George H. Walker, U. S. G. A. President, Names Committee That Will Go to England to Confer on Golf Rules

R. A. GARDNER ON RULES COMMITTEE

Former Golf Champion Will Try for British Honors While Abroad.

F. S. WHEELER SELECTED

G. H. Walker, H. F. Whitney and J. F. Byers Also Going to England.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

That the United States will have at least one representative in the British amateur golf championship at Muirfield in June who has held the highest honors of his native land is assured by the selection of Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, Chicago, as one of the committee which will cross the Atlantic to confer with the Royal and Ancient committee on the rules of the game. A telegram from George H. Walker of St. Louis Country Club, president of the United States Golf Association, to Wynant D. Vanderpool of Newark, secretary of that organization, announces the selection of Mr. Gardner.

The other members of the committee are Frederick S. Wheeler of Apawamis Club, New York; J. F. Byers of Allegheny Country Club, Pittsburg; Howard F. Whitney, Nassau Country Club, Glen Cove, L. I., and Mr. Walker himself. This delegation will sail on the Caronia of the Cunard Line on May 12 and go direct to London to meet and confer with A. C. Croome, who is chairman of the sub-committee which is considering the question of standardization of the golf ball, and then will proceed to Muirfield, where during championship week it will work in conjunction with the Royal and Ancient Club committee on the proposed change to the rules.

This will be the first time in the history of the game that such an official representation has gone from this country to Great Britain, and it is matter for congratulation that the committee is not only thoroughly representative but is composed of men who, in addition to their high business standing, have had long executive experience in the world of golf. Mr. Wheeler was president of the United States Golf Association for the last two years and retired only last January. Before that he was president of the Metropolitan Golf Association. Messrs. Whitney and Byers are vice-presidents of the national body at the present time, while for the four years contiguous with the last annual meeting of the U. S. G. A. Mr. Whitney held the position of secretary.

Mr. Gardner had a short term of office as executive committeeman, but as he held the national amateur title in 1913 and 1915 he may be said to be the playing member of the committee or the representative of the champions. In any case, his selection is certain to be received with the liveliest satisfaction by all shades of golfers, as there is no more popular follower of the royal and ancient game in the United States than the one-time Yale athlete.

Little Time for Practice.

It is unfortunate that the date set for the departure of the American delegation is too late to leave Mr. Gardner much time for practice. At most he will have only a few days to familiarize himself with the Muirfield course, not to mention getting rid of his sea legs, but at that, conditions will not be altogether new to him, he having been abroad several years ago shortly after his graduation from Yale. On that occasion the Chicago long driver did not participate in the British championship, but in certain other important competitions he did get a chance to show his skill, and what he disclosed then doubtless has satisfied the British linksmen that in Mr. Gardner they have an invader whom it will be well not to take too cheaply.

What will be the outcome of the conference on standardization the Americans of course do not know themselves. It is understood, however, that the cry for a standard ball is louder over there than it is on this side of the water, and before forming an opinion it will first be necessary to hear what the Britons have to say on the question. The matter of the rules, it is thought, will admit of a much easier solution, seeing that on certain of the leading points of contention both sides are pretty well agreed.

For instance, there are probably as many in Great Britain as there are in the United States who feel that the penalties for a lost ball and a ball out of bounds should be reversed or that at least some more equitable ruling should be made than those now in existence, which penalize a player for losing a ball, while another who makes a shot out of bounds gets off by losing the distance only, being allowed to return to the spot from which he played, drop or tee another ball and get off with loss of distance only. That these rulings are not exactly in accord with the spirit of the game any one plainly can see, for very often it happens that a player is unable to find his ball after a perfect shot down the centre of the fairway, while it is seldom indeed that a ball goes out of bounds without some mistake, such as a slice or a hook to help it.

Whether the stymie is to remain a part of the game, or to be removed forever is something more than the legislators of the United States and Great Britain will have to determine when they get together. While the agitation to remove the cause of more golf post-mortems than anything else in the game is nothing new, but instead has been going on virtually since the first match that was lost by its influence, there is no gainsaying that of late years the clamor of the anti-stymie mob has been becoming louder and louder.

Will Consider Stymie Question.

What to do in this respect may well give the legislators pause, but as here again the discussion by the British linksmen has been quite as animated as it has been among the golfers of the United States it is just possible that an easier way out may be found than at the moment looks possible. Various suggestions have been offered whereby the stymie menace may be modified, and it is possible that in lieu of banishing the hurdle shot and the twist altogether some compromise arrangement may be agreed on.

In any event when the delegation from the United States Golf Association does go abroad it will know just what the sentiment is with regard to the questions to be considered, for the secretary of the United States Golf Association is sending out notice to the various sectional associations, together with the Professional Golfers' Association, in order to get a consensus of opinion as to certain proposed changes in the rules. And, although not even as much as a hint of such a proceeding has been given by Mr. Vanderpool, it is possible that golfers representative of all sections may be invited to talk the matter over with the U. S. G. A. Rules Committee before the latter leaves for England.

PELHAM MANOR TO BOAST FINE LINKS

New Organization Absorbs Pelham Country Club and Will Retain Name.

Something exceptional in a golf way is in the making at Pelham Manor, where an exclusive club with a high class eighteen hole links will shortly be added to the rapidly growing collection in the metropolitan district. The new organization has taken the name of the Pelham Country Club, which it absorbed.

When completed, it will be most accessible to New York city, as it can be reached either by train from the Grand Central Station on the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, the Boston and Westchester division and the Harlem River branch, or by motor. The location is on the Boston Post road, equidistant between Pelham Manor and New Rochelle and it will be possible for a golfer to reach the club from his business in the heart of the city in thirty-five minutes.

Additional property acquired consists of 110 acres of cleared no woodland that has never been ploughed. This land extends almost to the shore adjacent to Travers Island. The ground is undulating, with beautiful hazards and a stream runs practically through the entire length of the property. At one point is a historic rocky eminence known as Mount Tom, and on part of this one of the tees will be located.

Devereux Emmet, the well known links architect, has been engaged to lay out the course and he says without hesitation that it should be one of the best. His plans call for a total length of a trifle more than 6,500 yards. With a view to making for general comfort and obviating congestion, the layout will extend so as to bring the ninth green close to the clubhouse. Emmet says it will be possible to have the course ready for play by June, 1921.

Title to the property will be held by the Pelham Leasing Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. This company will construct the golf course, new clubhouse and all other improvements and then lease the property to the Pelham Country Club in consideration of the payment of taxes, maintenance repairs and upkeep and certain privileges to be granted to the stockholders of the Pelham Leasing Corporation. The lease will be for a term of ten or twenty years, the length of the term being immaterial under the plan.

The golf membership—a selected one—will be limited to 100. Every golf member must own $2,000 of capital stock of the Pelham Leasing Corporation, and since such members are the only ones to have a vote in club affairs the stockholders will have full control of the club management. Subscriptions to stock may be paid for in four equal quarterly instalments.

This proposition is an exceptional one and can be considered a privilege from a golf point of view, as well as a real estate investment. Every golf member automatically becomes part owner of the property, which is free and clear of any encumbrance in the line of mortgages. Thus, no matter what the future of the club may be, the stockholder is co-owner of the property, which is certain to enhance in value in years to come, to which can be added another advantageous feature, namely, that each member wishing to dispose of his ownership share will have the privilege of selling same to either the corporation or one on the waiting list at a premium. Within a short space of time half of the subscriptions have been procured.

Prominent among the organizers are Mont D. Rogers, chairman of the executive committee, 266 Madison avenue, New York, and A. P. Walker, chairman of the membership committee, 49 Wall street, New York. Associated with Walker on the latter committee are George S. Chappell, Clifford Black, Robert J. Leonard, Harris B. Fisher, De Witt Clinton Noyes, David A. L'Esperance, Jr., Witherbee Black, Edmund E. Sinclair, Charles C. Davis, Theodore M. Hill, William B. Randall, Ralph E. Rogers, E. Kendall Gillett, Mont Rogers and William Wallace White.

FRANCIS OUIMET IN PINEHURST MATCH

Woodlander and Partner Win by Fine Finish.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 22.—Francis Ouimet and Percy Gilbert staged a first class rally at the end of a match played against F. C. Newton and Sam Graham here to-day. Ouimet and Gilbert were 3 down and 4 to go. Ouimet won the fifteenth and the sixteenth. His partner, Gilbert, took the seventeenth, squaring the match, and Ouimet won the contest with a 4 on the eighteenth.

Playing in the Tin Whistles four ball contest against par at Pinehurst to-day John D. Chapman of the Greenwich Country Club sank his drive for the ninth hole on the championship course. This is the fifth time that a hole has been made in 1 here this season. Last year only a single ace went down on the records.

The largest field that has ever taken part in a Tin Whistle affair turned out to-day, no less than eighty players going over the course. The Class A prizes were won by Dr. George T. Gregg of Oakmont and Dr. J. S. Brown of Montclair. The doctors finished 1 up on par with the aid of their club handicaps.

Gardner, with runs of five, nine and eleven in the first three frames, gained an eight point advantage, which he held until the sixth session, when Patterson clicked off thirteen balls and took command for the first time by 46 to 34. In the ninth stanza Gardner collected twelve points and once again went into the lead, 64 to 60. Gardner failed to score in the twelfth frame, while Patterson ran fourteen.

In the night game William A. Tilt defeated Schuyler B. Burdett, 125 to 75, in sixteen frames. The scores:

HIGH LIGHTS AND SHADOWS IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

Copyright, 1920, by the Sun-Herald Corporation.

DESPITE the long, severe winter a majority of the thoroughbreds in the metropolitan district will be ready to race at the Maryland meetings. The tracks at Belmont Park, Gravesend, Aqueduct and Jamaica are in good condition, and yesterday all of them were crowded with horses. At Belmont Park the track is fast and some smart work was indulged in. So good is it that a majority of trainers will have their charges breezing before the end of the week. Tom Healey had out R. T. Wilson's string, Tom Welsh was out early with Naturalist and the rest of Joseph E. Widener's lot, Jack Joyner worked all of the George D. Widener stable and Bill Hogan was out with Dunboyne and P. A. Clark's entire string. Other trainers who put their charges through some outdoor work were Jerry Carroll, Ed Nash, Billy Henry, H. Hastings, Med Henderson, Ernie Heyder and Willie Booth.

Bill Karrick was the only absentee, but he probably will have the W. R. Coe and Harry Knapp lot out this morning. Sam Hildreth had out only one set. That was because the road from his stable to Belmont Park was not in the best of condition and he didn't care to take any chances of injuring any of his valuable charges on their way to the track. At Gravesend Jim Boden, Dick Miller, Frank Weir and "Puddin" McDaniel were busy. Jimmy Fitzsimmons will be out with his big string this morning. Gravesend is not quite as good as Belmont Park. All the frost is out of the ground there, but the track is heavy and will not be in shape for fast work for a few more days.

License System the Salvation of Boxing.

Although the Walker boxing bill has made rapid progress in the Senate, and promises to pass that body, frequent assertions are heard to the effect that the measure will fail in the Assembly. It is said that the element in the Assembly opposed to the bill is preparing to make a vigorous fight against it in its present form. The additional statement is made that if the license committee feature of the bill were eliminated the measure then would be passed without delay.

This interesting admission is eloquent testimony as to the absolute necessity for the retention of the license committee provision. Those who have followed the ups and downs of boxing in New York State from the time of the Horton law to the present time are convinced that the license committee clause of the Walker bill, if enacted, will prove to be the salvation of the sport. It will take out of the hands of politicians and professional promoters the management of the business of boxing and put it under the control of high class citizens who have no monetary interest in the sport. The members of the license committee would be in a position to punish offenders against the rules and regulations, and as the committeemen would not ask favors from club owners, promoters, managers or fighters they would be in a position to deal impartially with all. There would be no partiality in the issuance of licenses, as the committee would start with a clean slate, and it would depend on the holders of license cards whether they retained or forfeited them. The license system is the same as that enforced by the Jockey Club, and its beneficial effects in keeping clean the racing game cannot be denied.

The license system also is in vogue in the Amateur Athletic Union, every athlete being required to obtain a registration card for a nominal fee. If the holder of the card is found guilty of offence against the rules his registration card is taken up, which automatically bars him from competition under the auspices of the A. A. U.

Baseball players practically are under the same regulation, and the system applies to nearly every branch of sport except boxing. Promoters, managers, referees, seconds and boxers are a law unto themselves, and no matter how flagrant may be their offence there is no one to mete out punishment. In the few States where boxing laws are in force offenders are occasionally disciplined, but the majority of rule violators escape without even a mild reproof. Under the licensing system as contained in the Walker bill, and which is a feature of bills introduced in numerous other States, every person interested in boxing, from the preliminary boy to the club owner, would be amenable to discipline, and the result would be the purification of the sport from top to bottom.

The license committee clause is the backbone of the Walker bill, and on its retention in the Walker bill depends the future success of boxing. The licensing system is the platform on which stand the members of the International Sporting Club and the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control. Take away that system and these men will wash their hands of the affair and devote themselves to the proper conduct of boxing in their own club.

The opposition to the license system appears to have been inspired by a cluster of old line managers who object to any changes from the methods that have been in vogue here for so many years past. With them it appears to be a case of rule or ruin.

CARPENTIER WILL REACH PORT TO-DAY

Strong Head Winds Held Back Boat Bearing Champion.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

The stage was all set yesterday for the triumphal entry of Georges Carpentier, pugilistic hero of France and prospective opponent of Jack Dempsey. Father Knickerbocker was ready to hand over the keys of the city, the band was primed to play "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," Tex Rickard assumed his most affable expression of countenance, while Jack Curley's rubicund face fairly beamed welcome.

But the hero did not come. Instead there arrived a message from a cold, matter of fact ship news man that La Savoie, the French liner bearing the champion to this port, had been held back by head winds and would not dock till this morning. It appears that the steamer has been confronted by a series of strong winds and has not been able to skim the waves with her accustomed celerity.

However, she will reach her pier to-day and Carpentier and his bride and Descamps, his manager, will get their first peep at the Statue of Liberty and the tower-pierced sky line of Manhattan.

There was much disappointment over the non-arrival of the French champion, especially among the representatives of the forty-nine promoters who claim to have Carpentier under ironclad contracts. All of them rushed frantically to the pier and gazed wistfully in the general direction of Sandy Hook.

Carpentier will get here just in time to see Joe Cox and Al Norton in combat to-night at Charley Doessereck's Bayonne A. A. As Cox claims to have beaten Joe Beckett in the allied naval tourney abroad, the Frenchman will doubtless be interested in the Springfield athlete.

Rises one Eddie Dorsey, claimant of the negro lightweight championship, and with considerable asperity declares he has been wrongfully accused of frigid feet in conjunction with a bout between himself and Eddie Fitzsimmons which was scheduled to take place at the Fourth Regiment Armory, Jersey City, Friday, March 19. Dorsey denies that he consented to meet Fitzsimmons and in addition declares he never was asked personally to engage in such contest. Therefore he insists he cannot be accused of bad faith in the matter.

Greek will meet Greek on the wrestling mat next Tuesday night when Jim London, present holder of the Grecian title, will grapple with William Demetral, former champion, in a finish match at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. The previous meeting between these chaps was an exciting affair.

A. C. Werbe, matchmaker of the National A. C., Detroit, writes that he will guarantee Jimmy Wilde $10,000 for a ten round bout with Patsy Wallace in the City of the Straits April 24.

Stanislaus Zbyszko and John Freberg have been matched for a contest to a finish at Prospect Hall, Brooklyn, April 1. This should prove a good test for the older Zbyszko, for Freberg is an able grappler.

L. R. L., Bridgewater—John L. Sullivan was heavyweight champion of America, but did not hold the world's title.

A. H. P.—The first bout between Wilde and Moore in London was four rounds.

The International Sporting Club now has a list of 1,607 founder members, and among them are the names of some of the most noted citizens of the United States. There is a growing impression that the club will be a solid success.

STECHER AND LEWIS WIN.

Former Throws Grandavich and Lafter Edwards.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 22.—Joe Stecher, champion heavyweight wrestler, defeated John Grandavich of Bohemia here to-night in straight falls. Stecher won both falls with a body scissors and armlock, the first in 41 minutes and 15 seconds, and the second in 12 minutes and 35 seconds.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis defeated Jack Edwards of California, getting two falls with a bar hammerlock, the first in 1 hour 16 minutes 24 seconds, and the final in 11 minutes and 40 seconds.

WOULD FORBID BETTING.

Maryland House of Delegates Passes Andrews Bill.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

BALTIMORE, March 22.—The House of Delegates to-night passed the Andrews bill, which forbids all betting on Maryland racetracks.

TAKES ISELIN GOLF CUP.

AIKEN, S. C., March 22.—The C. Oliver Iselin cup was won on the Palmetto links by W. F. Hitt of Chevy Chase, D. C., who defeated in the final of the annual tourney F. M. Bacon of New York, 4 up and 3 to play. Mr. Bacon entered the final by defeating Joseph Harriman, 1 up (19 holes).

BANKERS' FIVES AT PLAY.

The Equitable Trust basketball team last night defeated the Guaranty Trust quintet by 32 to 13. In another game the Mechanics and Metals five bested the Farmers Loan team by 27 to 26. The contests were played in Arcadia Hall, Brooklyn, all four teams being in the Bankers League.

GREB OUTPOINTS WILLIAMS.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 22.—Harry Greb, Pittsburg, won on points from Larry Williams, Bridgeport, in a ten round bout here to-night. Greb won nine rounds, while one was even. The boxers are light heavyweights.

Sixty Days of Racing for Kentucky Tracks

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 22.—There will be plenty of thoroughbred racing on the three Kentucky tracks this spring, according to the dates announced this afternoon by the State Racing Commission. Lexington was given ten days, Louisville nineteen days and Latonia thirty-one—sixty racing days in all—covering a period from April 24 to July 7. The meetings are as follows:

Lexington, April 24-May 5.
Louisville, May 8-May 29.
Latonia, June 1-July 7.

POLICE CLUB MAKES ITS FIRST ENTRY

Spengler, Amateur Boxer, to Be First Open Competitor.

To William Spengler, who made one of the American team of boxers that visited the Scandinavian countries last year and won two out of his three bouts, will belong the credit of being the first man to represent the Police Club of New York in open competition. Spengler is out for a real "comeback" and will don the mits in the Metropolitan boxing championships to begin to-morrow night at the New York A. C. As the winners will be sent to Boston for the National A. A. U. championships on April 5 and 6 great interest has been attracted to the local tourney. Spengler won the title two years ago and of late has been training hard for the competition.

A number of other star amateur boxers have signified their intentions of trying for the medals, prominent among the string being Frank Cassidy, the 125 pound champion of the Onanism Association, who made the Scandinavian trip and who fared well against the Europeans. He is the most notable entry in the 125 pound class. Sam Lagonne, who last year accounted for the first medals in the 158, 175 and heavyweight classes, will attempt to shine again, but this time he will confine his efforts to the 158 pound class in order that he may have the better chance of earning the trip to the Hub. A. J. de Vito of the Paulist A. C., the New York State champion of the 108 pound class, claims attention, especially as D. Kamins of the Clark House, the title holder, is not going to defend his championship.

Chairman John J. Walsh of the Pastime A. C. announced yesterday the arrangement of the bouts as follows:

Wednesday—Preliminaries—108, 125, 145 and 175 pound classes.

Thursday—Preliminaries—115, 135, 158 and heavyweight classes.

Saturday—Finals and a few semi-finals in all classes.

JACKSON BESTS SHEPPARD.

New Yorker Outpoints English Boxer in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Willie Jackson, the New York punch dispenser, outfought Johnny Sheppard, England's lightweight, in a six round bout at the Olympia A. A. to-night. Giving Sheppard 1½ pounds failed to handicap the hard hitting Jackson, who almost rocked the Briton to sleep in the first round with a series of terrific rights to the chin.

Bobby Doyle of New York finished Tommy Holt, another Englishman, in the second round with a right punch flush on the chin. Only thirty-seven seconds of the second round had elapsed when Holt was counted out.

SUTTON OUTPLAYS CUTLER.

Chicago Billiard Expert Takes Opening Block of Match.

George Sutton of Chicago last night defeated Albert Cutler of Boston in the first block of their 1,500 point 18.2 balkline billiard match in Maurice Daly's rooms. The score was 300 to 261. The Windy City contestant went out in ten innings with an average of 30. Cutler in his final trip to the table made a run of 94. Sutton's best run was 72.

Sutton will play Maurice Daly this afternoon and at night play Cutler in the second block of their match. The score:

INDOOR ICE TITLE FOR LESLIE BOYD

Tremont Youth Leads Donald Baker in Championship Competition.

Leslie Boyd, the Metropolitan Association outdoor ice skating champion, achieved additional fame by winning the indoor honors in the annual contests held in the 181st Street Ice Palace last night. Boyd, a representative of the Tremont Ice Skating Club, collected a total of 70 points through the medium of capturing one race and finishing second in two others.

Donald Baker, Brooklyn Ice Palace, probably the oldest skater among the local men, finished second with 40 points, while Donald Robinson, William Murphy and Robert Hearn of the 181st Street Palace were tied for the third prize with 30 points.

Baker missed a chance to win the championship and probably first place in the half mile race when he returned to the starting mark after "beating" the starter's gun. When he returned to his position Baker failed to get away as rapidly and was forced into a pocket from which he failed to extricate himself. This event went to Boyd, with Hearn second and Baker third, less than two yards behind the victor.

The championship series consisted of four events, at 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards and one mile. Murphy, outdoor furlong champion, also won the indoor honors at the distance; Baker won the quarter mile sprint, with Boyd second; the half mile went to Boyd and the mile to Donald Robinson, a comparative newcomer. The summaries:

220 Yard Race—Won by William Murphy, 181st Street Palace; Donald Baker, Brooklyn Ice Palace, second; A. Bara, 181st Street Palace, third. Time, 32 seconds.

440 Yard Race—Won by Donald Baker, Brooklyn Ice Palace; Leslie Boyd, Tremont Ice Skating Club, second; no third. Time, 48 1-5 seconds.

880 Yard Race—Won by Leslie Boyd, Tremont Skating Club; Robert Hearn, 181st Street Palace, second; Donald Baker, Brooklyn Ice Palace, third. Time, 1:42 1-5.

One Mile Race—Won by Donald Robinson, 181st Street Palace; Leslie Boyd, Tremont Ice Skating Club, second; Robert Hearn, 181st Street Palace, third. Time, 3:35.

Championship Point Score—Leslie Boyd, 70; Donald Baker, 40; Donald Robinson, William Murphy and Robert Hearn, 30 each; Albert Bach, 10.

Three Mile Race (Open, Scratch)—Won by Donald Robinson, 181st Street Palace; Leslie Boyd, Tremont Ice Skating Club, second; Robert De Coet, Riverside Skating Club, third. Time, 10:31.
