CORRESPONDENCE.

HARRISBURG.
 December 12th, 1893.
 J. L. Kehm and family visited at Canton over Sunday.

Jonas Gray is attending school at Canton.

Mrs. T. Severitt after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Fee, for a couple of weeks, has returned to her home at Watertown.

Rev. Cuthbert, of Hull, Iowa, visited with the family of J. W. Jones one day last week.

A. Handeschlegel went to Canton on business Monday.

Redfield & Parke, our new merchants, are popular and are doing everything in their power to please customers. They are young men of sterling qualities and are bound to succeed. They are building up quite a trade and deserve it.

L. L. Redfield visited friends and relatives in Harrisburg Thursday night, and before returning home he will visit a brother in Hartford.

The question for debate next Wednesday night is, "Resolved, that navigation is of more benefit to the world than the railroad."

There was a party held at the home of J. L. Kehm's last Saturday night, and those so fortunate as to be present, report a splendid time.

The debate at the Stillwell school house last Wednesday night was largely attended. The question, "Resolved, that the Revolutionary war was greater than the Civil war," was hotly contested by T. O'Connor, John Lubson, E. S. Beck and others for the affirmative and H. Beck, J. O'Connor, B. Clark and E. Moscript for the negative. After due deliberation by the jury it was decided in favor of the negative.

Quite a number of the boys thought they would have a free smoke, so they proceeded to the residence of J. L. Jones last Wednesday night, with musical instruments consisting of a tin can, a dry goods box, a broken horn and a twenty-two calibre revolver. After sending forth sweet music until 12 o'clock when they gave up in despair and left for home. Mr. Jones declared they never woke him up, but not to be outdone, they returned again the next night and this time they were more successful; the finally succeeded in bringing him out and received the much longed for cigars and went on their way rejoicing.

BROOKLYN.
 December 11th, 1893.

The second meeting of the Millbrook Literary Society was largely attended last Saturday evening. Question.—Resolved, that Grover Cleveland should be impeached. The society meets every Saturday at 7:30 p. m. Question for next meeting.—Resolved, that this government is tending toward a monarchy. Everybody invited.

Millbrook has a splendid school this winter, under the management of T. A. Davies.

Frank Stevens was smiling on Brooklyn's fair ones last week. Frank wields the correcting rod at the Schmidt school in Pleasant township. Come again Frank.

Kutus Munsel and John Nelson arrived home Saturday. John from his farm west of Chamberlain, and Rufus from a visit to his grandfather in southern Minnesota.

Oscar Olson who is living at C. D. Austin's had a very severe attack of heart failure Saturday the 2nd. We learn at this writing that he is slowly recovering.

Rev. Morris of Bereford preached to a full house at Millbrook last Sabbath.

The Brooklyn farmers are moving their 20 cent corn and 45 cent wheat at a lively rate. They have given up all hopes of higher prices, and as bills are past due they are obliged to move their produce at a price below the cost of production and pay as far as they can. It seems curious that with the present object lesson standing boldly before every man (let his business be what it may) that he cannot see that it is to his interest that we, as a nation, have currency enough to move the produce of the country at a price at least that will cover the cost of production. If men cannot overcome their party prejudices, and we have good reasons for believing many cannot, let each political party through their central committee call a convention and let each political organization send an equal number of delegates with the instructions to form a monetary plank, and when the plank is formed, to insert it into each party platform. Then we think there would be a chance for reform, as each man could then worship at the shrine of his own idol, and their wives and children could have the necessities of life. OPERATIVE FARMER.

Turkey Shoot.
 There will be One Hundred Turkeys to be shot for on Saturday, December 23. The contest will be in Jerome Hawn's grove on the bank of the river at Canton. Off-hand shooting. There will be a prize given to the champion shot. Here is an opportunity for all the champion shots to prove their claims. There will be lots of fun and records broken.

J. A. Warner and H. D. Fitch of Hudson were in the city last Saturday attending to some business affairs. Friend Warner called at the LEADER office and said he had a small sized greenback which he wanted to leave with us. He and Mr. Fitch date among the early pioneers of Eden township and are today among the most highly respected citizens of Lincoln county.

H. Johnson, surgeon; A. C. Huetsen, Chaplain; J. W. Hewitt, Officer of the Day; C. D. Morris, Officer of the Guard. Installation takes place first Saturday in January.

Sheriff Pierce went up to the Falls last week with a bench warrant for the arrest of W. S. Blair who is under indictment in this county. Blair was a witness before the U. S. court and Judge Edgerton wouldn't allow our genial sheriff to place his official grip on him. Bob says there are some things he can do, but he can't dispute the opinion of a U. S. Judge on the bench. Bob will get his man yet.

The entertainment given by the Ray L. Royce company in Bedford hall Wednesday night was greeted by a fair sized audience, which they fully deserved.

J. T. Hanson was a new subscriber Thursday. "I want the LEADER sent to me at Shindlar and here's a dollar," said Mr. Hanson. He has just rented a farm in Springdale. Henry Phelps came along with him and he reads the LEADER.

Lewis Bros. are showing the largest as well as the finest line of holiday goods, ever brought to Canton, and as the times are hard and money scarce, they will make prices an inducement to purchasers. Don't fail to see their stock before making your selections.

Andrew Sandvig and Miss Hannah Sogn were married Wednesday, of this week at Lund Church in Norway township by Rev. Hauge. Reception was tendered the happy couple after the ceremony by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Sogn.

Major Edward Bradshaw was a visitor Thursday, and left a silver dollar. He walked with a cane. Warren Dick wanted to know if he had been running a foot race. "No" said he. "I missed a piece of wood and hit my big toe, but I'll run you a foot race in the spring."

Mrs. Andrew Bradfield died very suddenly last Friday at her home, seven miles west of Canton. The doctors pronounced it heart disease. Her remains were buried in Forest Hill Cemetery last Tuesday. Mr. Bradfield has the genuine sympathy of a host of friends.

 HENDERSON & GUNTER.

Geo. Henderson is a good deal of a christian and believes that preachers and editors like turkey for Thanksgiving. We got an 18 pounder and some of the preachers who George knew were remembered in a like manner. It always gave us lots of pleasure to acknowledge such gifts, either after Thanksgiving or even Christmas, and Christmas is coming and—well two or three will be plenty. George says his turkey pasture is empty and so is ours.

Dr. McNally of Michigan Valley, Kansas, sent a renewal subscription to the LEADER last week. He was a member of the famous 39th Illinois Infantry, and a member of the same company with Clerk of Courts H. H. DeLong and H. J. Frank of Worthing. The writer counts among his old army friends Colonel Osborne and Lieut. Col. Mann of the 39th. Dr. McNally visited Comrade DeLong last year. He is one of the prominent physicians of Kansas and a royal gentleman.

Len Redfield was in this office the other day and had a roster of his old regiment the 32nd Iowa, with him. The writer has a personal acquaintance with many of that famous Infantry regiment. Col. John Scott, Capt. Raymond, Lieut. Stanberry, and A. T. Cole was a chartermember of a grand army post organized and commanded by the writer in 1867. Len Redfield says there are two more members in this county. Senator W. V. Allen, the hero of the great silver debate, was a member of Co. G. and Len says he and Allen never went hungry when there was anything in sight.

The W. R. C. at the annual election held in the G. A. R. hall on Saturday the 2nd, inst. elected the following officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. H. H. DeLong, president; Mrs. Dunlap, S. V. pres. Mrs. Jerome Hawn, J. V. pres.; Mrs. Wilson, chaplain; Mrs. Nash treasurer, Mrs. Dan Hawn, conductor; Mrs. Wimer, guard; and the appointed officers are, Miss Louella Kehm, secretary; Mrs. Gilligan, assistant conductor; Miss Mabel Neyhart, assistant guard. The corps is in a flourishing condition and the membership keeps increasing. Installation takes place the first week in January.

G. Skartvedt has a new ad in this issue concerning his short horn herd of cattle, which are to be found at his Summit Stock Farm north of Canton. His herd represent the celebrated Cruickshank breed of Scotland, and this is a guarantee that there is no finer bred short horn cattle in the United States than his.

He has cows, heifers and bulls for sale and wants all who contemplate raising blooded cattle to give him a call and he will convince them that there is big money in raising blooded cattle. Everybody knows what thoroughbred pigs and blooded horses are, yet few farmers realize the importance of raising blooded cattle. There is more money in raising blooded cattle than in horses or pigs. The LEADER is anxious to see our farmers engage in raising blooded cattle.

"The horse case" as it is now generally known, wherein Chas. Basuier and several other citizens of this county have been defendants, was finally tried at Sioux Falls last week. Judge Gifford and Judge Carland for the defense, the Lincoln County defendants, purchased the horse in question from Blair Brothers of Aurora, Ill. The animal proved worthless and the case will cost the Blair's heavy before they get through with it. Judge Gifford says the defense has a record of the horse from the time he was first sold in Europe and that the record of the horse proves him worthless.

The horse was sold to Lincoln County men through misrepresentation and they discovered the fraud refused to pay for him. Judge Gifford says that W. S. Blair of Aurora, Ill., will yet be in the hands of Sheriff Pierce, because his offense will require the governor to turn him over to the Lincoln County authorities.

A number of our celebrated shootists assembled in Ivey's carpenter shop last Saturday night and put up their money against their judgment and a turkey. Will and Tom Wallace had a number of nice gobblers, and each nimrod determined (in his own mind) that his turkey would cost him only the modest sum of 10 cents. Rifles of 22 calibre were the heaviest artillery used. There were Judge Steiner and O. K. Brown, Dr. Rosenbaum, O. A. Rudolph, Charlie Wells, H. N. Cooper and John Elder and many others. There was a pile of shooting done for the talent present. O. A. Rudolph watched the crack shots miss for a while, then he winked at Judge Steiner that he was going to hit the bull's eye and he did. He drove the nail out of sight in the middle of the eye and smiled again. Judge Steiner tried it but he didn't smile, in fact he didn't smile during the contest. Dr. Rosenbaum walked up smiling and tried his luck. He said the mark wasn't in the right place. O. K. Brown then walked up to the scratch, winked at O. A. Rudolph and said, "see me." He blazed away and somewhat modestly remarked that the light was poor and that he, perhaps, had too much English on the ball. Mayor Cooper said he belonged to Berdan's sharpshooters and could knock out any bull's eye that was ever built and John Elder said he was in it all over. They carried home seven turkeys. Charlie Wells fired and got a turkey and so did lots of the other boys. The LEADER is going to take a hand the next time and show the boys how to shoot.

When on a visit to Iowa, Mr. K. Dalton of Lury, Russell county, Kansas, called at the laboratory of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six year old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it having cured him of a very severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his boy's life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the Remedy. For sale by Helme & Co.
