The Drawing for the Fourteenth Ward.

After half an hour's recess the drawing for the Fourteenth ward was commenced. The Fourteenth was well represented by a large crowd of jocular and well disposed citizens, who seemed to enjoy the evolutions of the wheel amazingly, and took everything in good part. Councilman James Hayes, George F. Bellows and Patrick Brier acted as supervisory committee for the ward. Three thousand seven hundred and twenty-five ballots were counted by the committee and deposited in the wheel. Out of this number seven hundred and twenty-four were to be drawn. Before the drawing commenced Councilman Hayes addressed a few words to the audience, counseling them to preserve order, so that it might go forth to the community at large that the people of the ward had sustained the reputation which they had heretofore held.

THE DRAWING BEGINS.

The drawing was then commenced, and the eighth revolution of the wheel brought forth the name of George L. Leland, of the Metropolitan Hotel. A shout of laughter greeted the announcement of Mr. Leland's name, for it was well known to the audience that he cannot bow to keep a hotel," and would therefore be valuable acquisition to the army. Several of the employes of the hotel were made victims of the draft.

THE DRAWING HIGHLY COLORED.

Several colored individuals, including the name of "George Washington," were elected to join the army. The names were then turned out as follows, and the quota for the Fifth district was completed a half past four o'clock:—
