THE PRINCE IN THE METROPOLIS.

a number of others of the committee, was conducted to the supper room through the side entrance arranged for the purpose. It was impossible, however, to follow the royal movements, and still more difficult to get at the good things intended for the public delectation.

The following is the bill of fare. Those at the royal party were printed in gold, upon white satin; those for the common people, in bronze, on the same material:—

The array of fruit was particularly rich. America showed what she could do in the grape department, but it must be confessed that certain packages of a small white grape, just arrived from France, beat everything in this line.

It was not without great labor on the part of the gentlemen who had his Royal Highness in charge that they succeeded in getting him to a comfortable location. The multitude soon after thronged into the room and it was filled almost to suffocation.

The supper, though unexceptionable in quality, was not all that could be desired, because of the miserable arrangements under which it was served. A few only could be assisted at one time, and those few by remaining at the tables, rendered it necessary to pass the food over the heads or under the elbows of their neighbors. Wines, creams and jellies, in this operation, were consequently liberally sprinkled upon elegant dresses, and damage done by the quantity. The Prince took all in good part, however, and in easy conversation with those around him, the supper found its way to its destination.

A fine band was in attendance here, and supplied the company with some excellent music throughout the evening, the rush continuing with little or no intermission until the small hours of the morning.

THE PRINCE DANCING.

HALF PAST TWELVE O'CLOCK.

Leaving the supper room, the crowd opening respectfully before him, the Prince passed back again to the dais, and, after a moment's pause, opened the ball formally with Mrs. Governor Morgan, who was most richly and elegantly dressed. The members of the Prince's suite filled up the set. The dance has just begun. A space is roped off for dancing, and no more space is reserved than is necessary.

ONE O'CLOCK.

The Prince danced the second dance with Miss Mason, and the third with Mrs. Hoyt, the youngest daughter of General Scott. Mrs. Hoyt is richly dressed in pink silk, with an overdress of lace. The crowd around during the last dance was so great that the party could hardly stir.

THE LATEST FROM THE BALL.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13, 2 A. M.

The Prince is again trying to dance. The rose span has much diminished and the crowd around his Royal Highness is almost as great as that at the Japanese ball. The committee allege that there are more than 3,000 people in the room, that outsiders have bribed the police, sixty of whom are on duty under Sergeant Spade, and obtained admittance. The doorpeepers are under charge of Moss, of Wallack's. The committee are now counting the tickets. Superintendent Kennedy watching the operation. Except this and the crowd there is no excitement, and all is progressing favorably.

The representatives of the press are indebted to Mr. Palmer and Kingslake, of the Academy, for placing at their disposal one of the rooms of the building where they could attend undisturbed to their duties.

HALF PAST TWO O'CLOCK.

Two of the three boxes have been opened and counted. The result is, that twelve hundred and two tickets have been found, and it is estimated that at least twelve hundred are in the third box at the centre door. The inference is, that there ought not to be more than three thousand people in the house, except admitted by collusion with the committee's door keepers and the police, one of whom is stationed at each door. This collusion, the Superintendent says, is impossible, and besides that there can be no more than 3,000 persons present, as the house is only crowded on the lower floor. The committee say little but think much. The question about the tickets cannot be settled for an hour or two yet, and will probably amount to nothing, as the Superintendent is about right in his latter assertion.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR TO-DAY.

Up to a late hour last evening we did not hear of any special arrangements having been made for the entertainment of the Prince of Wales and the members of his suite to-day, as in consequence of the late hour at which they were expected to return from the ball, the members of the committee of arrangements thought they would probably be too much fatigued to leave the hotel before noon. During the afternoon they will no doubt be taken to inspect some of the many fine buildings and institutions of our city.

THE FIREMEN'S PARADE TO-NIGHT.

The Grand Torchlight Procession of the Fire Department in Honor of the Prince of Wales—Programme of Chief Engineer Decker—Route of the Parade, &c., &c.

The grand torchlight procession of the firemen in honor of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, for which such extensive preparations have been going on for the last few weeks, will come off to-night, and it is expected that the affair will be the most splendid and imposing of its kind that has ever taken place in this city. In numbers, we are informed that it will far exceed even the great national parade of the Fire Department last year, which was considered the finest exhibition of the gallant defenders of our lives and property that had occurred up to that period. All the engines have been newly painted and repaired, without regard to cost, and the temporary decorations, it is said, will be on a scale of magnificence in keeping with the grandeur of the display in every other particular.

It is impossible as yet to give anything like an estimate of the numbers which will form the procession; but from the programme which we publish below it will be seen that more than one hundred of the city companies are to turn out, and, contrary to usage hitherto, there is no limitation as to numbers, each company being allowed to procure outside delegations to their strength ad libitum. The visiting companies, not mentioned in the programme, will, together with their metropolitan brethren, increase the whole number to perhaps one hundred and twenty-five companies.

The cost of this magnificent nocturnal parade of the firemen will not be covered by $5,000, a best half of which will be defrayed by the Fire Department, and the rest by Mayor Wood, who has most liberally contributed $1,500 towards the purchase of torches, and $1,000 for the music.

The following is the Grand Marshalls:

PROGRAMME OF THE PARADE.

The line will form at half past six precisely, in the following order and places:—

The line of march will be through Fourteenth street to Fourth avenue, up Fourth avenue to Twenty-third street, through Twenty-third street to Madison avenue, up Madison avenue to Twenty-sixth street, through Twenty-sixth street to Fifth avenue, down Fifth avenue (passing in review before the Prince at the Fifth Avenue Hotel) to Fourteenth street, through Fourteenth street to Fourth avenue, down Fourth avenue to the Bowery, through the Bowery to Chatham street, through Chatham street, around the lower end of the Park, and up Broadway to Union square, where the several companies will be dismissed.

SPECIAL HINT TO THE FIREMEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Will you allow a subscriber to suggest, through your widely extended and influential journal (or, I should say, the people's paper), to the committee of the firemen's torchlight procession, which is to take place this (Saturday) evening, in honor of and to welcome the Prince of Wales, to be punctual and prompt in time of starting, &c., not to keep the people (especially the women) standing and waiting until their patience is exhausted, and the whole pleasure and effect of the demonstration completely destroyed? Such was the general complaint yesterday among some of the people assembled at the City Hall waiting for the military to come up; some of the bystanders got tired out and disgusted, and left the ground; others stood there from twelve o'clock M. until half past six o'clock P. M. I hope, Mr. Editor, you will call attention to this most important point, that of being punctual and prompt, and that we, the people, shall not be kept to night standing four or five hours.

New York, Oct. 12, 1860. G. W. H.

THE RECEPTION OF THE PRINCE IN BOSTON.

BOSTON, Oct. 12, 1860.

The interest in the visit of the Prince is increasing. The sales of tickets to the ball up to this evening foot up thirteen hundred. The committee have appropriated five thousand dollars for decorations, eight thousand for supper, three thousand for liquor, and one thousand for music. Should the sale of tickets reach two thousand, five thousand dollars additional will be appropriated for decorations.

Every room in our principal hotels is engaged for the night of the ball.

The military ordered out will number twenty-five hundred—forty-five different corps, sixty officers and one hundred and fifty musicians. The line will enclose the common on three sides.

Two of the Governor's aids will meet the Prince at the State House.

WHAT IS THOUGHT IN WASHINGTON OF THE PRINCE'S RECEPTION IN NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12, 1860.

Despite all that may be pretended by the exquisitely fastidious and superfine, who, while dying to see the Prince and to be presented, did not enjoy the opportunity—despite the sincere antagonism to princes as such which is felt by democrats, and of the repugnance of demagogues, there can be no doubt that the progress of his Royal Highness is still the absorbing topic here as elsewhere in social circles.

The accounts given by the HERALD, especially of his reception at Castle Garden, of the reviews, the doings at the City Hall, the march up Broadway, and the scenes on the way to and around and within the Fifth Avenue Hotel, are sought for with eager interest. It would be quite a mistake to imagine that these sentiments are awakened simply by the idea of royalty among us. It is no vulgar love of lionizing a prince or a future monarch. Far from it. The common herd of sight-seers may be influenced to some extent by that feeling, but this interest of the people of the best condition springs from a much deeper and nobler source. It has its origin in the love of fatherland, ancient memories, cherished associations, and a natural and proper solicitude as to the manner in which one who stands in so near a relation to the British crown shall be received in the emporium of America by the representatives of our highest civilization, in the various domains of letters, science, wealth and polite life. Hence it is that the HERALD is anxiously waited for now, as it was during the Prince's stay in Washington. No other journal gives the full news of his progress. The Duke of Newcastle, Lord St. Germans, Viscount Hinchenbrooke, General Bruce, but particularly Sir Henry Holland and Dr. Ackland, were continually asking for the HERALD. They bought all the extra copies they could get while here, and sent them off to different friends in England.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Taxes of the City—The Supervisors Confirm the Assessment Rolls—Total Amount to be Raised by Taxation Nearly Ten Million Dollars—The Record Commission Get Their Seventy Odd Thousand, &c., &c.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors met at noon yesterday in their chamber, No. 17 City Hall—the President, Wm. R. Stewart, Esq., in the chair. There was a full attendance of members and a fair lobby representation, in view of the expected action on the tax books, and incidentally on the long contested matter of the Record Commission.

Supervisor PURDY, from the Committee on Taxes, made the following report:—

The Committee on Annual Taxes, to whom was referred the annexed communication from the Comptroller, transmitting a statement of the amounts to be raised by taxation in 1860, with the draft of an ordinance to levy the same, respectfully report that they have carefully examined said statement, and compared the amounts therein with the sums appropriated by the Board of Supervisors for State and county purposes, and by the Common Council for city purposes, for the current year, and find the same to be correct.

The amount of appropriations made by the Board of Supervisors, according to the Comptroller's statement, is..... $3,578,353 69

And the payment of this sum is to be provided for as follows:—

1 By taxation..... $3,582,463 69
2 Excise license fees..... 9,900 00
3 By general fund..... 35,990 00
——— $3,578,353 69

In addition to the above amount of $3,582,463 69 required to pay the appropriations for the year, there is to be raised for the Commissioners of Records, as hereinafter stated..... $72,034 26

And a further amount to supply deficiencies in the product of the taxes in pursuance of sec. 5, chap. 509 of the laws of 1860, of..... 68,561 31

140,595 57

Sold for State and county..... $3,673,059 26

The amount required to be raised by taxation for city purposes, according to the Comptroller's statement, is..... 5,923,852 01

From this there should be deducted the following amounts, viz:—

For Beekman street extension, which your committee are informed will not be needed..... 2,300

Amount received from the Commissioners of Excise to be applied to the support of the poor by the alms House Department, as stated in the Comptroller's communication to the Board, dated Oct. 9, (see Journal)..... 39,294

41,594 00

Total..... $5,882,258 01

In addition to the above amount required to be raised to pay the appropriations made by the Corporation, there must be levied to supply deficiencies in the taxes as per sec. 1 of chap. 509 of the Laws of 1860, the sum of..... 203,190 59

Total for Corporation..... $6,085,448 60

RECAPITULATION.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the whole amount of taxes required to be levied in 1860 is as follows, viz:—

For State and county purposes..... $3,673,059 26
For city purposes..... 6,085,448 60

Total..... $9,758,507 86

Among the items included in the amount to be raised for state and county purposes the sum of $72,034 26 is inserted under the head of "Commissioners of Record," in compliance with a peremptory mandamus from the Supreme Court. While your committee do not admit the right of the courts to interfere with the action of legislative bodies by directing them to do or not to do the binding of other bodies whose powers emanate from the same source as their own, your committee are impelled by a sense of public justice to acquiesce in this instance and at this time.

The necessity for immediate action in levying the taxes for the year, as stated in a communication from the Comptroller, under date of October 9, 1860 (see journal, p. —), renders it impossible to postpone the matter any longer without exposing the Finance Department to serious embarrassments, as a considerable portion of the revenue bills, based in anticipation of the collection of the taxes, are about to mature without means in the treasury to meet the same.

The amount to be raised for city purposes includes the following items:—

Central Park, maintenance and government of..... $80,000
Laying out the city north of 155th street..... 16,000

In relation to these items your committee would remark that the requisition of the Board of Commissioners of the Central Park (see journal, vol. 1, p. 556), in pursuance of section 4, of chapter 85 of the laws of 1860, was for the sum of $97,500, that being the estimate of expenditure for one year from the date of the passage of said act (March 19, 1860); but upon conference with members of that commission, the sum of $80,000 is estimated to be sufficient for the present fiscal year terminating December 31, 1860, and the same has accordingly been inserted.

The Commissioners for laying out the city north of 155th street made a requisition for the sum of $20,000, to carry on the work contemplated by the act creating said commission during the current year, but subsequently notified the comptroller that the sum of $16,000 would suffice; consequently your committee have inserted that sum. The total valuation of 1860 is $177,220,616 97; the total valuation of 1859 is $582,092,792; increase, $28,267,934 97.

The Board of Supervisors have no control over the amount raised by tax for city or State purposes. These are fixed by the laws of the State and by the ordinances of the Common Council.

The great increase in the amount to be raised in this county for the use of the State at large deserves the serious attention of our citizens. A heavy State tax falls with special severity on the taxpayers of this county, where the valuation of property is constantly increasing.

In view of the facts as stated above, your committee herewith submit for adoption the following ordinance.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIJAH F. PURDY, JAMES DAVIS, WALTER ROCHE, SILAS B. DUTCHER, } Committee on Annual Taxes.

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE THE MEANS TO SUPPORT THE RESPECTIVE GOVERNMENTS OF THE COUNTY AND CITY OF NEW YORK FOR THE YEAR 1860.

The Board of Supervisors of the county of New York do ordain as follows:—

SEC. 1. The sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) included in the amount so levied and imposed for "cleaning streets," shall be and hereby is levied and imposed only upon the estates hereinbefore mentioned, lying and being south of a line running through the centre of Fifty-seventh street, and the sum of four hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars ($424,000) included in the amount so levied and imposed for "lamps and gas," shall be and hereby is levied and imposed only upon the said estates lying and being within that portion of said city which the Common Council thereof have designed as the "lamp district."

SEC. 3. The assessment rolls for 1860, heretofore received from the Committee on Taxes and Assessments are hereby referred to the Committee on Annual Taxes, and the said Committee are hereby authorized and requested to cause to be computed and entered therein opposite to each of the several sums set down respectively as the valuations of real, personal and other taxable property, the proper amounts to be paid as a tax thereon, and adds the amounts in each book, and when compelled to deliver said assessment rolls to the Clerk of Arrears in order that the unpaid water rents of the year 1859 may be entered therein, as provided by law.

SEC. 4. After the completion of the assessment rolls or tax books, as provided in the third section of this ordinance, the said committee on annual taxes are hereby required to procure from the members of the Board of Supervisors the proper warrants authorizing and requiring the Receiver of Taxes to collect the several sums therein mentioned according to law, and immediately thereafter to deliver said assessment rolls or tax books, with the warrants aforesaid annexed thereto to the said Receiver of Taxes, and thereupon report to the Comptroller of the city of New York the amount of said taxes to be accounted for by the said Receiver of Taxes.

Supervisor TWEEDY proposed to strike out the appropriation for the maintenance of the Central Park, and argued that it was an outrage that there should be needed $80,000 to maintain the Park before it was half finished. He moved to strike that appropriation out, but the Board refused—ayes 2, noes 10. Messrs. Tweed and Briggs only voting in favor of it.

Supervisor BUNT proposed to amend the item for the Record Commission appropriation by adding, that the Comptroller should not pay until the legality and the amount of the Record Commissioners claim had been judicially determined. This was agreed to, the Supervisor going into the whole matter to show what extravagance had been perpetrated by this Commission.

The report and ordinance, as above, was finally adopted, Supervisor TWEEDY calling attention to the fact that for much of it the Supervisors were not responsible, they being expected to account of commissions not controlled by the Supervisors.

The Board did nothing else of importance, adjourning to Monday, at 3 P. M.

For the report above, as adopted by the Supervisors, the Comptroller has made up the rate of tax as follows:—

	Amount of tax	Rate.
County	$3,673,059 26	1.56 514
Lamp district	424,000 00	7 561
Street district	300,000 00	5.416
Total	$9,758,507 86	1 69,481
