The corrected reading of the barometer (reduced to sea level) at New York on Sunday, May 23, 1920, at 8 AM, as reported by the United States Weather Bureau, was thirty and seventeen hundredths (30.17) inches. This closely approximates seven inches and sixty-six and three-tenths (766.3) millimeters. Captains of all vessels now lying in or near the ports of New York and Brooklyn can advantageously use the above official data for observing whether their own barometers require any considerable correction or adjustment.

Wind at Sandy Hook, 8 PM, NE, 27 miles; mighty thick for; rough sea. At City Island at sunset, E, moderate breeze; cloudy; moderate sea.

BOREAL BLASTS SET CITY TO SHIVERING

Mercury Sinks to 50—Snow of 1907 Is Recalled.

It was exceptionally cool yesterday for the latter part of the month of blossoms, the mercury dropping to the chilly temperature of 50 degrees at 6 o'clock in the morning, but that is not a record for the date, as back in 1902 Pop Knickerbocker shivered under 46.

The May of 1917 holds the record with a mean low temperature of 50, and there have been June days as cool as that, particularly the first of June, 1907, when snow fell at Coney Island and other parts of the Borough of Brooklyn. In that same year winter lingered preposterously late in the lap of spring, there being snowstorms up the State in the latter part of May.

But the present month, with seven days to hear from, has been nearly two degrees below the normal so far, and may go into the meteorological log of James H. Scarr, chief local weather seer, as one of the coolest and cloudiest ever.

PROHIBITION NO JOKE IN CHILLY ICELAND

Returned Traveller Tells of Woes of Dry Northland.

Edward J. Curry, British manufacturer who recently finished a year's residence at Reykjavik, capital of Iceland, arrived yesterday by the Holland American liner Nieuw Amsterdam certain that folks who called yesterday cool were in error. He remarked that it was really warm, that is, compared with Iceland, which is also "dry," the prohibition law there being really enforced.

Without a hot drink with a bit of pep in it to warm up interiors, Mr. Curry said he found the climate almost unbearable and the two moving picture shows not only frigid but showing films several years old. Also the sheep raisers exported all their good lamb and mutton so that residents of Reykjavik had only ram to eat. As to getting something to warm him up in this legally dramless country, he knew several Americans with cellars and he was sure of a good meal almost anywhere in Manhattan.

H. W. Siebert, woollen buyer, returned with empty trunks. A tour of England and Scotland convinced him that it would be foolish to buy there at the present tall prices, and that he was not the only American buyer to refuse to purchase from British profiteers.

On Time for a Good Day's Sport

Your car is a big convenience when it gets you around on schedule time—a disappointment when carbon quickly fouls it and makes it balky.

Polarine

in the crank case is a simple and certain preventive of most engine troubles. It is the standard oil for all motors.

With Polarine on the cylinder walls you get full compression and lots of power. Your motor runs quietly and without racking vibration. Overhauling and repair bills remain small.

For transmissions and differentials use Polarine Gear Oil. Sold wherever you see the red, white and blue Socony Sign.
