CHESS LEADERS BREAK TIE

MARSHALL AND CHAJES NOW BRACKETED IN FIRST PLACE.

Jaffe Distinguishes Himself by Drawing With Capablanca—Magnus Smith of Brooklyn Gives Best Display of Third Round, Beating Hodges—The Scores.

There was a break among the leaders as a result of the play in the third round of the National Chess Masters' tournament at the Café Boulevard in this city yesterday. F. J. Marshall, the United States champion, and Oscar Chajes of Chicago, the Illinois State champion, remained alone at the head of the list, each with three straight wins.

Charles Jaffe distinguished himself by drawing a hard game with J. R. Capablanca, Cuba's champion, which left Jaffe a good third in the race. P. Johner recovered ground by defeating E. T. Black and tying the latter, whose first defeat it was, for fourth and fifth places. Capablanca, having played one game less than the other leaders, occupies sixth place.

The best display of the round was given by Magnus Smith of Brooklyn, former Canadian champion, who surprised the talent by administering defeat to A. B. Hodges, ex-United States champion. It was the first point Smith had been able to score, but he accomplished it in very fine style. Kreymborg of this city also scored a well earned win.

The pairing of the third round was as follows: Jaffe vs. Capablanca, Black vs. Johner, Marshall vs. Baird, Hodges vs. Smith, Chajes vs. Walcott, Tenenwurzel vs. Kreymborg, Morris, a bye.

In the game between Jaffe and Capablanca the former had the white pieces and a queen's pawn game ensued. It was developed on novel lines, requiring careful handling. Although the Cuban took the attack in hand at an early stage, Jaffe was always ready with the right reply. Capablanca, baffled at every point, did not choose to compromise his chances by reckless attempts to break through the lines and submitted to exchange of pieces. Neither player castled, the Cuban from choice, inasmuch as his king's knight's file had been opened, and Jaffe because his opponent's bishop had cut off the line of retreat. Finally it came to an ending with a rook, bishop and pawns on each side. Jaffe offered a draw, as the repetition of moves became monotonous, but was rebuffed. A little later Capablanca in turn tendered a similar offer, but this time Jaffe thought he had slightly the better of it. A draw was unavoidable, however, and this decision was at last recorded.

Marshall's game with Baird was a queen's gambit declined, on the same lines as the former's game with Walcott, another block position ensuing. Marshall found the situation a difficult one to handle until Baird in attempting to formulate an attack lost a rook and the game after twenty-nine moves.

Edward Hymes, the referee, was in attendance and paid particular attention to the game between Johner and Black, of which he had the following to say: "Black misconceived the strength of an infrequently played variation of the queen's gambit, recommended, however, by Dr. Lasker. He had to submit to a terrific attack, against which his valiant struggle proved unavailing. Johner's onslaught was unerring in its precision. Black's defeat being encompassed after twenty-four moves."

Chicago and Boston came together at the fifth table and the West emerged victorious. Chajes, however, was fortunate to escape as he did, for he was outplayed in the opening, losing a pawn. He elected to give up two pawns for a piece and was left with an unpromising game. When pressed for time Walcott fell into a trap, in turn losing a piece. The New Englander's game was then hopeless and he went from bad to worse until he resigned after forty-three moves.

Smith, relying upon the French defence against Hodges, got the better of the opening and proceeded to win the queen's rook's pawn. Playing with commendable steadiness thereafter, the ex-Canadian held tenaciously to his advantage and scored the game in thirty-seven moves.

The game between Tenenwurzel, Rice C. C. champion, and A. F. Kreymborg was a queen's gambit declined, in which the former had the white pieces, an Iranalong the lines of some of the games of the Lasker-Tarrasch championship match. Tenenwurzel sacrificed a pawn for the sake of a king's side attack, which failed to materialize. A series of exchanges unfavorable to Tenenwurzel followed, and pressed for time he pursued a wrong continuation which made it but a matter of careful play on his opponent's part to bring the game to its natural conclusion after fifty-eight moves.

Following are the scores of the competitors to date:

Players.	Won.	Lost.	Players.	Won.	Lost.
Chajes	3	0	Kreymborg	½	1½
Marshall	3	0	Smith	1	2
Jaffe	2½	½	Morris	0	2
Black	2	1	Tenenwurzel	0	2
Johner	2	1	Baird	0	3
Capablanca	1½	½	Walcott	0	3
Hodges	½	1½

The fourth round will be started at 1 o'clock this afternoon with the players paired in the following order: Walcott vs. Tenenwurzel, Smith vs. Chajes, Baird vs. Hodges, Johner vs. Marshall, Capablanca vs. Black, Morris vs. Jaffe, Kreymborg, a bye.

POLO.

Committee to Meet on Friday to Frame Ultimatum.

On Friday the committee of the Polo Association will meet in this city to consider the request of the Hurlingham Club that the international cup be played for during the last week of August. The Boston and Philadelphia delegates have sent word they will attend and the representatives of metropolitan clubs in town will be on hand. The Polo Association had expected a June match and is not willing to play in August. An ultimatum will be prepared and cabled to England.

An intimation that the next match would be in June of this year followed the consent of the Polo Association last year to the request of the Hurlingham committee to withdraw the challenge of the Old Etonians. At the time of this tentative agreement King Edward was still on the throne and the complications of the coronation could not be foreseen. Inclination and duty make the coronation a great attraction to the polo's, especially the army officers, and it is the stumbling block in the way of a June or July series of matches. It has leaked out too that more than one prominent American polo'st is planning to take in the coronation with his family.

A new freebooter team will be in the American tournament field this season, made up of Long Island players. They are mainly Squadron A veterans. A name has not been selected nor a home club to foster the entry when this is necessary. The team to do most of the playing is expected to be 1, W. S. Maguire; 2, R. C. Lawrence; 3, Philip Boyer, and back, Louis Neilson.

INTERNATIONAL GYMNASTICS.

Italy Invites America to Send Team to Exposition at Turin.

Through the Italian Embassy at Washington the United States has been invited to send a team to the international gymnastic contests to be held at Turin, Italy, next May. This invitation was forwarded to James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., by Elmer E. Brown, commissioner, Department of the Interior, bureau of education, Washington, D. C. Copies of this invitation were sent yesterday to the Intercollegiate Gymnastic Association and the North American Gymnastic Union, as well as all the colleges and athletic clubs. In a short time more complete information as to the date of the contest, the number of events and their rules and regulations will be forthcoming.

This tournament at Turin will be one of the features of the exposition which is to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the Kingdom of Italy.

Following is the letter sent to P. C. Knox, Secretary of State:

ITALIAN EMBASSY, WASHINGTON, D. C.

His Excellency, the Hon. P. C. Knox.

MR. SECRETARY OF STATE: I have the honor to inform your Excellency that an international gymnastic contest will be held at Turin in May, 1911, on the occasion of the great exposition of industries and labor in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the Kingdom of Italy, and that it will be under the auspices of the Italian National Gymnastic Federation.

All the nations in the world have been invited to send representatives to this contest, as well as squads of their best youths to contend fraternally and demonstrate the importance attached by civilized people to physical training.

The committee for the international exposition of industries and labor to be held at Turin in 1911, the president of which is the illustrious Senator Tommaso Villa, is particularly desirous that the United States, where physical culture is mostly held in such high esteem, should be worthily represented in this contest. I shall be much obliged to your Excellency if with your habitual courtesy you will use your offices toward the end desired by the executive committee of the Turin exposition of 1911. Please accept, &c.,

MONTAGUARI.

CRESCENT FIVE WINS.

Defeats St. Francis College at Basketball, 32 to 20.

The Crescent A. C. basketball team added another victory to its list last night by taking the St. Francis College five into camp by a score of 32 to 20. The college boys played a strong game in the first half and held the Crescent boys to 8 to 6. In the second period they went all to pieces and the Crescents scored at will. Every player on the Crescent five made one or more field goals. Root and Dingee were the stars for Crescent, Dingee making four field and two foul goals. Brouthers for St. Francis made five field goals.

The lineup:

Goldberg Ineligible for Basketball.

A basketball committee from the high school games committee held a special meeting last Monday and a number of basketball players were examined. The committee decided that Goldberg of the High School of Commerce, who has been playing on the Mercury A. C. team since September 1, was ineligible. This is the same team that Friedland, previously disqualified, played on. All the games in which Goldberg participated will be thrown out. This ruling will give the Eastern District boys a clear slate with 10 games won and none lost. If they beat Erasmus Hall next Saturday, which is the last game in the tournament, they will win first prize.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

RUSSELL, A YOUNG CATCHER, SIGNS WITH HILLMEN.

Scout Irwin Saw Him Play in Virginia Last Year and Promptly Tabbed Him—Points Concerning Elliott—McGraw's Confidence in Snodgrass.

Having sold Fred Mitchell to Rochester and with Lou Criger on the market the Highlanders will not be without plenty of catching material this year, for in addition to Sweeney, Blair, Walsh and Williams already in line, President Farrell signed another young backstop yesterday in Harvey H. Russell. This young man attracted the attention of Scout Arthur Irwin last summer when he was catching for the Hampton, Va., team, and also was receiving for Pitcher Burbank, who signed with the Highlanders a week ago. Russell is a left handed batsman and a right handed thrower, bristling with activity and a natural player. Irwin advised his engagement together with that of Burbank, in order that both might receive a thorough trial with the Highlanders at Athens, Ga. Even if these inexperienced youngsters do not show class enough to become regular members of the team, they may show sufficient quality to warrant the attachment of a string to their services, no matter where they may be sent.

It is a foregone conclusion that Sweeney and Blair will do practically all the catching for the Highlanders this year, and many baseball sharps say they will excel all other catchers in the American League. In Williams the Hillmen have secured a promising catcher, according to Irwin, who saw him work for the Canton Club of the Ohio and Pennsylvania League last summer. Williams caught in 121 games, having 766 putouts, 150 assists, 21 errors and a fielding average of .978. At the bat he knocked out 89 safe hits for an average of .234. Irwin, who will manage the Highlanders' second team, already dubbed "Fortune Hunters," will have the services of Williams and Russell behind the plate, where they will have plenty of hard work in the South.

Barney Dreyfuss had our new third baseman, Eugene Elliott, two years ago," said Irwin yesterday. "He bought him from McKeesport, but as he got Bobby Byrne from St. Louis about the same time he sent Elliott back to McKeesport without even seeing him play. It was a piece of luck that landed Elliott for us. I went to McKeesport last July to look over Pitcher Caldwell. Eddie Connors, the manager of the team, used to play for me some years ago and he promptly tipped me to the fact that he had a player who he said was the best in the league. He asked me to see if I could pick the man out without knowing which one he meant, and as soon as I saw the team play I realized that Elliott was the star. McKeesport wanted to send Elliott to Pittsburg again, and it was only after much persuasion had been used that we succeeded in buying him. Elliott is a thick set young man, 22 years old, who knows right now how to play first class baseball. He is not only a corking good third baseman but he can hit the ball and run the bases with great speed. He is in the habit of leading off in the batting order and is a fine run getter. If he doesn't take Jimmy Austin's place I shall be very much surprised."

Big Jack Quinn, the Highlanders' excellent pitcher, was in town yesterday and was greatly encouraged when he learned that Chase intends to use the pitchers in regular rotation.

It is hinted that the Boston directors blocked the Shean-Shafer deal because of a rumor that Shafer, who is spending the winter in Japan instructing native collegians how to play baseball, has secured a lucrative position and may decide to remain in that country. In such an event, if the deal had been closed, the Bostons would have given up Shean for nothing.

It is understood that Capt. Larry Doyle of the Giants is not holding out for an increase in salary. Doyle submitted his term some time ago and the figure named indicated that he was not unreasonable in his demands. There is no doubt that Doyle and the club officials have reached an agreement and that the crack second baseman will start for Marlin on time.

McGraw thinks that young Snodgrass will come very near leading the National League in batting this year. At one time last season Snodgrass was the leader in the batting averages, but in the fall he seemed to lose his grip and fell off sadly in his stick work. The experience gained by Snodgrass will greatly benefit him this year, so McGraw thinks, and will keep him close to the top notch at all stages of the campaign.

While it would be unfair to doubt the statement of Tommy Murphy that he is in no shape to meet Knockout Brown at the Empire A. C. to-night, the fact remains that Murphy in times past has backed out of numerous matches of importance because of alleged illness. Murphy's sudden withdrawal from the bout with Brown therefore has created a belief in some quarters that he does not care to run the risk of another defeat and prefers to await the outcome of Brown's battle with Woigast in Philadelphia on February 3. The Empire A. C. managers, rather than disappoint the members, have secured Bert Keyes, a rugged lightweight, to meet Brown this evening in a ten round bout at catch weights. Keyes is a hard hitter and a cyclonic rusher, and as Brown possesses similar qualities there may be plenty of excitement in the arena on the banks of the Harlem.

Packy McFarland will run over to Philadelphia to-day for a six round bout with Young Erne this evening. On pugilistic form McFarland should win on the bill. Another bout of interest to be decided this evening is a twenty round affair between Harry Lewis, the American welterweight, and Johnny Summers at Hugh McIntosh's club in London.

Because of the persistent report that Lee Ricklard wants to get up another Jeffries-Johnson fight, Billy Delaney has offered to match Al Kaufman with Jeffries and bet $10,000 on the side. Delaney says that the only cause for renewed interest in a meeting between Jeffries and Johnson would be a victory by Jeffries over Kaufman. California sporting men who are in touch with pugilistic affairs insist that Jeffries will never fight again. They say that Jeffries, contrary to the general belief, has not been taking proper care of himself.

WILLIE HOUCK BEATEN.

Young Dyson Stops Him in the Seventh Round at Brown's.

Willie Houck was no match for Young Dyson, the clever Boston lightweight, in their ten round encounter at Brown's A. A. in West Twenty-third street last night. Dyson won in the seventh round, the referee stopping the bout, saving Houck from a possible knockout. In the seventh round Dyson put his opponent to the mat three times with stiff jolts on the side of the jaw. As Houck went down the third time he fell heavily on his side. Houck said later that he dislocated his shoulder.

From the first round to the end Houck was outclassed. Dyson showered lefts and rights at will. On many occasions Houck was on the verge of being counted out, but the bell saved him.

Columbia Wrestling Dates.

The schedule of the Columbia wrestling team for the coming season was announced yesterday by the Columbia University Athletic Association. In addition to contests with Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell and Pennsylvania State, which are members of the intercollegiate league, the Columbia team will meet Yale and the Naval Academy in dual contests. The schedule:

February 10, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 18, Princeton at New York; March 4, Pennsylvania State College at State College, Pa.; 7, Yale at New York; 11, Naval Academy at Annapolis; 17, Cornell at New York; 25, inter collegiate championships at Princeton.

Commerce Defeats Boys' High Five.

The High School of Commerce defeated the Boys' High five at basketball last night in the gymnasium of the Irish American A. C. clubhouse in Fifty-ninth street by a score of 23 to 19. Schulman, who was disqualified from playing on the Commerce team some time ago, was in the lineup again last night.

Sailor Burke Knocked Out.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—Sailor Burke of New York was knocked out in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout with Kid Henry, a colored fighter of Troy, at the Knickerbocker A. C. here to-night.

HOCKEY.

New York A. C. With Some New Players Wins From Hockey Club.

The New York Athletic Club hockey team, with two new players, defeated the Hockey Club of New York last night in a game played in the St. Nicholas Skating Rink. The New Yorkers won by a score of 6 to 2, but for a long time they only had a lead of one goal and were kept on the defensive by the Hockey Club aggregation.

Clark took the place of White at point and Simms played on the line in place of Dennesha. Neither, however, did much to distinguish himself. In the first half the score was 3 to 2 in favor of New York A. C., and it was not until the last five minutes of the second half that there was more scoring, and then three goals were made by the winners. For the New York team Mills defended goal in his usual fine style.

Reinmund was the first to score. Soon after the faceoff the puck went into Hockey Club's territory, and things were quite lively. After 1 minute 45 seconds Reinmund got the puck on the side and slammed it into the net. Less than a minute after this he got the puck again on a pass from Clark, who had gone down the ice. Reinmund scored. Thirty-four seconds later Rogers made a goal for the Hockey Club. He got the puck from Britton, who had carried it along, and sent it into the net on a very close shot.

Then the play was very even. The Hockey Club broke up the New York's team work and for thirteen minutes the puck was kept hustling up and down the ice, first being sent at one net and then at the other. Reinmund scored the third goal for New York after 17 minutes 18 seconds of play. Peabody carried the puck toward the Hockey Club goal and there was a hot scrimmage during which Reinmund pushed it into the net. A little more than a minute after this Hanley got the puck from Britton in the middle of the ice, carried it up alone and scored.

In the second half the play was quite lively and neither side could score for nearly 15 minutes. Then Reinmund sent a shot at Woods. The puck hit Woods in the chest and rebounded. Reinmund caught it again and sent it into the net. A minute later Mallen scored on a long shot and in the last minute of play Clark went down the ice with the puck, having got it from a face off, and he scored unassisted.

The game was quite fast, but no one was hurt. Only two players incurred the displeasure of the referee. Britton got one minute for slashing and Hanley two minutes for tripping.

The big hockey game of the week will be played on Saturday night, when Princeton and Yale meet at the St. Nicholas Rink in a game for the intercollegiate championship. Both teams have been a disappointment this year so far as their championship aspirations are concerned, but the old college spirit is in evidence as keen and bitter as always.

SHEAN-SHAFER DEAL OFF.

Boston Club Directors Refuse to Sustain Manager Tenney.

The directors of the Boston National League club have formally called off the Shean-Shafer deal which was agreed upon by Managers Tenney and McGraw here last week. The Hub magnates held an executive session in Boston on Monday, those present being President William Hepburn Russell, Vice-President L. C. Page, Fred Murphy and George A. Page. Tenney, the Boston manager, was not admitted. The conference resulted in a deadlock, the Messrs. Page refusing to sanction the deal on the ground that the Boston club would receive the short end of it. As a result of the confab the following official statement was handed out:

"The tentative contract for the exchange with the New York club of Player Shean for Shafer has been adversely disposed of by the executive committee. The president of the club deemed it his duty to bring the offer of exchange of players before the executive committee. This confirms L. C. Page's previous statement that this proposed trade would not be approved by the executive committee."

Tenny Has Full Say Now.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—The officers of the Boston National League Baseball Club held a conference this afternoon and decided that in the future Manager Tenney had full say in the matter of trades. This action was taken because of the criticism of the club in preventing the swapping of Second Baseman Dave Shean for Arthur Shafer, the New York utility man, after Tenney had practically consummated the deal.

AMONG THE AUTOMOBILISTS

That Makes the Territory a Large One—Alco Truck's Run to Philadelphia Makes Non-Stop Performance of More Than 1,000 Miles—Other Matters.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the distribution of Hupmobiles for the State of New Jersey will be handled by the H. J. Koehler Sporting Goods Company instead of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company of Plainfield. This territory is added to that already controlled by the Koehler company, that is, the New England States, New York east of Buffalo and a large part of Pennsylvania. It calls for the distribution of 2,000 Hupmobiles. The New Jersey branches of the company are in Paterson, Newark, East Orange and Montclair.

The Alco truck that started out early on Sunday morning from this city to run to Philadelphia got there on Monday morning in the early hours and kept the motor running until 12:20 P. M. on Monday. It was run then to the show of trucks in the Third Regiment Armory. The machine was weighed at the Baldwin Locomotive Works to see that the weight remained the same. The truck is a three tonner, fully loaded.

When the motor was stopped at 12:20, seven days and ten minutes from the time it was sent away on its journey by Fred J. Wagner, the official starter, the car had covered 1,009.4 miles. G. M. Bassford, assistant of the president of the American Locomotive Company, made the run to Philadelphia from New York in a touring car to see that the truck got in all right.

The sanction that the Alco got from the A. A. A. was made in two parts. After the Monday to Saturday run in New York a separate sanction was issued for the jaunt to Philadelphia, so that if by any chance the motor had to be stopped the company would get the credit for the long non-stop performance in New York city. It is agreed that the test undergone by the truck is a severe one, much more strenuous than there is any chance of a truck having to encounter in actual service.

The rain on Saturday night did not make the trip to Philadelphia particularly pleasant or easy and all told the truck accomplished a great deal.

The dinner of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club in Newark on Monday evening was the first since the club cut loose from the State association and from the A. A. A., but there was no reference to this state of affairs in any of the speeches made. J. B. R. Smith, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for the State, expressed an appreciation of the work of the club to get better motor legislation.

"The roads are not open as they ought to be to motorists of other States," the speaker said, "and we need the help of an organization like yours, which I consider the greatest club in the United States, to get the proper laws."

Col. Austen Colgate said he too was for legislation to favor motorists from outside. "A young clergyman once told his congregation his purpose was to 'heal the dead, cast out the sick and raise the devil,' said Col. Colgate. "The Republicans have been doing the last for the last few years and now the Democrats are taking a
