WAR VETERAN TRIES TO KILL 3 PERSONS

Slashes His Own Throat—Unbalanced by Wounds.

John Mann, of Carlstadt, N. J., said by the police of Hackensack to be mentally unbalanced as a result of wounds received in action in France, is a prisoner in Hackensack Hospital, where he was taken yesterday morning with his throat slashed. He inflicted the injury upon himself, it was said, after trying to kill his mother and sister and the latter's month old baby with a club in their home. Mann, it is believed, will die.

The police were sent to the Mann home, at the request of neighbors, who had heard the cries of one of the women. Upon entering they found Mann lying unconscious on the floor. The others were in a bed. A club had been used to beat them.

Mann has been ill since his return to this country and has been unable to work. His condition depressed him.

CHURCH TO LEARN IF SATAN RUNS VILLAGE

Weird Resorts of Greenwich to Be 'Surveyed.'

Greenwich Village is to be investigated and before many weeks romp by the world will know whether the village sizzles with naughtiness or, as James L. Ford maintains, is tremendously conservative. Before the week is out serious faced young men armed with fountain pens and notebooks will be seen in the Purple Pup and Polly's, in the Golden Lion and Mory's and in all the rest of the weird resorts frequented by the literati of Hobokenland the intellectuals of The Bronx; young men with a passion for accumulating facts and statistics.

These surveyors are to be sent out by the Intermount World Movement, which has decided to apply the measuring rod of religion to the Coast of Bohemia, and desires to know whether the village is actually wicked or merely deceiving the public. Upon filing cards, each containing a score of leading questions, will be accumulated information about the long haired men and the short haired women, the wild free versifiers, the hot from the griddle prohibitionists, the inventors of new religions as old as Egypt and the inventors of strange new drinks, the earnest seekers and the other type seekers, who runs the Webster Hall pagan jamboree and thousands of other facts presumably important in confirmation.

For the Intermount World Movement wants to know whether it is worth while for the church to continue to do business in the village or whether the village should be left to their own devices and to Satan. It is a part of the university work in the metropolitan area, that is being done by the movement, and is distinct from the campaign planned for the week of April 18, when many denominations of religion will unite in an effort to raise $100,000,000 for home and foreign mission purposes.

HYLAN VICE PROTEST 'UNDERWORLD HOPE'

Attitude in Inquiry Rapped by Committee of 14.

The Committee of Fourteen filed a joint yesterday at the conflict that is being waged between Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith and certain persons connected with the city administration.

In its annual report on vice conditions, which is signed by Frederic J. H. Wilson, secretary, there is a complaint on the fact that the communication of the Mayor to Earle Ed Commissioner Enright with instructions with investigations has created for the committee an entirely new situation. The report states that a "reason for the removal of the hopes of the underworld was the public pledge by the Mayor to the advocates of Assistant District Attorney Smith."

The sentiment in the District Attorney's office, it adds, is so much feared by the commercial vice proprietors as to induce, with the long list of successful prosecutions of offenders, large and small. The committee expressed regrets that vice regulation has not ceased and that the adoption of 1915 was a mistake to the extent to 1914. It states that the returning troops were not much edit plan for commercial vice agents as made, indeed, that "organizing enterprises for vice have not been entirely confined to the fact that many wanted a revision some before their departure."

"The effect of national prohibition upon the commercial's problem cannot thus far be determined," the report reads. "Both state prohibition was in force in fact and been found to decrease the social evil. There are however, the dangers of changes in the methods of doing the trade."

It states that many employees have been rather from the underworld rather to independent responsibility on the city, and a few employees have been taken up by the Federal Government. The report also contains a table showing the number of arrests for vice offenses, which is 1,000 less than last year, and a table showing the number of persons prosecuted for the year, which is 1,000 less than last year.

CRAPS RAIDERS TOLD TO GET 'KITTY' MEN

McGeehan Defends Action in Discharging Gamblers.

Magistrate McGeehan in the West Side Court discharged yesterday another batch of alleged craps shooters rounded up by the police in Saturday night raids. He offered a defense of the action of the police complaining of Chief Inspector Dale to Commissioner Enright that Magistrates were hampering the police destroy of gamblers. The Magistrate said the police were not doing their duty in the matter of arresting and prosecuting the offenders, and he urged the police to do their duty.

"The police have been in my judgment," said the Magistrate, "Why don't they spend some money and get in with the gamblers and find out who is putting the 'kitty' in these games? The Magistrates of New York would like to have Inspector Daly come to court with evidence such as brought to court I am not recommending any officer but I do condemn the police methods of handling this class of cases. The defendants are discharged."
