this will; provided, however—and all the above directed distributions, both of income and principal, are made subject hereto—that each of my said children, James Stewart, Charles, Henrietta Augusta, and their respective issue when of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, shall have a limited power of appointment, by their last wills and testaments, or by any other instrument in the nature of a last will and a testament, executed in the presence of three disinterested witnesses, in the manner following, that is to say—All, or any, or either of my said children now married or who shall hereafter marry, and who shall leave at their decease, respectively, a wife or husband, child or children, or their issues him or her surviving, may respectively appoint by such instrument in what manner and upon what conditions or limitations, and in what proportions other than above directed, his or her share of the trust property shall be paid, distributed to, and among his or her surviving wife, husband or issue, during their respective lives and the duration of this trust; excepting that my said son, James Stewart, shall not have the power to appoint any portion of the income of his share of the trust property to be paid to his said present wife; and either of my said children may also, by such instrument, direct and appoint, in what manner and upon what conditions and limitations and in what proportions other than those above directed, his or her share of the principal of said trust property shall be distributed at the termination of said trust to and among his or her lawful issue then living; and either of my said children shall have power to transfer by such instrument to his or her children, any or either of them, a like power of appointment in respect to such share or shares of the income of said trust fund as his or her children or their issue may enjoy during their respective lives and the duration of this trust, and also in respect to such share or shares of the principal as might accrue to them respectively for their own use, if they should live to the period of the termination of said trust—my intention being that my children and their issue shall have the same power to direct, by will or other instrument duly executed, to take effect at their decease, the application of the income and the eventual distribution of the principal or capital of the respective shares of the said trust property to their surviving wives husbands and issue, that they would have had if their respective shares of the said trust property were in their own possession and control, free from any trust—except that my said son, James Stewart, is not to have power to direct any portion of the income of his share to his said present wife, and that neither of my children shall have power to appoint any of the principal sum or capital to be paid any wife or any husband him or her surviving, nor shall either of my said children have power to appoint either income or principal to be paid to any other persons not a lineal descendant of his or her own blood; nor in default or on failure of his or her lawful issue, to divert by any appointment the course of said trust property from his or her brothers or brother and sister (other than the said Rebecca, and their lawful issue, respectively. And my said trustees and their successors shall pay over and distribute the income of said trust fund during the continuance of the trust, and shall convey and pay over and distribute the property constituting the principal or capital in their hands at the termination of said trust according to such appointments as aforesaid, so far as they may lawfully operate therefor. And in respect to any property not otherwise directed by any lawful appointment, they shall convey, pay over and distribute the same to the persons and in the proportions herein before directed by me; and whensoever it shall happen, at or before the expiration of said trust term, that neither my son James Stewart, nor my son Charles, nor my said daughter Henrietta, nor any lineal descendant of either of my children aforesaid, now in being or hereafter to be born (other than the said Rebecca), shall be living, who may inherit the said property, in that case, and immediately upon the decease of the last survivor of my said children (other than the said Rebecca and of their lineal descendants, my said executors and trustees shall dispose of the said trust property, subject, however, to all life interests thereon lawfully created and still outstanding to the persons and in the manner hereinafter directed in that event. And their said trust shall thereupon cease and determine, except in so far as the said life interest may require a continuance thereof. But all the foregoing directions concerning the persons to and among whom the income of the trust fund is to be paid and distributed during the continuance of the trust, and concerning the persons to and among whom the capital is hereafter to be paid and distributed at the termination thereof, are subject to the condition herein before expressed, prohibiting any aid to my said daughter Rebecca, her husband, present or future, or her issue; and the right of any person to such payment of income or principal is to be defeated by the breach of said condition in favor of the person or persons next entitled thereto by the limitation of said trust, in the same manner as if such beneficiaries had died or were in each case perfectly expressed and repeated so often as any directions above given concerning the payment either of income or principal, and whatsoever power of appointing and directing future distributions of income or principal should have been invested by the effect of the foregoing provisions in any person disregarding and breaking the said condition, such power of appointment shall thereupon cease and determine; and all the appointments and directions of such persons, by will or otherwise, whether made before or after the happening of such breach, relative to the future disposition of their principal or income, shall become void and of no effect, and the trustees shall thereafter distribute the income and the principal of said trust fund to and among the same persons and in the same proportions as are above directed in the event of no such appointment being made. And whatsoever any payment, either of income or principal, shall be due under the provisions of this will to any male under the age of twenty-one years, or to any unmarried female under that age, such payment shall be made to his or her legal guardian; except in case following, viz.—In the event that the present wife of my son James Stewart, or any member of the Delprat family, should at any time be appointed a legal guardian of any infant entitled to such payment, or should by law have the custody of such infant, in such case, whatsoever otherwise might be payable to said guardian, the same shall not be paid or any part thereof to the said wife of my said son, or to any other member of the said Delprat family, by reason of said guardianship or otherwise; but my trustees shall in such case make such moderate appropriations from time to time as they may deem proper for the reasonable expense of maintaining and educating such infant, and shall pay the same over to some confidential person whom they may select, other than the said wife of my said son, and not a member of the Delprat family, under such restrictions as they shall in their discretion judge to be sufficient to ensure that the moneys so appropriated shall be applied exclusively to the actual expenses of maintaining and educating the said infant, and that no part thereof shall enure in any way, directly or indirectly, to or for the benefit or advantage of said wife of my said son or any member of the Delprat family; my intention being that no confidence shall be placed in either of them concerning the expenditure of such money for the benefit of the infant or infants entitled thereto, under the title of legal guardianship or custody of the infant or otherwise; and the residue of the sum or sums which would be otherwise payable to said guardian shall be held and managed by my trustees, as a special trust for the benefit of such infant until he or she shall attain the age of twenty one years, (provided the attainment of that age shall happen within the term of the general trust herein created); and upon his or her attaining that age, the said special trust fund shall be paid over to him or her. But neither this provision in favor of such infant, nor any provision of this will, concerning future annuities to be created under power of appointment, or concerning future appointment in favor of persons not now in being, shall be deemed to be intended to create a trust to endure beyond the legal term of the general trust on which my residuary estate is above devised and bequeathed, namely—the duration of the lives of sundry persons named, who are now in being, the lives of the survivors and the last survivor of them, and the term of twenty one years after the death of such last survivor; but upon the expiration of the said term of twenty one years after the death of said last survivor, if the trust shall not have sooner terminated, my intention is that the same shall thereupon be absolutely determined, and that all trust property, except the needful reservations to secure the payment of any annuity bequeathed by me to any annuitant now in being who may then be still living, shall be forthwith distributed to and among the persons who shall be entitled thereto, on the day of the expiration of the said term of years, by the effect of the provisions of this will, notwithstanding any appointment of contrary import made by either of my children or their descendants, which may thereby remain to be fulfilled. And in case of the decease before the expiration of the term of the foregoing trust, of all my children, (other than the said Rebecca,) and that of the issue of such children, in such case, I give, devise and bequeath all the property in the hands of my trustees, subject to the foregoing provisions, for the payment of the several annuities aforesaid, and other provisions herein contained for the benefit of my wife, and subject also to such appointments as shall have been lawfully made, and shall have lawfully taken effect by any person possessing and exercising power of appointment under this will, concerning the disposition of any portion of the income of said trust fund during the life of any husband or wife of the person so appointing, to be holden by the same trustees, during the same term if needful, upon the further trust following: Said trustees shall first retain and set apart so much of said trust property as shall be sufficient, in their judgment, to secure the payment of all the said annuities and other charges upon the income of said trust fund, or any portion thereof, and the foregoing annuity in favor of Hannah Starr shall, in such an event, be increased to five hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly. And my said trustees shall retain out of my estate so much thereof as shall be needful to secure the due payment of the same. And after retaining and setting apart so much and such part of the whole property in their hands as they shall judge to be needful for the purposes aforesaid, my said trustees shall proceed to satisfy, out of the remaining property, the following particular legacies and bequests, provided the remaining property is found to be sufficient for their full satisfaction, but otherwise by rateable distribution to and among the particular legatees and trust funds hereinafter named and described, so far as the said remaining property may go, if it shall be found insufficient to satisfy the said legacies and bequests in full; and, thereafter, when and as any further trust property in their hands shall be relieved from the prior charges thereon for which the same was retained, by the termination of the life interest therein, said trustees shall proceed, from time to time, to distribute the same rateably to and among the particular legatees, and trust funds hereinafter named and described, until the said particular legacies and bequests shall be fully paid and satisfied.

DIVERSION OF THE PROPERTY FROM THE IMMEDIATE RELATIVES.

First. They shall pay, in the manner aforesaid, a legacy of fifty thousand dollars to my namesake, Augustus Thorndike Perkins, which I bequeath to him, expressing the desire that he should take and hereafter wear the surname of Thorndike instead of the surname of Perkins.

Secondly. They shall pay to each of the children of my late nephew, Israel Augustus Thorndike, the son of my brother Israel, the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Thirdly. They shall retain and set apart the sum of thirty thousand dollars, and hold, invest and manage the same, in the same manner as is above directed, for the benefit of my three nieces—Sally Ann Odiorne, Eliza Frances Odiorne, and Sophia Thorndike, widow of the late George Thorndike, all children of my said brother Israel—the said fund to be held in trust for my said three nieces during their lives and the life of the survivors and the last survivor of them, and the net income thereof to be paid equally to them and the survivors and the last survivor, upon their respective separate orders and receipts during coverture, free from all interference or control of their respective husband; and upon the decease of the last survivor of my said three nieces, the said principal shall be paid and distributed to and among the lawful issue of all of my said nieces, equally among them in equal degree; and the share of deceased parents to pass by representation to their children; and in default of such issue by either of my said nieces, the said principal sum shall be disposed of as hereinafter directed concerning my residuary estate, after the particular legacies and special bequests shall have been satisfied.

Fourthly. They shall retain and set apart another fund of thirty thousand dollars, to be held and managed in like manner during the life of my sister, Anna Loring, the net income thereof to be paid to her; but at her decease they shall pay over the principal sum to and among her lawful issue in like manner as aforesaid; and in default of such issue, they shall dispose of the same as is hereinafter directed concerning my residuary estate.

Fifthly. They shall retain and set apart another fund of ten thousand dollars, to be held and managed as aforesaid during the life of my nephew, Augustus Thorndike, son of my deceased brother Edward, paying over the net income thereon to him, and at his decease they shall pay the principal to his lawful issue, in the manner aforesaid, and in default thereof they shall dispose of the same as is hereinafter directed concerning my residuary estate.

Sixthly. They shall pay over to each of the children of my deceased brother Charles, and to each of the children of my late sister Elizabeth, wife of Ebenezer Francis, the sum of five hundred dollars, to purchase whatever they may respectively choose as a memento of me—and I give them no more, only in consideration of their being otherwise amply provided for.

BEQUEST TO HARVARD COLLEGE.

Seventhly. They shall pay over to the President and Fellows of Harvard College the sum of twenty thousand dollars, to establish a Professorship of Music, to be managed according to the statutes of the University of Oxford, respecting such professorship, with such modification as the faculty of Harvard College shall think needful for the adaptation of the same to the circumstances of said college; but on condition that they shall confer the degree of Doctor of Music, in proper cases after the manner used and practised at Oxford.

NOMINATION OF A RESIDUARY LEGATEE NOT OF THE FAMILY.

All the foregoing legacies and bequests, annuities and trusts, founded upon the contingency aforesaid, are to be paid and provided for out of my estate, by my said trustees, so soon after the decease of the last survivor of my said children, (other than the said Rebecca), and of their issue, as my said trustees shall judge to be consistent with the security and due payment of the annuities and other charges upon the income of the trust property in their hands; and they are all upon the condition, so far as I have the power to annex the same, that the said legatees, annuitants and beneficiaries shall not give any part of the sum so devised and bequeathed to them, or for their benefit, or any part of the income thereof, or any other property whatsoever, to or for the benefit of my said daughter Rebecca, her husband or issue, by donation, bequest or otherwise; and upon the breach of said condition, whatsoever is above given to or for the benefit of the person so defeating the intention of this will, is hereby revoked and given over to my residuary legatee.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE IF HE DECLINES.

Eighthly. All the foregoing trusts, legacies and bequests being first satisfied, I hereby nominate the said Augustus Thorndike Perkins to be the residuary legatee of this will, and I give, devise and bequeath to him and his heirs, in the event of the decease of all of my children, except the said Rebecca, and of their issue, all the residue of my estate, real and personal, which shall come to or be in the hands of my executors or trustees at or after the happening of the contingency aforesaid; but I make the said devise and bequest upon the express condition following, namely, 1st, that the said Augustus shall take and thereafter bear the surname of Thorndike in lieu of the surname of Perkins; 2d, that he shall promise in writing, as a gentleman, to his co-executors herein named, the survivors or survivor of them, that he will not give or bequeath any sum of money or other property whatsoever to or for the benefit of my said daughter Rebecca, or her husband, present or future, or her issue; and if the said Augustus shall decline to receive the said residuary bequest upon the conditions aforesaid, or shall not be living at the happening of the event upon which such residuary bequest is formed, then I hereby order and direct that one-half of my said residuary estate shall be distributed rateably for the increase of all the particular legacies, annuities and trusts herein created and founded, upon the said contingency of the death of all my children, (except the said Rebecca,) and of their issue, so that each of the said particular legacies, annuities and special trust funds may be proportionally increased, for the benefit, proportionally, of the respective legatees, annuitants and beneficiaries; and the other half of my residuary estate I give, devise and bequeath, in the same event, to the President and Fellows of Harvard College, to be applied either to the general purposes of the College, or to the promotion of the scientific school connected therewith, or to such other particular purpose connected with the foundation of said college as my executors and trustees shall in their discretion determine.

But in regard to all the foregoing devises, bequests and dispositions of property and income in this will contained, it is a further condition that whensoever my signature thereto, in the presence of the requisite number of attesting witnesses, shall have been duly proved before the Judge of Probate having a jurisdiction thereof, all devisees, legatees and persons entitled to the beneficial use of any property or income herein devised or bequeathed who shall thereafter further dispute the validity of this instrument, or oppose on any other ground or any other pretence the probate thereof as my last will and testament, or otherwise attempt to set aside, annul, defeat or prevent its allowance, or the operation of its provisions according to their legal effect, shall thereby forfeit whatsoever property, income and right of disposition or enjoyment they might otherwise have been respectively entitled to under any provision herein contained during their respective lives in like manner and to the same extent as is above provided concerning donations of money or other property to my said daughter Rebecca; and whatsoever property, income, right of disposition or enjoyment would have otherwise accrued to or become vested in any person so opposing the probate of this will, or disputing the validity thereof, or attempting to set aside, annul or defeat or prevent its allowance, or the operation of its provisions according to their legal effects, the same property, income, right of disposition or enjoyment is in such case and immediately upon the happening of the said event given over to the person next entitled thereto, according to the limitations herein contained, in the same manner and to the same extent as is above provided in the case of donation to my daughter Rebecca, with the like exception in favor of after-born issue.

Lastly. I hereby nominate and appoint Wm. Howard Gardiner, Wm. Amory, Nathaniel Ingersoll Bowditch, Samuel Turner Dana, and Augustus Thorndike Perkins, all of Boston, Massachusetts, Esquires, to be the executors of this will, and trustees under the same, hereby exempting them from the giving of bonds so far as I have power so to do, and providing that the said executors and trustees shall in no event be answerable the one for the other, but each only for his own receipts, defaults, acts, and omissions in the execution of this will and discharge of the trusts herein erected.

And I declare this to be my last will and testament, written wholly upon seven sheets of paper secured together, each of which is authenticated by my signature thereto. But if for any cause this instrument should fail to be proved or established as my last will and testament, then I desire and declare that the making of the same shall not be considered a revocation of my former will, made and dated at Boston on the fifth day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-three, or of either of the several codicils thereto, whether made at Paris or at Boston, which said former will and codicils have heretofore been deposited for safe keeping in the Registry of Probate for the county of Suffolk.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, in the presence of the subscribing witnesses, at said Boston, this twenty-fourth day of September, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and fifty-eight.

[L. S.] AUGUSTUS THORNDIKE.

Signed, sealed, published and declared by the said Augustus Thorndike, as and for his last will and testament, before us, the subscribers, who, at his request and in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have hereto set our names as the attesting witnesses thereof. Here follows a notice of some interlineations made before signing.

[We omit the names of witnesses.]
