THE WHIGS TALKING OF A NEW PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE—MR. BENNETT'S NEW LAND BILL—THE MINNESOTA INDIAN TREATY—THE FLORIDA SENATORSHIP, &C.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.]

WASHINGTON, June 10—7 P. M.

It is believed here that an attempt will be made to unite all portions of the whig party, by adopting a new man as the whig nominee. Incipient overtures have already been made by certain Scott men in New York to this effect. Mr Graham's speech to-day has created a sensation. He is regarded as a cool man, and his assertions, therefore, carry great strength with them.

Mr. Bennett's land scheme it is now thought, will not pass even with the little hold cut to the land states, its principle is precisely the reverse of that contained in the various bills granting lands in aid of the construction of railroads. The latter asks for alternate sections, giving an equivalent in the building of the road, and provides that the reserved sections shall be sold at double the present minimum price, and as the roads are to be built where the land is the most valuable, only a comparatively little is granted, but afford the government at the same time as large receipts for the reserved lands as the whole would bring provided United States roads were constructed, thus fulfilling the double object of settling the country rapidly, and increasing the receipts from land sales.

The Senate, in executive session, was again engaged to-day in discussing the Minnesota Indian treaty, but without coming to a decision. It is evident, however, that the treaty cannot be passed unless it is amended. The great objection is that it leaves in possession of the Indians a strip of the best land, one hundred and fifty miles long and twenty miles broad on each side of the Minnesota river. The world of course, place the Indians between the settlers and the river. The amount of land ceded by the treaty is over thirty millions of acres.

The committee in the Florida election case heard Mr. Stanton, of Kentucky, in behalf of Mr Yulee, this morning. Mr. Stanton's address was a masterly legal argument, and is highly spoken of. The facts, however are all in favor of Mr Mallory, the sitting member, who it is supposed
