball on a line for second base, which McKechnie handled well. The Pirate second baseman watched Dorie as he held the ball, holding him tied to the base, then shooting the ball to Hyatt, who caught Murray at first. Doyle thought he had time to beat the ball home and made a run for it. This was a play he could not have made unless the ball went astray, and Doyle proved an easy out. This took the ginger out of the Giants for a time at least.

No hits had been made by either team until the fourth inning, when Doyle tripled. Drucke was responsible for the first run which was made in the game. In the fifth with two men out McKechnie struck a slow roller toward first. Merkle had to meet it and Drucke went in to assist, but was not fixed to catch the ball as it came from Merkle and fumbled. On taking his position Drucke tried to catch the runner off first and his throw went wild. McKechnie taking second and scoring on Wilson's single to centre.

In the same play Snodgrass heaved the ball home and Wilson annexed second, scoring later on Gibson's single to right. No more tallies were made in the seventh for the locals. Wagner brightening his performance by waiting, stealing second and, assisted by Hans Hyatt, scoring. On this play Drucke again lost his equipoise. Hyatt batted the ball down in front of him, which was very nicely done. Drucke went forward to gather it in, when his foot slipped, and in doing so his foot hit the ball and it rolled far back of third base. Hyatt went home and Drucke was safe. McKechnie sacrificed Hyatt to third and Gibson singled, sending Hyatt home. The score:

ST. LOUIS (N. L.), 9, BROOKLYN, 3.

St. Louis, July 13.—The Cardinals swooped down on Bell in the second inning to-day and batted in enough runs right there to win. Harman pitched cleverly all the way and the locals in general outplayed the Dahlenites. The Cardinals started with a three bagger by Evans in the second and two more triples and three singles were uncovered before the slugging was checked. The Brooklyns bunched three hits in the fifth for two runs and were harmless thereafter.

BALTIMORE, 7, JERSEY CITY, 2.

Baltimore, July 13.—The Skeeters again fell victims to the Orioles to-day. Manser, who did the pitching for the visitors, was hit hard and his support was not of the best. Clancy and Egan made home runs, making seven homers made by the Orioles since last Saturday. The score:
