SILK STRIKE IN BAYONNE.

More Than 300 Girls Quit—Those Who Remained Attacked.

Between 300 and 400 girls from 12 to 20 years old employed in Schwarzenbach, Huber & Co. silk mills in Bayonne went on strike yesterday. The signal was given by sixteen-year-old Chester Yaborowsky, a weaver, who shut off the motor on the first floor, causing the looms to stop. Then all but about 200 of the girls dropped their work and left the building.

When the noon recess for lunch was taken the strikers and their sympathizers, numbering fully 1,000, gathered in front of the mills and many of the girls who had not struck were attacked as they left the building. A detail of police was sent to the scene, and the girls who were afraid to leave the mills were taken to their homes in the patrol wagon. Three of the girl strikers and one woman sympathizer, Mrs. Mary Janors, were arrested for being disorderly and were paroled to appear in the police court this morning.

Supt. George Albach said the girls had made no complaints to him and had not asked for increased pay.

Sloss Sheffield Steel.

The report for 1911 of the Sloss Sheffield Steel and Iron Company shows total income of $733,509 against $1,001,002 in 1910, balance of $665,260 against $932,-[illegible], surplus of $404,649 against $671,-[illegible], final deficit of $64,451 against $152,477, and a total profit and loss surplus of $3,012,693 against $3,197,044. The deficit is smaller because no common dividends were paid in 1911. Gross sales were $4,521,360 against $5,020,-[illegible]. Assets were $24,656,823 against $24,741,816. President Maben says that hostility of legislatures and lower courts has brought an unsatisfactory result for the year's work. Half of the company's blast furnaces were operated during the year. A. E. Ames of Toronto was elected a director to fill a vacancy caused by the death of H. O. Seixas.

$2,500 EACH TO HER NURSES.

Miss Teresa Burke's Will Prescribed Who Should Make Her Burial Gown.

Miss Teresa C. Burke, who died at 47 West 130th street on March 4 last, leaving an estate exceeding $50,000, made her will a few hours before her death, and it covers many subjects. She first left $2,000 to the King's Daughters of Oakland, Cal., and then crossed out the bequest. She left $500 to Walter Burke in return for money lent to her brother, and all her money in bank to four nieces and nephews, although directing that her nephew Frank Myron have $1,000 more than the others.

The testator gave the name and address of the dressmaker who was to make her a white burial gown, gave the names of persons to whom she owed bills, and said she wanted a dark gray tombstone to cost not over $250. She left $2,500 each to Miss Youse and Miss Forde, her nurses, "for their nice care of me," and gave $500 to the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help "in satisfaction of the wonderful peace of mind I have had in that church." She left $250 to the Rev. Father Lennon. Miss Burke was the daughter of John Burke, for many years principal of Public School 121.

Men and Religion Dinner To-night.

There is to be a dinner in the Broadway Tabernacle to-night for men interested in the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Some 500 men have expressed their intention of attending, among them John D. Rockefeller, Jr., William J. Schieffelin, James G. Cannon, William Fellowes Morgan, Mornay Williams, J. Edgar Leaverafi, Waldo H. Sherman and Henry W. Jessup. The speakers will include Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale University, the Rev. James A. Francis of Boston, the Rev. John T. Stone of Chicago and Fred B. Smith, the campaign leader of the movement.

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S CLOTHING.

YOU ARE PAYING TOO MUCH FOR YOUR CLOTHES!
Of course you can get suits and overcoats at any price. Some one will meet your desire—with this point in mind—to make a profit. Clothes made to meet a low price are dear. My clothes were made to meet the desire of men who know GOOD CLOTHES.
Just now, in consequence of removal and consolidation of the Broadway store with my 6th Ave. store, my suits and overcoats have been reduced. There are suits at $10 that were $20 and $22; others at $14.50, $16.50, $19.75, $24.75 that were from $5 to $12 per suit more.

THE WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON PREDICTIONS FOR TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.

For eastern New York, fair to-day; increasing cloudiness to-morrow, with snow or rain at night; moderate northwesterly winds, becoming variable.

For New England, fair to-day and colder in Maine; increasing cloudiness to-morrow; diminishing northwest winds, becoming variable.

For New Jersey, fair to-day; increasing cloudiness to-morrow, with snow or rain in northern and rain in southern portions to-night; moderate northwest winds.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The storm which moved into the Atlantic States from the Southwest on Tuesday brought heavy rain into that section Tuesday night and was central off the coast of New Jersey and Long Island yesterday, with rain falling in eastern New England, showers in the middle Atlantic States and snow in western New England, New York, the lower lakes and southward into West Virginia. It was generally cloudy further southward into the east Gulf States.

The pressure was high over the Northwest and the central and Southern States and low to the west of the Rocky Mountains, with light rain in the extreme Southwest and snow in the northern Rocky Mountain States.

It was warmer in the middle Atlantic States and New England and from Colorado northward, but generally colder in the central States.

Temperatures were above the freezing point along the entire Atlantic coast and throughout the Gulf States, except northern Texas, but below freezing west of the Alleghanies.

In this city the day was cloudy and warmer with showers in the afternoon; wind, fresh northwest; average humidity, 87 per cent.; barometer, corrected to read to sea level, at 8 A. M., 30.16; 3 P. M., 29.95.

The temperature in this city yesterday, as recorded by the official thermometer, is shown in the annexed table:
