The Opposition State Convention in Tennessee.

PLATFORM OF THE PARTY.

[From the Nashville Patriot, March 30.]

This body, consisting of a large number of delegates from the various counties of the State, met yesterday in the Representative Hall of the State Capitol.

On taking the chair, Governor N. S. Brown addressed the Convention briefly and eloquently.

General Zollicoffer moved the appointment of a committee of nine—three from each division of the State—on resolutions, which was amended, on motion of Mr. Mosby, by increasing the number to fifteen, and the motion carried.

The Committee on Resolutions having retired, Colonel Jere Clemens was enthusiastically called for, and responded in a speech of some length.

General Zollicoffer, in behalf of the Committee on Resolutions, reported the following:—

The people of Tennessee, opposed to the democratic party, declare—

1. That the Union, as established by the federal constitution, is the surest guaranty of the rights and interests of all sections of the country, and should be preserved.

2. That while we will maintain with unwavering firmness our constitutional rights in relation to slavery, we believe that the further agitation of the question tends to no practical good to any portion of the country, and should, therefore, cease; regarding the principle as settled that the people of the Territories when they come to form a constitution and establish a State government, shall decide the question for themselves.

3. That we are opposed to direct taxation and in favor of the adoption of a tariff adequate to the expenses of an economical administration of the general government, with specific duties, where applicable, discriminating in favor of American industry.

4. That the United States should accept the island of Cuba at any time when it can be acquired consistently with the national honor, and should resist, to the last extremity, its transfer to any foreign Power.

5. That in the disposition of the public land otherwise than for government purposes, Tennessee and all the old States are equally entitled to receive a proportion with the States and Territories where they are located.

6. That we are in favor of a reasonable extension of the period of probation now prescribed for the naturalization of foreigners, and a more rigid enforcement of the law upon that subject; the prohibition of the immigration of foreign paupers and criminals, and the prevention of all foreigners not naturalized from voting in elections.

7. That the recommendation of the President that Congress shall confer upon him the war making power, and subject the army and navy to his control, with the demand for enormous appropriations out of the public treasury to carry out his views, coupled with the reckless extravagance, waste of the public money and corruption practised under the present administration, deserve the unqualified condemnation and rebuke of the whole country.

8. That, we are in favor of a sound and well regulated banking system, the issues whereof shall, by being payable on their face, at the place where issued, be convertible at the will of the holder into the precious metals.

9. That we favor the maintenance inviolate of the public faith by the prompt payment, at whatever sacrifice, of the public debt, and no further increase of it, unless for some object of indispensable public necessity.

10. That we hereby pledge ourselves to use our earnest exertions and united influence to overthrow that party which, having brought the government to bankruptcy, and filled the whole land with discord, have now themselves caught the contagion and agree in nothing but a desire for dominion, and are bound together by no tie except the cohesive power of public plunder; and we hereby pledge ourselves, the one to the other, and to our common country, to use our best exertions to restore the administration of the government to its original purity; and to effect these laudable objects, we earnestly advise the opposition to the present democratic party, to organize in every county of the State, and prepare for the work of retrenchment and reform.

These resolutions were received with acclamation and passed unanimously and enthusiastically.

Colonel J. H. McMahon then offered the following:—

Resolved, That we recognise the unmistakable preference of the opposition party all over the State for John Netherland, and hereby ratify that preference by nominating him as our candidate for Governor of Tennessee.

This resolution was received and adopted with the wildest applause. After the enthusiastic cheering, which was loud and prolonged, had subsided, there was a call upon Thomas J. Campbell, of Brandy, who responded in a short speech, in which he pledged Mr. Netherland to accept the nomination which had just been made. He also pledged East Tennessee to do her whole duty in the coming campaign

The Convention was then addressed by ex-Governor H. S. Foote, of Mississippi, in which he reviewed with great clearness and power the condition of the country and the necessity for a change in the administration of its affairs. He exposed a series of corruptions, implicating the highest officials in the last and present administrations, in the matter of interference in elections. His speech was some two hours in length, and was marked with great energy and force.

Dr. John W. Richardson moved the appointment of a committee of five to inform Mr. Netherland of his nomination, and ask his acceptance. The committee was announced as follows:—J. W. Richardson, A. M. Looney, J. B. Cook, W. G. Brownlow and George L. Holmes.

Gen. James M. Quarles next addressed the Convention in a terse and effective speech, and was followed by John F. House, Esq., who was eloquent and severe, making a most decided impression.

The Convention then adjourned till half-past seven o'clock.

The Convention assembled according to adjournment, at half-past seven o'clock. Dr. Richardson moved an adjournment sine die, the Convention having concluded the business for which it had assembled, which motion prevailed. There was a large audience present, filling the hall and galleries of the House of Representatives.

Hon. D. S. Navers, late a member of Congress from Mississippi, now of Memphis, delivered a speech of much pith and substance; after which John Bell was called to the stand amidst prolonged applause. He spoke for two hours and twenty minutes, in which was advanced an amount of philosophic and statesmanlike argument which we have at no time heard surpassed.

Operations Against the Texas Indians.

The Austin (Texas) Intelligencer says that Gen. Twiggs has sent Captain Plummer, with a company of infantry, in haste, to the lower Indian Reserve, to protect the Indians against the citizens of the upper counties of the State, who, as we have before stated, are preparing to "clean out the Reserve Indians." The Intelligencer adds:—Both Gen. Twiggs and Major Neighbors have become satisfied that the Reserves cannot be maintained in peace, without greater expense than the United States would or ought to incur; and the latter has recommenced the removing of the Reserve Indians to the Indian lands exclusively within the jurisdiction of the United States. Major Neighbors authorizes us to say to those citizens who feel such hostility towards the Indians, that he doubts not but if they will suspend their indignation a few months, a peaceable removal will be accomplished.

The Dallas Herald has the particulars of the recent fight near Fort Arbuckle, already reported by us, between Lieut. Powell, commanding fifty United States troops, and some Wachitas and a band of Camanches. The Camanches were defeated and withdrew, and Lieut. Powell sent an express to the fort for the surgeon and reinforcements. The Camanches had previously sent word that they intended coming to take the fort.

Lieut. Powell sent another express to Fort Wachita for additional reinforcements. The Dallas paper says:—

Capt. Carr, of the first cavalry, from Fort Wachita, passed through here for the seat of war in command of fifty soldiers. The troops are a fine looking set of men, and all eager for a brush with the Camanches; and, our word for it, if they get into an engagement with the gallant and brave Capt. Carr at their head, they will do execution.

The mail rider from Arbuckle, on Tuesday morning, reported that on last Saturday night the Camanches came on this side of Fort Arbuckle and stole Mr. P. Lenucy's horses and killed several others.

According to this report Lieut. Powell must be surrounded by Camanches.

A Husband Poisoned by His Wife.

[From a Greensboro, N. C., letter of March 25.]

A day or two since, Isaac Johnson, a farmer of this county, and a very honest and upright citizen, died under such peculiar circumstances that it was, not only by his neighbors, but by the physicians who attended him during his illness, strongly believed that he had been poisoned. Accordingly, Drs. Glenn and Black proceeded as expeditiously as possible to make a post mortem examination of the deceased, to become fully satisfied as to the causes of his death. The parts of the body taken out were placed aside to be reserved for a short time, before the physicians continued the examination. Upon returning, neither the parts of the body nor the vessel in which they were placed could be found.

This circumstance fully confirmed the suspicions at first so strongly entertained, that Mr. Johnson had been poisoned, and innumerable other facts relating to his death, and many astounding revelations concerning the domestic and family relations of his household were speedily brought to light, which implicated his wife as having perpetrated the heinous crime.

Immediately she was arrested and brought to this place, and after undergoing an examination before a magistrate, in which the evidence produced in behalf of the State was so entirely overwhelming that not the least doubt could be entertained as to her guilt, she was ordered to be confined in jail until the approaching term of the Superior Court, at which time she will undergo a regular trial, and it is thought by many that her conviction there will be certain.

Mr. Johnson and his wife have lived unhappily together for the last year or two past, and it is reported that recently she became attached to a man of the neighborhood (whose name I have not learned), who spared no pains to produce all the trouble and misery in the family that could be possible.

The prisoner's conduct since her arrest has been marked by feelings of total disregard and indifference as to the consequences, and with little regret at the death of her husband, notwithstanding she at the same time declares herself totally innocent.

VIRGINIA LAW IN MASSACHUSETTS.—Some time since, as our readers will recollect, a colored man named Howard was arrested in this city on a charge of adultery, under the following circumstances:—He married in Virginia a woman nearly white, he being at the time a slave. She came to this city and was followed by Howard, whose freedom had been purchased, and in the course of time he became a deacon in the church of Rev. Mr. Grimes. After a few years had elapsed his wife noticed his frequent absences from home, and upon investigation found that he had married a second wife, Rev. Mr. Streeter officiating. This discovery led to a complaint in the Police Court for bigamy, and Judge Maine bound him over for trial in the Municipal Court. The Grand Jury did not indict him on the original charge, but for lewd and lascivious conduct. Upon this, his counsel, Mr. Morris, the well known colored lawyer of this city, suggested to the prosecuting officer and the Court that under the laws of Virginia his client was not recognized as a person, but was classed as property, and that under those laws not even a free colored person was capable of being a party to a contract. Therefore, he held that the marriage contract of his client under the laws of Virginia was not valid, and must be so considered in the present case. As on the whole it was not deemed best to agitate a matter involving the rights of so many families, in this and other cities, it was decided, with the consent of all parties, to discontinue the case, and such an order has been made upon the docket.—Boston Traveller, April 1.

Personal Intelligence.

Madame Marietta Gerzanigs, prima donna of the Italian Opera, has arrived in town, after a brilliant professional tour in Cuba, and is at the Everett House.

The Misses Gougenheim, formerly of the Broadway theatre, have returned to the metropolis, after a long tour and successful tour in California, Australia and the Sandwich Islands.

Chancellor Ferris, of the New York University, was among the passengers who left here on Saturday for Savannah, in the steamship Augusta. Dr. Ferris goes to the Southern climate in the hope of a restoration of health, impaired by great labors, not only to the office of Chancellor of the University, but his almost constant pulpit exercises.

A Toronto correspondent of the Montreal Gazette says:—There is a rumor that on the expiration of the present Governor General's term of office, Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton will be sent out.

The President has recognized Jacob Mahler as Consul of the Duchy of Brunswick and Lunenburg for the States of Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa, to reside in Milwaukee.

Ex-Governor Bigler, of Pennsylvania; Lieutenant Colonel Ripley, U. S. A., and Colonel Bent, of Bent's Fort, are in Washington.

At the last Westmeath (Ireland) assizes, Martin Fallan was charged with having in his possession the passwords from illegal (Phenix) societies. The prisoner was arrested in Castletown on the 24 of February. The police found in his we stcoat pocket a document containing these passwords, which are represented as belonging to a secret society:—"We expect war with England and France," "The Irish Brigade is on the advance," "Let each man hold his station," "The navy is making preparation," "You seem greasy," "I am better bred," "The night is dark—as black as heresy," "That the trumpet of freedom may proclaim a war," "Hoist the French eagle and American star," "The right hand to the nose and the left to the ear." The evidence was to the effect that 288 were found in the trunk of the prisoner, the rules and regulations of the society in America, and a certificate of naturalization, granted to him in 1854 by the United States. He was found guilty.

THE PARRISH WILL CASE.

We are requested to say that Judge Roosevelt, not having heard the original argument in the Parrish will case, took no part in the decision of the case or in the settlement of the orders and decree, although he was on the bench at the time of the rendition of the decision.

The Court reversed the decision of the Surrogate, which ordered the counsel fees of Mrs. Parrish to be paid out of the estate. That item amounts to between $30,000 and $40,000.
