Correspondence

Grand Valley, Sept. 7, 1909.

Last Sunday was a happy day for Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Strand as a large number of their friends and neighbors had planned a neat surprise to welcome Mrs. Strand on her safe return from her trip to Norway.

At 12 o'clock the company sat down to a sumptuous dinner served by the ladies, and anyone that has ever partaken of a dinner in Grand Valley knows what one is like.

Then all the young folks played "Last Couple Out," and Rler Rererson proved to be the best runner as the ladies had a hard time catching him.

Then there was a voting contest to decide who was the handsomest man in the crowd and Sander Bryjulsou easily received the unanimous vote of the whole assembly.

Then a vote was taken to see who was the plainest looking and that was not so easy among such a bunch of beautiful boys, but after a careful counting of votes it was found that Ole Steensland carried off the honors.

After a buffet supper the crowd dispersed all saying it had been a day long to be remembered.

Clocks OF ALL KINDS $1 to $15 SYVERUD & MOE, The Old Reliable Jewelers and Opticians

In the afternoon a collection was taken up which amounted to fifty dollars. Rev. H. M. Solom thanked the people to behalf of the Heloit Orphan's Home and everybody expressed themselves as being well pleased with the picnic.

Several farmers have shelled the last of their last year's crop of corn and sold it. Melvin Sundvold has rented his farm and will move to Canton in the spring. We don't like to lose them and hope they will return.

Some of the boys from Worthing came down to John Ness' Friday and wanted him to go fishing. John hurried and got ready and as the boys started they noticed that their angle worms were gone. John Huseboe swore with a gentle growl that the Ness chickens had eaten them up and wanted John Ness to replace them.

"Well," said John, "go behind the barn and kill a chicken for bait," and they did and now Mrs. Ness is wondering what has become of her ten dollar Plymouth Rock hen and the boys are as mute as turtle doves when the lost hen is mentioned and to make matters still more annoying, it is reported that no fish were found where they ought to be. When Mrs. Ness reads this week's LEADER she will have some remarks to make about poor fishermen.

I see by last week's LEADER Fairview has another Merry Widower. How many Widowers, Bachelors and Merry Widows scribbles has Fairview got? That's right, go it, you can Merry Widower no. 2, and if you can't find one of all the girls that Bartlett makes you shall carry the banner from Editor Linn's door to the Rudolph at the next LEADER dinner.

Where is that Riverside any way? Is he herding sheep up at Highland Center. Where are the LEADER stories? Its high time to have them in now. Wake up ye, scribbles. Who is that scribe from West Highland that is so full of the name and the fame of that County Commissioner. Send that Commissioner down this way.

Mr. and Mrs. Torkel Rikansrud lost a baby's white bear skin coat between Moe and their home on the Sunday of the confirmation at Moe. Will finder please return same.

The picnic at Gubrud's grove last Sunday was well attended in spite of dusky weather. A big crowd was present and a fine program was rendered by the members of the debating club. The Fairview band was also present and played many good selections under the leadership of Prof. Indseth and the Fairview band is good enough to play most any place.

P. S. Paulson made a very appropriate speech for the occasion, going into the details of history and into the present social struggle, business, farming and otherwise. A. P. Gubrud made another speech, his subject being Life. His remarks were interesting, his strongest point being God helps those that help themselves. John Lavick gave a reading. Some thought it one of Shakespeare's tragedies, others thought it must have been his own experiences before he came to this country. All in all the Literary program was good and everything a success.

Newer spent Sunday calling on Delaware friends. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hoffman and baby and Mrs. Norgard of Canton spent Sunday at J. W. Reamer's. Mrs. Elizabeth Noethlich and daughter Anna were Sioux Falls visitors Monday.

There was a splendid program given by the members of the society and music all day by the Fairview band. Dinner and lunch were served by the Ladies Aid society while the Literary society served ice cream, lemonade, fruits, candies etc. After the program there were races, kicking contests etc. All had an enjoyable time while none left for home until "the clouds begun to laugh."
