Our Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, June 4, 1851.

The South Carolina Convention and the Administration—The Florida Claims.

We understand that during the sittings of the late Southern Rights Associations of South Carolina, in Charleston, the President and Cabinet were daily advised by telegraph of the aspect of affairs; and that ever since, the administration has been punctually informed of the movements of the seceders of South Carolina, and of their confederates in Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi; and that no apprehensions are entertained by the President of South Carolina going out of the Union without company. Notwithstanding this, all the necessary precautions have been taken to act, if action should be required. And if, instead of cooling down, the Palmetto State should become more belligerent by December next, the President may be constrained to call the attention of Congress to the subject, in his annual message.

There is, doubtless, a great deal of misrepresentation afloat respecting the Florida claims of Mr. Cerwin, and, short of a Congressional committee of inquiry, we can hardly expect to arrive at the whole story. We have every reason for the belief that such a committee, after the reassembling of Congress, will be raised; and we are just as ready as any of the other parties concerned, for the examination. The extent of our interest is a matter of some importance to the public, being nothing less than a desire to see justice decide between the claimants, the recipients, the complainants, and the Treasury.

This affair, and the report that the Turkish ladies' costume is about to be introduced here, are about all the excitements of Washington just now.

The Turf.

TROTTING AT ST. LOUIS.—The contest on May 28, between Lady Suffolk and O'Blenis, excited the most intense interest. The gallant grey, Lady Suffolk, was apparently the favorite, as far as the sympathies of the knowing ones were concerned; but the betting leaned decidedly in favor of the horse. The first heat was won by the mare in 2:30. The mare throughout the heat kept steady at her work, but the horse broke at the start, at the back stretch, at the half mile post, and again at the home stretch. The mare lead in at the stand fully twelve lengths. The second heat was closely contested. The mare leading off, broke on the back stretch; after a close brush, the horse came in upon the home stretch, leading at the stand about two lengths. Time, 2:30. Upon the third heat the mare lead off in fine style. The horse, gaining rapidly, broke at the half mile post. The mare, though closely pursued, kept the lead, the horse again breaking upon the home stretch. The mare came in some six lengths in the lead. Time, 2:33. At the fourth heat the horse broke upon the first quarter stretch. Upon the back stretch the mare broke. The horse gaining rapidly passed her in double quick time upon the third quarter, and kept the lead, winning being largely ahead. Time, 2:30. On the last heat the nags came up in style, making a fair start. Keeping well together on the first quarter, the horse broke again upon the back stretch. The mare lead off in beautiful style, and although the horse was pushed, she widened the space perceptibly. At the half mile post the horse again broke badly. From this time the noble grey, steady and true, kept her distance, and finally came in upon the home run nearly a distance in the lead, making the heat in 2:35. The following is a summary:—

Lady Suffolk	1	2	1	1
O'Blenis	2	1	2	1

Time, 2:30—2:30—2:33—2:30—2:35.

O'Blenis went to saddle, but how Lady Suffolk went is not stated.

Theatrical and Musical.

BOWERY THEATRE.—The performances for this evening are very attractive. They commence with "Massaniello," which will be followed by "The Young Scamp," and the amusements will close with "Karfa."

BROADWAY THEATRE.—The most gorgeous spectacle ever produced in this country, entitled "Azael," will again be presented this evening. We have seen a great many spectacles, but the representation of the temple of Isis surpasses them all.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—The entertainments here, commence with the evolutions on the tight rope, by the Ravel Family. This will be succeeded by the ballet pantomime of the "Elopement," and all will close with "Duchalumeau."

BURTON'S THEATRE.—As usual a fine bill. The entertainments commence with a "Short Reign and a Merry One," which will be followed by "Breach of Promise," and the amusements will conclude with the "Line of Limit."

NATIONAL THEATRE.—The visitors of this theatre are offered a fine bill for this evening. The first feature is "Too Late for Dinner," followed by "Tom Tringle," and all will conclude with "Hurley and Burley."

BRODHAM'S LYCEUM.—The splendid production entitled the "Home Book of Beauty," which is every night received with enthusiastic cheers, will commence, and "Dombey and Son" conclude the entertainment.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—The entertainments offered for the afternoon and evening are of a very attractive description. Those who may visit the saloon will be delighted.

CHRISTY'S MINSTRELS will sing several beautiful melodies, and execute several touching instrumental pieces.

FELLOWS' MINSTRELS.—Those who wish to hear splendid ballad singing should go and hear Collins and Swaine.

BARNUM'S MENAGERIE.—All should go and see the elephant at the pavilion in Eighth street.

Court of Common Pleas.

THE MASON WILL CASE.

By Hon. Judge Ingraham.

JUNE 5.—DECISION.—In the matter of the petition of James Mason for Letters of Administration, &c., on the Estate of John Mason, Deceased.—This petition is presented to the First Judge of the Common Pleas, acting as Surrogate, in consequence of the relationship of the Surrogate to one of the parties in interest, and asks for a revocation of the letters of probate, heretofore granted by the Surrogate on the will of John Mason, deceased. On the 20th June, 1842, the probate of the will before granted, was confirmed by the Surrogate. An appeal was taken from the Surrogate to the Circuit Judge, by whom the decision was also affirmed. The parties again appealed to the Chancellor, which appeal was heard, pursuant to law, before the general term of the Supreme Court, and on that appeal the order of the Surrogate, admitting the will to probate, and of the Circuit Judge affirming such order, were each of them reversed upon questions of fact. Had the order of decision of the Supreme Court ended with reversal, there would be no doubt of the propriety of granting this application to revoke the letters of probate, and to appoint an administrator of the estate. But the Supreme Court, at the same time, further ordered, that inasmuch as such reversal was founded upon a question of fact, that a feigned issue be made up between the parties, to try the question arising upon the application to prove said will. It is apparent from this order, that the Supreme Court did not intend to dispose finally of the case by this order, inasmuch as by the order, they evidently intended to exercise the power which, by statute, is conferred upon the Circuit Judge, for the purpose of trying before a jury the validity of the will, and if sustained, for sending it back to the Surrogate for probate again. It is contended on the part of the petitioner, that the portion of the order made by the Supreme Court is erroneous and void, and, therefore, that the whole decision of the court is a mere reversal of the judgment appealed from. The propriety of asking an inferior tribunal to decide upon the validity or regularity of the appellate court, to whose decisions obedience is to be yielded, may well be doubted. My acts in this matter are now subject to review by the Supreme Court, and I should hesitate very much before I would undertake to decide that the decision of that court in this matter is erroneous; nor is it clear that the view taken by the petitioner's counsel, of this order, is correct. Although the Chancellor may not have had the power to order a feigned issue to be made, still it is to be remembered that the Supreme Court is now vested with all the powers of Circuit Judges, as well as of the Court of Chancery; and when the decision of reversal, if enforced without the accompanying order for a feigned issue, would be conclusive as to the validity of the will so far as relates to the personal property, the power, if it does exist, of making such an order, should clearly be exercised. It is also said that this order is one which could not be appealed from, and the case of Reid vs. Vanderheyden, 5 Cowan, 727, is cited as authority to that effect; but that case shows that this portion of the order, now objected to, may be appealed from, because there the Court of Errors reversed just such an order for a feigned issue, made by the Court of Chancery for the same purpose. From the views above expressed, it will be seen that it is unnecessary for me, at the present time, to pass upon the merits of this motion. Until, by an application to the Supreme Court to modify the order made by them, or a renewal of it by the Court of Appeals, or the disposition of the question on a feigned issue, it would be premature in the Surrogate, or the First Judge acting in his place, to make any order interfering with the action of the Supreme Court in this matter. Reserving, therefore, any expression of opinion upon the merits involved in this application, until the Supreme Court shall make a final disposition of the case, I deny the application, for the cause above stated.

Court of General Sessions.

Before the Recorder and Aldermen Hawes and Miller.

JUNE 5.—More of the Milwaukie Bonds.—Alexander H. Jaudon, who stands impleaded with Cryder and McKay, in the indictment growing out of the celebrated Milwaukie bond case, was brought into court this morning, by officer Niven, and committed for trial.

Sentenced for Stealing Clothes.—A man named Charles Smith, who was indicted by the Grand Jury for stealing $20 worth of wearing apparel from Charles S. Jones, on the 26th of May, was this morning called to take his trial. He pleaded guilty to petit larceny, which plea was accepted, and the convict sentenced to the penitentiary for six months.

Charge of Altering a Promissory Note from $25 to $1,525.—A respectable looking young man, named Edwin Henry, was called to defend himself against a charge of forgery in the third degree, in altering a promissory note, given for the payment of $25, so as to make it appear that it was drawn for $1,525. The drawer of the note is Mr. J. O. Coursen. The following is a copy of it as it appears at present:—

"$1525 00. NEW YORK, June 15th, 1850.

Eight months after date, I promise to pay to the order of Edwin Henry, at the Union Bank, one thousand five hundred and twenty-five dollars. J. O. COURSEN.

"DUE YORK, 19, 51.—673.

Mr. Coursen being called to the stand, testified that the note here shown was the same paper which he signed, but when he signed it, it was a note for $25. He said the accused had sold him a dog, for which witness was to pay $15, and when the accused presented a note for $25 he asked what it meant, as the price agreed upon for the dog was but $15. Accused replied that $5 was for the keeping of the dog, and the other $5 for borrowed money, which he alleged witness owed him. With this explanation the note was signed by complainant; but he swears positively it was only for $25. (On the cross examination of this witness, it was proven that he suffered from a nervous disease, which impaired his memory somewhat; but "never," he said, "about money matters." It was also proven that the witness and accused had been engaged in some copartnership transactions, such as the purchase of a fast horse.)

The case is still pending—the prosecution had not closed when the court adjourned for the day.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, May 21.—Flour—Parcels of 50 barrels Baltimore are being moved at 28s., but smaller lots have been, and are still, taken at 28s. 6d. to 29s. There is no speculative demand whatever, and the market is well supplied. Meal—94 barrels fresh have changed hands at 16s. Old stock is scarcely saleable at 14s. Rice—Carolina is in heavy supply, with a very dull inquiry, and sales are difficult at 20s. per 100 lbs. Butter—400 small kegs Philadelphia have changed hands at 9d. per lb. Bread—Pilot is very dull of sale at 16s. to 18s. Crackers are also inactive at 22s. per barrel. Oil—All the late sales of cod were effected at 2s. 3d. per gallon. Stock very abundant, with small inquiry. Lard—American is inactive at 6½d. a 7d. per lb., with a large stock. Codfish—The sales of the cargoes which had been already opened at the date of our last, were for the most part closed at 19s. 6d. to 11s per thrce, and 14s. 6d. per box. Prices then advanced, and the next arrival was sold at 14s. for ordinary and 12s. for large fish, in casks, and 15s. per box. Some other operations have been made at 12s. per cask, and 15s. a 16s. per box. Holders are now firm, and evince no desire to press their stocks on the market. Boxes alone, however, are rather heavy, and there is still a rather large quantity of old on hand. Salmon—No. 1 has been sold at 72s., and No. 2 at 68s. to 70s., which rates may, however, be considered as the outside value of the article just now. Hams—American are very plentiful, and cannot be moved at anything near old. Soap—There has been nothing doing in Steele's, the sale of which is checked by the home made article. Beef—American "Prime" may be quoted at 40s. per half barrel. Corn—The market is now largely stocked both with North and South American. Philadelphia has changed hands at 5s. per bag.
