BLACK FLAG CREW TQO STRONG FOR THE GIANTS

Circuit Clouts by Byrne and Doyle Add to an Already Big Local Crop.

The Pirates did what the Cardinals and Cubs did—won the first game of their series at the Polo Grounds. With yesterday's defeat the Giants finally have lost to every other club. The Brooklyns enjoyed a picnic at the expense of the Cardinals, and the bitter struggle going on for last place saw the Brooklyns yield occupancy of the cellar to the Bostons, the latter losing to the Reds. The Cubs gouged out a victory in Philadelphia.

Against the choice pitching of Camnitz yesterday the Giants had no chance, and they were beaten with neatness and despatch by the Pirates. The score was 6 to 1. The black flag band played a game of trim, mechanical excellence, showing nothing much in the way of frills, but workmanlike all around. The skull and bones coterie hit. Wiltse at opportune times, handled their fielding chances with easy suveness and in a serene sort of way surpassed the Giants with a good deal to spare.

The Giants had a fault of hitting directly to fielders, though all of the Pirates' fielding chances were not made to order. Byrne had to hustle to the limit to retire beyore on an abbreviated grounder, and Carey in left field displayed rare ability in covering ground. The light footed gem de diamond sharn—his right name is Carnahus—took two flies in succession in the sixth inning at spots at least a hundred yards apart. One was to the foul line and the other over in the centre.

The Pittsburg hits, on the other hand, alighted back of the infield, back of the outfield, and went through the diamond. Down on the field there was a cold world, and the Giants played as if they felt it. They were listless and without pep. Light hitting is likely to make the side doing it look listless. The reason of the Giants' indisposition was less one of weather than of Camnitz.

However, the Giants aren't discouraged. Other invaders have taken the first game of a series here, then lost the remaining ones. The Pirates had better remember the fate of the Cardinals and Cubs before chortling too loudly. Manager Clarke, on the retired list as a player, was voluble and intense on the coaching lines, and he and Mike Donlin had the raucous laugh on the New Yorks from their coaching pens, emitting such coarse guffaws as might be expected from heartless Pirates having things their own way.

Bobby Byrne, the little man with the big bat, broke the game open with a mammoth hit. The ball disappeared completely for a moment and next was seen bouncing around in the left field stand and safe by a rod or so. Hofman, a brand snatched from the Chicago burning, doubled after Carey had fanned, but a sumptuous catch by Becker of Herzog's space clearing fly held Hofman on second and Murray's setzuf of Miller's liner anchored the late Cub to the midway. Devore's infield hit in the second half of the inning deluded the rooters into the belief that the Giants were in their usual form, but a forceout and a double play gave the leaders short shift.

Dovetailing an error into the first half of the second inning the Giants gave the Pirates two runs. McCarthy singled to right, and the ponderous Gibson was passed. Camnitz, saying most of his exercies for the box, sacrificed, making the second out. Byrne sent another crisp drive to left, but Devore was waiting for it. So far so good, but Josh didn't hold he ball. Quite the reverse—he dropped it. McCarthy and Gibson migrated to the plate on Josh's transgression.

Carey misjudged Becker's poke in the second and Becker sped around to third. One out and more false hope in the home camp. Camnitz extricated himself on a couple of New York dies. Herzog hoisted to McCarthy and Meyers sent a rocket to Hofman. Fragile hitting left Giants stranded in the third and fourth innings, although the first man up in each reached first base. Camnitz passed the first man in the fourth, one of whom and the succeeding batters, Herzog, were blotted out in a conventional double play.

Murray made a couple of splendid throws. The first was when he nipped McCarthy in the fourth. McCarthy tried to stretch a single, but Murray played the ground off the wall so skilfully that the stretching effort was a fat failure. Of four hits in succession the Pirates collected two runs in the fifth. Carey singled and scored on Hofman's two bagger, a short swipe which Becker made a desperate run for and overran. Wagner batted Hofman home. He took second on the throw in and could have scored on Miller's hit, but didn't slide and was thrown out by Murray.

After Doyle had walked in the sixth, with none out, three collaborators filed themselves into the discard. Carey made an especially fine catch off Murray. He was back near the centre field paneling. Herzog took first on Wagner's wide throw in the seventh, but the assiduous Carey gobbled flies from the next two batters and Camnitz threw out the third man.

Tesreau pitched well in the last four innings. Byrne and Wagner made hits in the seventh, and these, with the aid of a sacrifice, brought in a run. Otherwise Tesreau's slate was clean of hits and runs.

Just once in the game did the Giants partake of more than one hit in an inning. In the eighth Doyle lifted a tremendous home run far down in the right field seats. There's been such a crop of home runs at the Polo Grounds this year that Doyle's was the twenty-first. Murray made the second hit of the inning. There were two out and he was forced.

AIDE DOWNS WINS FOR CUBS.

Utility Man Smashes Triple and Homer That Beat Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Utility Infielder Jerry Downs did more to beat the Phillies to-day than the rest of the Cubs combined. The score was 7 to 5. Downs found Seaton for a triple and a home run, chasing in four of Chicago's runs and being the chief cause of Seaton's going to the bench in the seventh round.

Umpire Owens had his ankle broken by a foul tip off Downey's bat in the eighth inning.

CONZELMAN TIRED, BUT GAME.

Ends Game With Three Strikeouts After Temporary Lapse.

PROVIDENCE, June 14.—Brown defeated Cornell on Andrews Field, 4 to 1, this afternoon. Conzelman, who has been out of condition all season, was in the box for Brown and pitched splendid ball. He wabbled a little in the first three innings and in the ninth he was perceptibly pitched out, though after passing two men and being robbed of a putout on the third, he mowed down the last three batters in the strike out route. The redoubtable Nisbet started for Cornell and was touched up for ten hits, including a home run. When Brown got to him in the sixth for four singles, a sacrifice and a pass, Danny Coogan yanked him out and sent in O'Connor, shutting off further scoring. The score:

Toots Shultz, the former Quaker twirler and present member of the Phillies pitching staff, went on the mound in the sixth inning for the alumni, but his curves failed to dread for the varsity batters, three hits and a run being totalled off him. FAST TENNIS DESPITE WIND.

Unbothered by Near Gale, Dionne Downs Flashy Chambers.

All around strong playing in spite of the high wind appeared in almost every game yesterday in the second day of the tennis tournament of the Marine and Field Club at Bath Beach. G. A. L. Dionne seemed at first to have found another stubborn opponent in C. Chambers, who played in a careful style very much like Dionne's. Chambers led near the end of the first set. Then he developed a speedier and more daring manner which gained him several points, but finally proved his undoing. Dionne, lacking a really fast stroke, but taking no chances, eventually won both sets, 6—1, 6—0.

One of the most stirring contests of the day occurred in the match which G. Gordon took from R. Phillips, 8—4, 6—1, by fine service and perfect smashes. There were several brilliant rallies and Phillips repeatedly made the score deuce, but he was tired from his two previous hard matches in the afternoon. Gordon appears to be a serious contender for the challenge cup.

The summaries:

Singles, First Round—Ostendorf defeated Norton, 6—2, 6—4; Phillips defeated Boggs, 7—5, 6—0; Cumming defeated Peabody, 6—3, 0—6, 7—5; Dr. Rosenbaum defeated Izard, 6—1, 6—2.

Second Round—Pate defeated Stewart, 6—4, 6—4; Phillips defeated Andrews, 6—0, 6—0; Graves defeated Hazard, 8—6, 6—2; Ostendorf defeated Cameron, 7—5, 3—6, 6—3; Dionne defeated Chambers, 6—4, 6—0.

Third Round—Gordon defeated Phillips, 6—4, 6—1; Graves defeated Cumming, 6—2, 6—3.

Dabney to Meet Nat Niles.

BOSTON, Mass., June 14.—A. S. Dabney won the final match for the singles championship of the State on the courts at Longwood this afternoon by defeating Richard Bishop in a stiff four set match. Dabney now has the right to challenge his former partner in the eastern double championship, Nat W. Niles, for the title. They will meet to-morrow. Dabney won from Bishop, 7—5, 4—6, 6—2, 6—3.

Fatal Blow Comes in Tenth After Caldwell and Daniels Tie It Up.

The Athletics met with a reverse in Detroit.

To-day's Schedule.

New York in St. Louis.
Washington in Cleveland.
Philadelphia in Detroit.
Boston in Chicago.

St. Louis, June 14.—Elmer Brown's shoots were hammered in the final innings of to-day's game and the Highlanders won in the tenth inning, score, 7 to 5. Roy Mitchell started on the mound for St. Louis, but lasted less than one round, New York collecting four hits and scoring two runs before the Texan was relieved. The rally was cut short when Elmer Brown went to work, and from that time on until the eighth round the locals put up a great fight and looked to be sure winners. Then the Highlanders got busy with young Mr. Brown. A single and a triple, together with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, permitted Wolverton's crowd to climb within one run of St. Louis's total. In New York's ninth a triple by Bert Daniels and a single by Slim Ray Caldwell, who was used in the pinch, tied up the score. A four base punch by Guy Zinn in the tenth would have been enough to win for New York, but just to make sure, they rushed over another tally by plastering Brown for three singles in a row.

All the thrills for the St. Louis fans were staged in the opening round, when St. Louis came from behind and shoved over three runs. In this inning the home boys made four hits in a row and received one base on balls. The fact that Derrill Pratt was called out at the plate on a hair line decision was all that kept St. Louis from winning in the regulation number of rounds. Pratt was on second when Austin hit right field. Pratt started running when the ball was hit. Austin headed for first at top speed and continued the hike in the direction of second when Daniels fired the ball home. Street headed off the leather and shot to Stumpf at second trying for Austin. Meanwhile Pratt raced homeward and made a great slide for the plate just as Stumpf's return of the ball popped into Street's mitt. O'Laughlin declared Pratt out.

Fisher was the man who allowed the Browns to jump into the lead, but after the first he pitched nice ball for three innings. Then he got back into his old ways again in the fourth, but before any great amount of damage had been done his place was taken by Jack Quinn. The second pitching selection made by the New York manager proved to be the proper one, and had he been given good support by Gardner St. Louis would not have scored against him. He allowed only one hit in five and a third innings.

But the chief prowess of the New Yorkers to-day was shown at the bat, particularly in the final rounds, when they came from behind. Stumpf placed a single in left starting the eighth. Cree followed with a triple to the centre field fence, scoring Stumpf. Zinn sent a long sacrifice fly to Shotten and Cree scored. Chase flied to Hogan and Gardner popped to Wallace.

In the ninth Daniels led off with a triple that bounded up against the right field boards. Caldwell batted for Street and made good in the pinch with a single to centre, scoring Daniels. Quinn sacrificed. E. Brown replaced Stovall. Hartzell rolled to Wallace and Caldwell was caught trying to make third. Hartzell stole second. Stump was out, Wallace to Stovall.

With Cree out of the way in the tenth Zinn put his team in the lead with his circuit smash into the right field bleachers. Chase sent a fly to right which Compton muffed, so he retrieved the ball in time to nail Hal at second. Gardner singled to left and stole second. Daniels singled to centre, scoring Gardner. Daniels stole second. Sweeney singled to centre and stole second. Quinn was out, Wallace to Stovall.

YOUTHS PLAY FOR GOLF TITLE.

Francis Ouimet and Heinrich Schmidt in Massachusetts Final.

WEST NEWTON, Mass., June 14.—Two youths, comparatively speaking, will meet in the final round for the championship of the Massachusetts Golf Association at the Brae burn Country Club to-morrow. They are Heinrich Schmidt of Worcester and Francis J. Ouimet of Woodland. Past performances would seem to favor the latter, though the former won considerable prestige to-day through victories over two former State champions, Percival Gilbert and Henry Stucklen.

In winning his semi-final match Ouimet got a 74, the best score of the week. He was at the turn in 35 and home in 39, winning easily by 5 and 4 from Ray Gorton, who has always been prominent and regarded as one of the strongest players in the State. Schmidt surprised all followers of the game in the forenoon by winning from Percival Gilbert by 5 and 4. In the afternoon Stucklen was as easy for him, for he won there by 5 and 4 also.
