Mr. J. S. Shields, Commission Merchant, Louisville, Ky., is in the city for a few days, at the Astor House. Persons having any business with Louisville would do well to call on him.

Challenge! Challenge! Challenge!—Here and there, and everywhere—on the lamp post, on the wall, in the papers—daily and all! Look to the East, it is Challenge! to the West, it is Challenge! to the North and to the South, still Challenge is the mystic word full in the people's face. What doth it mean? Hollins knocked down Greytown in the first heat, and has, therefore, the lion and the unicorn of England challenged the stars and stripes of America? Guess not. Have the filibusters attacked Cuba? and has that pleasant lady, the Queen of Spain, sent President Pierce a challenge by the hands of Minister Soulé, who has recently sloped from Madrid? Guess not. Has Sickles found the pickles Peabody sent too peppery, and has he challenged the Peabody to mortal combat, even on the "field of the cloth of gold" where Albert, Prince of England, did lately, with loving hug, Napoleon No 2 unfold? Guess not. Has McMichael come to time at last within the Quaker City, and dared the cooper not to fight without remorse or pity? Guess not. Are the Roman Catholics going to swallow us whole? and have the universal nation and the rest of mankind been challenged by the Pope to stop him from rolling the sweet morsel under his tongue? Guess not. What, then, does all this Challenge mean? We lift the curtain to let the full light of the Challenge in the face of the public. The Challenge is simply a challenge for the public to buy and read the Challenge or American Sporting Gazette, a new and the best sporting journal ever published in the United States, and comparing favorably with any issued in Europe. It fills a void in American literature, long waiting to be filled. It will be a complete and reliable sporting chronicle, containing the latest sporting news both of this country and Europe, and embracing a series of lives and portraits of all the celebrated modern champions of the ring; also, intensely interesting tales and sketches, reports of target and military excursions races, fairs, &c. The head of the Challenge is one of the most beautiful allegorical engravings illustrative of sport ever published, and cost over $200. The Challenge will also, from time to time, contain other fine engravings. The first number will be ready on Wednesday afternoon, October 4. Sold everywhere. Retail price, 6 cents per copy; subscription, $3 per year. Office NELSON & CO., No. 86 Nassau street.

A New York Map and Guide to Routes, fairs, hotels, points of interest, &c., is contained in the American Agriculturist of the week—price six cents. Published by ALLEN & CO., 189 Water street. Sold by all newsmen.

Clothing, at 111 Fulton and 50 Ann street.— The great desideratum in the purchase of clothing, is to obtain garments that in their fit are perfect, and such as combine with durability both elegance and economy. Confident that in the manufacturing of their clothing they have arrived at a no small degree of perfection, and that in the above mentioned particulars their garments excel, the subscribers would invite all purchasers to examine their stock for the fall and winter seasons, which is replete with every thing new and desirable, both in style and material. A choice stock of cloths, cassimeres and vesting always on hand, from which garments will be made to order in the best manner, and at the shortest notice.
HEWIT, COULSON & CO.,
111 Fulton street and 50 Ann street.

What Claims have Drumgold & Proch, No. 126 Fulton street, on the New York people, that they are so bountifully patronized? asks some old fogy; nothing more than that their stock of fall and winter clothing cannot be surpassed, either in style, make, or variety, and further they allow no one to undersell them.

$50,000 Worth of Fashionable Winter clothing, manufactured by one of the leading houses in Broadway, for sale at half price, at E. EVANS' clothing warehouse, 66 and 68 Fulton street. Bank of Washtenaw 50 cents on the dollar.

Just Received—1,000 Overcoats, $5 Each dress and frock coats $6, cost originally $16; 2,000 pairs cassimere pants at $3, cost $6—last year's make.
GEO. LEVIE, corner Nassau and Beekman streets.

One Price, and that the Lowest in the trade, is the business principle at Union Hall, the great metropolitan and national clothing warehouse, corner of Fulton and Nassau streets. The stock of gentlemen's and boys' fall clothing is the largest, the most varied, and the most fashionable in New York.

Boughton & Knapp, 19 Cortlandt street, have on hand one of the best stocks of men's and boys' clothing in the city, adapted to city trade, or southern and western markets, at the very lowest cash prices. Call and examine for yourselves.

Opening of the Fur Season at Genin's Bazaar—Ladies are requested to bear in mind that on Wednesday, the 4th of October, Genin's magnificent stock of fancy furs for the winter of 1854-5 will be opened at the Bazaar, 513 Broadway. This rare assortment will include Russian and Hudson's Bay sable, royal ermine, martin, chinchilla, Isabella bear, silver fox, mink, fitch, and every other description of fur usual for ladies wear. The muffs, victorines, cloaks, tippets, cuffs, &c., are made up in the new styles announced in Paris for the coming winter, and the great beauty and variety of the stock will render this exhibition of furs one of the finest that has ever taken place in New York. GENIN'S Bazaar, 513 Broadway, St Nicholas Hotel.

"I am Disappointed in Not Being Disappointed," as the gentleman said, who had tried a hundred shirt makers, and found them all unpunctual; but realized at GREEN'S, No. 1 Astor House the true meaning of perfect fits and conscientious promises.

Kidder's Gas Regulator saves Twenty-five per cent with a better light.
MANHATTAN GAS WORKS, Oct. 23, 1852.
The Gas Regulator of Dr. Kidder is, in my opinion, the most valuable instrument for regulating the flow of gas to the burners that I have ever seen. It is correct in principle, and will accomplish admirably the objects for which it was designed. It will insure great steadiness in the lights, and as the pressure at the metre is by this instrument reduced considerably below that on the street mains, it will enable the consumer to gain an equal amount of light at a smaller expenditure for gas; for the less the pressure under which the gas is consumed, the greater is the amount of light obtained.
CHARLES ROOME, Engineer M. Gas Light Co.
Orders received at 262 Broadway.
