

The Sun Chagrined

Old Sol's fierce heat is paint's greatest foe. Inferior paints containing mineral oils soon have the life literally burned out of them. Then the pigment is free to peel or be washed off by the rain. But the sun meets his match in

B. P. S. Paints.

Pure raw linseed oil and a little dryer are the only liquid ingredients. Pure carbonate of lead combined with the right proportion of oxide of zinc constitutes the base. Spreads best, wears best. There's economy in every dip of your brush when you use this paint.

I. M. HELMEY & CO.,

The Corner Drug Store, Canton.

State Oil Inspector Emil Branch of Hurley, was among our visitors last week. The writer has known Emil since he was a "little fellow" over in Yankton, thirty-one years ago. His father, Capt. Jacob Branch, was one of the most prominent citizens in the early history of Yankton and of the territory. The son has all the energetic and sturdy qualities of the father, a man whose word was as good as the best bond ever written. Capt. Branch was the first Immigration Commissioner for the Territory, and James Wahl of Canton was his deputy. Oil Inspector Branch is one of the most prominent men in Turner county, both in business and in politics, and always a hustler.

The Worthing Enterprise reports a meeting for the purpose of making arrangements for observing Decoration Day. Jas. Madden called the meeting to order and A. P. Wilcox was elected chairman and C. A. Walters, secretary. Prof. J. A. Ross and Miss Alice Brehorst were elected as committee on program. Motion made and carried that the Spanish war veterans are requested to take part in the exercises. A. P. Wilcox and Ed. Norton were appointed a committee to secure a speaker for the day, and James Madden was elected marshal for the day. It was decided to hold the services at the M. E. church.

Saturday last our high school ball team went over to Rock Valley and demonstrated their ability to play ball to the Valleyites. The boys were accompanied by a number of base ball enthusiasts from the city who say the game was quite interesting. The game resulted in a score of 7 to 5 in favor of Canton.

Sidney Carter of Sioux Falls, visited several days this week with Canton friends. He was the guest of Harry Milliman.

The high school base ball team met their equal Tuesday afternoon when they played the town boys. The game showed some good playing on both sides and at the end of the ninth inning each side had nine scores to their credit. A tenth inning was necessary to play off the tie, and the town boys were lucky in making one run, which decided them winners.

The County of Lincoln and the City of Canton are without a proper sized American flag to float in the breeze that wafes a welcome to our guests who come here to hold meetings and go home to praise the beauties of Canton and the Sioux Valley. The big flag floating on Main street said Justice DeLong, belongs to our post. Lincoln County ought to have a 8x16 flag floating over the court house on that new flag staff.

At fifteen minutes past nine o'clock Monday evening Canton's famous ear splitting fire whistle announced that a fire was doing business somewhere. One long piercing screech and scream and the alarm quit. The fire boys and everybody else made a rush for the hose house, and waited for news. Many said it was a false alarm or the wires had got mixed. It was neither. A little bit of a blaze was doing business on the roof of the city pumphouse but was quickly squelched.

Sam Thorson who lives across the street in Iowa, celebrated two events in his life on Norway's Independence Day, May 17. Sam is one of the genuine hustling farmers who is growing rich fast. He was born 40 years ago on May 17, and in order to be thankful for that important event in his career as well as to pay due honor to the day that Norwegians the world over celebrate as Americans do July 4, he fixed up to have a good time. Then his friends thought they would take a hand in, because ten years ago on May 17, Sam took unto himself a better half, and tin weddings are always in order. In the middle of Sam's 40th anniversary celebration the tin wedding guests marched in and then the celebrations began in earnest. Tinware and to spare is the way it looked. Sam's not very bashful hence he met the tin brigade with a smile and a welcome, and all hands enjoyed the occasion. Mrs. Thorson came in for her full share of congratulations.
