Another Conviction for Manslaughter.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Hon. Judge Mitchell presiding.

TRIAL OF CHARLES GRAHAM, FOR THE ALLEGED MURDER OF JOHN WILSON, BOTH SAILORS.

Oct. 12.—This case, though not so extensively circulated by the public press as one which was terminated the previous week, of a somewhat similar character, and committed by a wealthy man of the same name, came on for trial yesterday. The prisoner—a sailor, who was in such indigent circumstances that he could not afford a cost to appear in court on his trial for life or death—was gratuitously and ably defended by Messrs E. & J. J. Blankman. The alleged offence was committed on board the ship Knickerbocker, whilst lying in this port, on the 8th of June last. A statement of the facts, or ante-mortem deposition, was made by the deceased man, John Wilson, on the 15th inst. following before Dr. Hilton, in his capacity as coroner, and an inquest held on the deceased, at the New York Hospital, on the 21st, by Coroner Gamble.

No person witnessed the unfortunate affray, which occurred in the forecastle; and the only individual—a boy named Harry called Scottie—who knew anything of the details had sailed shortly afterward with the rest of the crew for New Orleans, and thence to Europe. The whole interest and merits of the trial, therefore, centred in the admissibility of the dying declaration of Wilson (alleged to have been made four days previous to his death), and the amount or degree of reliance to be placed on its statements. A warm discussion ensued between the District Attorney (for the prosecution), by whom it was very strongly pressed, and Messrs. E. & J. B. Blankman, the counsel for the prisoner, and much eloquence displayed in advocating its acceptance or rejection. After lengthened arguments and the quotation of authorities, the Court admitted the following document, recognized as the dying statement of Wilson, amended by the verbal examination of Coroner Hilton, and subject to the exceptions taken by the prisoner's counsel:—

State of New York, City and County of New York, ss.—An inquisition taken at the New York Hospital, in the Fifth ward of said city and county, this 15th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty four, before Joseph Hilton, one of the Coroners of the city and county of New York, on view of the person of John Wilson then and there lying dangerously wounded, as notice thereof hath heretofore been given to the Coroner aforesaid.

Upon the oaths and affirmations of good and lawful men of the State of New York, duly sworn and affirmed, and charged to enquire on behalf of said people how and in what manner, and when and where the said person viewed as aforesaid was wounded, and who such person is, and late as to the circumstances attending such wounding, and who the party or parties were guilty of causing such wounding, whether as principals or accessories and in what manner guilty, upon their oaths or affirmations say, on true inquisition of the circumstances and matters aforesaid, according to the evidence offered, that the following named jurors, viz:—Geo. Cheetham, Jas. H. Peacock, John Cregan, Michael M'Keon, Henry Weather, Joseph Dean, Lyman Ward, Charles Goodsin, John Lang, Jacob Merx, John M. Wilson, L. S. Wells with the German aforesaid, whose respective names in verity of this inquisition are hereunto signed—attended at the time and place aforesaid in view of the said person dangerously wounded, and in presence of the aforesaid Graham, charged with privity to and knowledge of such wounding, and then and there caused the said John Wilson to be duly sworn and examined as a witness touching said wounding, who testified thereupon as follows:

John Wilson being duly sworn before me, one of the Coroners of the city and county of New York, and in the presence of the jury, deposes and says—"I feel that I am in a dangerous condition, and don't think that I shall live until this evening. On last Thursday, June 8th, P. M., about two o'clock, the prisoner Charles Graham, whom I now recognise, being present, was in company with myself on board of the ship Knickerbocker, which was then laying off pier 6, in the North river; while there I went from the starboard to the port side of the forecastle and turned into my bunk; at the time the prisoner was on the starboard side; after I turned in he came over to the bunk where I lay and told me to give him two dollars as he came over towards where I lay he drew his sheath knife from a sheath attached to a belt around his body; he held the knife in his right hand; when he asked me for the two dollars, I said "let me get up and go to my chest, and I will give it to you—I have not got it here;" I got up, went to my chest, put my hand into it, when I found that it had been broken open; I raised up the lid, and found that two pairs of pantaloons were gone; my money was in the pocket of one of these pair of pantaloons; at this time there was no person on the port side of the forecastle but the prisoner and myself, there were about a dozen of seamen and ordinary seamen on the starboard side of the forecastle at this time; they could not see me; there is a partition between the starboard and port side of the forecastle; at the time I was into my chest, I was in the position of stooping over it; the prisoner stood behind me and close to me; upon my discovering that my pantaloons were gone, I told him my money was gone, and I could not give him two dollars; when I said this I was leaning my hands against my chest; as soon as I said I could not give him the money he stabbed me in the back with the knife he held in his hand; I fell over on the floor, and could not rise; after stabbing me, the prisoner walked away and went out of the forecastle, taking the knife with him; the half-worn knife in my backbone, and I felt numbness over; he did not say anything as he was going away; while I was in the act of trying to get up a Scotch boy, called "Scotty," came in; I told him to go and call the mate and second mate; when the prisoner came towards me I did not think he was going to stab me; we had not had a quarrel; the only reason I know for his stabbing me was because I did not have the money for him; we had been drinking together about half an hour before this; when I first came on board this ship, he was under the influence of spirituous drink at the time; he was not drunk, and was perfectly sensible; I had not drank but four or five glasses that day; I was capable of going aloft and doing my work, and was perfectly sensible.

Dr Thomas B. Dash was placed on the stand to prove the cause of the death of the deceased. Drs George Cheetham and James Kennedy were produced by the defence to testify as to the effect upon Wilson's mind occasioned by the agony from his wound, the high constitutional fever, and the liberal anodyne and stimulating remedies it was considered requisite to employ.

After the evidence was closed on both sides, Edmon Blankman, Esq., proceeded to address the jury in behalf of the unfortunate prisoner, and occupied upwards of an hour in an eloquent and convincing appeal to their reason, and to the merciful feelings of their nature. His was followed by the District Attorney in an elaborate but concise review of the case and his honor Judge Mitchell concluded with an impartial charge, which, while it upheld the majesty of the law, inclined somewhat favorably to the prisoner's side.

The jury withdrew, and after an hour's deliberation returned their verdict "Not guilty as charged, of murder, but guilty of manslaughter in the third degree;" whereupon the Court forthwith proceeded to sentence the prisoner Charles Graham, to imprisonment for the term of three years. The Judge intimated to the prisoner that if it should turn out that any error had occurred in the trial, he would receive the benefit of the exceptions taken by his counsel.

Young America begins to show signs of good sense, for we understand that all the young men in town now patronize KNOX when in want of a neat, elegant fitting, pleasant answering hat. Knox does know how to get up such an elegant hat, and his present fall styles took everything the competition completely in the shade. His up town depot, in the Prescott House, is now the great centre of attraction for gentlemen of leisure and refinement, while his old established stand, at 128 Fulton street, still retains all its immense popularity.

The Hat Among Hats—Let Those Who wish to realize what an exquisitely proportioned hat can accomplish, in conferring an air of high fashion, try one of ESPENSCHEID's splendid hats. Sold for $3 50, at 118 Nassau street.

Hall Style of Hats—First in Fashion. His fall styles of gentlemen's hats are truly most beautiful, in every sense of the word, being extremely light, and most elegantly finished. As we predicted, the favorite of the fashionable public is HALL, 413 Broadway, corner of Lispenard street.

Hat Attraction.—Rafferty & Leask are selling the fall styles of daguerrian hats at their usually low prices. They cannot be surpassed for beauty, elegance and durability in this market. No 57 Chatham street, and corner of Chatham and Pearl streets.

The Highest Premium of the State Fair for photographic pictures, was awarded to ROOT, No. 363 Broadway, corner of Frank in street. Daguerreotypes taken equally well in cloudy or stormy weather.

Anson's Daguerreotypes, Large Size, for 50 cents, colored and in a nice case, twice the size ever taken for 50 cents, and equal in quality and size to any that is made elsewhere for $2. ANSON'S, 589 Broadway, opposite the Metropolitan Hotel.

Gilbert & Co.'s celebrated make, with or without the aeolian, and the greatly improved Horace Waters' pianos, second hand pianos at great bargains. Beautiful pianos, which have been rented but a short time, will be sold very low. To suit some purchasers, monthly payments will be taken. Pianos to rent. Cash paid for second hand pianos. HORACE WATERS, 333 Broadway.

Opening of the Fur Season, at Genin's, 214 Broadway.—Ladies are requested to bear in mind that on Friday, October 13, Genin's magnificent stock of fancy furs for the winter of 1854-5 will be opened at 214 Broadway. This rare assortment will include Russian and Hudson's Bay sable, royal ermine, martin, chinchilla, Isabella bear, silver fox, mink, fitch and every other description of fur usual for ladies' wear. The muffs, victorines, cloaks, tippets, cuffs, &c., are made up in the new styles announced in Paris for the coming winter, and the great beauty and variety of the stock will render this exhibition of furs one of the finest that has ever taken place in New York. GENIN, 214 Broadway, opposite St Paul's Church.

Clothing, at 111 Fulton and 50 Ann street.—The great desideratum in the purchase of clothing, is to obtain garments that in their fit are perfect, and such as combine with durability both elegance and economy; confident that in the manufacturing of their clothing they have arrived at a no small degree of perfection, and that in the above mentioned particulars their garments excel, the subscribers would invite all purchasers to examine their stock for the fall and winter seasons, which is replete with every thing new and desirable, both in style and material. A choice stock of cloths, cassimeres and vesting always on hand, from which garments will be made to order in the best manner, and at the shortest notice. Dinners and suppers will be provided at all times, either in private rooms or in the restaurant.

Kidder's Gas Regulator—Saving Twenty-five per cent, with a better light.

MANHATTAN GAS WORKS, Oct. 23, 1852.

The Gas Regulator of Dr. Kidder is, in my opinion, the most valuable instrument for regulating the flow of gas to the burners that I have ever seen. It is correct in principle, and will accomplish admirably the objects for which it was designed. It will insure great steadiness in the lights, and as the pressure at the meter is, by this instrument, reduced considerably below that on the street mains, it will enable the consumer to gain an equal amount of light at a smaller expenditure for gas, for the less the pressure under which the gas is consumed, the greater is the amount of light obtained.

CHARLES ROOME, Engineer M. Gas Light Co.

Orders received at the Gas Regulator Co.'s office, 262 Broadway.

Oyster Saloon, near the new Opera House.—Gentlemen attending the opera, and others, will find refreshments of the best quality, viz.,—Oysters, beefsteaks, cold meats, wines and liquors, at JOHN MUSGOOD's delicatessen, 154 Fourth avenue, corner of Fourteenth street.

Closing of the Country Season.—Already our fashionable families are dropping in from the watering places, and next month we shall have them back en masse. The fair demoiselles, however, who have sought for health by the seaside and at the spas, will not come back quite so fair as they departed. These scharred liberalities," the wind and sun, will speckle the complexion and spoil its transparency; and if left to time, these blemishes will not wear off in months, if at all. We therefore recommend to the special attention of all sun-smitten beauties, that justly celebrated preparation known as Hahan's papillon lotion. Madame Chilton has written an enthusiastic letter in its praise; and her brilliant complexion, pure as alabaster, is a blooming testimonial of its excellence. It will be found at PHALON'S, St. Nicholas Hotel, and for sale by all the druggists and fancy stores in the city and country.

To all who use Liquor as a Medicine or Soverege—I beg leave to call the attention of the public to a few testimonials in favor of Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps:—

Dr. David L. Mott, of New York, who made a careful analysis of the Schnapps after stating the nature and properties of its constituents, pronounced it perfectly pure Holland gin and the very best preparation of alcohol for medicinal purposes to be found in this country.

Dr. David M. Reese, the editor of the New York Medical Gazette in his June number remarks:—"Where a stimulant is required, the preference should be given to Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps."

Dr. Isaac Hick, analytical chemist, New York, says:—"Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps, as a medical agent in chronic and venal affections, I have successfully prescribed and can recommend it as an agreeable cordial, and harmless stimulant, and shall continue to do so, as well as to use it as a source of pure alcohol, for chemical investigations and experiments."

Dr. Charles A. Lees, Consulting Chemist of Health, Baltimore, in his letter of July 27, says:—

"I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to the efficacy as a remedial agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedt. servant, C. A. LEES, M. D."

Dr. A. D. Chalmer, Philadelphia, in his letter of July 15, writes as follows:—

"Mr Adolphe Wolfe, No. 22 Beaver street, New York—Dear sir:—Last season the writer received through your agent in this city a bottle of aromatic schiedam schnapps, and since that period has prescribed the same in certain forms of primary complaints; also in cases of debility in aged persons. So far, the schnapps has been of much benefit to those using it. * * * * In convalescence, where a diuretic and stimulant is required, I should use the aromatic Schiedam Schnapps. Thanking you for your kindness, I am respectfully yours, A. D. Chalmer, M. D., 180 South Eighth street."

Put up in quart and pint bottles, with my name on the bottle, cork and label. UDOLPHO WOLFE, Sole Manufacturer and Importer, 19, 20 and 22 Beaver street.
