

Rubber with Life in it.

When you buy anything in rubber goods, it pays to get the kind with rubber in it. Many makers of rubber goods are pliant to the demand for cheapness, and hence the market is flooded with inferior goods that hardly resemble rubber. Quality counts in this line, and we are careful to buy of makers who have a reputation for turning out high grade goods only. You can have confidence in the rubber goods we offer no matter how low the price is.

A "Hearty" Reception.

The Valentine party given by the ladies of the G. G. C. proved to be a "hearty" reception. First came the unique invitations, of which the young men were recipients, to join the G. G. C's in an evening's pleasure at the home of Mrs. L. N. Christensen. The first thing that met the eye of the visitor upon entering the house was a great big heart suspended from the ceiling and everywhere the rooms were beautifully decorated with paper hearts large and small.

After all the guests had arrived each one was given a heart upon which was written part of a quotation to be completed by finding a partner who had a heart containing the balance of the quotation. After all had found partners they were seated at tables and cards were introduced and then they were instructed to play "hearts." We do not know why the ladies chose the game of "hearts" unless they thought everybody capable of playing at such a game. The only trouble with this game is that the party most successful in winning the largest number of hearts is the loser, while the one who can avoid hearts is the winner. Progressive hearts proved to be the most pleasant means of entertaining and after a number of games were played, refreshments were next in order. And still "hearts" were in evidence, for we had the pleasure of eating hearts, that is sandwiches made in the shape of hearts, and a number of other edibles were prepared in the shape of hearts.

Upon breaking open the big heart suspended from the ceiling, it even contained hearts—candy hearts. In short it was the most "hearty" time imaginable, for there were big hearts, little hearts, and candy (sweet) hearts. While the true meaning of "G. G. C." is still a mystery to the boys, they all admit it takes the ladies of this society to entertain in a royal manner, and also Mrs. Christensen came in for no small amount of praise for her assistance.

Truly, it was a "hearty" affair, heartily enjoyed by all present, and we believe many hearts found hearts—beating in sympathy, and it's only reasonable to suppose that where you find "two souls with but a single thought and two hearts that beat as one," St. Valentine has done his full duty in the premises and it is next in order to hear from the minister.

Herman Richter, Canton's cigar manufacturer, is meeting with well deserved increasing patronage every month, and is beginning to supply outside retailers with his famous El Royal 5 cent cigar, the best nickerle cigar sold in this country. It is the easiest smoothest smoker sold any where and smokers are beginning to realize this fact, after trying all others. Richter's Flor de Aya 10 cent cigar is matchless anywhere for the money. His factory is as neat and clean as any well regulated kitchen in the land, and this goes a long way towards making a cigar enjoyable. Mr. Richter shipped 4500 cigars this week. His cigars are made of pure clean tobacco, and the local demand is growing, as it should, because we all recognize that home industry, all things being equal, is worthy of patronage.

Richard Gilligan came over to Canton last week from Sanborn, where he runs on the Milwaukee as brakeman. Richard's face looked bad and many of his friends gave him a sudden passy, believing he had the prevailing disease known or called small pox. This Richard denied of course, but the idea prevailed that his face looked suspicious and should be confined somewhere. He left again for Sanborn and was quietly taken in there and placed in quarantine. No young man, or any man or woman for that matter, likes to be confined under a small pox quarantine, but a common regard for the rights of others should teach all persons to take every precaution to avoid exposing themselves when their face or body is covered with ugly blotches.

If a person is so afflicted it is an easy matter to determine what the trouble is by consulting a doctor or the opinion of a looking glass. A person must be stupid indeed if he or she can't tell that something is the matter when the face or body break out with ugly red spots. If it is only the measles one don't run around the streets to seek a cure, and if it's something worse there is greater need for seclusion. Small pox or whatever it is, is spreading all over the United States and Europe, and stringent rules must be adopted if it is crushed out. There is hardly a town in the state but has more or less of it, and the day is not far away when the people will curse the indifference and folly and neglect which has allowed it to travel at will. Every health board in the state should do its duty fearlessly and promptly. We do not believe young Gilligan's case was ripe enough to spread the disease, but if any were exposed they should take timely precaution.
