OCULISTS AND AURISTS.

DURING MY LATE TOUR, I VISITED THE MOST eminent professional men in Europe, observed their modes of practice, the recent remarkable discoveries in the treatment of diseases of the eye and ear, and obtained several new instruments of incalculable value in my specialty. A speculum through which I can look into the interior of the eye, ear, nose or throat and at a glance detect the slightest disease, enabling me in every instance speedily to inform patients at the first consultation whether their case is curable or otherwise. An instrument for removing cataract without pain or danger, and one for curing crooked eyes in a few seconds; also, artificial tympani, that instantly restores hearing, when the drum of the ear is perforated or lost; and artificial eyes which move and look exactly like the natural. I believe there is none nothing known to the faculty in either hemisphere with which I am not familiar, which, combined with the experience and practice of twenty years in this city, enables me to treat all the affections of those delicate organs with the utmost skill and success and restore sight and hearing in many cases hitherto deemed hopeless. JAMES W. POWELL, M.D., oculist, aurist, &c., 502 Broadway, nearly opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel.

THE EYE AND EAR.—DR. BINGS A LOWENBERG takes the attention of the afflicted to their practice in treating the eye and ear. They have restored to sight seventeen persons born blind. They warrant a cure in every case, or money returned. Amaurosis perfectly cured. Glass eyes inserted. Office, 430 Broadway.
