

New Easter Styles in MILLINERY

The new arrivals for this season include a number of the cleverest creations in that have ever been shown in this city. My MILLINERY OPENING and

PATTERN HATS

GRAND DISPLAY

Will be held on FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MARCH 22-23

to which we cordially solicit the ladies of Canton and vicinity to attend.....

Mrs. Alice Milliman, Canton, S. D.

Andrew O. Quien was among those who favored the Leader office with a renewal subscription Saturday. Andrew is one of the prominent teachers in the county and a very genial gentleman.

We received a brief note from Mrs. J. H. Davidson of Springfield, Mo., announcing the death of her beloved husband at that place on the 24th. Mr. Davidson and family formerly resided in LaValley township.

O. H. Lybarger went down to Elk Point Sunday on a short visit with his sister, Mrs. Flannery. Miss Myrtle Flannery, who has been in Canton for the past two weeks on a visit, returned to her home in that city.

Editor George L. Nelson of Medora, N. D., was a Canton visitor over Sunday. He had been over at Hartington, Nebraska, looking after a measly libel suit that a disgruntled politician considered worth $6,000 to him. The jury by their verdict considered that George told the truth and found for the defendant accordingly. Mr. Nelson looks like a cowboy and wears a complexion of a plainsman and feels happy. He is doing well in his new home and likes it up there.

County Treasurer Hokenstad reports the payment of taxes as very satisfactory up to date, many paying the entire amount before March 1st. Deputy Treasurer J. C. Tjaden and Chief Clerk Ruth Hokenstad have taken care of all the business promptly and have proven adepts in this branch of the county work. Miss Hokenstad is a daughter of the county treasurer and a charming young lady, well versed in business affairs, rapid and accurate in figures, and one of the best clerks ever employed in the office.

Henry Bradshaw, James Madden, G. M. France and W. E. Greene, were among the Worthingites who were called to Canton Wednesday as witnesses in the license petition trouble heard before Judge Jones. This matter has aroused a great deal of bitterness.

Ole Aus said the other day that he has been a resident of Canton and Lincoln county since 1880, but has never had a desire to follow the "Star of Empire" any farther west, and is satisfied. He however will go northwest in the spring for a visit but has no idea of catching the northwest fever.

Services as usual at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. At the morning service the Pastor will continue the Lenten sermons on the Lord's Prayer. Sunday School at noon. Evening at 7 o'clock the Young People's Society will be led by Mr. Floyd Johnson. At the regular evening meeting, 7:30 o'clock Rev. "We start the saw mill today," said Olaf, and that sounds good.

—Big sale of lace curtains and rugs Saturday of this week at the Dollar Saving Store.

Knut Brandsgaard, who recently moved to Canton from Inwood, was one of the biggest cash subscribers who called Tuesday, that we had the pleasure of meeting for some time. Knut was as liberal as a prince. He is a first class blacksmith and may follow the business in Canton.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church entertained with a 15 cent supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Straw Wednesday evening, and it was one of those social good times for which the Straw home is noted. The supper was worth a quarter, the geniality and joy a quarter, and the extra coffee a quarter, and those who took supper there saved about 60 cents. Net receipts $24.

Ole Aus, who has been running the Ole Isackson farm out on Beaver Creek, has quit farming for the present and moved to town. About one of the first things he did after getting in town was to call and subscribe for the LEADER. He proposes to take a rest and when the buds begin to swell he will make his son William a visit up in Bowman county, North Dakota.

The town election passed off very quietly.

Henry Lier took pity on our rural mail carrier's horses last Monday and hitched up his colts and took the mail man half way around his route, and about the time Henry got home his colts were pretty well broke.

When Oscar Sather and Frank Neuman were moving their hogs to their new location, Oscar lost his endgate and with it a spade and one hog, and didn't discover it until he reached home. Frank was coming close behind and picked up everything except the hog which was too swift for him. We can't account for it as Oscar never drinks anything stronger than water.

Knut Johnson claims to be the only expert trapper in this part of the county. He has caught eighteen skunks in ten days, and people in this section realize the fact as those chicken thieves have not been bashful in their way of doing business.

Frank Neuman got mixed up with a corn sheller last fall and has been nursing a lame arm ever since, and did not get all his corn out last fall, so the boys in his neighborhood turned out last Wednesday and picked it for him. There were about 20 men and a dozen wagons and the boys say that Oscar and Theodore Gedstad are entitled to wear the champion belt for fast picking.

Miss Anna Hegge, who has been keeping house for her cousins, Ole and Knut Hegge, left Monday for Highland township for a couple of weeks visit, so the boys are bathing again and are getting along fine.

Fred and Charlie Hannah and the Westbury Brothers were loading half a dozen cars in Worthing last Saturday with stock and machinery to take out west where they have taken up homesteads. Fred said that moving his goods to town and loading was more of a job than he bargained for.

Highland Center.

The smell of spring is in the air. The wild goose makes his way northward.

The cackle of the hen breaks the quiet of the farm yard.

By the way have you tested your seed corn yet?

Well, as our neighboring scribe, the Riversider, is present once in a while, I will "butt in" so as to keep the good Riversider from straying across the boundary line to chronicle our achievements. He may wonder what became of our once ambitious scribes, Highlander and Uno.

Well, now, listen. They disagreed. The Fairview Bachelor being the cause of it all. The bachelor has now dropped the case; he doesn't call on Uno any more and the Highlander and Uno have walked hand in hand ever since.

O. Rikansrud, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson went to Canton Monday to attend the School meeting at the court house, they being members of the school board.

Salve Hermandson is down from Brookings county hauling grain to town from his father's farm recently purchased by C. Strand. Salve expects to go back to Brookings in a week when Boye Olsen will also go back.

There has been considerable immigration into Highland the last two weeks, and we hardly know our neighbors any more. New farmers have moved on the old Gudmundsen place, the Hermandson place and the Sandvig place and renters moved in at Steenslands' last week.

Boye Olson and Sven Rikansrud visited with Rudolph Steensland last Sunday.

Martin Holter and sister of Riverside, were pleasant callers at H. Olson's last Sunday.

Carl Johnson is here from Scotland visiting with his brother, Otto and family.

Boye Olson enjoyed a buggy ride with the schoolma'am last Sunday eve. Sven said he didn't care.

Misses Ida Olson, Mable Johnson, and Gunnell Rikansrud called on Miss Helen Olson Sunday evening.

Highland Center will have a Basket Social Saturday evening, the 16th. An elaborate program has been prepared and everybody cordially invited to come and hear the new Indian ballad, "Silver Heels."

The Centerite.

East Lincoln.

The Ladies Aid Society met with Mrs. E. Penniston Thursday of this week.

Miss Lily Johnson has been suffering with rheumatism for some time. She is at present taking treatment at Canton and her many friends hope for her early recovery.

Will Millage is having a house built on his farm for his tenant, Carl Ekonger.

Misses Jessie Flory and Anna Penniston visited the Kinsley school Friday afternoon.

John Zimmerman and family who formerly lived north of town have moved to the old Kinsley place.

Several from this neighborhood are entertaining or being entertained by the grippe.

Cottage Grove held their usual Literary meeting Thursday evening.

There was a large dance at Mr. Lukens' Saturday evening. A pleasant time is reported.
