NEWS FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The Prospect in the Event of Lincoln's Election—Despatches from New Granada and Nicaragua—Starvation of the People of Kansas, &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15, 1860.

THE PROSPECT IN THE EVENT OF LINCOLN'S ELECTION.

The election of Lincoln by the Electoral Colleges being now regarded as a possible event, sober minded Southrons here are calmly contemplating the probable state of parties in Congress, and the force of popular sentiment in the Southern States. They feel assured that the republican party will have little to plume itself upon. First, the popular majority in the nation will be largely against Lincoln; secondly, the United States Senate will be decisively against him; thirdly, the next House of Representatives will surely contain an anti-republican majority; fourthly, in no Southern State will Lincoln find men of any repute to accept office under him as Collectors, or Postmasters, or Marshals, or in any of the lowest subordinate capacity. These facts are sufficient to show that the Lincoln administration would be paralyzed at the outset for any evil purposes against the South, and would be dependent on the indulgence of that section for carrying on the government. The fight against Lincoln, therefore, will be carried on most effectively within the Union. He cannot make any important appointment without the concurrence of a democratic Senate, and the anti-republican majority in the House will keep control of the public purse. The submissionists, therefore, will be very soon the Lincolnites themselves.

There are the views of Southrons who know and appreciate the opinions and the feelings of different sections of the confederacy. If New York will not do what is expected of her, with the fusion of all the conservative elements, these speculations will be idle; but at the worst Lincoln will have a barren sceptre.

As to Pennsylvania politics, the decision of the Reading Convention meets the entire approval of democrats in Washington.

AFFAIRS ON THE ISTHMUS OF PANAMA.

Despatches were received at the Navy Department this morning from Capt. Porter, in command of the squadron at Panama, in the absence of Capt. Montgomery. He reports everything quiet, and apprehends no further trouble from the insurgents. It is generally admitted that the timely landing of English and American forces at Panama prevented a serious outbreak and great loss of life and property. It appears that the English landed their forces before they were requested to do so by the authorities at Panama.

DESPATCHES FROM NICARAGUA.

Despatches were received this morning at the Department of State from Minister Dimitry. He was still at Managua. There was no political news of importance. They had just heard of the summary manner in which the Hondureans had treated General Walker, and there was general rejoicing among the Nicaraguans.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.

Detachments of upwards of a thousand recruits, from the several recruiting depots in the United States, have just been ordered to the departments of Texas and California.

STARVATION IN KANSAS.

Mr. Hyatt called upon the President to-day, on behalf o the people of Kansas, whom, he alleges, are in a state of starvation, owing to the protracted drought that has visited that Territory for the last year, asking the President to postpone the Indian land sales, which are shortly to take place in that Territory. He made a strong appeal to the President in behalf of the famishing people of Kansas, and urged him to call the attention of Congress to the matter in his forthcoming Message. The President listened to him attentively, and assured him that he would do all in his power to alleviate their suffering. I have, says the President, received several letters from poor women in Kansas, informing me of the deplorable condition of the people.

THE SUMMER CRUISE OF THE PRACTICE SHIP PLYMOUTH.

The official report of Commander Craven, received at the Navy Department, giving details of the summer cruise of the Plymouth, states the wonderful success of Davidson's new boat apparatus. Its efficiency was tested in every possible way, and it performed even better than its most ardent admirers anticipated.

THE ST. JOSEPH AND SALT LAKE MAIL.

The Postmaster General has extended the contract from St. Joseph to Salt Lake city with the present contractors—the Central Overland Mail Company. W. H Russel, President. This insures the continuance of the Pony Express.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Commissioner Greenwood to lay returned from an official visit to the Cheyenne and Arapahoes, in the Pike's Peak country, having arranged with them the basis of a treaty. These Indians continue to be friendly, and some of their chiefs will exert themselves to induce the Kiowas and Comanches to be on peaceful terms with the United States.

Movements of Mr. William L. Yancey.

ALBANY, Oct 15, 1860.

The Hall of the Capitol was crammed to night to listen to the great Southern orator, Mr. Wm. L. Yancey. His speech lasted over two hours, and was a masterly, logical and convincing argument for the equality of the States, the rights of the South, and the preservation of the Union and the constitution. It was listened to with the most marked attention, save a few interruptions and hisses from some 20 hired freesoilers, whose goose like sounds were promptly drowned by the hearty and overwhelming cheers of the vast auditory. The veteran democrat, James D. Wasson, presided.

Mr. Yancey was introduced to the meeting by Mr. McMahon, Secretary of the State Committee, in a few happy remarks which elicited marked applause. There is no doubt but this sound Union breathing, constitutional loving speech will produce a great and healthy change in public sentiment here, which will tell effectively at the polls next month.

Mr. Yancey speaks at Syracuse to-morrow afternoon to a mass convention, and the succeeding evening at Rochester.

Many regret that Mr. Yancey's visit comes so late. It is conceded by many that had his sentiments and the rights of the South been known generally and so practically as he laid them down, this State would never give its electoral vote for Lincoln. As it is, it is doubtful very much whether a conservative reaction may not set in between now and election that may save this State as well as the Union.

Movements of Senator Douglas.

DETROIT, Oct. 15, 1860.

Senator Douglas arrived in this city this morning, and in the afternoon addressed an immense audience on Campus Martius. His speech was mainly in reply to that of Governor Seward delivered last week. There is a grand torchlight procession this evening. Mr Douglas leaves for Kalamazoo to-morrow morning, where he will speak in the afternoon.

New York State Politics.

LOCKPORT, Oct. 15, 1860.

The Breckinridge democrats of this county have nominated Joseph P. Lane, of Middleport, for Sheriff, with a full county ticket. A. Stewart Prentiss, of this village, and Edward H. Laler, of Niagara, were nominated for the assembly.

NEWS FROM THE PACIFIC.

Arrival of the Overland Pony Express—News from Oregon, California and China.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Oct. 15 1860.

The California pony express reached here this noon, twenty-four hours behind time, with dates to and including Oct. 3d.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3, 1860.

Arrived Sept. 30, ships Lotus, from Hong Kong; Mary Ogden, New York; Belvidere, Boston; E. F. Willets, New York; Oct. 1, Panama, New York; barks Constantine and Trent, Rio Janeiro. Sailed Sept. 29, bark Carlotta, for Callao; 30th, ships Silver Star, Baker's Island; Electric Spark, Baker's Island; Oct. 1, steamer Sonora, with 246 passengers and $995,000 in treasure, also $24,000 worth of Washoe silver ore; 2d, bark Creole, Cork; bark Edward Glize, Australia.

The arrivals have not contributed to any increased activity in the market. Buyers are making efforts to obtain concessions on some articles, but meet with very little disposition to yield from the importers. The jobbing trade continues good. Candles are slow, and would show a weakness if urged. Coffee in limited request, though the tendency favors sellers. Coal firm: sale of a cargo of Sydney at $15. Drills heavy: small sales at 9½c. Fruits unchanged, with more doing in preserved at low rates Fish inactive. Gunny bags quiet at 14c. Oils without change; kinds lately in request still find favor Butter heavy: small lots best Isthmus, 29c.; 2,000 firkins should be on the market to-morrow. Lard still slow: sales 300 packages at 17½c. a 18c. Bacon improved to 14c. Pork tending upward gradually. Ham rather quiet. Rice is selling freely for consumption Domestic spirits further improved: whiskey 50c. a 52½c.; pure spirits 55c.; foreing spirits inactive as last quoted. China advices have given a buoyancy to sugars: No. 1 China quotable under sales at 9¾c. a 9¾c.; the domestic partakes of an upward tendency; choice L O 11c. a 11½c.; refined meets less request, and are slow at the moment at 15c. for crushed. The export demand continues brisk for wheat; under last accounts buyers can do a trifle better; $1 50 per 100 lbs is a fair quotation for shipping samples. The small supply of tonnage lately to hand is eagerly sought for. The Willets goes to New York; Belvidere to England; Lotus back to China; Trent to England; Panama negotiating, and Mary Ogden to guano.

The Douglas primary election held in San Francisco on the 29th ult., demonstrated the fact that the Irish votes are almost unanimously in favor of that division of the democracy. Both wings of the democracy are confident of carrying the State. A good deal of betting has commenced, and there seems no difficulty to get backers on even bets, either for or against Douglas. Heavy Bets are always supposed to exercise an important influence on the California election. The republicans, accordingly, are not unmindful of such tactics. Eugene Sullivan, a prominent member of that party, having already wagered $25,000 against $5,000 that Mr Lincoln will be elected by the people The money is deposited in the bank.

There is no California news of interest

Lieutenant Baile arrived from Independence at Fort Dejoin, with a party of fourteen men, on the 27th instant. He reports the Indians very troublesome on the Albuquerque road.

Full advices from Oregon explain the progress of the Legislature. The attempted adjournment of the House sine die, as advised by the last express, has been entirely receded from, and decided to have been impossible under the existing circumstances When attempted, there was much popular indignation at the attempt, both in the Senate and House, to destroy the session by premature and illegal adjournment, as well as by the secession of factious members, so as to deprive either body of a quorum. At the last accounts—28th—both houses were in session, duly organized. The six absent Senators had returned and taken seats in the Senate, and ratified the informal proceedings had in their absence.

The Governor sent in his message on the 20th It takes strong Breckinridge grounds on national politics. The Governor says therein that he will call no extra session if the Legislature adjourns without electing Senators, which would postpone the election two years, the session being biennial. Under these circumstances it is thought popular clamor will insist on an election and other legislation during the balance of forty days, for which only the session constitutionally lasts. The following telegraphic despatch, which reached San Francisco to day, is the latest intelligence and all that has been received this week:—

A joint resolution passed both branches of the Legislature for a joint convention to convene in the Hall of Representatives on Monday, October 1, for the election of two United States Senatoes. The vote was unanimous in the Senate, but met with strong opposition by the Breckinridge democrats in the House. There is no certainty of an election taking place at the time specified

By the arrival at San Francisco of the ship Lopez, we have advices from Hong Kong to August 13. She left at that port ships Star King, Edith Rose, Fleet Wing, and Sea Serpant, whose destinations were uncertain. The Sword Fish, from Shanghae, Marcona, and Amaranth, uncertain; ship Alfred Hill sailed for New York same day. Saw ship Mandarin, from Shanghae, entering Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong Press of the 10th and 11th of August has advices from Pechelee Gulf to the 26th of July, on which day the allied fleet sailed for the scene of action; the French in sixty four vessels, large and small, and the British in upwards of two hundred vessels

It was generally believed the first day of August had been agreed on for the combined attack upon Takee fort.

It was reported that much jealousy and bad feeling had grown up between the French and British, the account saying, "The British are very indignant and disgusted at the pretensions of the French."

On the back of the general waybill was the following:—

FORT LARAMIE, Oct. 7—12 20 A. M.

The rider from Horse Shoe station, together with others, report that the Sioux Indians have killed two white persons and one half breed, and drove off considerable stock. It was supposed to be a war party of the Sioux returning from the Ubs country.

Mr Beconcly, agent of the express, adds that all his ponies were run off by the Indians on Bear River, which has delayed the express twenty four hours.

Fatal Affray at Van Buren, Ark.

VAN BUREN, Oct. 15, 1860.

After a regimental muster which was held here to day, three persons, named Rufus and Jackson Covington (brothers), and Richard, a son of the latter, were killed by two brothers, named Silas and Benjamin Edwards, and several others were badly cut and otherwise injured on both sides. An old feud had existed between the parties, but the Edwardses, who have long been the terror of this part of the State, were the aggressors While trying to make their escape, they were overtaken a short distance from town by the constable and his posse, and lodged in jail. A large crowd nearly succeeded in taking the prisoners from the constable and hanging them in the street, and afterwards surrounded the jail for that purpose, but were finally pacified. The people are much excited, and it is feared that the prisoners will yet be lynched. It is the most atrocious affair ever known here.

An Alleged Case of Negro Kidnapping at Galena Ill.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15, 1860

An outrageous case of kidnapping occurred in Galena in the latter part of September. On the 8th of this month the man was found, near Iowa City, murdered It is supposed that, becoming suspicious, he was killed by the kidnappers, that they might retain possession of the women.

The citizens of Galena have offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the kidnappers.

City Intelligence.

ANOTHER MAMMOTH BALLOON.—Mr. Coe, an aeronautist of Rome, New York, has now on exhibition at Palace Garden a large balloon, in which he intends to essay a trip to Europe in the early part of next summer. Its dimensions are as follows:—Entire length from valve on top to boat, 250 feet; entire length of envelope when inflated, 208 feet; greatest horizontal diameter, 118 feet. The car is twenty-two feet in height, constructed of rattan and willow, and divided into three stories or compartments, the lowest, which Mr. Coe terms the "saloon," being thirteen feet in diameter, with a circular seat running around the inside, the whole being neatly carpeted and curtained The floor above called the "state room," is covered with velvet carpet, while the upper story is to serve as a position for taking observations. The balloon is oblong shaped, requiring 8,700 yards of specially made muslin for its manufacture and weighing 2,500 pounds. It is four-fold in thickness for six feet down from the valve, where the pressure is greatest; for twenty feet threefold, and forty feet twofold, thus affording great strength. The seams are nutled with three rows of stitching, and the meshes of the surrounding network are five inches at the top, increasing towards the lower part of the balloon until they attain a size of twelve inches. The valve, which is four and a half feet in diameter, is claimed to possess an improvement not found in other balloons, viz: a projecting shoulder beneath, by which the folds of the envelope are prevented from interfering with the operations of the valve, and the adjustment of the concentrating network is so contrived as to assist in carrying out this object Another novelty is the introduction of a rope ladder leading through the centre of the balloon from the car to the valve The object of this is to enable the aeronaut to cut away the lower portion of the envelope, should all the ballast have been thrown away, and thus aid in lightening the balloon, as the portion so cut away would weigh nearly 1,000 pounds. Mr. Coe has denominated his balloon the "United States."

Blondin at Jones' wood.

LAST APPEARANCE THIS SEASON—HE CROSSES THE ROPE ON STILTS, ETC.

Blondin gave one of his characteristic exhibitions at Jones' Wood yesterday afternoon—the last aerial tight rope performance of the kind prior to his departure for London next spring, where, at the suggestion of the Prince of Wales, he is to repeat his astounding feats in the presence of an English assemblage.

The fact that yesterday was to be the last day on which he would exhibit in this vicinity drew together a larger number of spectators than has been present at any one of his performances heretofore, and the announcement that so daring a feat as that of walking the rope on stilts would be essayed lent an additional attraction. The weather, in the early portion of the afternoon, was decidedly unpropitious, but towards four o'clock the clouds broke away, leaving a clear and sunny sky. At the commencement of the performance, which, we are compelled to say, was not characterized by Mr. Blondin's usual punctuality, fully six thousand persons were present in the wood.

About half past four o'clock the band struck up a favorite march, which appeared to be the signal for Blondin's appearance, as soon after he was observed approaching in an open carriage, in which he was driven from the hotel to the foot of one of the tall masts upon which the rope was suspended. He appeared in his usual good health, and ascended the pole very nimbly to the landing place, from which he was to start out upon his perilous journey. Arrived there, he crossed the rope in the usual manner, with only his balancing pole, lying down and performing other feats on the rope during the passage, which occupied but five or six minutes. Resting for an interval of five minutes more, he buckled on the stilts and slowly, cautiously, and with the assistance of an attendant, elevating himself to a perpendicular, ventured out upon the rope, watched with breathless interest by the people beneath A strong fresh wind was blowing from the west, interfering in some measure with the execution of this feat, which required so much delicacy of movement and firmness of nerve and muscle. But Blondin was not to be deterred. Advancing a few steps, he remained stationary on the rope for a few minutes, during which time he employed his pole in acquiring an equilibrium, which he maintained throughout the rest of the exhibition. Thus assured, he again advanced, gaining confidence as he progressed to the other end. The guy ropes seemed to give him some little annoyance, and he crossed those portions of the rope where they were tied at a less speed and with greater caution than at the other parts. The time occupied in the passage was about twenty minutes, and his arrival at the terminus of the rope was the signal for an outburst of applause on the part of the spectators, who again drew their breath freely, in acknowledgment of which demonstration Blondin, from his elevated perch, gracefully waved his hand and thanks. This was to have been the conclusion of the exhibition, according to the advertised programme, but Blondin, doffing his stilts, again crossed the rope to the end nearest his hotel, for which manoeuvre some facetious individual in the crowd assigned, as a reason, that the great acrobat preferred walking on the rope to walking on the ground. Having descended, he entered the carriage once more and was driven to the hotel.

The stilts with which he performed the last and most daring of his feats are about four feet in length, with steps at a distance of two feet from the rope, and provided with the straps necessary for firmly affixing them to his legs. The shaft is terminated by a prong shaped instrument of iron, with three teeth, two of which serve in grasping the rope, and the central one in guiding his movement along the rope. This addition to Monsieur Blondin's pedal extremities gave him somewhat the appearance of possessing chicken feet, and, notwithstanding the serious and perilous nature of the exhibition, many were inclined to smile at the laughable appearance he presented, and compared him to a long legged bantam crossing a fence. The last and return trip was loudly applauded by the spectators who were in the best humor during the entire performance, at the conclusion of which they quietly dispersed.

Police Intelligence.

ARREST OF DRY GOODS MERCHANTS—A REMARKABLE CASE OF ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES—Yesterday officer Horton, of the second District Police Court, arrested two dry goods dealers, named Roland H. Macy and Samuel S. Houghton, on a warrant issued by Justice Connolly, wherein they stand charged with conspiring together to cheat and defraud, and by false pretences did obtain from the United States and Jefferson insurance companies $700 and upwards. It appears from the sworn affidavits in the case that the defendants are doing business at Nos. 204 and 206 Sixth avenue; that in the month of October, 1859, a fire occurred in their store window. The damage sustained in fact did not amount to $1,000; yet a claim was made against the companies of $3,773 for goods alleged to have actually been destroyed in the window, and some two hundred dollars additional for hosiery, &c., damaged on the shelves outside the window. There was an insurance of upwards of $15,000 on the stock. During the past month information came to Fire Marshal Baker, and the matter was investigated and the facts laid before Justice Connolly. It further appears that the companies actually paid to Mr. Macy $2,000. The case is a very curious one, as the evidence of the clerks then in the defendants' employ sets forth that they witnessed Mr. Houghton throw clean and undamaged goods amongst the damaged goods and muss them about. This was done, as alleged, for the purpose of making out a larger claim against the insurance company. The Justice required the accused parties to find bail in the sum of $2,000 each to answer the charge.
