HIGHLANDERS IN BIG RALLY

OVERCOME SEVEN RUN LEAD AND BEAT DETROITS.

Four Pitchers Try in Vain to Check the Onslaught—Athletics Defeated and Tied—Bostons Down Browns—The Washingtons and Chicagos Divide.

One of the most notable victories of the season was won by the New York Americans yesterday, when they came from a run behind and beat the Detroits. They had to win to hold second place as the Bostons won from the Browns. The Athletics met with their second consecutive defeat. The Cleveland's took one game from the leaders and then housed up with them in a fifteen inning tie. The Washington's lost the first part of a double header to the White Sox, making the phenomenal record for them of two straight for the Chicagos. The latter were shut out in the second game. The results:

New York, 11; Detroit, 8.

Cleveland, 2; Philadelphia, 6—First game.

Cleveland, 1; Philadelphia, 1—Second game.

Boston, 6; St. Louis, 3.

Chicago, 5; Washington, 1—First game.

Washington, 2; Chicago, 0—Second game.

NEW YORK (A. L.), 11; DETROIT, 8.

—The Aegean job which one Hercules undertook not meaning anything rough about the Detroits in the comparison was a lull in a hammock to what confronted the Highlanders on the palisade yesterday afternoon. At the end of the fifth inning the score was 8 to 1 in favor of the champion. In the next three innings the New Yorks made ten runs and the game was theirs. It was an uphill finish which took the rooters by storm, an exciting, riproaring battle won by a savage onslaught which made four pitchers dizzy trying in vain to stop it.

As a game it was a stream, borrowing from the lexicon of the Rialto. Mullin used up his speed and after being touched up somewhat in the sixth as a prelude he was batted out in the seventh. Up to the sixth he was very effective, using mostly a fast ball close in, few curves and now and than a slow ball. A home run by Jimmy Austin, who took the place of Frank Laporte, who hurt his arm, put the New Yorks in the running. Summers, Willett and Donovan pitched in the eighth and with bases on balls and hits the Highlanders jumped into the lead with five runs.

Summers, who was greeted with three robust hits right off the reel, gave way to Willett, who pitched to just two men. He passed one of them and doled out three balls to the next. Donovan passed two men and was salted with a tearing single by Cree which won the game. Jack Warhop was in hot water all the time. The Detroits clouted him energetically, but wouldn't have scored in such liberal quantity but for errors by Warhop and Gardner. The sliding of Gardner's error would have meant no runs for the Tigers in the fifth inning. The New Yorks had to bank on hits and passes for their runs. However, the left handed hitters of the Detroit ensemble did a deal of damage by shooting the hits past third and short. They opened a lane in the air by their pops in that direction.

Fred Mitchell had the honor of throwing out Ty Cobb at second base on the only steal attempted by the Detroits. That was in the first inning. In the second inning McIntyre singled and Warhop fired Bathers's sacrifice into the back of Latherson's neck. Bush scored McIntyre with a sacrifice fly and Schmidt scored Latherson with a crash hit over second base a soundless home run. Bush on the handoff of the pair fell dead out of reach. Jones whisked a triple over Daniels's head to the third and Cobb batted Davy to his journey's end.

Roach walked in the fourth and Mitchell tipped a hit to centre, which Cobb played like a farmer. Ty dashed in when he didn't have a chance for a flat catch and the ball bounced away from him. Bush scoring. To square himself for that misdeed Cobb battled in three runs in the fifth with a terrific three base drive to the right field fence. This was just after Gardner, having a man forced on the base line, dropped the ball as he was putting it on the runner, cracking a much double play. Crawford hit to Austin who threw him out. Ty Cobb sprinted home ahead of Knight's relay to Mitchell.

In the sixth the slip got in Crawford's eyes on Gardner's inoffensive fly and Sam failed to get hold. Roach lifted a two bagger to centre and Gardner scored from third on an indeed out. The scething seventh began with a soft hit Daniels which fluttered Latherson into a bad error. Davy popped to Crawford. Daniels dashed to third on a single by Knight. With a quick snap tab at the ball Austin racked it along the right field line all the way to the fence. Austin fled round like an antelope on his intramural homer, sending two pals in ahead of him. Cree singled and stole second and Roach scored him with a sharp single.

The eventful eighth opened without any red fire. Foster being called out on strikes without offering at one of them. But the New Yorks had the bat in their teeth. Daniels spilled a single through the mound. Walter beat out a hot drive off Summers's shins. Knight sent a two bagger sailing to the left field fence. Daniels scored and Walter rolled home at third. Old Pe Willett came in to administer a few soothing potions to the rantankerous patient, but his tender options were bogus. He filled the corners with a pass to Austin.

Director lemons the table had Donovan warming up and then there were three balls on Gardner. Donovan called off Knight. He dispensed three balls and then hit Walter with a wild pitch. Cree drove a fly past Bush which broke through that player's guard like lightning. Knight and Austin ran home, Gardner went to third and Cree tried for second. Jones had the ball at second and ahead of Cree and the latter turned and retreated. He again led Bush on a base out toward right field. Actually he was drawing the ire of the line, but it was no business of his to tell Bush so. While Bush was wasting time trailing Cree Gardner came in from third. Davis did mind triumphant mutter.

The Detroits were exterminated in one. Two three order in the ninth by the pitching of Tom Hughes. The score:

NEWARK 6, ROCHESTER 0.

ROCHESTER, July 22.—Joe McGinnity, who was on a vacation while his team was losing in Montreal, resigned command this afternoon. He gathered his men together and told them they were shut out 6 to 0. He did not allow a real hit. In the first inning Moeller was credited with beating out a roller to Louden, who made a bad throw. The score:

The Giants ran foul of another shut out yesterday. They haven't made a run in St. Louis in the last eighteen innings. The trip so far has been a pretty poor one for them. They lost second place by yesterday's defeat. The Pittsburgs floored the Brooklyns and ousted the Giants. The Cincinnatis won from the Phillies, while the Cubs and Bostons didn't come together. ST. LOUIS (N. L.), 4; NEW YORK (N. L.), 0.

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—Winning shutout games has suddenly become quite a fashion with the St. Louis team, which had recently acquired a reputation of losing games in the ninth inning. To-day Manager Bresnahan's crew again triumphed over the Giants much in the same fashion as they did yesterday, save that the score was somewhat larger.

New York had chances to break in on the run column and plenty of them too, but always in the pinch some of McGraw's hired men fell down when it came to rapping out hits. And without the necessary wallops of course hardly any team could be expected to win. It was no so with St. Louis, however. Roger's men got on the bags and also got around to the pay off station simply because the following batters hit the ball hard and timely.

Otis Crandall started on the mound for New York and he made a clever beginning. That was about all he did make, however. For three innings not a St. Louis player reached first base. After one was down in the fourth Ellis nicked a hit to centre. Oakes sent a single to right. Konetchy tripled over Snodgrass's head and the pair scored. Evans tapped a bounder to Crandall and Konetchy was caught in a run up. Crandall to Meyers to Devlin to Crandall. Evans made second on the out. Bresnahan fouled to Meyers.

The sixth opened with an out on Huggins to Devlin to Merkle. Oakes tapped a bounder to Devlin, and beat the throw to first for a hit. Ellis tried to make third on the play and was tossed out on Merkle's return to Bridwell. Konetchy singled to right and Oakes hiked to second. Evans walked, filling the bases. Bresnahan also walked and Oakes trotted home. Moarey was tossed and Konetchy was forced home. Hare hit for Bridwell and Mowery was forced at second. Southpaw Lush was taken out of the game in the seventh after the Giants filled the bases.

PITTSBURG, 14; BROOKLYN, 1.

PITTSBURG, July 22.—By simply slaughtering the Brooklyns this afternoon the champions got into second place in the League race. President Thomas Lynch of the National League was in the grand stand and laughed heartily at the antics of Brooklyn trying to stop Pittsburg from scoring. Fred Clarke's young man Phillippe was in the box for Pittsburg and he gave a remarkable exhibition of ball playing. Aside from holding Brooklyn to six hits and not issuing a base on balls, the old pitcher hit for a home run in the second with the bases full, had a sacrifice hit, scored two runs himself and finally topped off his day's work by beating out a bunt in the seventh inning, filling the bases, paving the way for five more runs to come over the plate for Pittsburg.

Dalton in the fourth inning scored the only run for Brooklyn. It required two bad errors on the part of Pittsburg to get him round. The fast right fielder came first to bat and was safe at first on McKechnie's out. Daubert flew out and on Wheat's out at first Dalton took second. Hummel now singled to right and Wilson fumbled the ball long enough to permit Dalton to score. The score:
