than a quarter of a century, 26,485 miles of railway,
that is to say, a greater length than would completely

The engineers engaged in surveying the route for the Harrisburgh and Reading Railroad are highly pleased with the line, and the friends of the road are more sanguine of success than they have ever been before. The country through which it passes is well calculated for laying out a work of this kind, and the route is regarded as an exceedingly cheap one. The elevation from Harrisburgh to Lebanon is only seven and a half feet per mile, and from Lebanon to Reading the fall is a fraction less than ten feet per mile.

TO MY FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE MERCANTILE Library Association.

A ticket has been issued and distributed among you, signed by seven individuals, recommending for your suffrages the name of one Hugh N. Camp, for the office of Corresponding Secretary, of our institution, for the coming year; and a card published in the newspapers, purporting to be the regular nominations, with my name stricken out, and the name of the said Camp inserted instead; all of which is entirely unauthorized by the regular nominating committee. The pretext for all this is so paltry, the mode of proceeding so unusual, and the whole act so mean and contemptible, that I should gravely deem it worth my while to combat with this personal attack, were there not some statements contained in the circular so utterly at variance with truth, that justice to myself demands they should not go uncontradicted.

It is stated in this circular, "that my nomination was procured through misrepresentation, and the regular nominating committee have endeavored in vain to persuade me to accept a less important place on the ticket." In reply, I declare that I never asked or expected a nomination; that I has no friends to recommend or urge my claims on the committee; that I was entirely unacquainted with all but two of said committee, and with (?) the nominations of all; that the committee had ample time and abundant resources for information in regard to the qualifications of the different candidates; that no representations of any kind were made to the committee to induce them to select me as their candidate; and I declare that, far from the nominating committee wishing me to withdraw my acceptance and accept a lower place on the ticket, I wrote to the committee, volunteering to withdraw, if in accordance with their wishes, and received no intimation, in reply, that they had changed their minds in regard to my nomination.

Again, the circular states "that I am not deemed competent to assume its responsibilities by those who have served with me in the present board." And a certificate is appended at the bottom from a portion of the board, (which I would have cheerfully signed, and my two other colleagues as well, had we known of its existence until printed) which certificate, be it observed, insinuates nothing in regard to my competency whatever; and nothing but wilful perversion, or contemptible obtuseness, could so construe it as to have the signers of this circular. I am not much regard for myself as a man to avail myself—like a servant girl out of place, or likely to be—of certificates or testimonials to prove my good behavior. It is stated in the circular, "that the name of my opponent has been used without his consent on the Union ticket." Not only did he lend countenance to this use of it, but he has contributed money to assist in defraying the expenses of this ticket.

The circular asserts that "Mr. Camp will be cordially supported by the candidates on the regular ticket." The regular Nominating Committee disclaim and disavow any connection with the efforts of this individual to force himself upon the Mercantile Library as an officer, and the candidates have, one and all, pledged themselves to support the ticket on which they have been named.

Of the seven gentlemen who sign this circular, with one I am slightly acquainted; another I know by sight; I never set eyes on the remaining five, to my knowledge, in my life, and, total strangers, they constitute themselves the judges of my merits and demerits. I am not surprised that a man utterly unprincipled, entirely selfish, identifying himself with no party, seeking for nothing and caring for nothing but his own elevation, should adopt every means to trumpet his own fame, and detract from the character and reputation of his opponent; but I am surprised that a number of men, by age, by talent, and by experience, are in every other way his superior, should lend themselves to be made the pliant tools of an ambitious aspirant for office.
JOHN MERCHANT.

WHAT WILL IT DO?—
Consumption's arrows, poison-tipped,
Are vainly from the bow string slipped,
Full at the victim's breast,
If Mrs. Jervis has supplied
Her remedy, and fortified
Life's citadel—the chest.
Cough and catarrh with her in vain
Open their harrassing campaign;
She stops their noisy racket.
Bronchitis, asthma, Cold or Cough,—
She with her candy drives them off,
And that by the first packet.
Then don't forget this cure divine,
In Broadway, at Three Sixty-six,
You'll always find the article,
If you've a cough, a racket use,
And when its done, it will be news
If you can cough a particle.
'Tis sweet as one of Shakspeare's "cates"
The throat it gently lubricates;
It cures the influenza;
The speaker's hoarseness it relieves,
And to the whispering singer gives
New strength for a cadenza.
Sold, wholesale and retail, by MRS. JERVIS, 366 Broadway, one door above Franklin, and sold by druggists generally.

ALEXANDRE'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEECHES.—Principal depot, 23 Maiden lane, New York. These leeches have been approved of and adopted as one of the greatest surgical inventions of the age, by all the practitioners to whom they have been introduced. To mention only the names that are the most universally known, we shall refer, in New York, to Professor Valentine Mott; Doctors J. F. Barrish, Rabineau, Reid and in Paris, to Velpeau, Ricord, Sichel, and others, whose names may happens with a longer list. These leeches are safer, cleaner, and cause much less pain to the patient than the repulsive natural leeches. They are inalterable, and, if used with proper care, everlasting; so that a box of $15, or even of $6, is worth over 500 leeches. We therefore request the reader to take notice of this invention, which is invaluable to the farmer, the doctor, to every head of a family. LAMBERT ALEXANDRE.

DR. DEWITT C. KELLINGER IS DETERMINED TO do the greatest good for the largest number, by selling his wonderful Fluid, in large bottles, from 1s. to 4s. 11 factors and renews the hair on old or young. One bottle has been known to answer for a whole family. Mr. Allaut, 464 Broadway; Mr. Gardner, of Williamsburgh, Mr. Pattes, of Yonkers; Mr. T. W. Barker, 69 Macdougal street—all had their hair renewed by a few applications. Another—a lady, who had lost so much of her hair that, as she roled it up in the morning, she laid it in a draw, which is nearly full—only made two applications to fasten, and restore her hair. Of this, and all other cases referred to, the most satisfactory evidence can be adduced. N. B.—There are no idle assertions here, as are generally paraded before the public. Every bottle astonishes all who make a trial. Sold, without exception, by all the druggists and merchants generally throughout the United States and the Canadas.

KELLINGER'S LINIMENT, OR MAGIC FLUID, GIVES Instant relief in Rheumatic Pains, breaks up deep seated Coughs, and all manner of weakness in male or female. It strengthens the patient at every or any application; it matters not what the pain or weakness comes from, it is certain to cure. Merchants say they sell hundreds to one of any other. Sold in large bottles, from 1s. to 4s.—$1, $2 and $3 a dozen, cash. Those who buy the large size get a third more, in proportion, for their money. It has not failed, in a solitary instance, in fastening and restoring the hair on old or young. No one can doubt, if they will call or send and see our references and cures, at the depots, 297 Pearl street, 464 and 476 Broadway, near Grand street. Nearly 2,000,000 of bottles have been sold and its first friends are now its best. It is, and has been used for years by the Irvings, Grinnelle, Cesters Janeways, Lorillards, Livingstons, Hamilltons, Ludlows, and by the whole Faculty generally. N. B.—Sold by all druggists, pedlers, and grocers throughout the United States generally. This is the only instance of the wealthy circle being referred to in the history of patent medicines. There is no dishwater, second bottle humbug here—every trial makes many friends.
