MR. EDITOR—DEAR SIR—SEEING A COMMUNICATion in this day's paper asking for information respecting the excursion of the Washington Association, I have to state that it was the intention of the Association not to advertise their excursion this season, as the members of the Association had rather not sell a ticket than have the boat so crowded as to prevent really the pleasure of an large excursions, where tickets are forced upon the public. It is to avoid this that caused the Association to issue the small number of two hundred tickets, so that they might be distributed amongst the most ardent friends of the Association, and which would insure a select party, therefore those who may expect to have a day's enjoyment with their families and friends. In answer to the communication will take the liberty of stating that the tickets which are left can be procured of Matthew H. Chase, Donald Sheriff, W. W. Osborne, 260 Grand street; W. H Smith's office 90½ Eldridge street; and James Griffith, Treasurer 14 Delaware street. The steamboat and barge leave Carroll street, at 7 A. M.; pier No. 3 North river, at 7½ A. M. Gowanus creek, East river, at 8 A. M. Dodsworth's celebrated Band is engaged for the occasion, and will play some new music composed expressly for the Association. Respectfully yours
JOHN H ELIOT, Secretary, Sheriff's Office.
N. B—Tickets $2, admitting a gentleman and two ladies; extra ladies' tickets, 50 cents.

CORRESPONDENCE—TO THE EDITORS OF THE Brooklyn Morning Journal—Gentlemen—I respectfully request of you to publish the following card in your widely circulated journal, conscious that you are the friends and exponents of justice and truth. Your journal and several Brooklyn and New York journals have copied, I believe, from the Eagle, the article I allude to, so injurious in its meaning, to our Company, and that article has been satisfactorily corrected by all the journals, except the Eagle. We are well aware that the author of that article did, maliciously, intend to injure our Company, and the Editors of the Eagle did so, not only to our Company, but to the cause for which our picnic was got up. In order to draw them out to an explanation of their object in acting as, I wish to give them "enough" than a fair chance, by publishing the following card, although they cannot deny but that they have expected to be personally waited on to do an apology—

To the Editors of the Brooklyn Eagle:—Gentlemen—You have circulated a report in your journal of the 19th July, in relation to the Shields Guard Excursion. You represent the affair as disgraceful, and ending in bloodshed. You also stated that the officers of the Company had to submit to the rowdies, and beg their pardon, fearing that they might be thrown overboard. All this you have set before the public as strictly and literally true. You have been called on, on different times, to contradict your wanton report, but you have not done so as yet. I anticipate you will contradict, or substantiate, what I call a slanderous, malicious, lying, contemptible report, ere long, which you, or some of your clique put forth from under your wings. If all the Eagle tribe be so badly disposed as one Brooklyn bird, we should like not to have anything to do with it. We ask no protection from him, but we ask for fair play and justice—and that we will have. The Eagle is always remarkable for a rancorous disposition, ready to swallow what he cannot easily digest, and our Brooklyn one has some servants connected with its public masters, who cannot, evidently, go in without an invitation, or if they do, they cannot properly administer to the old bird's taste. I do not, therefore, wonder at his evacuations, resulting in bluster. But if the bit the poor fellow swallowed should be too painful to him, we will cheerfully dispense with the occasion. The Shields Guard decline him and the writer of that contemptible article; but we respectfully inform him and his tribe, to seek for a peck's worth other quarter, for the future. The Guards are fond of poultry, but I believe such an old bird as he cannot be very palatable, although his feathers might draw something handsome.
THOMAS M'CARTY, Captain Shields Guards.
