proving rapidly. He rather astonished us at times, though he, too, must come under our common sentence of inequality in his parts. Though often brilliant, he was now and then dull. Taffanelli we did not like. He misconceived his part, sung poorly, and asked the audience (by his looks) to applaud him.

G. V. Brooke appeared at Drury Lane on the 30th, for a six weeks' engagement.

Bulwer's play of "Money" was played at Windsor Castle, Jan 14, before the Queen, her family and guests—Charles Kean as Evelyn, Walter Lacy as Sir Frederick Blount, Webster as Graves, Buckstone as Stout, Alfred Wigan as Dudley Smooth, Misses Murray and Heath as Georgiana and Clara Douglas, and Mrs. Winstanley in poor Mrs. Glover's famous part of Lady Franklin. The last of the Windsor theatricals took place on the 28th. Charles Kean continues to act as director.

At the Olympic, "The First Night," produced three years ago at the Princess's, has been revived. Alfred Wigan (by far the best Frenchman now on the English stage—better than Ranger) playing Achille Talma Dufard, a French actor who will make his daughter act. Miss P. Horton has that part and does it justice. This drama is a translation of "La Peri de la Debutante," a very clever French vaudeville. [This piece was played last week at Burton's; the principal parts were very well done by H. Placide and Mrs. Burton.]

Actors, it is said, are bountifully paid in Australia. Mr. and Mrs. Stark, from America, are reported to be among the most successful, receiving sixty pounds a week, though not first rate.

A new soprano, M'lle Louise Michelle has made a great hit at Stockholm.

THE STREET PREACHING AGAIN.—Yesterday afternoon the street preacher, West, who has lately been made notorious by his arrest for street harangues, held out in a vacant lot in Fourteenth street, near the Eighth avenue. There were more than a thousand people present to listen to the violent denunciations of the second martyr for his freedom of speech. Brother Parsons was the first, and Mr. West followed in his footsteps. There was much excitement in the audience, which was a strange grouping of upper tendom, Short Boys, Rock Boys, Know nothings and Hibernians. When the preacher was too violent in his allusion to the Pope and Catholicism, some of the Romish faith ventured to raise their voice in opposition, relying for protection upon their right of freedom of speech, for which all so loudly clamored. But no sooner was a sentence of opposition expressed than he who uttered it was stopped by those around him, and hurried off to the nearest station house. During the afternoon several were carried off and locked up for imprudently raising their voice in support of the Roman See. The preacher West seemed to be the commander of the crowd, for as soon as any disturbance took place he ceased his harangue and directed his men here and there to the best advantage, till the fight was over and order was restored. The aristocracy of Fourteenth street ventured to peep from behind their damask window curtains upon the immense crowd which filled the street, and some appeared a little alarmed that the contest for freedom of speech should be brought so near their own doors. The lower window blinds of several of the houses in the neighborhood were shut and the stone steps and parlor balconies were filled by the unterrified champions of free utterance of opinions. It was dark last night before the meeting adjourned.

NEW YORK STATE POULTRY SOCIETY.—The first annual fair of this society will be held at Albany on the 7th, 8th, and 9th days of February inst. The object of this society is the improvement of domestic poultry, which has been, heretofore, much neglected. Guinea hens, turkeys, Shanghaes, and many other specimens of the gallinaceous tribe will be exhibited and prizes awarded for the best. To the farmer nothing is a source of greater interest, and, in some instances, profit, than the fowls that are raised upon his premises. State fairs have long been giving encouragement to the best cultivation of horses and cattle and other live stock, but we believe it is yet an original idea in this country to extend the rewards of State exhibitions to the best specimens of the feathered tribes, though there is no reason why it should be so. This idea, we believe, is an old one in England, and a great exhibition of poultry has just closed in London. From one of the English papers received by the last steamer we clip the following, showing how these exhibitions are regarded abroad.

GREAT METROPOLITAN EXHIBITION OF POULTRY.—The interest excited by this novel exhibition of live stock appears to be daily on the increase. The committee to whom the conduct of the show has been confided resolved to lower the price of admission yesterday, and the effect was a large concourse of visitors. At one period the crowd was so great that it was difficult to move along the promenade. The wild uproar caused by nearly four thousand birds added very much to the novelty of the spectacle, which all admitted to be extremely curious in its way. The pen of Bramah Poutras (No. 488) bred by Dr. Gwynne, of Sandbach, Cheshire, was sold to the Rev. Mr. Calvert for £40. The Silver Fox and fowls (No. 786) were purchased by Mr. Brunnel for ten guineas. There was a brisk demand not only for the younger stock, but also for many of the first class birds. Lord Robert Grosvenor claimed No. 135, Class VI., a Dorking cock and two pullets bred by Mr. Edward Terry, of Aylesbury. These birds obtained the second prize in the class and were sold to his lordship for £15. Several ladies became purchasers. Lady East bought several lots. The Spanish, Polish, and Cochin fowls have lined a great quantity of eggs since their imprisonment in the pens, but the committee have not allowed any to be sold, lest the interests of the exhibitors might suffer. A pin hole is made in each egg, by which the possibility of their being hatched is effectually prevented. They are then given to the subscribers and their friends. The number of pens sold up to last evening was one hundred, and the amount received £700. Among the distinguished visitors to the exhibition yesterday were Lord Berwick, Lord Hastings, Lord Robert Grosvenor, the Hon. Mr. Astley, the Hon. and Rev. Noel Hill, Lady East, &c. The exhibition will finally close to-morrow evening, and many of the birds remaining unsold will be disposed of by auction, the risk of returning them many miles into the country being very great.

The exhibition of next week, we understand from the gentlemanly Corresponding Secretary of the Association, Richard C. McCormick, Esq., will be a large and interesting one, well worthy of the co-operation of New York farmers.

SUDDEN DEATH OF PETER MCLAUGHLIN, ONE OF THE ALMSHOUSE GOVERNORS.—On Saturday evening Mr. Peter McLaughlin, one of the Almshouse Governors, died suddenly at his residence in Henry street. A special meeting of the Board of Governors will be held at their rooms at 10 o'clock this forenoon, to order to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. McLaughlin a nomination is made by the Board of Governors to the Governor of the State, who makes the appointment.

FIRE.—Yesterday morning, about 1½ o'clock, a fire was discovered on the first floor of store No. 441 Eighth avenue, occupied by Robert Silversting as a clothing store. The fire was confined to the first story. The damage was about $1,100, covered by an insurance of $1,600 in the Columbia and La Farge insurance companies. The houses adjoining are private dwellings, and at the late hour of the fire all the occupants were in bed. There was much confusion and alarm when they were aroused by the cry of fire.

At the same hour of the above fire yesterday morning another broke out in the carpenter shop of Josiah Mapy, in Twenty second street, near Second avenue. This was extinguished after much difficulty. The loss was about $600, said to be uninsured.

At about 1½ o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the lower part of building corner of Elm and Walker streets, in the cabinetmaker's shop of Nayer Newmaster, whose loss will be from $400 to $500. The second story, occupied by jewellers, was damaged by fire and water about $200. The third story, occupied as work shops, was damaged about $50. No insurance. The building was damaged to the extent of $300—likewise no insurance.

ANOTHER DESCENT UPON A LOTTERY DEALER—ARREST OF THE PROPRIETOR, AND SEIZURE OF 75,000 TICKETS, ALSO BOOKS AND OTHER EVIDENCES OF GUILT.

It was but the other day that two men named M'Donald were arrested by the police, charged with dealing in lottery policies, under the assumed name of Mars & Co, and the magistrate, Justice Welsh, before whom they were taken, required them to find bail in the sum of $2,000 each, to answer the charge.

On Saturday afternoon the police made another haul, in a more extensive establishment, kept by Henry F. Cooley, at No. 114 Fulton street, on the complaint of Edwin H. Crowley, residing at No. 44 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, who sets forth in an affidavit before Justice Wood, that on the 1st inst. he purchased three lottery tickets for $1 each, from Mr. Cooley; and further, that the said Cooley is the agent for R. France & Co., of Baltimore, for whom a very extensive business is carried on in this city, in the sale of said lottery tickets. Upon the above evidence the magistrate issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Cooley, and in addition a process to search the premises, with a view of finding evidence to establish the guilt of the accused party.

The search warrant and warrant of arrest were placed in the hands of Sergeants S. J. Smith and Maussléd, of the lower police court, who, on Saturday afternoon, proceeded forthwith to Cooley's office, situated on the second floor of No. 114 Fulton street. Mr. Cooley was then taken into custody, and upon searching the office the officers found some seventy five thousand lottery tickets, together with schemes, books, &c., exhibiting to the fullest extent the nefarious business carried on. All these evidences of guilt were seized by the officers, and, together with Mr. Cooley, were conveyed before Justice Wood, who, on the evidence produced, required Mr. Cooley to find bail in the sum of $2,000 to answer the charge. Yesterday Mr. John F. Scott, of No. 156½ Fulton street, became the required security, and Mr. Cooley was liberated from custody.

Disorderly Conduct at the Museum.—On Saturday afternoon, three young men, named McCabe, Dwyse, and Jones, were conducting themselves very disorderly in Barnum's Museum, so that it became necessary to call in the aid of the police. Officers Johns, Knapp and others, endeavored to restore order, when the officers were assaulted and their clothing torn; further assistance was then procured, and the trio were conducted to the Tombs. One of them, however, became so unruly that it was found necessary to ride him up on a cart. A large crowd of people were soon collected, and continued to follow the officers up to the police court. Justice Osborne before whom they were taken, required them each to find bail in the sum of $300, and in default thereof they were committed to prison.

Passing Forged Checks.—In November last, a man named Stephen Lyons was arrested while endeavoring to get a forged check of $982 cashed at the Union Bank. The check purported to be made by Dubois & Vandervoort; and now Lyons asserts that the said check was given to him by a man named James H. Rogers, who has been arrested on the charge; but unless the evidence of Lyons is properly corroborated the magistrate will not hold Mr. Rogers to answer the charge.

A Charge of Passing Counterfeit Money.—Four women named Margaret Donohoe, Ann Hearn, Mary Condon and Mary Curren were on Saturday arrested by officers Barrett, Riker and others, of the Sixth ward police, charged with passing altered bank bills purporting to be genuine $3 bills on the Union Bank, Albany. The spurious money was passed on Henry Meyer, James Montgomery and others, who will make their formal affidavits in the matter on Monday morning. The accused parties were committed to prison for an examination.

Charge of Embezzlement.—Officer Masterson, of the Chief's office, on Saturday arrested a young man named Ambrose W. Leet, clerk in the employment of Mr. Edward Morrison, broker, No. 51 William street, on a charge of taking money at various times from the office, without the consent of his employer. The accused, on the charge, was conveyed before Justice Osborn, who detained him in custody for a further examination.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR:—In your edition of the 3d inst., appears an article headed "Narrow escape from drowning," which is a great libel, and considering the injustice it has done to us, as some person or persons, for reasons unknown, have given public city to such lies as are contained in that statement, we feel satisfied of its contradiction when you are informed of the true state of affairs.

Mr. Cavanagh, after having fallen overboard, set up a cry for help, which was heard by the boat men and night inspectors employed in the revenue barge office, Whitehall; one of whom, Mr. Jas. Mooney, and one of the new contraband, Mr. Jas. Coey, immediately procured a boat and went to his assistance. They found him clinging to a spike on the south west corner of the Barge office dock, and no person near him except the remaining bargemen and night inspectors, who were standing on the dock. Upon throwing in the oars, and reaching for the drowning man, some individual came running down the dock in an excited state, and jumped into the boat with force sufficient to have sunk her. Fortunately there was no injury done. Mr. Cavanagh was then put into the boat by all three, and taken on shore. He was then placed in charge of a pilot and dock hand of a ferry boat, at the solicitation of the ferry master, who said they were acquaintes with his (Cavanagh's) son.

After we had rescued Mr. Cavanagh, and saw him safe, we retired, and felt that we had done our duty, and not wishing to give publicity to the fact we remained silent; but whereas others are receiving what is not their just due, we deem it a duty to ourselves and the public to show to whom the honor is due. It is also quite evident that Mr. Cavanagh did not fall from the ferry boat, as stated, but from the barge office dock, as it would have been impossible for him to get where he was rescued, taking into consideration the coldness of the night and the immense quantities of ice, had he fallen from the boat; moreover, he was directed but a few minutes previous to the ferry on the New York side.

(Signed) JAMES MOONEY.
JAS. COEY.

The undersigned witnessed the above occurrence.

The Land of Gold—No 3.

For the flood of the storm spread his wings on the blast,
And the rain at his bidding came "sudden and fast"—
And the waters were raised till each creek was a flood,
And provisions went up on account of the mud!

If those men had ever lived in New York, they never would have called anything less than knee deep by the name of mud. Yet, mud or not rain or shine, ROOT'S great daguerrean gallery, 363 Broadway, is constantly filled with delighted customers, who know first that he is the best artist in the country, and next, that he has been honored with the World's Fair medal, which proves the fact.

The Cheap Daguerreotypes by Reese & Co. are alike important to the people, with every other good and cheap thing which is offered. Portraits for 25 cents never were thought of until this company introduced the German system of picture making at No. 289 Broadway.

Highest Premium Festival.—The only silver medal given at the World's Fair in New York, in 1853, on boots and shoes of any description, was awarded to Messrs. Frothingham, Newell & Co., of No. 57 Broadway, New York city, who exhibited a very extensive and costly case of ladies', misses' and children's fine boots and shoes, of their own manufacture. The proprietors of this magnificent case of boots and shoes, with characteristic liberality, have acknowledged their obligations to the workmen and workwomen who were engaged in the manufacture of the goods, by giving them a festival, on the evening of the 23 inst. The entertainment was conducted by Mr. J. Farnsworth, the superintending manufacturer of the case of goods, whose consummate skill as a manufacturer, and department as a gentleman, have gained for him the admiration and esteem of those who have labored under his direction. This gentleman delivered on the occasion with a poetic address, which was at once appropriate, pointed and witty, and was received with particular favor. Sparkling beauty and sparkling champagne furnished delight and merriment, and speeches, toasts, conundrums, songs and jokes rendered the occasion altogether a pleasing and joyful one. And for ourselves and other companions in the strife, we tender our thanks for the entertainment, which has given us real pleasure.
