PREPARATIONS AT WASHINGTON FOR PRESIDENT MAKING, AT THE NEXT SESSION OF CONGRESS.—We perceive that Mr. Corcoran, the great government banker at Washington, the living American Rothschild in finance—and a far more generous and amiable man, to boot, than the Hebrew—has made arrangements for erecting whole blocks of private dwelling houses, of such construction and arrangement as will be suitable for the princely residences of rich members of Congress, and diplomatists with long salaries. For many years past, there has been a great difficulty, when a millionaire was sent to Congress, or appointed as a minister, to procure, without a great deal of trouble, a decent house, with proper apartments for giving large parties, and living in a style of éclat and splendor, suitable for conducting political intrigues. Out of the profits, which have been made through the treasury loans, the Mexican and Florida claims, the government contracts, and all other matters that yield drippings, Mr. Corcoran is probably the richest man in Washington, and is well enabled to engage in the very patriotic and profitable enterprise which is attributed to him.

We may expect, therefore, that many private salons will be opened during the next session of Congress, and that great facility will be given for conducting those bargains and arrangements that generally precede the contest for the Presidency. All the parties will determine, the next winter, at Washington, who their candidates for the Presidency will be, and the increase of habitable houses for the convenience of such cabals and coteries is very creditable to the financial mind of the American Rothschild, his commissions and per centage deducted therefrom.

MUSICAL CRITICISM RUN MAD.—The coterie of the anti-slavery Fourierite Tribune, or more likely the literary bureau connected with Napoleon Barnum's speculations, say this of Jenny Lind's last concert:—

Jenny Lind's singing is as unquestioned and supreme as the Parthenon and Correggio's pictures in art, and roses and lilies in nature. We owe to her constantly new and deeper delights. To hear her, as is our happy fortune, night after night, is to stand in the deepening summer, ever more lustrous and lovely, and perceive a redder red flush the petals of the rose, and a purer pallor perfect the virginity of the lily. While we have her to sing, we need not regret too much that the Sistine Madonna is beyond the sea. For it is the hope and inspiration of all highest art to express precisely what Jenny Lind, as a woman and an artist, expresses.

Jenny Lind has the credit of being charitable. If pity for individual misfortune ever agitated her bosom, she would confer lasting honor upon herself, a benefit on society, and happiness upon the suffering journalist who wrote the above, by appropriating $10 out of her half million to buy him a straight-jacket. Such a jacket would save a great deal of pain, by preventing a terrible eruption, which may endanger the neighborhood of the Tribune buildings. We know not which to fear most, an explosion, or spontaneous combustion, which may increase the rates of insurance about the Park, and call out the entire fire department every night after a concert. We trust that the Nightingale will have charity on the author of such insanity, and control him in some way or other. There is positive danger from him at present.

THE ANTI-SLAVERY FAIR—A GREAT LUMINARY FALLING.—For several days past, a committee of the fair sex of this city, composed of both colors, have been holding a fair at No. 576 Broadway, for the purpose of raising funds to aid "in sustaining the North Star," edited by Fred Douglass, the colored man,—a luminary in the shape of a newspaper, that reflects its radiance around the vicinity of Rochester, N. Y., and which, it appears, is about falling to the earth, not being supported by a sufficient pecuniary power to maintain it in its orbit. This opaque body, being a Star of the fourth or fifth magnitude, is but little known out of its own very circumscribed sphere, the brilliancy of its refractive rays not being sufficiently strong to penetrate the atmosphere of a more national community. It is one of those crazy journals that propose to achieve the immediate emancipation of the colored population of the South, without the smallest regard to their ultimate condition; and pronounces the most terrible denunciations against all who do not enlist their energies in the unconstitutional movement for the immediate liberation of the slaves. In a word, it anathematizes all who are not fanatics. But the fair. When we consider that the North Star is one of the leading organs of what is proclaimed to be a great national philanthropic movement, and when we reflect that the fair is got up for the purpose of keeping the Star from coming in contact with the earth, we cannot help exclaiming "Alas! poor Yorick!"

The articles exhibited for sale present a pitiable spectacle. Imagine a number of small school boys and girls going round the cheap toy shops of a country village, selecting promiscuously a variety of children's fancy "notions," and displaying them upon a platform for their own amusement, and that of their juvenile friends. Let the mental eye picture to itself such an exhibition, and the fair, whose object is to sustain one of the most prominent propounders of abolition doctrines, will be pretty accurately represented. We do not wish to speak disparagingly of the fair, nor do we impugn the motives that actuate the females who got it up, for we have no doubt but they have been prompted by the purest principles of humanity and love; yet we cannot help heaving a sigh of commiseration for those who are being made the unconscious dupes of unprincipled, designing, and fanatical demagogues, whose sole aim is self-aggrandizement, regardless of consequences, however deplorable. The furious abolitionists cannot support one of their leading journals without having recourse to such small affairs as the fair we have described, and yet they talk of setting at liberty three millions of people, old and young, strong and feeble, without the slightest provision being made for their future maintenance. They must be poor indeed, or else the most consummate hypocrites, whose sole endeavors are to mislead the less reflecting portion of the people, for sinister and self-interested purposes, by preaching up the iniquities of the South, under the soothing garb of humanity and philanthropy. The sale of articles at the North Star fair has yet been very limited, and the meagre appearance of things around savors strongly of the falling of that luminary from the Northern galaxy of pseudo-philanthropic journals. We hope what we have written will not deter a single individual from visiting the fair. We say to all, go, and encourage the ladies; but we write to show on what a lame foundation this great non-sustaining principle is based.

Movements of Distinguished Individuals.

Hon. John R. Kerr, United States Charge d'Affaires to Nicaragua, and William Duer, are now in this city, en route for their respective offices.

Mr. Martin Farquahar Tupper is also in this city.

The Rev. Wm. Tracy, Missionary at Madras, South India, returned to this city yesterday, after an absence of fifteen years.

THE WEEKLY HERALD.

MAILS FOR EUROPE AND ASIA, BY THE AMERICAN STEAMSHIP ARCTIC.

The WEEKLY HERALD will be published at half-past nine o'clock this morning. It will be ready, in single wrappers, to go by the Arctic, which sails at noon today. Her mails will close at half-past ten o'clock. Its contents will embrace all the important news of the week, printed in French and English. Single copies, sixpence. Copies can be obtained at Edwards, Sandford & Co.'s, Liverpool and London; and B. H. Revoil's, Paris.

Steamships, &c.—The subscriber will make liberal and very advantageous arrangements with a competent and responsible person to proceed immediately to England, to secure Patents, and present his improvements there to the public, and put them into practical operation. All expense connected with the business will be paid by the subscriber and his associates, and they will require the bond of two responsible persons for the amount of one hundred Thousand dollars, to guaranty and secure a faithful performance of the business entrusted to his charge. It is deemed proper to take this opportunity to state for the information and benefit of those directly or indirectly interested in improvements of this character, that after the completion of their business, together with finishing some minor arrangements necessary to properly secure the interests of the subscriber, and his associates therein, before being made public, all of which will be accomplished early in June, he will immediately thereafter publicly exhibit his improvement (as applied to vessels for Ocean and inland navigation,) in the cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and then the public will have an opportunity to judge of the merits, importance and value of his inventions and improvements.

DARIUS DAVISON, Astor House.

American Pianoforte Company.—In answer to the many inquiries by letter, which by the bye, should in every case be post-paid, Messrs. Jocelyn, Watson & Purcell, would say, that the one hundred months necessary to commence the initial operation, are nearly all obtained. As soon as the full number have signed, the A. P. Co. will open books for the reception of the second hundred names. The subscribers in the country will please bear in mind, that good city reference or other security, will be in every case necessary, before the delivery of the pianoforte. The security of this kind will be apparent to every one. If the requisite number of members is obtained, the company will commence operations on the 1st of June. The books are open at the office, Lafarge Building, 298 Broadway, Room No. 5.

A New Summer Hat.—The Gentleman's Summer Hat.—Warnocks', Hatters, have great pleasure in announcing that they will introduce, this day, May 26, a new and most beautiful style of light Fur Hat for Gentlemen's summer wear. This new and beautiful hat is manufactured of an exceedingly rare species of French grey beaver, never before attempted for a similar purpose in this country, and possesses, independent of color, (which is a charm in itself,) incomparable merit. To gentlemen, with whom vanity is a consideration, we have simply to say, that having, as we believe, secured the entire stock of this fine material in market, (with the exception of one other house,) this Hat is not to be obtained in the purity at any other establishment in this city; and we feel warranted in believing that there has never been a Hat produced possessing so much intrinsic merit, for a gentleman's Summer Hat as the French grey beaver, now introduced by us. WARNOCKS', Hatters, Irving House, Broadway, New York.

Fond du Lac Railroad.

We republish from the Daily Wisconsin, of Milwaukie, of the 15th ult., the following important letter as regards the above mentioned Railroad, which may be truly regarded as the North western terminus of the railroads leading West and North from this city. It commences, in fact, at Chicago, runs thence direct northwest to Janesville on the Rock River, and thence north along the Rock River Valley to Fond du Lac, on Lake Winnebago, whence steamboats can ply northward by Green Bay to Buffalo, west and south by the Wisconsin River to New Orleans. This must make Fond du Lac a point of immense importance. Since the date of this letter, we understand that the Hon. Robert J. Walker, who had made the contract with Messrs. Bradley & Co., of New England, for the construction of the road, has also concluded a contract with an eminent firm of this city, to supply the railroad iron. This is a road of great importance. It is to be built at once, and will throw a vast additional trade into the city of New York.

ROCK RIVER VALLEY RAILROAD.

The following letter is from a gentleman in New York, of that high character to give weight to his statements. The negotiation of the loan for the Rock River Valley Railroad is one of the best managed financial operations that has ever been perfected in this State. The directors have obtained the funds to build one of the best railways in this country, when thousands supposed that it was impossible. When we urged upon the Milwaukie and Mississippi Railway a six feet gauge, it was with reference to other roads which might be built in this State—and it seems that the Rock River Valley Railroad have determined upon the six feet gauge:—

NEW YORK, May 8, 1851.

WM. E. CRAMER, ESQ., EDITOR:

DEAR SIR—I am aware of the interest you have always manifested in the improvements of Wisconsin. You cannot but be gratified, therefore, in the present prospects of the "Rock River Valley Union Railroad." The road commences at Fond du Lac, and runs to Janesville, on the Rock river, a distance of about eighty-six miles. It is intended to be continued from Janesville, by the most suitable route, to Chicago. The surveys were made during the last winter, from Fond du Lac to Janesville, by Edwin F. Johnson, Esq., the most able and distinguished engineer in the United States. The contract for the whole distance has been taken by Messrs. Bradley & Co., who have built most of the New England railroads, and whose reputation and abundant means will insure a rapid construction and speedy completion of this road. It will have the six feet gauge, like the New York and Erie, and will be the model road of the great West. The contractors will break ground at Fond du Lac, on or about the first of June, and will have a thousand men on the work during that month. Several miles, according to the contract, will be completed by the 1st of November. I have seen the contract and specifications, as entered into and executed by the parties—and I have no hesitation in saying that, on those terms, with such contractors, and with such an engineer, a better road cannot be built. These same contractors are also ready to take the contract for the remainder of the road from Janesville to Chicago, whenever the parties interested are ready to let it. Within two years, therefore, that is less than two years, cars will run the whole distance from Fond du Lac to Chicago. The effect of this railroad upon the general prosperity of the State of Wisconsin, as well as upon particular towns, you can better imagine than I describe. You will now begin to realize some of my early predictions in relation to the growth of Fond du Lac. I presume I shall not excite any one's jealousy when I say, that Fond du Lac is destined to be only second, in importance and population, to Milwaukie. Milwaukie, in the rapidity of its growth, its population, and general enterprise, has far outstripped any town that has preceded it. All of us, as citizens of Wisconsin, are proud of it, and wish it the same continued success and undiminished prosperity. Fond du Lac must come next. From her local position, being the point at which the trade of a large district of country naturally centres, and being a place of deposit and transhipment, it will, in due time, attain to a population of twenty thousand. With her railroad, and the plank roads already projected and undertaken, she will be a favorite spot for the intelligent and enterprising to settle, and the lands in the vicinity will bear a price in proportion to the increase of the town, and the facilities of getting to and from it to any other portion of the Union.

I am aware that the citizens of Milwaukie generally, and of many other portions of the country, have had no faith in the successful prosecution of this work. Many have said it was all gas—well, gas is a good thing in its way, and if it is generated from the right materials, and on proper principles, and enough of it, it is very useful, and gives a pleasing and brilliant light. Such will be the effect of the gas which has been lavished in the prosecution of this great enterprise. Much credit is due to those who have been more immediately engaged in it. Amongst these is A. Hyatt Smith, Esq., the President of the Company, who has shown great tact and skill in the management of its concerns. To the Hon. R. J. Walker is the credit due of having negotiated the funds for the construction of the road. His financial and acknowledged reputation has enabled him to accomplish an object of this magnitude, where most other men would have failed. But to no man is the credit of the enterprise so pre-eminently due as to John B. Macy, Esq. His untiring industry, his energy, his perseverance, have accomplished the object. It was he that enlisted the aid and co-operation of Mr. Walker—and night and day, in season and out of season, has he devoted himself to this work. He has removed obstacles and surmounted difficulties that would have appalled the stoutest heart, and broken down any man of less moral courage and energy than himself. I trust, therefore, that Mr. Macy's services will be duly appreciated by all who feel an interest in the success and final consummation of this great undertaking. Very respectfully yours, T.

The Hat Finishers' Union will this day introduce their Summer style of gentlemen's drab beaver Hats, which combines all of the desirable qualities of fine material, lightness, and elasticity in the highest degree; also Panama, Leghorns, and all the various styles of straw Hats for gents and youths, all of which have been judiciously selected, and will be sold at the lowest rates. No. 11 Park Row, opposite the Aster House. N. B.—This is the only association of practical Hatters in this city. No branch stores.

A Great Assortment of Straw Hats.—"Straws show which way the wind blows;" and the rush to Knox's is fair evidence of the superiority of his assortment of beautiful Straw Hats, now selling at "hot cakes." Every thing in season in the head gear line, of the best and cheapest, can be procured at Knox's famous hat establishment, 128 Fulton street; and we advise strangers now in the city to call and make their selections.

The Genin Panamas for Boys.—The becoming shape, lightness, and elegant simplicity of the Genin Panamas for boys, brought out this season, cannot fail to render them universal favorites with young gentlemen of all ages. They stand in the same relation to the Panamas for "children of a larger growth," which the Genin silk hats for young men bear to the full sized ones. Genin's assortment of Panamas, of all sizes, and of the most beautiful shapes and texture, is believed to be unequalled in the city. GENIN, 214 Broadway, opposite St. Paul's.

The Summer Hat Season.—The Season for summer Hats has fairly commenced. Indeed, the weather is so warm that they are indispensable. Genin's drab Beavers, the richest, and most distingue looking hats he has ever brought out, are now ready, together with a great variety of undress fabrics for gentlemen. GENIN, 214 Broadway, opposite St. Paul's.

Gentlemen's Hats, Summer Style, 1851.—N. Espenscheid, 167 Nassau street, corner of Ann, N. Y., will issue to-day, the Summer fashion for gentlemen's Hats. The Hat for the season is one upon which he has expended the utmost care and labor, without regard to cost of either material or workmanship, with the view of rendering it entirely recherche among summer Hats ever before exhibited; and this design he has fully accomplished, besides selling it twenty-five per cent less than at any other fashionable store.

Summer Hats.—Examine the splendid Rocky Mountain Drab Beaver Hats, together with a large assortment of Panamas, Leghorns and Straw Hats of every description. Those who want a really beautiful article, would do well to call at W. P. David's, (successor to Amidon,) 301 Broadway, second door from Duane street.

Competition in the Hat Trade has for years past led hatters to devise every means to get up the best hat for the price. Brewster, of the Union Hat Store, 90 Fulton street, has hit upon the true system, and sets competition at defiance. At his fur and silk hat factory, he manufactures his hats from the raw material, and saves the manufacturer's profit; consequently he can sell the best three dollar hat in the city, and his three and a half dollar hats are equal and superior to those sold for four. Try a hat from the Union Hat Store, between William and Gold streets. FREEMAN.

Read and Profit by it.—The most important question of the day is, where can be obtained the cheapest, best, and most durable hat of the season? Knox answers, "DOCKET 128 FULTON." Visit the Broadway Hat Store, 374 Broadway. For its beauty of style, fineness of material, and polished lustre, and for the exceedingly low price of $3. One price, and one quality only. It is not excelled, or even equalled, in the world. To attest the truth of it, please call and examine, and satisfy yourselves.

The most Delightful Trip to be taken, is to go out to Yonkers, by railroad or steamboat, only 12½ cents fare, or drive out. Stop at Dr. Kellinger's Mansion House, and you will be taken care of so as to induce you to call again. Conveyances always at the landing. Horses and carriages to be had, and meals at all times. Tea-pin alleys, shuffle boards, quoits, &c. &c. The Dr. is at his central depot, 676 Broadway, in the morning, and at Yonkers in the afternoon, where he will be happy to see his friends, and furnish them with his magic fluids, and other refreshments.

Elegant Wedding Cards, Silver Bordered and plain Porcelain, engraved and printed in gold, silver and plain styles, in the most elegant and fashionable manner. Also, a splendid assortment of French and English silver, embossed and plain Porcelain Bridal Envelopes, Wafers, Boxes, &c., at EVERDELL'S, Broadway, corner of Duane street.

"Was there Ever Anything more Beautiful?" exclaimed a lady, yesterday, on looking at Root's new style of Portraits, the Crayon Daguerreotypes. Truly, they are beautiful! No one should be without one. They are taken only at ROOT'S, No. 252 Broadway, equally well in cloudy as in clear weather.

A Card.—To the Ladies.—The undersigned respectfully announces to his customers and ladies in general, that he has just returned from Paris, with the most elegant assortment of French goods for ladies' gaiters, the most beautiful designs of toilet slips that have ever been imported to this country. These goods have been selected from the most extensive mercantile houses in Paris. He also suggests to wholesale merchants that he is now ready to furnish them with any quantity of goods of the latest style. JEFFERS, 467 Broadway.

If it be an object to find a place where a man may attire himself in a suitable and seasonable manner, at the least possible cost, and from an immense stock, then call at the great clothing house of DeGRAW & CO., 139 Fulton street, between Broadway and the Herald office.

The Zephyr Under Shirts, to be obtained at the Hosiery and Undergarment Manufactory, 104 Bowery, are a luxury at this season, and a safe change from the heavy undercloth. They are at once elastic and unshrinkable.

Important to Gentlemen—Gentlemen who prize an elegant fit as one of the requisites of their under clothing, may insure it at No. 1 Astor House. The Shirts, &c., made at that establishment, are warranted to fit with unerring fidelity and neatness, and to be ready for delivery on the day and at the hour at which they are promised.

Summer Undershirts and Drawers.—All the styles and sizes desired; also Shirts, well made and good fitting, with every article in the men's furnishing line, at remarkably low prices at SANXAY'S, 166 William, one door from Fulton street.

Summer Goods.—Mealio, Hatter, of 416 Broadway, corner of Canal street, has, in addition to his magnificent assortment of Straw Goods for gentlemen and children, an unsurpassable style of Hat—the pure Beaver—for summer wear. All his wares are of the very best and the cheapest quality.

Truth in a Nutshell.—The cheapest and best place to get Boots, Shoes, and Gaiters, is at JONES'S, 14 Ann street, near the American Museum.

The Cheapest and Best Place in the City to get Boots, Shoes, or Gaiters, is at 41 Courtlandt street. Boots, Shoes, and Gaiters are sold 25 per cent cheaper than in any other store in this country. Best Shoes and Gaiters for sale, wholesale and retail, at 41 Courtlandt street, under the Merchants' Hotel. THE DOCTOR.

Splendid Styles of Summer Shoes and Gaiters.—Watkins, 114 Fulton street, whose reputation for making really good Boots, is known from one end of the Union to the other, is offering this season a decidedly superior assortment for gentlemen's summer wear. Those who want articles that can be depended on, and at moderate prices, are recommended to call at his establishment.

The Weekly Day Book, containing the life and public character of James Watson Webb, as known by an obscure individual, is published this morning at 123½ Fulton street, up stairs; it also contains chapter I. of a new novel by Madam Sulakitte Marguerette.

A Newspaper Establishment For Sale.— The editor and proprietor of a popular weekly newspaper in this city, being about to depart for Europe, offers the good will and material of the office for sale, at very moderate terms. Address, with real name, X. X. X., Herald office.

$500 Reward.—A. J. Beals is the inventor of the ivory finished Daguerreotype, and at his rooms they can now be had, and at no other place in the city. These Daguerreotypes are much superior to the old style. N. B.—We advise our friends by all means to get one. The price is only $1 to $10, at No. 156 Broadway, east side, between Liberty street and Maiden lane. Hill's great book for taking colors, now ready for sale at Beals'.

Wonderful Sale.—English three ply and patent Tapestry, Ingrain Carpets, Rugs, Table Covers, Window Shades, &c., at unparalleled low prices, at 39 Bowery, Hiram Anderson, the celebrated, largest and cheapest carpet establishment in the United States. Also, Ingrain Carpets at 3s., 4s., 5s., and 6s. per yard.

World's Fair.—Visitors to the World's Fair are invited to examine the subscriber's stock of Dressing Cases. They are the most compact and useful article of the kind manufactured, containing all that is necessary for the toilet of the most fastidious. SAUNDERS, 147 Broadway, corner of Liberty st., and 387 Broadway.

Stair Carpets, at Wonderfully Low Prices.—1s. 6d., 2s., 3s., 4s., 5s., per yard—at 99 Bowery, HIRAM ANDERSON'S. Three-Ply Stair Carpet, 5s., 6s., per yard; Brussels Stair Carpet, 8s. per yard. Eight specious sales rooms, stocked with beautiful Carpets and Oil Cloths, at low prices.

Comb Factory, 387 Broadway.—Ladies are respectfully invited to examine this choice selection of dress combs; the variety is, beyond all doubt, the greatest in the city, comprising the most beautiful open work in shell and buffalo horn. Combs repaired and made to order. A. & J. SAUNDERS.

English Imperial Three-Ply Carpeting, for New York market, at No. 99 Bowery, HIRAM ANDERSON'S Celebrated Cheapest Carpet Establishment in the United States. Three-Ply Carpets 6s. 6d., 7s., 8s., 9s. per yard. Greatest bargains ever offered.

Taste and Elegance.—The extensive Carpet establishment of Messrs. Peterson & Humphrey, corner of Broadway and White street, is characterized by the taste displayed in the selection and arrangement of the elegant stock of rich and luxurious carpets, beautifully designed, and heavy oil cloths, mattings, table covers, druggets, &c., as well as by the economy of their charges. Let those who are about selecting any of the above-mentioned articles, call and examine their large and varied display.

Summer Cooking Stoves, tin and sheet iron bakers, hard and charcoal Furnaces, &c., &c.—The celebrated Independent Air Tight Cooking Stoves, for summer and winter, warranted in all cases to bake. A large stock at low prices, wholesale and retail, at the New York Stove Factory, 83 Grand, opposite Essex Market. Stoves delivered free of charge. NICHOLAS L. CORT.

Messrs. Morales & Lunar call the attention of their friends and customers to a super new invoice of Segars, which they have just received from their agent in Havana. They flatter themselves that they can supply Segars of as great a variety, and superior quality, as can be found in the city. MORALES & LUNAR, 119 Nassau street, in the basement.

The greatest improvement in Hair Dye awarded to Dr. Ballard of New York, is unsurpassed in London, Paris, or the United States. It will make any desired color, from a brown to a black, in ten minutes, which will not fade, soil or wash off. For sale by the principal druggists. Ladies and gentlemen can consult with the Dr. by calling at his office, 355 Fulton street, near Broadway, up stairs.

A Desideratum.—Bogle's Amole is the most pleasing article for shaving ever offered to the public. Its virtues are extensively acknowledged as the most effectual in preparing the beard for the easy application of the razor, and for prevention of subsequent irritation. Sold by the inventor, William Bogle, 277 Washington street, Boston; A. B. & D. Sands, 100 Fulton street; Kushton, Clark & Co., 273 Broadway; Cary & Co., and Brigham & Day, Pearl street, New York.
