SEVEN TICKETS ENTER THE FIELD FOR PRIMARIES

Candidates Unload Great Pile of Petitions on State Secretary.

REPUBLICAN ASPIRANTS ARE MOST NUMEROUS

Protest Filed Against F. M. Davenport, Progressive Designee.

ALBANY, Sept. 9.—The pile of petitions filed by candidates for nominations in the State primary were partially sorted to-day by the Secretary of State and party tickets made up.

There were more candidates for places on the Republican ticket than on any other. There are three candidates in the Republican party for United States Senator, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and State Comptroller, and two each for Attorney-General and State Engineer and Surveyor. On the Democratic side there are only two tickets in the field. The Progressives have but one candidate for each office.

A protest was filed to-day against the designation of Frederick M. Davenport for Governor on the Progressive ticket. Walter L. Rathbone of 1483 Broadway, New York, charges that the signatures on the Davenport petitions were obtained by "fraud, bribery and deceit"; that some of the signers had previously signed "another and different petition and had expressed a desire to support William Sulzer for Governor"; that some of the signatures are of enrolled Democrats, Republicans and Socialists and not enrolled Progressives; and that some of the signers were not residents of the districts shown on the petitions.

The Secretary of State has notified Mr. Davenport and the Progressive State committee of the protest.

On Monday all of the candidates or their representatives will be summoned to the office of the Secretary of State to draw lots for positions on the ballots. Following are the candidates:

CANDIDATES' NAMES HELD UP.

The Election Commissioners found their offices so completely swamped with petitions yesterday that they did not attempt to make public the names of any candidates in addition to those posted on Tuesday night.

The office force was doubled so that the petitions might be examined in as short a time as possible, and this morning, if the commissioners make good their promise, a complete list of the candidates in the primary election will be forthcoming.

WELCOME TAMMANY SUPPORT.

The Progressives are not at all angry because their candidate for the Court of Appeals, Justice Samuel Seabury, has received and will accept the Tammany indorsement. Both State Chairman Robinson and ex-Chairman Hotchkiss said yesterday that they are pleased.

"I think his election is assured now," Mr. Hotchkiss said. "If Tammany would nominate as good men all along the line we might get together with them."

"There is no reason why Justice Seabury should refuse a Tammany nomination," said Mr. Robinson. "Whatever Tammany does, Seabury is a Progressive."

Roger C. Sullivan and "Uncle Joe" Win in Illinois

Democratic Leader Opposed by Strong Combination of Interests—War Blamed for Light Vote in Statewide Primaries.

WOMEN INDIFFERENT, DESPITE BOOTHS DE LUXE

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Roger C. Sullivan, Democrat; United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, Republican, and Raymond Robins, Progressive, were to-day nominated for the United States Senate in the first direct primary elections for the United States Senate ever held in Illinois.

Early returns show that Sullivan is leading his principal opponent, Lawrence B. Springer, nearly three to one. It is estimated that his plurality in Cook county will be in excess of 60,000. Returns from down State show that he is running far ahead of Springer, and managers of the latter in Chicago early conceded the defeat of their candidate.

Sullivan was easily the big figure in the primary contest to-day, being opposed by a combination of not only the Hearst and Mayor Harrison interests, but also by United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Gov. Dunne. W. J. Bryan also threw the weight of his influence against Sullivan.

Senator Sherman had for his principal opponent former United States Senator William E. Mason. Sherman's plurality over Mason in Cook county is estimated at 15,000, and the returns from down State indicate that he is running as far ahead of his opponent as in Cook county.

Robins was unopposed as the Progressive candidate, and his vote was largely in the nature of an expression of confidence in the Progressive party's chances.

Early returns in the Democratic primary showed that 909 precincts of a total of 1,705 in Cook county gave Sullivan 48,222 and Stringer 17,748; 823 precincts out of 1,705 in Cook county show 17,961 for Sherman, against 9,874 for Mason in the Republican primary.

One of the principal down-State contests was that at Danville, where Joseph G. Cannon is seeking the nomination to go back to Congress. Early returns indicate that Uncle Joe has beaten Elmer G. Cooley by a safe vote.

The vote was a big disappointment to the party leaders, it being much lighter than was expected, though weather conditions were favorable. The European war, which has drawn attention away from politics, was attributed to-night as the cause.

While the male vote was a source of disappointment, the apparent indifference of the women to the election caused nothing short of amazement to the political observers. The total vote of the women in Cook county is estimated at less than 8,000. Only one vote was cast by a woman in some precincts. It was the first general primary in which women participated as voters.

The apathy of the women developed in spite of the fact that special efforts had been made in many of the precincts in Chicago to give a feminine touch to the polling places provided for them.

Oriental carpets in the voting booths, a grand piano on which to rest the hat, a collection of oil paintings for inspection, a genial hostess and attentive servants were offered in the Thirty-third precinct in the Third ward. Mrs. Charles H. Sergel, the hostess, welcomed voters into her home, 4578 Oakenwald avenue. The polling booths were in her parlor. The judges and clerks occupied mahogany seats in her library.

"It doesn't make a bit more muss than a card party," said Mrs. Sergel. "It makes voting more of a ceremony and it is much more comfortable for the judges. If all the polling places could be placed in homes it would improve conditions and elections."

Roger C. Sullivan has cut a big figure in politics for twenty-five years. After being a laborer in the street car barns he was clerk of the Probate Court of Cook county from 1890 until 1894, during which time and later he served as a Democratic county committeeman from Cook county. In 1904 he was elected a member of the National Democratic Committee and has since been a national figure. Outside of politics he specialized in biscuits, gas plants and electric works and is wealthy.

Back in 1906 William Jennings Bryan referred to Sullivan as a "person who employed the methods of a road agent," and said that he would take no indorsement from the Illinois State convention that did not carry with it a repudiation of Sullivan and a demand for his removal from the National Committee.

Later Sullivan saw to it that Illinois Democrats indorsed Mr. Bryan for the Presidency in 1908, and then the convention by an overwhelming vote threw Bryan's insistent demand for Sullivan's retirement into the waste basket.

In the recent campaign Secretary of State Bryan denounced Sullivan as an unfit man to represent the Democracy of the day.

NAMES 31 COUNTIES IN LIST FOR HINMAN

Campaign Manager Says Republican Leaders Are Supporting Nomination.

J. Calvin McKnight, campaign manager for Harvey D. Hinman, said yesterday that in thirty-one of the sixty-two counties of New York the Republican organization or a majority of the regular organization leaders are supporting the candidacy of Mr. Hinman for the Gubernatorial nomination. These are the counties on Mr. McKnight's list, which he says will be enlarged in a few days:

Allegany, Broome, Chattaraugus, Cayuga, Chautauqua, Chemung, Chenango, Clinton, Cortland, Essex, Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Niagara, Oneida, Orange, Orleans, Oswego, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schuyler, Steuben, Sullivan, Tioga, Tompkins, Warren and Washington.

Mr. McKnight also made public this list of "prominent Republicans throughout the State who have announced their support of Senator Hinman and their willingness to serve on his campaign committee":

George W. Dunn, Frank R. Utter, James K. Nichols, Samuel L. Smith, Perry E. Merrill, George W. Benham, B. B. Odell, Jr., Charles J. Hewitt, Charles M. Hamilton, Seymour Lowman, J. Johnson Ray, John F. O'Brien, Charles F. Brown, Ralph W. Munsie, Samuel K. Phillips, William R. Daniels, Ralph Sanger, W. Averill Harriman, C. C. Tegethoff, W. W. Aldrich, O. Byron Brewster, George Dustin, Cyrus Durey, James A. North, Fred E. Craigie, Daniel F. Stroebel, George H. Cobb, Harry J. Henry, M. E. Tallett, James A. Loyster, Joseph M. Dickey, John D. Stivers, Isaac S. Signor, Irving L'Hommedieu, Dr. Robert Simpson, Harry W. Lee, J. F. Thomson, A. W. Brown, Lewis Moore, Milton Lissberger, J. C. McKnight, John C. Gabler, C. V. Collins, Lucien Washburn, Wriley N. Bear, Edgar T. Brackett, W. W. Wemple, Lyman F. Holmes, Olin T. Nye, J. B. H. Mongin, Frank C. Platt, William Intemann, William A. Smyth, William M. Kent, James S. Kiley and James S. Parker.

From New York city: Louis Marshall, Felix Warburg, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., A. Perry Osborn, Colin H. Woodward, Fred A. Higgins, Judson G. Wall and Charles P. Spooner.

It was said that more names will be added when the Hinman forces are organized in other counties.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 9.—Harvey D. Hinman began his campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor with a speech at the Dutchess county fair in this city to-day. He provided this list of things he will try to do if elected Governor:

"Abolish every unnecessary commission, board, bureau and office.

"Remove all crooked, corrupt and inefficient officials and employees of the State, and fill their places with the most efficient and best men I can find.

"Make the Public Service Commissions what they were intened to be—non-partisan and non-political.

"See to it that the Public Service Commission and other like boards and bodies perform their duties, powers and functions without interference by legislation proposed and enacted for political effect or to further the political ambition of any man or men.

"Put an end to the use or threatened use by any department or State official or employee of his position or power to unjustly or unfairly harass any class of business or business men for political purposes.

"Revise the State highway law and department so as to put the department back on the high plane upon which it was being conducted in 1910.

"Revise and simplify the present crude and unfair election and primary law and reduce the present enormous expense thereof."

OSBORN TO QUIT AS STATE CHAIRMAN

Admits He Has Failed to Reunite Democratic Factions as He Had Hoped.

After trying for six months to reorganize the State Democracy and give it new leadership and ideals William Church Osborn called reporters to his office yesterday to tell them that he will not be a candidate for chairman of the new State committee that will be elected in the primary of September 28 and will not accept the post if it is offered to him.

"I am not a politician," he said.

Mr. Osborn has no harsh words for anybody, but there is reason to believe that he feels he could have accomplished more if the national Administration had supported him. He leaves Murphy and Tammany where he found them, in control of the organization and disposed to yield no ground, although professing good will.

He has declined to be a factionalist from the beginning of his chairmanship on March 2. He hoped to reunite the warring elements by a policy of conciliation. He has made many friends in Tammany and has kept the friendship of the independents, but the campaign has not turned out as he hoped.

Instead of there being many candidates for nominations in the primaries, with an equal chance for all, contests are few and it looks as if Tammany will nominate whomever it pleases.

"I was perfectly willing to become State chairman while the committee was under Tammany control," Mr. Osborn said yesterday, "in view of the emergency in the first year's operation of the new primary law. I have done what I could to make the law operative and to help party officers. Now that the emergency is ended I do not feel called upon to bear the burden of the chairmanship.

"I had no control of patronage or of the State committee. I relied on publicity to accomplish results. In western and central New York I was quite successful. My plan was to try publicity in New York, beginning in August. But along came the war, and one might as well blow a tin whistle in a gale as to talk politics in war time. The people must not judge the direct nominations law by its operation this year.

"The present tendency in this State is to line up the Democratic organization on one side and the Federal office holders on the other. That tendency ought to be eliminated after the primaries."

Mr. Osborn spoke hopefully of the candidates who have been designated and said that by "shopping around" and picking men that suited them the voters ought to make up a good ticket. It is indicated, however, that one or two of the candidates now on the organization slate are not at all to Mr. Osborn's liking.

His friends say that while Mr. Osborn's approval of the Wilson national policies is wholehearted, he feels keenly the failure of the President to support him in this State. Mr. Osborn was an ardent Wilson man in the campaign of 1912 and is said to have given $80,000 to the national and State Democratic treasuries in that year.

Mr. Osborn will keep right on with the primary campaign and will organize a publicity bureau at State headquarters immediately.

Soon after primary day the new State committee will meet, probably in Albany, and select a chairman. Charles E. Treman, Superintendent of Public Works under Gov. Dix, and George E. Van Kennan, State committeeman from Ogdensburg, are "mentioned" for the post. There is also a possibility that William F. McCombs may agree to serve for a time.

HENNESSY, ATTACKING GLYNN, QUOTES OSBORN

Says There Is Chaos and Inefficiency in the State Administration.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—John A. Hennessy, continuing his primary campaign, spoke in the Court House here to-night and called on Gov. Glynn to tell the people of the State what he has done to promote economy and efficiency in any department of government.

"Let him step out and tell specifically where he has reformed anything," said Mr. Hennessy. "His own State chairman, William Church Osborn, ten days ago said in the Saratoga conference that there is 'simple and absolute chaos in the business administration of the State. What is Mr. Glynn's answer to what is really only a mild indictment of existing conditions? Mr. Glynn is under a direct duty to tell us of his reforms. Sulzer was thrown out of office when he went graft hunting. Mr. Glynn was put in to stop the disclosures of fraud, and I maintain that this is the only work he has done well. I charge he used his high office to protect the grafters and suppress investigation.

"Mr. Glynn has, in answer to my Cooper Union speech, asserted there will be no direct tax next year. I say it cannot be less than $10,000,000, of which the city of New York will pay $6,750,000. It must come no matter who be Governor.

"Mr. Glynn avoided it this year by reducing the efficiency of the State at least 15 per cent. He has left the State forests without adequate fire protection. He has refused necessary educational appropriations and even money for urgent sanitary improvements in the State prisons and reformatories. To use his own words in his last veto message: 'Some appropriations have been vetoed which might have been approved if the revenues of the State had permitted.'

"That is the whole story. The revenues of the State don't permit appropriations for agricultural institutions, State asylum reforms and the abolition of grade crossings. The way to get them is to go to a direct tax. Efficiency is cut down while more than $3,000,000 has been added to the payrolls since Gov. Dix took office—not one of these unnecessary offices has been cut off by Mr. Glynn in his widely advertised work for economy and efficiency."

LEVY OUT TO BEAT TAMMANY.

Congressman, Turned Down, Will Run as an Independent.

Jefferson M. Levy, Congressman from the Fourteenth district, is vexed because Tammany turned him down this year and gave the Congress designation to Michael F. Farley, president of the Liquor Dealers Association. Mr. Levy says he will run as an independent and show Tammany that the voters want him.

He started out six weeks ago as a candidate for the United States Senate. He pursued Charles F. Murphy to the Saratoga conference and found out that Tammany wouldn't even send him back to the lower house. He says the reason is that he has stood by President Wilson.

Mr. Levy served two terms in Congress from the Thirteenth district. When the city was redistricted two years ago he succeeded William Sulzer as Representative from the Fourteenth.

ASKS POLICE TALLY ON VOTERS.

Clerk Schneider Says 40 Per Cent. of Fraud Can Be Checked.

County Clerk Schneider sent a letter yesterday to Mayor Mitchel suggesting that the police make a house to house canvass of each election district and check off from the enrolment list at the last registration the names of all enrolled voters who have died or moved away since the last election. He suggests that copies of the list be displayed in each election district booth, so that any person who attempts to vote at the primary on the name of one who has died or moved from the district may be challenged.

Mr. Schneider said he believed that 40 per cent. of the fraudulent votes which would be cast at the primary could be eliminated only in this manner because the present election law governing primaries does not require the signature of the voter as a means of identification.
