Address to the Young Men of the City of New York.

TO THE YOUNG MEN OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, WITHOUT REGARD TO BIRTH, CIRCUMSTANCE, POLITICS OR RELIGION.

FELLOW YOUNG MEN—We do not address you as politicians, as the organization we represent numbers five hundred of the sterling young men of this city, belonging to the various political parties, but we speak to you, knowing you to be honorable young men, who earn your bread by your own labor—many of you, no doubt, supporting your parents, brothers, sisters, and others having claims on you—without having any connection with politics or with a certain class of citizens whose enthusiasm and zeal are always manifested in great abundance for a short period prior to election day, the cause of which liberal display may be summed up in one grand result—office seeking.

As independent and honest young men only, we address you in behalf of a man who was born and always has resided in his native city, and in the Tenth ward, from boyhood, who is known to every citizen of the city as a pure, upright and honorable man and a worthy citizen, whose character to-day is as pure and spotless as when he himself was one of us.

The Legislature of 1857 with a wisdom which deserves the commendation of all respectable people, passed a law separating our local from the annual State election, so that citizens can now go to the polls, and for a single day, throw aside their political preferences and differences of opinion, and support and vote for such men, and such men only, as are known to have the interests of this large city and its hundreds of thousands of inhabitants at heart—men of character, position and moral worth, whose highest aim will be to protect alike the treasury and the people from hordes of plunderers and robbers (to give them their proper appellation), which have infested almost every branch of our municipal government.

With all this in view, we ask each and all of you—and not only do we ask, but respectfully and earnestly urge on you not only to vote, but for a single day give up your business, and work as only young men can work, for the nominee for Comptroller, who is intimately known by nearly every young man in this city to be a generous friend of the young men, whose favorite he is.

Young men, complaints are continually being poured into your ears that rents and taxes are extraordinarily high; and why is it that millions of your money is annually exported in the shape of landlords' demands, and to satisfy the thieving grasp of the plunder-ing villains, who with unceasing pertinacity prowl around the various offices of our public servants like roaring lions 'seeking whom they may devour?'

Young men of New York city—many of you have fathers who are aged and helpless; mothers who are struggling with this hard-hearted world to make you happy and comfortable; brothers and sisters who toil day and night to obtain a subsistence whose earnings are nearly all consumed in paying exorbitant rents for small and inconvenient apartments in large tenement houses, where hundreds of families are crowded together in a manner so inhuman that it is almost sufficient to create a pestilence in our midst, and yet do you blame the landlords? If you do, you act unmanly and unjust.

Your kind fathers and your noble mothers were once young and vigorous like yourselves. That time has passed away; it is you whose duty, is to represent their interests and redress their wrongs at the polls. It is you who, while your poor old fathers and mothers, and sisters have to dwell in the holes and lanes of this great city, while men who in times past you have helped to elevate to position are dwelling in rich marble palaces, and feasting on the luxuries of life off the gold they have stolen from the city, and which indirectly they have taken out of your pockets!

How, then, can these wrongs be righted, and dishonest men be driven from the gates of the city treasury!

It can be done by you, and it is your bounden duty to do it. Let our fellow young men, then, with one accord, rally at the polls, and bring up every voter they can find, and influence and and urge him to vote for the young man's choice

For Comptroller,

ROBERT T. HAWS.

We have known him since we were school boys, and our organization has been formed at our own individual expense, for the purpose of elevating him to the most important position in the city of New York; and if once there (and he ought to be elected by at least twenty five thousand majority), he will protect the rights and redress the wrongs of every one so far as his power extends.

We are not endeavoring to get up an enthusiasm for Mr. Haws for the sake of obtaining office. We toil for our support, and mean to continue to. By reference to the City Directory you will find we have occupations too respectable to sacrifice for a paltry office. By order, ANDREW J. KASMIRE,

Managing Committee of the Young Men, No. 222 Broome st.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY, Dec. 6—6 P. M.

The Presidential Message and documents present a clear picture of the financial condition of the confederacy. The operations of the year ending 30th June, 1858, may be thus summed up:—

REVENUE, 1857-'58.

|---|---|
| Ordinary revenue | $50,273,869 |
| Proceeds of Treasury notes | 20,000,000 |
| Balance in Treasury 30th June, 1857 | 17,710,114 |
| Total | $87,983,883 |

EXPENDITURE.

|---|---|
| Total expenditure | $81,585,667 |
| Balance in Treasury 30th June, 1858 | $6,398,216 |

The actual excess of expenditure over revenue during this fiscal year was thus equal to $31,811,798, which nearly absorbed the whole balance in the Treasury, and twenty millions of treasury notes besides. At the commencement of the present fiscal year the government availed itself of the act of Congress passed for relief, and issued ten million five per cents. The means thus obtained have enabled it to pay its way thus far; and the following table will show at a glance that in a short time it will become necessary to issue the remaining ten millions authorized by the act:—

REVENUE 1858-'59.

|---|---|
| Ordinary revenue, first quarter | $14,780,87 |
| Proceeds of ten millions 5 per cents sold, say | 10,450,00 |
| Estimated ordinary revenue for the remaining three quarters | 38,500,000 |
| Balance in treasury 30th June, 1858 | 6,398,216 |
| Total | $70,129,104 |

EXPENDITURE.

|---|---|
| Expenditure, first quarter | $21,708,198 |
| Estimated do, three quarters | 52,357,698 |
| | 74,065,896 |
| Deficit | $3,936,792 |

Thus, even without any extraordinary expenses forced upon the country by political events in Mexico or elsewhere, the Treasury will need at least a part of the authorized loan. The President in his message takes strong ground against the borrowing of money, in time of peace, to pay the ordinary expenses of government, and argues that the amounts required should be raised by a "revenue tariff." The same ground was taken by this journal at the time the twenty million loan was authorized. We expressed a preference for a direct tax instead of a new tariff, for the reason that the movements of trade and commerce are uncertain and fluctuating, and that a revenue depending on them may lead to disappointment. If, however, Congress be heartily willing to second the views of the President, there will be no difficulty in pointing out six or eight articles on which the duty may be raised so as to yield six or eight additional millions next year. That something should be done, and that promptly, the state of the public debt teaches plainly enough. Before the late disastrous commercial revulsion the United States owed $25,155,977. Since then the amount has been swelled to $54,910,777; and it is plain that before the close of the fiscal year it will exceed sixty millions.

The bank averages made up this day compare as follows with those which were published a week since:—

| Week Ending | Discounts. | Specie. | Circulation. | Deposits. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nov. 27 | $125,585,098 | 27,157,731 | 7,852,457 | 86,733,705 |
| Dec. 4 | 126,338,324 | 27,407,726 | 7,837,517 | 89,541,290 |
| Increase | $752,626 | 249,995 | 185,060 | 2,807,585 |

The increase in the discount line is a bad feature, and confirms the remark made the other day that the contraction which lately took place was not the work of the bankers, but rather against their will. If events of which no man can foresee the issue should drive the country into a war, what would be the condition of the banks of this city, expanded as they are, and with large loans on stocks which would collapse at the least speck of political trouble? The specie line shows rather better than was expected. Should foreign exchange improve ¼ per cent, the steamer on Wednesday will take out some bars. At present rates specie cannot be shipped from here except to the South.

The principal features in the stock market to-day were a general and heavy break down in Missouri sixes, a severe decline in Pacific Mail, and a very bold and vigorous effort on the part of the bull speculators to rally the market at and after the second board. Missouris are injuriously affected by the default of the two railroad companies, to which we alluded the other day, to provide the money to pay the interest on the State bonds advanced to them; the State will probably be compelled to borrow to make up the deficiency, though, as is well known, the January interest is already in bank in this city. Pacific Mail is being freely sold by holders who are tired of waiting for extra dividends, and who wisely content themselves with the profit they can make at these figures. New York Central was quiet all day at Saturday's figures. After the second board the bulls contrived to get it up ¼ a ⅜ per cent. Galena, Rock Island, Reading and other speculatives were also higher at the close. The last prices of the day, as reported by Greesbeck & Hoyt, were:—Missouris, 88⅝ a ⅜; Central, 83⅝ a 84⅛; Erie, 17⅜ a 18; Reading, 51½ a ⅝; Galena, 73⅜ a ⅞; Rock Island, 62⅝ a ⅞. The general market closed firm.

The business of the Sub-Treasury to-day, was as follows:—

|---|---|
| Total receipts | $326,835 97 |
| From Customs | 44,000 00 |
| Total payments | 526,883 03 |
| Total balance | $6,145,544 42 |

The exchanges at the Bank Clearing House this morning were $24,787,603 96, and the balances $1,232,570 69.
