Attorney Quigley is over from Parker attending court.
O. T. Helgerson expects a car load of discs, seeders and cultivators in a few days.
The Bankers' Association of South Dakota will meet at Madison, March 24th and 25th.
Paul Hanson had a very successful auction sale at Moe, Monday. A big crowd and good prices.
Miss Luella Kehm returned from Ireton, Iowa, last Saturday, accompanied by her sister and baby.
A. F. Tate was among the boomers who called Wednesday. He and Len Redfield have a little deal on hand which will be announced farther on.
Henry Frinkman, of Brooklyn township was one of our most welcome visitors Wednesday. He is with the people and will do grand work this fall.
Will Dick, another Worthing boomer called Wednesday. "Send me the LEADER" says he, "you bet," says we, and he will be a LEADER champion hereafter.
Hamilton the jeweler is now located in the post office building, fully equipped with everything necessary to mend or make any watch, clock or piece of jewelry, as good as new and, will guarantee satisfaction. Give him a trial order.
Attorney Conklin notified the LEADER that there will be a meeting of the bar at the court house in Canton, Saturday evening at 7:30. The meeting will resolve itself into a memorial body in honor of Fred A. Keep. The public is invited.
Judge Carland came down from the Falls Wednesday morning along with Canton's old time champion, Curt Winsor. Both of these distinguished lawyers have cases in court here. Curt has the case and dash and brilliancy of Bob Ingersoll, but lacks Bob's eratic views on the hereafter, while Judge Carland could pass in any distinguished gathering of episcopal bishops as the leading bishop of the conference. The LEADER is always pleased to meet such distinguished citizens.
We had a pleasant visit with Henry Frank of Worthing, Wednesday afternoon. Said he, "here is a little money to help along the LEADER." Mr. Frank is president of the alliance warehouse company at Worthing. He stated that a number of stockholders held a meeting Monday to discuss the necessity of erecting an elevator, and it was practically agreed upon to erect a large one during the year. The business of the company now demands greater facilities to do the work. The company has a balance on the winning side of the cash book.
J. M. Buswell of Springdale, called Wednesday and left a couple of years subscription. He is an earnest and able advocate of the peoples party, and heretofore a strong republican. He is a veteran of the late war, having served three years in the 1st New Hampshire light artillery. His battery formed part of the line on Cemetery Ridge at Gettysburg, when the magnificent rebel charge under Pickett was made. He wants to know who the central committee of the peoples party are, and why they don't issue a call? Mr. Buswell will be heard from this fall. The destruction of trusts and needed reforms will only come when the people move united and determined.
T. J. Fosdick, one of the merchant princes of Sioux Falls, came down to Canton Sunday on Col. Moran's Cannon Ball train, to make a brief call among old friends and view the former scenes of his trials and triumphs. He is now one of the leading clothing merchants of the state, and the LEADER rejoices in his well merited prosperity. The writer used to know Tim Fosdick in early days when Mike Nelson was king at Beloit, and E. Wendt was prime minister. Those were the days when we were all struggling for success, and when our old and respected friend Ingham was publishing his Beloit and Lower Canton paper "Simultaneously" at both ends of the famous old bridge that united the great state of Iowa with Dakota Territory. Tim was not quite as old then as he is now, nor did he carry the aldermanic proportions or elegant silk till that now makes him a conspicuous figure among his old associates. He is even handsomer now than then, but prosperity brings manly beauty as well as contentment. His old associates are more or less scattered, but Mike Nelson of T. P. Thompson & Co., and E. Wendt are among the prosperous merchants of dear old Canton. Mike Nelson, never very dandish in dress or proud, gets around with his same old genuine laugh that makes men happy, and don't care whether there is a hole in the knee of his pants or not, while E. Wendt manages to dress and move around with a degree of social ease that says he has a thousand or two in his pocket and don't owe any man a cent. The LEADER is happy in being able to record the prosperity of these old timers. So note it be.

Ed. Shufelt, made Eden a short call last Friday. His customers extend throughout this part of the state and western Iowa.

Ole Hegge piloted Gilbert Johnson into the LEADER sanctum last Friday, and showed him where he could get a fine job of printing done without mistakes.

Uncle John Richards, of Haram, said Monday: "I voted for Fremont in 1856, and the republican ticket every year up to the time our reform movement commenced. I lived in hopes that the republicans would give the people some relief, but as year after year rolled around, I saw nothing but increased legislation in favor of trusts, corporations and money kings. I am with the people's movement and we can fare no worse, if we don't succeed."
