100 BATTERIES OF LIGHT ARTILLERY, READY at a moment's notice to enter every shop window and produce the cheapest and best light known. Read the following—
We hereby cheerfully award to Mr. I. P. Frink, of 104 Worth street, our share of the credit which, in our opinion, the utility of his patent Gas Light Reflectors entitles him to. We have had nine of them in use in our new store, corner of Broadway and Canal street, since its opening, and are well pleased with them. They diffuse a steady, clear and agreeable light which does not dazzle the eye, while it is much more powerful and effective than that emitted from any number of naked burners or chandeliers. As a means of illumination we deem them an improvement which cannot be too highly commended. SMITH BROTHERS, Clothiers.
From our own experience in the use of Mr. I. P. Frink's Gas Light Reflectors we concur fully in the above statement of Messrs. Smith Brothers—
Wm. McKinley, Henry G. Leask,
Doyle & Lehmann, Harris Solomon,
