SIX EXPRESSMEN NABBED.

Detectives Think They've Rounded Up a Gang of Petty Pilferers.

Six men employed by the United States Express Company at its platform in Communipaw were arraigned in the Second Criminal Court in Jersey City yesterday morning on complaints of larceny sworn to by Joseph Mayhew, chief of the express company's secret service bureau. At his request they were held over for a week in $500 bail each to give the detectives a chance to arrange the results of an investigation of systematic pilfering from which the company has been suffering for several months.

This company, like all others in the express business, always has to contend with petty stealing on the part of its employees, but when hundreds of small packages marked "Pilfered at Communipaw" began to come into the office of the secret service bureau in a steady stream Chief Mayhew started out to find what he thought must be a gang.

William Mulvanerton, 24 years old, of 136 Wayne street, Jersey City, whose business was to call out the packages as they were checked, was arrested first and a little later James F. Norton, also a caller, who is 24 years old and lives at Grand street, Jersey City, was arrested. They were taken to the office of Capt. Cody of the City Hall police station and Mayhew's statements implicated James Mulvanerton, 30 years old, and a brother of William; Patrick Crowe, a bill clerk, 50 years old, of 166 Montgomery street; Joseph M. Behson, 29 years old, of 305 Grand street and Michael Mitchell, 48 years old, of 208 Railroad avenue. The police say that two of the men admitted thefts, two others admitted receiving stolen goods from these two and the remaining two denied any knowledge of the pilferings.

The stolen property comprised articles of wearing apparel or personal adornment from suspenders to vanity cases and fine feathers. So far as the detectives have been able to learn the stuff was used by the men themselves or given away to their friends.

CAN'T FIND LOUIS HART.

The United States Trust Company, executor under the will of Benjamin Hart, the American who died in Paris in 1908, filed a final accounting in the Supreme Court yesterday showing that Louis Hart, a brother, had disappeared from New York some years ago and although a wide search has been made for him nothing has been heard.

The report shows that the executor has collected personal property amounting to $1,905,466 and has paid over $500,000 to legatees. Michael Hart, a nephew of the testator, who is chief legatee, has received over $183,000. The executor has paid $60,000 to Gabrielle Antoinette de Bie, Hart's housekeeper, who after Hart's death became the wife of a French playwright named Nathan.
