CORNWELL KILLED AS MARE RUNS OFF

Veteran Driver Attempts to Jump on Horse's Back in Mineola Race.

ANIMAL FALLS ON HIM

MINEOLA, Aug. 14.—Alfred C. Cornwell, the veteran reinsman, was killed on the Mineola racetrack this afternoon while driving in a race of the Nassau Driving Club. He was in the eighth race and was scoring for the third time, his horse, Cornette, acting badly and giving the aged man much trouble. On the third score the mare broke and Mr. Cornwell snatched her, when one rein broke and Cornette started around the track under a run. For a quarter mile Mr. Cornwell sat quiet, then he tried to get on the mare's back as she turned into the home stretch. The driver suddenly pitched over on his head and the mare fell on him. It is believed that the dangling rein caught in the mare's foot and threw her.

Edgar Gower, superintendent of the grounds, picked Mr. Cornwell up and he was carried home. Before the arrival of a physician the driver was dead. Just before the sixth race Mr. Cornwell jokingly remarked to Luke Otten that if his mare attempted to run away with him again he would get on her back and ride her. Mr. Cornwell was 70 years old and was the treasurer of the Nassau Driving Club. All the races were called off after the accident.

Six good races had been contested. The feature was the race between Joe Mapes and Royal McKinney. The latter won in straight heats.

Country Tramp was driven a mile against time by Bob Davis to beat 2:16. He made the two turns and did the mile in 2:11¼. The summaries:

GREENBRIER HORSE SHOW ENDS

Championship Hunter Class Goes to W. P. Hawley's Alibi.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 14.—The two day Greenbrier County Horse Show was brought to a close to-day with a large attendance in the boxes and grand stands. The harness class was won by Chester Dare, owned by F. T. and H. B. Wilson. Miss Mercer Dunlap's Billy was judged best runabout horse. A strong combination class was won by Springfield Chief, owned by R. K. Burns, and second prize went to Fancy Boy, owned by Archibald M. McCrea.

The ladies' three gaited saddle horse class, one of the strongest classes ever shown here, was won by Monroe Prince, owned by Lawrence Dickson. Keen interest was taken in the hunter classes and heavy middleweight event. Tasteful, owned by Lawrence Dickson, won the former, and Cherokee, owned by Miss Hazlet, captured the latter. The Shetland pony saddle class was won by Toyland, owned by Miss Beatty Davis.

The championship hunter cup was closely contested. W. P. Hawley's Alibi got first prize and Lawrence Dickson's Easter Boy second.

WILL TROT TO HIGH WHEELS.

Horses in One Race at Goshen Will Discard Sulkies.

For the first time since 1892 a trotting race with the horses hooked to old fashioned high wheeled sulkies, such as were in use before the modern pneumatics were invented, will be a feature of the Metropolitan Circuit meeting, which will open on Tuesday at Goshen.

Ever since the bikes displaced high wheels there has been controversy as to the actual difference between them in point of speed. To get a decision on this point a special purse has been offered and the money horses in the 2:12 trot on Tuesday will start to high wheel sulkies on Thursday. The latest models built before the advent of the pneumatics will be used.

The race, it is expected, will show the difference in point of time and whether or not all horses are of equal ability in pulling the high wheelers. Owing to the great vibration of the old fashioned wheels it is possible that the winner of fourth money in the bike wheel race may be first in the high wheel contest.

Some of the best horses in the country eligible to the 2:12 class have been entered, among them Raffles, Bronson and Harry J. S., together with several others from the Grand Circuit stables of Thomas W. Murphy, W. J. Andrews, Knapsack McCarthy and Bud Murray.

DOYLE VIES WITH SNYDER FOR BATTING SUPREMACY

Merkle in Fourth Place Among National League's Star Hitters—Ty Cobb Receding From .400 Mark; Now Down to .382.

Frank Snyder of the Cardinals and Larry Doyle of the Giants are still making the running for the lead in National League batting and in the order named. Merkle is fourth, so that the Giants are near the top in one respect. In all the National League array there are only eight .300 hitters. The Giants have fallen to fifth place in team batting. Not long ago they were first. They are last in team fielding, but aside from being somewhat on the fritz in pitching, batting and fielding they have a brilliant pennant chance.

In the American League Ty Cobb is receding from the .400 mark. He is now twelve points below that mark and his chances for getting back to it aren't good, but anybody who is hitting .382 isn't quite gone into a decline at swinging the mace. The Red Sox are the best club batters, with the Yankees in seventh place. Maisel is the only .300 hitter of the Yankees. The figures:
