Miscellaneous.

Ship NORMANTON—A letter dated East Falkland Island, Nov 5, from Capt Bates, of ship Normanton (before reported lost on the voyage from Baltimore to California) received via Swansea, Wales, and Liverpool, states that the fire on board was discovered Oct 22, when smoke arose from the after hatch, and some time after the cabin, the other hatches being closed tight. The fire was soon quelled, but the ship has rolled very heavily. Water and provisions were immediately put up sufficient to last the crew to the Falkland Islands, in doing which the men employed were at least brought to remember, from the gas and smoke. Every vent was closed as tightly as possible, to smother the fire, but when she was in port, on Oct 22, it burst through the deck beams and beap burst off anything and that part of the lower deck had fallen in. Every exertion was made by Capt Bates to put out the fire, with the assistance of the crews of two British ships in port, and a fire engine, but in vain, and after ascertaining she was ordered to be scuttled. Captain B was advised that the ship was insured for 3000 pounds. After the fire was discovered, Captain Bates had an opportunity to abandon the ship and go on board a brig which passed near. But reminding gentlemen not to leave her until the fire should blaze out. Captain Bates had his wife on board. Remaining by the vessel under such trying circumstances when so favorable an opportunity offered to abandon her, is very creditable to both the Captain Bates and his wife.

BOTE LAURENS, Johnson, from New York, 12th July last, arrived at Panama, on the 16th ult. She encountered very severe weather off Cape Horn, lost head and cutwater, quarter boats and split starboard main-rail fore and aft; bulwarks washed away. Capt J discovered, off River Plate, in October, several buckets afloat, marked "George and Richard;" the name of the vessel to which they belonged he knew not. The buckets were picked up by Capt J and are in a good order. It is presumed the George and Richard has been lost, as there were other evidences of her wreck.

LOUISA BANE MCKAY—This bark was lost inside of the North Head, and was a Liverpool vessel, about six years old, and 600 tons burthen, well found, and staunch in every particular. We were informed by Starkey, Brothers & Co, her agents, that the captain had not his wife and family on board, although they, with us, were under a contrary impression. The Murray was loaded with lumber (the greatest cargo of an American ship), for the Sandwich Islands. The Sarah Sands, which came up subsequently, saw nothing of her, so that she has probably gone to pieces. It was rumored that the crew had been saved, and that a portion of them had reached Astoria; on inquiry, we could not ascertain it to be the fact. We, in our turn, were sent out. We also heard of a Mr Everett as a passenger who had escaped, having saved nothing but the clothes he had on.—[San Francisco Balance.

DUTCH BRIG PRINCESS EUGENIE from Copenhagen, in going over Charleston bar on Saturday 25th ult, struck heavily; after being out a short time found that she leaked, and put into Savannah for repairs.

BRIG J A LANCASTER, from Baltimore for Charleston, before reported put into Savannah in distress, anchored off Charleston Bar on the 31st ult, but not being able to procure a pilot, and losing her anchors, chains, and splitting sails &c., put for Savannah, where she arrived on the 3d inst, with three feet water in her hold and pump choked.
