CONFLICTING REPORTS AS TO SALE OF ST. LOUIS BROWNS.

Hedges Decides to Dispose of the Club—American League Men Will Not Object to Release of McAleer a Fatal Error for Marlboro Cup Race Eight Years Ago.

[illegible] Hedges decided to dispose of the St. Louis American League club. Hedges himself [illegible] the sale. Two Hedges [illegible] the St. Louis club for $[illegible] [illegible] Robison, president of the National League, on and a stockholder of the club, [illegible] that no sale is contemplated while Frank de Hedges net seems to talk. The St. Louis Browns have faded utterly this year, evidence Hedges has spent money right and left to secure new material, but has been [illegible] the American League race and is somewhat [illegible] in American League circles the St. Louis problem is causing much discussion and it is said on pretty fair authority that if Hedges should decide to sell there would not be much opposition on the part of President Johnson, provided of course the purchaser was suitable.

Two years ago Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, and the biggest man in his league, had a personal run in with Hedges at a local hotel, the subject being baseball. Hedges at that time was enjoying success, as his Browns, under McAleer, had just made a strong fight for the pennant, though losing first honors by only a few games. Comiskey and Hedges exchanged hot verbal knocks before peacemakers could interfere. But enough was said to create the impression that the St. Louis man was not a member of the inside circle which is in control of the league.

When Hedges therefore decided to turn McAleer loose in response to a general clamor at the end of last season it is said that Johnson, Comiskey and other club owners protested against the move, attempting to show that the slump of the Browns was not due to managerial mistakes but to a series of unfortunate accidents. But Hedges stuck to his plan and when McAleer was released Johnson promptly recommended him to the Washington club.

The result of this change has worked wonders in Washington. Never in the history of baseball has there been so much interest in the national capital. The crowds this year have broken all records and the Washingtons have assumed a higher position in the race than any former team representing that city in the big leagues. The Washington club has made big money and the stockholders attribute the entire success to McAleer's methods. In view of these facts it is reported that Hedges has become discouraged and that the American League leaders will welcome a change in the ownership and management of the St. Louis club. But if there's a sale it is safe to say that Johnson will have much to say in the selection of a new owner.

Competent baseball men who discuss the proposed world's series between the Athletics and Cubs express the opinion that the Chicago team will have a big advantage behind the bat, which may be a reason for the defeat of Mack's men. Kling and Archer, the Cubs' backstops, appear to outclass Thomas, Livingston and Lapp of the Athletics in headwork and scientific play. The Athletics, on the other hand, are believed to be stronger in pitchers, with such artists as Coombs, Morgan, Bender, Plank and Krause to depend upon. Krause, who hasn't pitched much this year, is just beginning to assert himself and is said to have been purposely saved for the world's series. The experts figure that the teams are evenly matched in hitting, with the Cubs having a shade the better of it in fielding and base running. But it is about not the first time that sometimes calculations on paper go wrong. There seems to be no doubt, however, that the Cubs will be favorites at the outset of the series.

It was reported yesterday that the directors' liability law, which has compelled the owners of racetracks in this State to call off the usual fall meetings, would soon be tested by means of civil suits instituted by the minority stockholders of the Coney Island Jockey Club and the Westchester Racing Association. The papers in these suits have already been filed and it is said at least one of them will come to trial early next month.

F. J. Pons, one of the promoters of the new track at Marlboro, Md., says he has received word from the Jockey Club that he can hold a meeting of ten days beginning October 1 and that if he increases the size of the track to a mile in circumference he can have now and next spring he will be permitted to race fifteen days. Pons, who is the chief promoter of the Jacksonville winter meeting, says the necessary change will be made at Marlboro and that he will race thirty days there next year. He denies the report that Charles F. Price will be the presiding judge at Jacksonville and states that Joseph A. Murphy will again serve in that capacity.

Mars Cassidy has been engaged to start at Lexington, Louisville and Latonia, beginning October 1 and stretching over a period of fifty racing days. After that he will handle the barrier at Juarez during the winter meeting. Since Saratoga closed Cassidy has been talking a needed rest at Sheepshead Bay.

Edward Corrigan, once millionaire owner of Hawthorne track, Chicago, and a stockholder in the Kansas City, City Park (New Orleans) and other racecourses, is racing a small stable of selling platers at Anaconda, Mon. The old man won a $100 purse at Anaconda on Thursday with the mare Mollie Montrose.

Meanwhile the attempt to revive racing in Chicago by running an event with betting at Harlem on Labor Day has stirred up much opposition that the plan has been temporarily abandoned. It is said that some of the bookmakers who took bets on the test race may be arrested and prosecuted.

When Jack Johnson heard the results of the Kaufman-Lang and Jeannette-Lang bouts he said:

"I should agree to a match with any these men now the public wouldn't take it for interest. I could whip Kaufman or Lang and with my left hand. I don't intend to fight again until some pugilist worthy of a chance with me is developed, then there'll be sure money in it for me, I am getting a big weekly salary in vaudeville and that is enough. It's too much trouble to train when you don't have to. I'm giving no attention to Langford's challenge for a fight with him wouldn't draw enough to guard. Why doesn't Langford use Kaufman? Let him stop Kaufman first and Jeannette before talking about fighting me."

The Athletic has cleaned up nearly $20,000 in two weeks playing with second raters in the Northwest. It has been an easy game and the featherweight champion evidently takes it for he says he will not come East before winter, when he will be prepared to meet Pal Moore or Owen Moran in a contest to take place in this city. If Attell means what he says there's no doubt that Moore will jump at a chance to meet him, in which event Attell will be compelled to concede weight to the Quaker marvel.

The Fairmont Club is trying to arrange a match between Packy McFarland and Jack Goodman or Owen Moran. McFarland will not come East, however, unless his battle with Ad Wolgast in Los Angeles on September 20 (if this match is not presented by Milwaukee's Sol Metz) is postponed, there might be a chance to see the men here in New York, as the bout drags like a porous plaster.

Newport Tennis.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 9.—Miss Louise Hammond and Miss Wildey this afternoon on the Newport Casino courts won the women's doubles tennis tournament over Miss Marion Fenno and Eleanora Sears, a team. Twenty-six games were played in the first set and twelve in the second. The scores were 12-14, 6-2, 7-5. The final round in the scratch singles tournament was played also to-day and as the result Mrs. William Pouch and Miss Hammond will meet in the final to-morrow. The result of the semi-finals were: Mrs. Pouch defeated Miss Sears, 6-1, 7-5; Miss Hammond defeated Miss Dorothy Green, 6-4, 6-1. In second round of the mixed doubles tournament Miss Green and T. Suffern Tailer defeated Miss Dorothy Kane and R. Lonzan, 6-0, 6-3. In the third round Miss Harper Wallach and Craig Biddle defeated Miss Green and Mr. Tailer, 6-4, 6-4.

TO THE FOR MET TITLES.

Splendid Entry in Annual Championship Fixture at Travers Island.

[illegible] Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. [illegible] are lined up for under the auspices of the New York A. C. and [illegible] that a great gathering of the generalship [illegible] should be here in the history of the organization. One of the main features will be the quest for the point honors, the crop of the probable starters show not that it will be close between the New York A. C. and the Irish A. A. C. The whole thing depends on the work of a few athletes, whether they will be consistent or whether they may flunk at the critical moment.

Partisans of the Irish club have it that the point championship is already won by their organization, while the followers of the New York A. C. although not being so confident are of the opinion that victory will perch on their banner. One of the accidents of form figured the point result out yesterday and made the total 21 to 8a in favor of the New York A. C. The New Yorks will lose something by the absence of Dunham in the 16 pound shot, while Dan Shearn is said to be incapacitated from the Irish A. A. C. in the hop, step and jump.

Leaving aside the point championship there will be two races on the card worth going miles to see. These are the half and mile. In the shorter distance Sheppard and Gissing will have their little inning, and it should be a cracker from the smoke of the gun to the worsted. Experts say that Sheppard can't lose and that Lyon will be beaten, and even the more hopeful think that if the day is good a deeper notch may be cut on the fame post of middle distance running. Paull and Kiviat will fight it out in the mile, and it looks much the same as if to toss a coin. With conditions favorable the time should be better than 4:20.

It is more than likely that there will be some dual winners. John Flanagan should annex the hammer and 56 pound weight with Con Walsh close up in both events. Platt Adams is another likely dual scorer, his events being the broad jump and javelin. Except there is a bad reversal all the points of the pole vault should go to New York A. C. In the high jump there should be some keen work. It has been stated that Con Leahy is back again in his old form, and if the report proves true he will win from Erickson and Thomassen. Winners in the sprints, hurdles and other events will depend largely on the condition of the contestants and their luck otherwise.

IMPROMPTU JUDGES AT FAIR.

Trotting Starter and Judge Understudies in Show Ring.

The starter and the judges had their hands full yesterday afternoon at the Richmond county dfair at Staten Island between getting the runners away from the quarter and half mile posts in the different races and acting as judges in the heavy harness, pony and runabout classes. They were not scheduled to act in the latter capacity, but the ruling powers had forgotten to provide any judges in the excitement of collecting entries, and so the entire staff considerately climbed down from the judges stand and entered the show ring.

The horse show opened with the exhibition of harness pairs over 15 hands and brought out some old campaigners. Mrs. L. A. Dalrymple Percival sat behind Emil Seelig's bay pair, The Lion and The Lady, and she was placed ahead of Mrs. F. J. Hull who handled her own pair, Fleurette and Comet.

Mrs. James B. McKay was a good winner yesterday. With Miss Cynthia Kearney's brown gelding, The Earl, she won the ladies single harness class. Lady Debonair, who since she was entered in the maiden class has been a good winner on the circuit, won in the novice class and gave a remarkable performance in the clever hands of James Schweiger. Mrs. Mckay's Jack Frost looked like a winner in the open class for hunters, but the judges gave first choice to P. A. Hart's Statuine with Miss Marshall up. Jack Frost made a clean performance also, but had to accept second place.

FAST MILES AT HARTFORD.

The Harvester in 2:03, Uhlan 2:04 1-4 to Wagon.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 9.—Twice to-day the trotting track record at Charter Oak Park was broken, when The Harvester in the free for all trot did the second mile in 2:03 and when Uhlan, driven by his owner, C. K. G. Billings of New York, did the circuit to a four wheeled vehicle in 2:04¼. The track record hitherto was held by Hamburg Belle and was 2:04¾.

The exhibition by Uhlan was a beautiful one. He was accompanied by a running horse and all through the mile showed no variation of the easy grace that characterizes every stride. Horse and owner got an ovation. The first three-quarters were made each in 30¾ seconds and the last quarter in 29 seconds. The attendance was small. The summaries:

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET

LEAST BUILDING FIGURES SHOW IMPROVEMENT.

A Seventh Avenue Corner in the Pennsylvania Section Changes Hands for Improvement—Quick Taking of Profit on a Plot in the Bedford Tract.

Bradstreet's will say to-day:

"The total value of the permits for building at eighty-three cities of the United States for August is reported at $97,897,109, as against $55,721,337 in July and $92,054,841 in August a year ago. There is here indicated a gain of 22.9 per cent. over July and of 9.4 per cent. over August last year. Fifty of the eighty-three cities show increases over August last year and thirty-three show decreases.

"The large expansion over July and the gain over August above shown is, however, explained by the immense total furnished by Duluth of $10,197,140, as against only $266,955 in July. This is accounted for by the filing of one permit issued to the Minnesota Steel Company to erect at West Duluth some fifty buildings to cost in the aggregate about $10,000,000.

"To illustrate the difference the inclusion of Duluth's August permits makes in the grand total it might be noted that with the city's total omitted the August aggregate, eighty-two other cities, is $57,699,969, a decrease of 6.5 per cent. from August a year ago and a gain of only 5 per cent. over July."
