THE NEW YORK HERALD.

WHOLE NO. 7373. MORNING EDITION—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1856. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

The Result Depending on Illinois, Indiana and California.

ADDITIONAL RETURNS FROM CITY AND COUNTRY, &c., &c., &c.

The public are not yet satisfied that Buchanan and Breckinridge are elected. The result in Maryland, the republican gain in Illinois and Indiana, and the uncertainty with regard to California, impress many with the belief that there has been no election by the people, and that the choice will devolve on the House of Representatives.

The result, as far as known, is as follows:—

Buchanan	148
Fremont	114
Fillmore	8
Necessary to a choice	149

If the returns from Illinois and Indiana are for Fremont, the election of Buchanan will depend upon California, and the public will remain in suspense for four or five weeks; and if that State has also cast her vote for Fremont, then the choice of a President will go to the House of Representatives. Thus the matter stands.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger, Nov. 5.]

THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA GONE FOR BUCHANAN.

The election in this city yesterday was conducted with the usual good order which has marked every election since the division of the wards into districts. There was a great deal of activity at the respective polls, but no rioting or disturbances, so far as we have heard.

There were no less than five tickets in the field: the Buchanan, the "straight out" Fillmore ticket—which was voted by those who refused fusion, and which has polled a heavy vote—the "straight out" Fremont ticket—which has scarcely any votes at all—and the two fusion tickets, with the same electors, except the first name, the tickets being headed respectively by the names of Fillmore and Fremont. This last is the ticket with which the Buchanan electoral ticket had to contend with throughout the State, and the one with which it should be compared.

The vote is tolerably full, but it is very evident from the result that a large number of the Fillmore men must have stepped out from the ranks of their own party, and instead of voting the fusion ticket, have gone over to Buchanan, whose plurality over the fusion ticket reaches 18,556, and his majority over all is 6,203. The aggregate vote is 70,124, or 1,552 more than was cast at the October election.

The gains of the democracy in Pennsylvania are large, independently of the extraordinary majority received in Philadelphia. This secures his native State to Mr. Buchanan, and gives him 27 electoral votes towards the 149 necessary to his election to the Presidency.

DETROIT, Nov. 5, 1856.

The returns from the back counties come in more favorable for the republicans. They claimed 10,000 majority last night. To-day they claim 15,000 to 20,000.

Messrs. Howard, Walbridge and Waldron are re-elected to Congress, and Leach (rep.) in place of Peck (dem.)

The State Legislature is largely republican, which ensures a republican United States Senator in place of the Hon. Lewis Cass.

The State gave 50,000 republican majority in 1854.
