CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BROOKLYNS CAN PLAY HIGHLANDERS IN APRIL.

President Farrell Says He Will Readily Arrange a Spring Series if President Ebbets Says the Word—Rival New York Teams Getting Ready for a Clash.

The Brooklyns will have a chance to play a series of games with the New York Americans next spring. This announcement was made yesterday by President Farrell of the Highlanders, who said that while he recognized the fact that the Brooklyn club is a representative of Greater New York it would be impracticable to admit Dahlen's men to the coming series between the Giants and Highlanders. The lateness of the season and the necessary shortness of the local series of seven games made it impossible to take the Brooklyns into a three cornered struggle, Mr. Farrell said, but there was no attempt to ignore the right of the Brooklyn club to issue a challenge.

"The Highlanders will be only too ready to play the Brooklyns next spring before the opening of the championship season," said Mr. Farrell yesterday. "If Mr. Ebbets wants to talk business now I shall be glad to meet him. We will play three, five or seven games with his team early in April, and I think the series would be of vital interest, especially to Brooklyn fans. There has always been rivalry between the Brooklyns and the Giants, but as they play twenty-two games each year an excellent line on their respective strength can be obtained. That is another reason why I don't believe a three cornered series, suggested by Mr. Ebbets, would provide really interesting sport. It might cause the public interest to lag. But with the Highlanders playing seven games with the Giants this fall and a series with the Brooklyns in the spring I believe there would be beneficial results.

"So you can say that if the Brooklyn club wants to play us next April we will arrange the series forthwith. The Brooklyn team is a good one and will improve. We do not expect a snap by any means.

"I am convinced that Mr. Brush will O K the Giant-Highlander series as soon as he arrives here, which will be in a day or two. The popular demand for these games cannot be overlooked. I have received hundreds of letters from patrons expressing hope that the series between the New York teams will be played, and I know that the biggest men in baseball are in favor of the plan. The members of the National Commission, Messrs. Johnson, Herrmann and Lynch, are a unit in believing that the games will provide New Yorkers with sensational sport."

Meanwhile arrangements for the series are being made on the quiet by officials of the rival clubs. With no flourish of trumpets the Giants already have doubled up two games with the Bostons that were to have been played the middle of October, which will make it possible to begin the first game between the teams of McGraw and Stallings on October 13. But there may be an earlier start, as the wires are being pulled to have the last Philadelphia game at the Polo Grounds played on October 10 instead of October 12. That means October 11 as the first possible date, but before that can be fixed upon the consent of the Brooklyn club must be obtained. The Bostons are scheduled to play at Washington Park on October 10 and 12, but those games may be doubled up.

As soon as a set of dates can be arranged Mr. Brush will announce them. That is the correct line on the situation at present. Furthermore the New York clubs must get together on the prices of admission. President Farrell believes that the general admission should remain at 50 cents instead of being raised to one dollar, as proposed by the conditions governing the world's series. It is said that Mr. Brush holds a similar opinion.

It's a certainty that the first game of the series will be played at the Polo Grounds because of its greater seating capacity and that an attempt will be made to schedule a Saturday there, too. All these points will be decided in a few days and the fans will then have time to prepare for a battle royal.

Catcher Sweeney of the Highlanders split the forefinger of his right hand in last Saturday's game and Stallings wired yesterday that the great young backstop would be out of the game indefinitely. Catcher Blair of the champion Rochesters will report to Stallings in quick order. Blair has caught nearly 150 games for Rochester this year and practically leads the Eastern League in batting. He was recently purchased after being sold last year by the New York Americans to the Eastern League champions. In a letter to the New York club officials Manager Gangel says that Blair is a revelation and will be one of the greatest catchers in baseball next year.

John E. Madden sat in the front row at the amateur boxing championships in the Irish American A. C. last Saturday night. As the young scrappers danced about exchanging wallops that were by no means love taps, the millionaire breeder waxed enthusiastic. He dodged numerous imaginary blows, worked his hands up and down convulsively and was the picture of earnestness.

"I used to do those stunts when I was a boy!" said Madden to Referee Charley White between bouts. "They make me feel like a young colt. Glove fighting is manly, and I've had both of my boys instructed how to box. I wouldn't give a penny for a boy who didn't know how to handle himself."

Packy McFarland has called off his ten round bout with Ad Wolgast because he finds it impossible to make the weight, 133 pounds three hours before ring time. Wolgast will not agree to any other proposition, so McFarland will arrive here to-day from Chicago to begin training for a ten round bout with Jack Goodman to be held a week from to-morrow night at the Fairmont A. C. The weight is 135 pounds at 3 o'clock, which will get both men into the ring as strong as ever. They are superb boxers, and an exhibition of science far above the average is looked for.

Fighting Dick Highland, who was outpointed by Goodman last Friday night, says the latter was fully ten pounds heavier when they got into the ring. Hyland wants another match with Goodman, the weight to be 134 pounds at three hours before the bout, but there'll be nothing doing as Goodman cannot reduce to that notch and be strong. Hyland is ready to box ten rounds with Wolgast here, at the regular lightweight limit, and Tom O'Rourke is trying to bring them together at his club.

Knockout Brown, a full fledged lightweight now, is matched to box Young Sammy Smith of Philadelphia at the National Sporting Club here next Friday night. Outside of the ring Smith wears eyeglasses, but when he takes them off at the sound of the gong he generally manages to see enough of his antagonist to let him know there's something going on. Brown, for his weight and inches, is a phenomenal puncher.

William Snow, one of the best known bookmakers on American and Canadian racetracks, is dead after a national illness. He hooked at Guttenburg, Gloucester and Iron Hill in the days of racetrack outlawry, and amassing a fortune he operated on the big New York tracks. He became an influential member of the Metropolitan Turf Association, the bookmakers' club, and occupied a prominent place in all of the old betting rings on the local circuit. Several years ago he caught a severe cold and lost his voice. His death was due to consumption.

Continuous racing until the middle of November begins in Kentucky to-day when Lexington opens. Liberal purses and stakes have attracted many Turfmen who raced here up to the end of the Saratoga meeting and have since tried their luck in Canada. The pari mutuel system of betting in Kentucky will make it impossible for bookmakers to operate there, so that leading gricemakers back from Canada, where the Montreal meeting closed on Saturday, will be forced to remain idle. The game starts up in Maryland on October 1. Pool rooms that expect to do business in Kentucky have made arrangements to provide a uniform set of bookmakers, prices to patrons who do not care for the mutuel system.

Billiards.

Dominick will witness the opening of the local billiard season at Tom Doyle's Fourth avenue and Twenty second street room. Mr. Doyle will start the balls rolling with a three cushion tournament for class B amateurs. Among those entered are Bud Fisher, Al Sanders, Henry Tom Cook, M. Sheen, Louis Pell, Charles Dore and William Best. Sherman Dominick and Frank Thurber. The last two meet in to-night's game of 25 points. Johnny King will referee all the games.

FOOTBALL GOSSIP.

Big Gathering at Interpretation Congress—Regarding Onside Kick.

The meeting here last Saturday night to interpret the new football rules for the benefit of games officials was the largest gathering of its sort that has been held. The interest in the game is as keen as ever, probably keener, on account of the new rules and the uncertainty as to what they will bring forth. Among those who were there were Dave Fultz, Fred Murphy, Fred Crolius, Ham Andrus, Joe Pendleton, Harry Fisher, Tom Thorp, Andy Smith, Bob Lamberton, A. E. Whiting, Taussig, Rinehart, Evans, Bummy Booth, Tad Jones, Gedcharles, Mike Thompson, Ted Coy, Carl Marshall, Mike Bennett and many other familiar gridiron figures.

Among the interpretations was one that the requirement that an onside kick go twenty yards takes in the roll of the ball as well as the carry through the air. A freak point brought up was whether a man could legalize a diving tackle by dropping one foot to the ground while flying through the air. Another question in the same category had to do with the requirement that a forward pass must be made from five yards back of the line. Which foot must be five yards back? was the sapient query.

On the subject of flying tackles Capt. Hart of Princeton said to THE SUN reporter that comparatively few tackles ever were flying tackles and he didn't think the difficulty of tackling would be increased much. An official raised the point that field judges would have a tremendous lot of running around to do to keep up with the plays under their jurisdiction. "Well," said Walter Camp, "the best thing for officials to do this season is to go into training the same as the players."

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 18.—Howard R. Reiter, Lehigh's newly appointed football coach, met the dozen candidates who responded to his call on Lehigh field last week and gave them the first practice of the season. Reiter spoke to the men on the subject of the new football. "I think football is going to be more popular than ever," he said. "The renovated game will take the premium off of beef and will put it on speed. It will be fast and open with plenty of opportunity for the spectacular plays. By doing away with dragging and pulling the likelihood of injuries will be lessened materially. We won't have the Utopia in this respect that some folks expect, but the rules committee has made a signal advance toward making the game safer."

When asked as to what he regarded to be the most salient feature of the changes Reiter answered: "The removal of the restriction on the forward pass. Formerly the ball had to be passed across the line of scrimmage five yards out from the centre. Now while the player who receives the ball from the snapper back must be five yards back from the scrimmage line, he is not required to move to right or left. This opens up great possibilities for strategic plays."

The men out so far were players on last year's varsity and scrub elevens. Until the university opens not much can be learned as to the material the incoming class will furnish. The team loses by graduation Capt. Treat, and also Martin, Kitchell and Street. The following men have reported: Black, tackle, now weighing 175 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches; a giant, 165; Beard, quarterback, 165; Cox, last year's fullback, 215; Wiley, centre, 150; Teinhard, centre in 1908, 165; Sowanoski, a sub halfback, 155; Vela, a sub tackle, 180; Donaldson, a sub halfback, 155; Smith, 165; Bowman, a new man, 135.

EASTON, Sept. 18.—Prospects for a winning football team at Lafayette this year never were brighter, there being no less than twelve L men back with whom Coach Folwell expects to turn out a strong team. New material is here in abundance, including five of last year's star Mercersburg Academy eleven. Weber, a husky lad from one of the New York city high schools, and Ryan, a 250 pounder from Danville, Pa., are among the more beefy of the new men, while Williams, an end from the University of Michigan freshman team last year, should make good.

The preliminary practice at Budd's Lake has done the men a world of good and those who were there have returned in good condition. Cross, who played a star game at end two years ago on the varsity, is again eligible and will strengthen the team materially. The new men are doing well. Mike Boland and King, former Mercersburg stars, are showing class in the backfield. Steele, a Bethlehem Prep star, is playing a good game at end. Weber, who played on the New York School of Commerce last year, is filling the place made vacant by McCutcheon. Kelly, a star punter and backfield man, reported, together with Pat Wolf, another Mercersburg star. Boland's punting is far approaching that of McCan. Schwenk is developing speed, and Woodcock, the end, is putting up a good game. Dannehower, quarterback, is running the team well. Probst shows promise this year as a tackle. Burke, Marshall and Day are doing nicely in the backfield and have improved this season.

Folwell worked the men hard last week. In the morning they were forty men out. Speigel, the halfback from University School of Detroit, entered the college yesterday.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 18.—Coach Yorhis had help from Charlie Garrison, '04, of Montclair, N. J., the last week with the football men at Wesleyan. They drilled the men in light tactics every afternoon, several hours each day being devoted to tackling the dummy, catching punts and falling on the ball. Formation work has not been begun as yet. Three promising freshmen have put in an appearance. McCarthy, Hiscox and Murphy. McCarthy tips the scales at over 180 pounds and hails from Washington, D. C., where he was captain of his high school eleven last year. McCaffrey, whose eligibility was in doubt at one time, has been reinstated. Last year he played a good quarter back of the line, and he will prove a tower of strength this fall. Among the old men out in togs are Capt. Mitchell, Pettugue, McCaffrey, De Row, Jones, Bacon, Durling, Bernhardt, Wright, Rice, Reynolds, Mittell and Sutherland.

Coach Yorhis is pleased with the prospects and looks for a successful season. Wesleyan's opening game will be with Yale in New Haven on September 28. Last fall the Cardinal and Black held the Blue down to eleven points, Harvard being the only team to make a better showing against the Blue. The local college is in hopes of scoring on the New Haven eleven this fall.

KRAMER DEFEATS CLARKE.

Blatz Wins Amateur Championship Cycle Race.

Frank L. Kramer defeated Jack Clarke of Australia in straight heats in their one mile match race yesterday afternoon at the Vailsburg cycle track in Newark. It was expected that the meet would be the last of the season. The lease has been extended, however, and the races will be held until the end of this season. Frank Blatz won the two mile national amateur championship race from Chester Smith in a close finish. The summaries:

NEW YACHTS PROJECTED.

Morton F. Plant May Have a New Schooner—Sonder Boat for F. M. Hoyt.

Although the yacht racing season has not closed yet yachtsmen are talking of building new yachts. Morton F. Plant, who this year owned the 55 footer Shimna, is thinking of having a new boat and rather favors a schooner of class B. That is of the same class as Queen and Elmina, and if those two yachts should race with a new one on the sport would be fine. The Atlantic has been purchased by Daniel Danielson, who says the yacht will be raced. S. Nelson Gardner is at work on designs for a new yacht in this class, and if Shimna should be sold and a new one built for Mr. Plant there would be four in the class.

C. S. Herdic, who has raced a Clipsetta for some seasons, is to build a 30 P. to sail against Cara Mia and Windward. The Gardenia, in all probability, will be sold, and unless a new boat is built for the class the order once will be raced under some special agreement.

Davis and Earle, who made a trip last year aboard the 8 foot Alice, are to have a new boat in the Q class for racing on Gravesend Bay. F. M. Hoyt, who has raced the sonder boat Skeezix in Eastern waters, is to have a new boat for the class, which will be designed by William Gardner.

YOUNGSTER TRIPS NEW YORKS

FACE NELSON OF BROWNS AND DROP LAST GAME.

Suffer Too From Off Color Fielding—No Ground Lost, However, as Detroit Fall Before Athletics, and Bostons Meet With a Whitewash in Chicago.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—Red Nelson, one of the best young pitchers who has broken into fast company around these parts in many years, was a stumbling block to the New York club this afternoon and gained his third straight victory here. The score was 6 to 3.

It must be said, however, that Nelson can consider himself lucky to-day. His team mates fell down in fielding and had it not been that the Highlanders were even worse not only in this respect but also in making some very dumb plays New York might have won. Outside of one stop by Truesdale on a hard hit ground ball by Austin there was not a bit of classy fielding during the game.

In the Browns' first Truesdale took a base on balls and stole second. Corridon walked. Stone singled through short, Truesdale scoring, but Corridon stopped at second. Northen sacrificed. Hartzell singled to left, scoring Corridon, and Stone took third. At this juncture Fisher replaced Vaughn on the mound. Hartzell stole second. Wallace fanned. Stone scored and Hartzell took third on a passed ball.

Killifer, opening the Browns' second, was safe and took second when Fisher's bad throw got away from Chase. Nelson singled to right, Killifer taking third. On Wolter's throw to the grand stand Killifer scored and Nelson went to second. Truesdale beat out a bunt and Nelson went to third. Corriden out Laporte to Chase, Nelson scoring.

In New York's fourth, with one out, Wolter made New York's first clean hit off Nelson. Chase was safe at first and Wolter at second when Wallace's throw drew Truesdale off the bag. Knight safe on Graham's muff of Wallace's assist. Laporte out, Wallace to Graham. Wolter scoring.

Opening the Highlanders' fifth Cree took third on Corriden's wild throw to first. Austin was hit by pitched ball. Criger singled to centre, Cree scoring and Austin taking third. Hemphill, batting for Fisher, singled to right and Austin came in.

Baseball Notes.

John Heydler has become such a star golfer that he is the champion of the big leagues.

Jeeney Dygert seems to have come back to stay. He had done good work his last two times out.

Although the Cardinals started out by drubbing the Giants four straight, the latter are almost sure to win the season's series.

George Stallings doesn't play for the time. But he gets results and has been an excellent manager for the Highlanders.

Without a Philadelphia, has bet $1,500 to $2,500 on the Athletics to beat the Cubs and it is said has Mack more to bet at the same odds.

The Boston Red Sox had tough sledding in Chicago. Yesterday's game was the ninth straight they dropped on the White Sox grounds.
