OIL LANDS AT PUBLIC SALE.
The tract SAMUEL HOCKLEY, on Slippery Rock Creek, in Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, belonging to the estate of Benjamin Chew, deceased, will be offered for sale at public auction in New Brighton, on Friday, the 5th day of October next. The tract is estimated to contain about 230 acres. The Slippery Rock Creek passes through it, dividing it nearly into equal parts. This tract has been noted in the neighborhood from the earliest settlement, for the Oil Springs at different places on it, which, with others of more recent discovery at different places on the creek, indicate it as probably affording greater promise of oil than any other lands in that quarter. Veins of oil have been opened and are successfully worked near it, with many wells in progress. The oil is obtained at distances from fifteen to thirty feet from the surface. From the number of applications to the executors, both to purchase and rent, they have been induced to divide the tract and offer it at public sale. It will be laid off by survey into four parts, or sections, in such manner as to give to each section an extended end (as near as may be) equal Creek boundary, and will contain each probably from forty to sixty acres; the lines, as far as practicable, will be marked upon the ground, and designated on the plot as the northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest sections. The tract is heavily timbered. A plot of the survey will be ready in a few days, and can be seen at the office of B. K. & H. Hoopes, in New Brighton, and any information concerning the lands will be given by them, or Edward Hoopes at New Brighton. It lies from nine to ten miles distant from Newcastle, and twelve or thirteen from New Brighton, and is easy of access from either place. The sale will take place at the Harsh House (the hotel in New Brighton opposite the Railway station) at 1 o'clock P. M., on the day mentioned.

Terms.—One third in cash, the residue in two annual payments bearing interest. The deferred payments to be made satisfactorily secured.
