when he will have to submit to re-election. As the commissioners, who will have a veto upon his appointment will be themselves the creatures of the Board of Aldermen, the object of this limitation is obvious. The framers of this measure hope thereby to get rid of an obnoxious functionary, and to substitute another who will be willing to prostitute himself and his office to the furtherance of party interests. To any one acquainted with the manner in which the masses are moved in this city, it is needless to say that a Chief of Police who is not over scrupulous, can exercise an amount of political influence throughout the different wards that will suffice to turn the fate of an election. In this fact will be found the clue to this project of police reform, which would be otherwise unexplainable on the grounds of its own merits, or of the evils which it professes to remedy. It is a party move, so transparent in its objects that there is but little danger that any one will be deceived by it.

To Sir James Boorman Sir—A Committee of the Vestry of Trinity Church, of which I have the honor to be a member, published last week a reply to the misrepresentations of the motives, actions, and history of that body, which you had in various ways circulated among the citizens of New York, and which you had so circulated in order to induce them to dig up the dust in their oldest graveyard for the advantage of property belonging to you and a few of those whom you were pleased to stile "small traders and mechanics" and to whom you patronizingly proffer your protection. In your own name you attacked the personal motives of the Vestry of Trinity Church, and to you, there fore, we properly replied, in the name of A Trinity Church Vestryman offering to you a responsible name as the only person having any right to it. Instead of adhing for that name like any ordinary man, you address a magnilloquent and dictatorial note to the editor of the Daily Times, in which, as if you had bought him and his journal for twopence a day, you demand that he shall publish the names responsible for the statement of facts which gives you so much annoyance. You were not obeyed. A similar note addressed to the editor of the Tribune brought an appliea tion from him to the office and Inquirer, for the names, which had been left there with the original manuscript. They were very properly refused. The application was then made on your behalf, and the names of the committee were immediately furnished to your messenger, and appeared the next morning at the foot of your ukase, according to your command.

From that committee you have chosen to single me as the head and front of those who have dared to offend you; and in "Card" published yesterday, you call me a bitter and calumniator," who "shrinks from his position to be shielded by his colleagues." In reply to this I will only say, that I would esteem it an honor to be thought even by you the most prominent opponent of the measure of which you have made yourself the most prominent advocate. As to the "bluster ing" on this question, let the public decide on which side that is. As to the calumny of the vestry of which you so gratuitously and erroneously give me the sole credit, let me tell you exactly in what that calumny consisted. It consisted in merely stating and proving, by your own words and by notorious acts, that you have sought to cast odium upon Trinity Church by calling its Vestry successors to a regal hierachy, when you knew that the same description will apply to any time-honored public institution in the land; that you sought to array sectarian bitterness against Trinity Church by speaking of yourself as of "the Presbyterian denomination, whose principles are of the voluntary type," when you know that Trinity Church does not in any respect differ from your own respected denomination in that regard; that you published a petition asking for the opening of Albany street through the graveyard with a statement that you never gave for that purpose; that you endeavored to create a belief that a Rector of Trinity Church refused a grave in the site of your proposed street to Revolutionary soldiers, when you could not but know that neither Rector nor Vestry could refuse it to any inhabitant of the city; that you openly and directly perverted an isolated passage in the report of a committee of this body, into a statement that we believe that there were no Revolutionary soldiers buried in our graveyard, when you knew that very passage was written to urge the necessity of the record and the monument the absence of which it deplored that you revived a stale slander which had been publicly extinguished by the certificate of a public officer made nine years ago; that unable to find any others, you substituted, personally, malicious motives to the Vestry of Trinity Church for opposing a sacrilegious measure, when you knew and had confessed that that "invariable opposition began half a century ago before some of them were born, one before any of them knew whether there was any Mr. James Boorman; and finally that you had, on your own confession, owned or occupied for twenty-five years a principal part of the property which you would be benefited by the measure which the Vestry of Trinity Church, as keepers of a sacred public trust, have for fifty years opposed. It suits you to call this the "abusive and vindictive" production of a "bluustering calumniator," and it is not surprising that when it is publicly shown, for the public good, that a man says one thing when, unless he is "clean daft" he knows to the contrary, and that he has said so for the purpose of securing what he avows to be his interest, it is not surprising, that he should think this abusive, vindictive and calumnious. We have all seen men who were made objects of public interest by the testimony of witnesses, the argument of a District Attorney, the verdict of a jury, and the sentence of a Judge, denounce Judge, jury, District Attorney, and above all witnesses, as "abusive and vindicative calumniators." We pardon them on account of the peculiarity of their position; and so sir, I pardon you. You have no right to shield me only; but I think from no position which I assume personally or as one Trinity Church Vestryman in a Committee of Vestrymen; and neither I nor my colleagues need or desire to seek shelter in each other's names against a man who stands in the position in which you have placed yourself before the public. We do not present you to the citizens of New York as the only responsible party for the projected desecration of the burial ground located up in their oldest cemetery, but you, in the Journal of Commerce of February 9th, and in subsequent publications, have put yourselves forward as the principal advocate of that desecration, and the one to be most largely benefitted by it, and promised your protection to the "small traders and mechanics among your neighboring proprietors." Now, when "gravelled for lack of matter" you attempt to put from you wish to "shrink from your position." It is natural that you should desire it; but it cannot be done. It is one of those things that money cannot buy, and that audacity cannot accomplish. It is well that your "self respect" will secure you from the indiscretion of further controversy, as its power in other directions appears to be very undefined. You say that we "are the least of evils" the proposed desecration of a vast mass of human remains which lie in your way to farther fortune a "desecration" of our grounds; and you will observe that I individually am also still pleased so to call it. Yes; that is exactly what I think it. I am very willing to be held up as one who thinks it "desecration" to dig up and cart off tens of thousands of square feet of human mould which has been accumulating for centuries, and I equally pleased that you should select me as the object and a paper to which I am a party as the occasion of your sneer at such a sentiment. Your calumnious inuendo against one of my colleagues, announcing that you "feel it a duty to say" that he is not some other gentleman whose good standing you put in jeopardy by attempting to patronise him into respectability. I leave to that colleague, who is quite able either to disregard or to repel it, himself against the shuffling sneer which you "feel it a duty" to direct against him. But the world will think with me and Cymbeline, that,

"this looks as like
A thing more made of malice than of duty."

With your excuses to those gentlemen whose names you have used for a purpose for which they did not give them, I have no personal concern and none officially; except, that as you have made those excuses public as part of this controversy which you have forced upon us, the public should be informed that, although you well know that a large proportion of those names have been formally withdrawn, you have still continued to distribute the pamphlet in which they appear attached to the petition for a measure to which those who bear them are opposed.

March 3, 1854. ANTHONY J. BLEECKER.

Cheaper than ever. At GUION'S, 127 Bowery.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir, or Cordial.—It is in quired how this great remedy is accomplishing such extraordinary cures, we can only reply that in the Arabian herb that forms the cordial ingredient, have been blended, by the Omnipotent Physician a larger amount and greater varieties of curative properties than had heretofore been supposed to exist in an hundred different articles of the pharmacopœia. A whole medicine chest of remedies, so to speak, seems to have been combined in this herb; and in the elixir or cordial we have the quintessence of all. It is the effect, however, not the cause, with which we have to deal in the practical application of the medicine. The victims of dyspepsia are cured, the nervous are relieved, the half-paralyzed resume their activity, the sufferers from headache are tormented no more, the weak become vigorous, the tint of jaundice leaves the complexion of the bilious, the depressed in spirits become buoyant, the sick in almost every condition of disease derive immediate benefits from the use of Dr. Morse's invigorating elixir or cordial. These facts, supported by irretragable proof, are presented to the attention of invalids, who can verify them by a single bottle of the medicine. The cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price $3 per bottle, two for $5, six for $12. C. H. RING, proprietor, 192 Broadway. Sold by druggists throughout the United States and Canada.

A Wonderful Discovery has recently been made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the treatment of consumption, asthma and all diseases of the lungs. We refer to "Dr. Curtis' hygeana, or inhaling hygean vapor and cherry syrup." With this new method Dr. C. has restored many afflicted ones to perfect health as an evidence of which he has innumerable certificates. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks:—"It is evident that by inhaling constantly breathing an agreeable, healing vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the aerial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion." ASTHMA CURED.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 20, 1853.
For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my sufferings were so great at times that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis' hygeana or inhaling hygean vapor and cherry syrup. At the time I first obtained it I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the inhaler to my stomach and took a teaspoonful of the cherry syrup I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is—try it.
MARGARET EASTON.
Sold by BOYD & PAUL, No. 40 Cortlandt street, agents; C. H. RING, corner of John street and Broadway N. Y. Price $3 a package; P. B.—Any person inclosing $3 to Boyd & Paul or Curtis & Perkins, New York will receive a package containing a bottle of hygean vapor, one of cherry syrup and an inhaler, in a neat box, by express, free to any part of the United States; or four packages for $10. The hygeana is for sale at all the druggists in the country.

Those who fear Small pox Read.—Brandreth's Pills, established 1751.—These celebrated pills are greatly valued for their mildness, innocence and vigorous qualities as medicine for cleansing the stomach and bowels and blood from all impurities. Their use prevents or greatly moderates sickness of a contagious nature. It is a fact well established, that when a person is relieved with an infectious disease, it is because there is something in the state of his animal economy which fits it to receive the poison of infection. Brandreth's pills take "this something" out of the system upon which contagion finds a resting place; those who use them may walk through pestilential places without fear. Sold at 25 cents per box with full directions, at 68 Lispenard street, 241 Hudson street, and 274 Bowery. After the first of May Dr. Brandreth's office will be at 417 Broadway, corner of Canal street.

Redding's Russia Salve, a Boston Remedy of thirty years standing, cures without fail, burns, scalds, boils, chilblains, chapped hands, piles and every outward injury or eruption. A. B. & D. Sands, wholesale agents. Sold by C. H. Ring, corner of John street and Broadway, and by druggists and apothecaries generally.

Fits—Fits—Fits.—We Advise such of our readers as are troubled with this horrible malady, to remit immediately to Mr SETH S. HANCE, 168 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md., and procure a supply of his vegetable extract epileptic pills. His prices are $3 for a single box, or two boxes for $5. On the receipt of a remittance, he will send them to any part of the United States or British provinces, free of postage.

The funeral will take place on Sunday, at 2 P. M., from the church in Wayne street.

On Wednesday, March 1, Joseph Edward, only son of Joseph Jay and Florence Smith, aged 6 months and 26 days.

He rests in Greenwood.

He took the cup of life to sip,
But bitter 'twas to drain;
He put it gently from his lips,
And went to sleep again.
