BOXING OFFICIALS WARN PUGILISTS

Will Be Severely Disciplined Unless They Walk a Straight Mark.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

The men who promote boxing, the boxers themselves and the referees, judges and others connected with the business of boxing can hardly misunderstand the pointed remarks of Joseph Johnson and Laurence McGuire, chairmen of the Boxing Commission and License Committee, delivered at the initial meeting of those bodies last Thursday afternoon. Senator James Walker, father of the new law, has also given expression to the same warning, and if the men in the business office and the ring do not heed the admonitions they are dull indeed.

In substance, the officials said that the continuance of boxing in this State depended on the integrity and square dealing of those engaged in the business, and they promised to impose severe penalties on those guilty of infractions of the law.

It was the custom of boxing officials in the past to indulge in high sounding protestations about conducting the game with scrupulous honesty, but they failed to live up to their promises.

So far as the present officials are concerned there can be no doubt that they are determined to have honest boxing or speedily eliminate the offenders. The officials have rules to fit every case and there is no question that they will apply them without fear or favor. As stated by the Commissioners, they will start with a clean slate, and the retention of license cards depends wholly on the possessors.

Senator Walker adds to his original warning by declaring that the element in the Legislature hostile to boxing will, at the first infraction of rules, make an effort to repeal the law, and it behooves all interested not to give an opening to the opponents of the sport.

A word to the wise is said to be sufficient, but it cannot be denied that boxing men in the past have not been conspicuous for wisdom.

Johnny Wilson's Defence.

Replying to the charge of the Canton Boxing Commission that Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, had run out of a match with Bryan Downey, Marty Killien, manager of Wilson, sends the following statement to the writer:

"Have carefully read your comment regarding Wilson's cancelling his bout on Labor Day with Downey. I know you are fair enough to admit that there are always two sides to every story. I will try to explain ours.

"On August 23 Wilson began training for his bout with Downey. The champion had worked himself into wonderful condition, but on Thursday, September 2, he was butted on the nose by his sparring partner. His nose closed up, preventing breathing, and we consulted Dr. Plummer of Charlestown, Mass., a nose specialist. Dr. Plummer, on examination, found his nose broken and advised Wilson not to box for six weeks.

"Realizing that if I wired to Canton that Wilson was unable to go through with his contract the commissioners would think we were running out of the match, I thought it best to make the trip, let the doctors there examine Wilson and, if possible, box. On arriving in Canton, Wilson worked out in the Canton fire station, and after one round of shadow boxing was forced to stop. I got in touch with Mike McKinney, the promoter, and with Wilson we went to the office of Dr. Abell, in Canton. Dr. Abell told me in McKinney's presence that Wilson's nose was broken and advised against his boxing for at least a month. I then called the bout off.

Admitted Broken Nose.

"Mr. McKinney knows that this is the truth, yet does not say one word in our defense. The Boxing Commission came to our room the next morning and looked at Wilson's nose. While they admitted the nose was broken, they thought he should go through with the bout. They said that Downey's nose was broken also and that he had five stitches taken as the result of a fight with Bartfield a couple of weeks ago. I told the commissioners that they would be fired if they allowed any boy to box with a broken nose and five stitches in his face, and that it was their work to see that boxers were physically fit before allowing them to enter the ring. They then told me that they would bar me from the State of Ohio. My answer to them was that, with a change of administration in Ohio they would all go back to work.

"One doctor told me that Wilson's nose was broken before he won the title from O'Dowd. I asked him when the Wilson-O'Dowd fight was, and he said two years ago. If I didn't want Wilson to meet Downey, why did I make the match? Why did we go all the way to Canton to call it off? I have seen Downey box many times and know what chance he has with Wilson."

Harry Stone's Achievements.

If the East Side friends of Harry Stone could see him now they would be astonished. Stone holds two championship titles in Australia, where he has lived for a number of years. He won the lightweight championship some months ago and recently defeated Fred Kay for the welter title. The contest went the full twenty rounds under the control of Dr. Kenny, who made an efficient referee. In the early stages he allowed too much clinching, but apart from that lapse he left little to be desired. Before the contest the betting was even money the field, but as the contest progressed offers of 2 to 1 against Kay were not taken. Stone adopted tactics completely at variance with those we have been used to since he came West. Although he was meeting a man a stone heavier than himself and equally deft with the mits, the Bowery Boy surprised everybody by dashing in and forcing the pace from the word "go."

Great Tunney Mystery.

The most puzzling mystery in pugilism has just developed in a claim by a soldier at Camp Lewis that he is the real Gene Tunney, and that the chap who has been boxing in Jersey under that name is a counterfeit.

The Camp Lewis Tunney declares he is the light heavyweight champion of the A. E. F. and that none other is genuine. Gene Tunney of Greenwich Village denies the claim of the Camp Lewis Tunney and says the man must be mentally deranged. The matter promises to get into the courts.

The Commonwealth Sporting Club has an excellent plan regarding young boxers. It is the intention to conduct a school for boxers. Any youngster who wants to become a professional boxer can receive free instruction at the club any afternoon from the veterans employed by the club. If they prove worthy they will be given a chance to test their mettle at the Saturday night shows, which will be a sort of feeder for the special shows conducted by the club.

One of the most pretentious boxing shows of the week will be that offered by the Arena in the Jersey City ball park next Thursday night when Mike O'Dowd meets Ted Lewis, Willie Jackson tackles Ned Fitzgerald and Charley Beecher of New York takes on Frankie Burns of Jersey City.

In order to assure order all of the ushers, who will have to do with the handling of the crowd, have received blueprints and diagrams of the seating layout in the park in order to familiarize themselves with the arrangements. President Frost plans to hold at least four rehearsals for the ushers and ticket takers before the night of the bouts. Two bands will be in attendance and they will furnish music from the time the gates open at 6 o'clock until the bouts begin.

New International League Averages

Include games of Sept. 14.

Merwin Jacobson tops the hitters with a percentage of .401 and leads the run scorers with 154. Jack Bentley has clouted the most base hits, 224; Mike Konnick heads the sluggers with 21 home runs and Ray Dowd of Buffalo continues showing the way along the base paths with 54 stolen bases. While Morris Craft holds first position among the hurlers with seven victories in as many starts, actual pitching honors belong to Pat Shea of the Toronto Leafs. Pat has won 26 and lost 7 games, for a hurling figure of .788.
