 For "an old man just ready to drop into his grave," the editor of this paper has stirred up the animals in the "corporation cages" pretty effectually. Acting on the theory that "dead men tell no tales," the corporation lackeys attempt to hide the issue raised as to the nomination of Judges Hanev and Fuller, by pouring out their vitals of wrath on the writer. Gov. Sheldon and Wm. B. Sterling are both dead, but it is a matter within the knowledge of many people of our state, that what the News has stated in regard to those judges being placed in their present positions by the representatives of the railway interest, is true. It is well known that Gov. Sheldon offered the place made vacant on the supreme bench by the death of Judge Bennett, to the late Wm. B. Sterling, who refused it. It is also well known that the late Gov. Sheldon appointed Judge Fuller at the request of Mr. Sterling. It is true that Judge Fuller had good endorsements besides, but it is also true that he was promptly appointed when Mr. Sterling refused the place and recommended Judge Fuller. During the next six years many important questions have to be adjudicated, and the anxiety of the corporations for the re-nomination of these men is openly proclaimed. There is no question about that. The postmaster-editor at Pierre and the editor-partner of the postmaster at Aberdeen may continue to make faces at us and call us names, but that will not mend the characters or help the cause of the men they champion—Sioux Valley News (Rep.)

Clayton W. Kehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kehm died in Aberdeen last Sunday while on his way to this city. The deceased came to Canton with his parents in 1890 and in 1894 went to Eureka to accept a position with the St. Croix Lumber Co. He has since been in the employ of that company, but was about to join in partnership with Meinger & Kehm of Harrisburg. He started for Canton Saturday night apparently in good health. While dressing in Aberdeen on Sunday morning he fell dead. His remains were brought to the city Monday and on Tuesday the funeral occurred at the M. E. Church. The M. W. A. attended in a body, and escorted the remains to the track on Fifth street. The deceased was born in Illinois in June 1873 and was the youngest of the family.

Card of Thanks.
 We wish to express our most sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us during our recent sorrow.

Mrs. Nettie A. (Wade) Goodroad, was born at Springdale, Wis., Dec. 8th, 1862, and died near Canton, S. D., Oct. 29th, 1899. Mr. and Mrs. Goodroad were married at Spink, this state, Sept. 14, '88, and moved to Canton in September of last year, and last spring settled on their farm a few miles north-east of the city. Mrs. Goodroad had been in poor health for some time, but not such as to arouse apprehension. On Monday of last week she was taken more severely, and died on the following Sunday at noon. So suddenly did the end come that her mother, sister and brother, living at Hawarden, did not arrive until she had passed away. Mrs. Goodroad was a lady of a most cheerful and genial disposition, and had endeared herself to a large circle of acquaintances in this community. Of her it may be truly said, that she was a loving and devoted wife and mother, a kindly neighbor and a good Christian. Mr. Goodroad and the four daughters have the sincere sympathy of the community. The funeral occurred Tuesday at the M. E. church of this city, of which the family are members, conducted by Rev. C. E. Matteson, assisted by Rev. J. Hamner, son of the Congregational church, a long time friend of the family. The interment was at Hawarden, Ia., near their old home.
