CONCERTS.

Announcement is made by the Board of Education that free public organ recitals on Sunday afternoons will be resumed next Sunday, when Gottfried H. Federlein will give a recital at the Ethical Culture School, Central Park West and Sixty-fourth street. This will be the first of a series of recitals which Mr. Federlein will give at the school. They will begin at 4 o'clock. Later in the season a number of the high schools which are equipped with organs will be used for such recitals, and an added feature will be a series of recitals upon the melodies of Stephen Collins Foster, which will be given by the Harmony Glee Club of Brooklyn. These recitals will be part of the system of adult education conducted by the Board of Education each year.

Arthur Hershman, the baritone who is to give his first recital in Aeolian Hall on Wednesday evening, November 11, has selected a programme for his inaugural appearance here that will give every opportunity of his being judged as a vocalist and artist to the fullest extent. In a programme covering works of eighteen different composers is a group of old classics by Paisiile, Caldera and Handel. Group 2 is made up of lyric and dramatic German songs. There is a French group of songs in English.

Blanche Goode, pianist, will make her first appearance at Aeolian Hall on the afternoon of November 4, when she will play the following programme: Schubert, sonata, opus 143; Brahms, opus 119, three intermezzi; rhapsodie; Chopin, six etudes, opus 10, Nos. 3, 8, 7; opus 25, Nos. 3, 9, 12.

The Messrs. Shubert have arranged another Quiroga recital at the Shubert Theatre for this Sunday afternoon, November 1, at 3 o'clock, when the young Spanish violinist will appear in a new programme assisted by Idilia Ide, soprano, and H. Benjamin Simmons, accompanist.

The American Scandinavian Society, under whose auspices a programme of interesting music by Scandinavian composers was presented last year, is again making arrangements for another concert in Carnegie Hall, to take place early in the new year.

Mme. Schumann-Heink is returning to Carnegie Hall on Tuesday afternoon, November 17, for the first recital she has given here in three seasons. She opened her tour in the middle West just four weeks ago, and up to this time has given twenty recitals.

Percy Hemus, baritone, will give a recital of songs by American composers at Aeolian Hall on Friday evening.

Maximilian Pilzer, violinist, will be heard in recital in Aeolian Hall Sunday evening, December 6.
