QUIETER DAY FOR THE EDITOR

MR. ROOSEVELT CONFERS WITH "OUTLOOK" STAFF.

A Political Luncheon and Some Optimistic Talk About the Chances of Stimson—The Itinerary of the Southern Trip—Names for State Chairmanship.

There were not the customary rushings and flittings about in the Outlook office yesterday. The Contributing Editor was on hand for his regular conference with the staff, including Dr. Mabie, but he was not in shape to see a whole lot of visitors and he remained inside of the sanctum most of the time. The few that did see him were old friends.

Of course everybody tried to get Mr. Roosevelt to talk some more about the political situation. He was asked about the despatches containing a story from the Des Moines Voice, which is Senator Cummins's paper, swatting him because he had stood for the tariff at Saratoga. But he refused to comment on this.

It is known, however, that the Colonel does not favor the tariff plank in the Republican platform. He protested to Otto T. Bannard, who had a hand in writing this particular portion of the platform, but the Colonel thought that rather than squabble when there were more important matters at stake he would let it go. As it stands it has not his approval. He thought that the big fight would be around the question of direct primaries. Mr. Roosevelt considers himself responsible personally only for the propositions he has advanced in his speeches.

The strenuous days at Saratoga left the Colonel in pretty good shape except for a slight hoarseness which he contracted by much talking. That was one of the reasons he didn't want to speak any more than he had to yesterday. But when his son-in-law Congressman Longworth blew in from Ohio to tell Mr. Roosevelt that they were all pleased out there at the result of the convention he had to talk some.

Mr. Stimson, the Republican candidate, had luncheon with the Colonel, Mr. Longworth and Mr. Griscom. There was a discussion of the forthcoming fight and the sentiment was that the Republicans are going to win despite the dismal reports that have been circulated to the contrary.

President Griscom wore a wide smile yesterday, for he considered that things are perking up in great shape. He's enthusiastic about Stimson and believes that he has all the elements of a great political figure. Concerning the State chairmanship Mr. Griscom wasn't at all certain. He knows that he doesn't want the job.

It is understood that Herbert Parsons has declined to act as chairman of the State committee even if he's elected. In that case the selection will lie among a good many men who are considered to be available by the Roosevelt-Griscom forces. As possibilities the names of Representative Calder of Brooklyn, Naval Officer Kracke and Representatives Dwight and Fassett have been mentioned. Cornelius V. Collins has declared himself out of the running.

The air of Republican optimism around the Outlook office yesterday was striking. The Colonel made it plain that he thinks they'll win. Mr. Stimson, who is with the Colonel in every respect, is equally with him on the national question. Just after Mr. Roosevelt delivered his Osawatomie speech expounding the new nationalism Mr. Stimson wrote him a letter expressing his belief in those principles. That pleased the Colonel.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday he is going to rest for a few days at Sagamore Hill. He hopes that there won't be many callers, although he expects that some will drop in. He said that he needs to save his throat as much as possible in order to be prepared for the tour of the South and Southwest which begins next Thursday. Secretary Harper gave out the itinerary yesterday.

On October 6 Mr. Roosevelt's party will leave New York. The first stop will be at Bristol, Va., where the Colonel will speak before the Board of Trade. From there he will go to Knoxville, Tenn., for an address at the Appalachian Exposition. On October 8 the party will pay a visit to a school at Rome, Ga., and the Colonel will make a speech to the citizens of the town.

At Atlanta Uncle Remus day will be celebrated. Mr. Roosevelt is scheduled to address a big gathering on the evening of the 8th. He'll also talk conservation in the afternoon and will take dinner exclusively with the Mayor of Atlanta. The party will swing over to Hot Springs, Ark., for a little time at the Arkansas State fair. From there the Colonel will speed to St. Louis for a great celebration, lasting twenty-four hours according to the announcement. Gov. Hadley of Missouri and the city and State committees will be in charge.

The Knights of Columbus will have the opportunity of entertaining Mr. Roosevelt on October 12. But the big feature of the whole trip will be the speech the Colonel will make in behalf of Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who is seeking a reelection to the Senate. He promised to do that soon after he returned from the other side. He'll speak all through the State as he wends his way to Indianapolis and leaves it. The Roosevelt party is due in New York on the evening of October 14.

Preparations have been made for stops all along the line. In this respect the tour will be similar to the one Mr. Roosevelt made in the West a couple of weeks ago. He said last night that he had written no speeches in advance and doesn't intend to.

After his appearance at the convention of the National League of Republican Clubs in Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon the Colonel went back to Oyster Bay in his motor car. Mr. Longworth went with him. To-morrow he will be the host at Sagamore Hill at a luncheon to the Nassau county delegates. It will be a strictly informal affair, he said. Next Tuesday he will whirl over to Freeport, L. I., to say a few words to the firemen's convention there. He will come to New York on Wednesday and remain over night, starting the next day for the South.

WHY PASTOR BRIGGS RESIGNED.

Makes His Reason Plain in Letter to the Board of Trustees.

The Rev. Howard A. M. Briggs, whose resignation as pastor of the Waverly Congregational Church of Jersey City was recently demanded by his congregation at a meeting called by the board of trustees, sent a letter from Northfield, Mass., yesterday explaining that he has been desirous of withdrawing from the pastorate for more than two years. He said he had several times notified the church officials that he wished to give up the Waverly Church pulpit and had urged them to pay his long overdue salary.

"I have not received the salary for any month since last January," he wrote. "The church owes me other amounts aggregating more than $2,000. During all the years of my pastorate I have never received a full year's salary within one period of twelve months. Perhaps these few statements may indicate the real origin of my resignation, which is now being discussed."

Killed in Fall From Cohan's Window.

Otto Kuhn, a porter employed in the building of an apartment house at 1 West 66th street, fell from a fourth window yesterday afternoon while he was taking down the awnings from the apartment of George M. Cohan, the actor and manager. Kuhn landed on a pile of boards decorated with spikes and he was killed off into a runaway. He was instantly killed. Kuhn was 28 years old and lived with his wife at 187 Amsterdam avenue.

MRS. STEWART BEGINS FIGHT.

Makes Application to Have Eviction Proceedings Reopened.

ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 30.—Alleging that the eviction of Mrs. William E. Stewart from her home in Montclair on Monday was the result of collusion on the part of her husband, who has left her, and her stepdaughter, Mrs. W. B. Leeds, Edward A. Day of Newark, counsel for Mrs. Stewart, sought to-day to have the case reopened in the Orange District Court, where the order of eviction was secured. The attorney held that Stewart actually brought an action against himself to get his wife out of the house and that in so doing abused the processes of the Orange court. Judge Benjamin F. Jones reserved decision for a week.

Day represented that when Mrs. Stewart left her New York home a year ago to live in the house which her stepdaughter provided for her and her husband in Montclair it was with the agreement that both should have a life possession of the dwelling as well as a stipulated income, the amount of which was not revealed in the proceedings. Upon such an understanding Mrs. Stewart spent large sums on furnishing the house, Day said. He read from what purported to be a copy of the agreement in which it appeared that the rights of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart in the house were equal, as each was mentioned separately, Mrs. Stewart's name appearing first.

Day contended that when Stewart left his wife he surrendered such rights as he had, but that those of his wife remained intact. Because Mrs. Leeds is now in Paris, he contended, she could not have personally brought an action in the District Court. While urging that Stewart had surrendered the rights he held in the house, counsel for Mrs. Stewart held that in collusion with Mrs. Leeds he was actually bringing suit against himself. To do so, the lawyer pointed out, Stewart had made his home in Summit, outside of Essex county, and had waived the usual notices of the suit.

In reply to Day's argument, Robert W. Thomson, representing Mrs. Leeds, denied the existence of any such agreement as Day had quoted. The relation of Mrs. Leeds and her father and stepmother, he said, was that of landlord and tenants.

MANY SAY HE'S A BURGLAR.

Pawn Tickets Found in Young McNeill's Pockets Led to Complaint.

Many persons were in Jefferson Market court yesterday to testify against a youth who was arrested by Detectives Reich and Lockman, from the Central Office, after they found a lot of pawn tickets on him. The detectives found half a dozen persons who claimed property pawned by the prisoner.

After first giving his name as William Burns the prisoner yesterday said that his real name was William McNeill and that he lived at 200 Third avenue. He was picked up in Madison Square Park, and after the police had pulled a number of duplicate keys, a screwdriver and other accessories for night work from his pocket he was held for carrying burglars' tools. Yesterday the charge was changed to burglary and a complaint made out by Mrs. Mary Muller, who says that her flat, at 214 Third avenue, was broken into Saturday night and $100 worth of clothing and jewelry taken.

The detectives say that the prisoner is the man who on Sunday last rented a furnished room at 91 St. Mark's place and crawled over the fire escape to the house next door and got away with $100 worth of property. They also charge him with entering two apartments at 103 Third avenue and stealing clothing and jewelry. Property secured from pawn tickets found in McNeill's pockets and identified as having been taken from those places formed the basis of their charge. While only one complaint was taken, five others who had lost property were written in as witnesses. The detectives asked for more time, and Magistrate Corrigan postponed the prisoner's examination until Monday, fixing bail at $2,000.

OVERCROWDED SYNAGOGUES.

Police Asked to Help Building Inspectors in the Holiday Time.

A letter was sent yesterday to Police Commissioner William F. Baker by Building Superintendent Rudolph P. Miller in relation to handling of the crowds at the different synagogues, permanent and temporary. The Superintendent has issued orders to his men to be present at every place used for worship by the Hebrews and to do all they can to prevent accident.

The letter to the Police Commissioner follows:

DEAR SIR: May I ask the cooperation of your department in the following special order just issued to the inspectors of this bureau:

On October 4, 5 and 13 occur three important Jewish holidays, on which occasions all available halls, meeting rooms and similar places are used for the observance of religious rites and ceremonies.

In many cases the safety of the place selected seems to have little or no consideration. Hundreds of people are crowded into spaces and floors designed for purposes of assembly, not of sufficient strength or not properly safeguarded as to exits or means of egress in case of fire or panic.

To guard against accident every inspector will endeavor to find and will examine carefully every such place of assembly in his district. If he finds any overloaded floors or any place inadequately provided as to exit facilities he will immediately report to the superintendent and to the nearest police precinct. The Police Department has been requested to cooperate with this bureau in this matter.

But great care must be exercised so that no injustice is done, or that the religious observances are not unnecessarily interfered with.

I am in hopes that no unusual action will be necessary, but past experience shows that precautionary measures are desirable. Will you therefore instruct your precinct commanders to assist my inspectors in case the occasion warrants? Yours truly,

RUDOLPH P. MILLER.

POST OFFICE COALBINS AFIRE.

Been So a Week, but No Danger Is Felt for the Building.

A man walking in front of the Post Office late last night noticed thick volumes of smoke arising from the coal holes on the Park row and the Broadway sides of the building and the pavement in the vicinity covered with soot. Looking into the holes he saw flames and a red glow. The night superintendent when he was told of the fire said he had known about it for a week and a half. About ten days ago, he said, the coal in the bins under the front of the building took fire from spontaneous combustion.

A force of men was put to work raking the coal back and thinning it out. No alarm was sent in and the Fire Department would have had to ask the permission of the Federal authorities before entering the building.

Conditions didn't improve after a week and a half's work, so the coal holes were opened late last night. The coal bins extend about a hundred feet under the street pavement. The concrete sides are so thick that there is no danger to the post office.

TO KEEP GOVERNOR'S MEN OUT.

Police Guard Office of Baltimore Commissioners Who Are Under Charges.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—Policemen are patrolling the corridors of the court house to-night. The Police Commissioners have ordered them to permit no one to enter head quarters during their absence.

This action followed the announcement to-day the Governor's others had decided to suspend the commissioners pending their trial on charges.

The charge is incompetency in not preventing police officials from receiving protection money from the sellers of cocaine and others engaged in unlawful practices.

O'BRIEN INDICTED AGAIN?

Names of Police Captain and Eleven of His Men Said to Be in Latest Batch.

It was said yesterday on good authority that the name of Police Captain John J. O'Brien, formerly inspector of the Coney Island district, and those of eleven of his plain clothes men are contained in the indictments presented yesterday to Judge Fawcett in the County Court in Brooklyn. Because none of the men was present when the indictments were handed up there was no official announcement as to who they are, but their identity will become public Monday when they will appear before Judge Fawcett to plead.

Neglect of duty in failing to suppress gambling and disorderly houses on the island is said to be charged in the indictments. The maximum penalty is a year in the penitentiary and a fine of $500.

An indictment some twelve months old is hanging over O'Brien. In it he is charged with conspiracy in connection with bookmaking at the racetracks.

The October Grand Jury is to continue the Coney Island probing.

At the police trial yesterday of Capt. O'Brien on the charge of permitting unlawful conditions at Coney Island, Bernard Fitzpatrick, an inspector in the office of the Commissioner of Accounts, testified that at one resort the young women on the stage were playing school. One of the chorus girls answering the roll call said:

"My name's Mayor Gaynor."

"Oh, shoot Mayor Gaynor!" one of the girls interjected, according to Fitzpatrick.

The trial will be continued before Deputy Commissioner Walsh on Monday.

CHURCH CENTENNIAL.

The First Church of Disciples of Christ to Begin a Celebration.

The First Church of Disciples of Christ will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its foundation to-morrow with services in its new building at 142 West Eighty-first street. The building was originally the Third Universalist Church, but three years ago it was leased by Rabbi Wise's congregation and used as a synagogue until last June.

The centennial ceremonies will begin to-morrow morning with a dedicatory sermon by Dr. R. B. Tyler of Denver, Col. At 3 P. M. there will be a fraternal meeting, at which greetings from pastors of neighboring churches will be received. At 8 P. M. Dr. J. H. Garrison of St. Louis, Mo., will preach a sermon. Dr. Garrison will also deliver an address at 8 P. M. on Monday.

On Tuesday there will be a members' meeting, with reading of a historical sketch of the church by Robert Christie. On Wednesday at 8 P. M. Dr. R. B. Tyler will deliver an address. On Thursday at 8 P. M. there will be an address by Dr. William Durban of London, and on Friday at 8 P. M. an address by Dr. H. L. Willett, University of Chicago.

On Sunday morning there will be a Bible school rally and a sermon by Dr. Willett. In the evening there will be a sermon by Dr. Miner Lee Bates, president of Hiram College.

The Rev. Urban C. Brewer, pastor of the church in the '80s, will be present to participate in the exercises.

FIGHTING WOMAN'S COURT LAW.

Appeal Against Medical Examination and Enforced Treatment of Cases.

The first test of the new statute under which women found guilty of disorderly conduct are compelled to submit to a medical examination and may be sent to the hospital came before Supreme Court Justice Gavegan yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Morris Gottheb, a lawyer, in behalf of Lily Hastings, who was sent to the Metropolitan Hospital for from two to four months by Magistrate Herbert in the women's night court.

The lawyer insists that his client is restrained of her liberty without due process of law and that she had no opportunity to defend herself against the report of the physician upon which she was sent to the hospital. It is said that the suffragists who are opposing the law in question will aid in having the case carried to the Court of Appeals to test the constitutionality of the statute. Argument on the case was adjourned to October 4.

Qualey Find for Failure to Appear.

John A. Qualey, who was directed a week ago to appear within five days to be examined in supplementary proceedings as to his ability to pay a judgment of $400 obtained by the Marceau company for photographs, did not appear and was fined the full amount of the judgment by City Court Justice McAvoy.
