HENNESSY TO TELL OF $168,000 OIL GRAFT

Hurry Call to Albany Believed to Be to Tell Osborne of Big Overcharge.

LITTLE IS USED ON ROADS

Mystery in Disposal in 1912 of 5,600,000 Gallons Purchased.

Soon after John A. Hennessy left for Albany last night, subpœnaed by James W. Osborne to testify in the graft investigation which Hennessy started, but uninformed as to just what Mr. Osborne wants of him, it was learned that alleged overcharges on oil used in repairing State roads are likely to be looked into as well as asphalt graft.

Mr. Hennessy and his investigators are said to have found that in 1912 the State was buying huge quantities of oil far in excess of the highway needs and was paying 12½ cents a gallon for it, when the city of New York was buying exactly the same oil for 5½ and 6 cents a gallon.

The investigators are willing to concede that freight from Bayonne to the various places through the State to which the oil was shipped possibly averaged three cents a gallon. Adding that charge to the price which the city was paying makes the price which the investigators think the State should have paid 9 cents a gallon. The State, however, through its highway department, paid 12½ cents.

George H. McGuire admitted in the John Doe inquiry here that he got a "rakeoff" of half a cent a gallon on every gallon of oil supplied to the State on contracts obtained through his influence. That, in the opinion of the investigators, leaves an overcharge of three cents a gallon to be accounted for.

As the State bought 5,600,000 gallons of top oil for repair work in 1912 this 3 cent overcharge amounted to $168,000 in a single year. The query of the investigators is: "Who got the $168,000?"

Mr. Hennessy's experts informed him that the amount of oil needed in repairing a road is from five-eighths to three-quarters of a gallon to the square yard. Yet the State bought oil at the rate of two gallons a square yard, more than the roads could soak up. Consequently, according to Mr. Hennessy's agents, a great many barrels of oil which were delivered and couldn't be used are still standing beside up-State highways with the weeds growing around them.

And finally the investigators couldn't see why, except for purposes of graft, the Highways Department bought any oil at all for repair work. In previous years, they say, the contractors supplied their own oil; that was part of the agreement.

Mr. Hennessy expects to testify before the Grand Jury of Suffolk county in Riverhead, L. I., on Saturday as to evidence of highway graft which he presented in the fall. One of his former engineers predicted yesterday that eleven indictments will be found there.

10,336 RATS DEAD IN CONTEST.

Ohio Farmers Have Competition in Which a Dog is the Star.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Dec. 25.—The Pied Piper has nothing on the farmers of Union township, who have just ended a rat killing contest. They have counted the tails and found they put to death 10,336 rats in the five weeks.

There were 114 men on one side and 99 on the other side and the hunt was confined to the township alone. The winning side killed 5,929 and the losers 4,407.

Fido, a dog owned by J. H. Hartman, a small terrier, weighing little more than a full grown rat himself, killed more than 2,000 and helped both sides. In one shock of corn he killed thirty-three rats in less than fifteen minutes. The event closed with a banquet at Rawson, which nearly three hundred people attended.

One of the speakers said the farmers will save next year about $100,000 by the extermination.

Currency Law in Brief.

The Fourth National Bank issued yesterday copies of the new currency law upon application. The law was printed in pamphlet form under headings with marginal references. The Fourth National is the first bank in Wall Street to get out this publication and was likewise the first in issuing copies of the bill as it passed the House.

The tracks may begin to rise from the present grade at 122nd Street to an elevation of 65½ feet above the present grade at 125th Street. North of 125th Street Station there may be also a fourth track and the existing and new tracks may be so arranged that the two middle tracks may ascend to an elevation of not over 20 feet above
