BY HENRY H. LEEDS & CO.—WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, at 12 o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange, for account of whom it may concern, the celebrated Oil Paintings Apotheosis of Washington, by James Barnes, formerly exhibited in the Rotunda of the Capitol at Washington, where it elicited universal admiration; size of painting 15 by 11 feet six inches. The design of the picture, embracing the fraternization of the nations of the earth, is exemplified in the glorifying of Washington by three angelic forms—Benevolence, Fraternity, Liberty—in the presence of a numerous body of admiring patriots, the most prominent persons represented being those most renowned in their respective countries for their exertions in the cause of freedom, &c. For the adornment of a government building, public museum, private gallery or public exhibition this painting is peculiarly appropriate. This picture is now on exhibition at the Merchants' Exchange, where it will be sold on the day above named, without any reserve, for whom it may concern. Now or never.

SALES AT AUCTION.
